Cheese Men See Fixed Price Set By Ottawa

OTTAWA, Feb. 14—(CP).—Canadian cheese producers expect that the British Government will institute government control of cheese in the Spring with a fixed price for that product, S. L. Joss of Belleville, Ont., told the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association today in his report to the annual convention as secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Joss, reviewing the United Kingdom market in the war months, pointed out that Canadian cheese enjoyed a price premium of some seven cents a pound compared with New Zealand and Australian cheese. British buyers were willing to pay the higher price for Canadian cheese because a shortage threatened and they considered it would be better to have a stock of cheese on hand even if they had to pay more for it.

However, if government control goes into effect in the Spring, a fixed price may be expected and it likely will be more in line with what Canada's competitors have been receiving.

For the benefit of the 250 delegates representing some 24,000 Ontario farmers selling their milk to the cheese factories, Mr. Joss reviewed the industry in recent years,

Gerald grabbed his wrist and other bank employees and customers came to his aid. Precious was shot in the wrist and knocked unconscious with the butt of a gun. He is charged with attempted robbery while armed.

DominionPauses In Tribute To Tweedsmuir

(By the Canadian Press.)

Canadians paused today to pay final tribute to Lord Tweedsmuir. As thousands gathered in the Capital for the state funeral of Canada's Governor - General, solemn observances were carried out throughout the country.

The only provincial legislatures in session—Ontario, Saskatchewan and Alberta—have adjourned until tomorrow. Many schools closed for the afternoon; others planned a two-minute silence at 2.30 p.m., E.S.T., the time of the funeral.

In many places public memorial services marked the day. Stock exchanges ordered special observances and post offices and customs houses closed early.

The Toronto and Vancouver stock exchanges shortened their sessions by half an hour. Montreal exchange officials ordered two minutes silence at 2.30.

In Edmonton Premier Aberhart and members of his cabinet planned to attend an afternoon memorial service. Queen's Park, seat of the Ontario Government in Toronto, closed for the afternoon. Courts and judicial offices in Ontario remained open.

Churches across the country opened for public memorial services, where municipal heads and military organizations paid tribute to Governor-General who died Sunday night in Montreal.

School children participated in special observances. In Saskatchewan teachers were asked to address their pupils on the life of Lord Tweedsmiur and his service to Canada.

Sport, which the Governor-General loved so well, paid its tribute also. At Montreal the Canadian branch of the Caledonian Curling Club requested clubs under its jurisdiction to suspend scheduled competition. Lord Tweedsmuir was a patron of the Canadian branch.

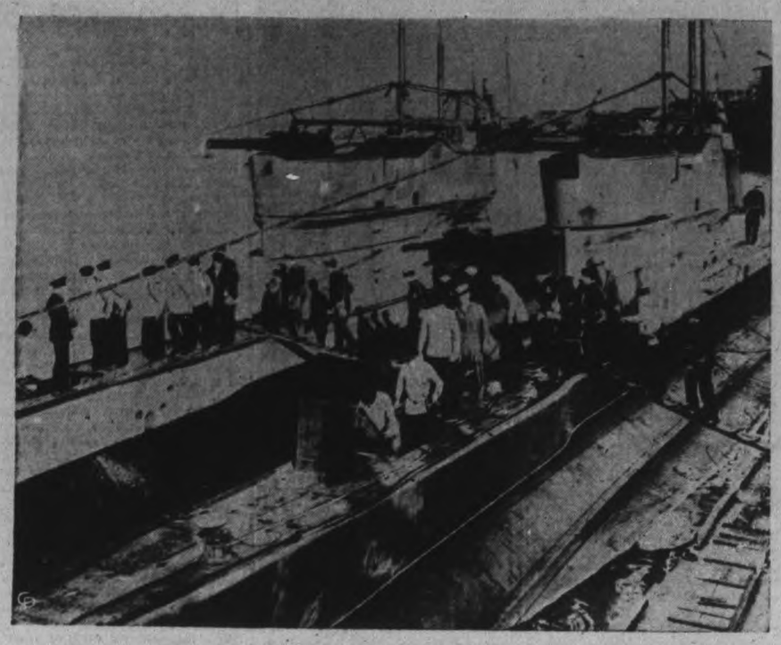
"Schooldays" Again For Future British Sub Crews



Made at an unnamed British naval station, this picture shows students of the submarine school of the royal navy, boarding the two submarines on which their "classrooms" are located. The men in the undersea service go through the most exacting and intensive course of training. Cramped quarters in subs makes it necessary that each man be an expert at his own line, with very few substitutes, or replacements possible.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

The Veterans Know

In undertaking a share of the great work of ministering to the needs of the Canadian army the Canadian Legion is not embarking on uncharted seas. The veterans of the last war have been through the mill themselves. They know the need of bolstering the morale of the army by supplying the comforts and the recreational facilities that governments cannot be expected to provide but that are nevertheless just about as necessary as arms and clothing. They know because they themselves met the acid test a quarter of a century ago and learned to appreciate what recreation and entertainment could do for fed-up troops, out of the line for a few days' rest.

The members of the Legion know, too, what it means to come home after years in uniform, untrained for civilian occupation and try to earn a living. And they know the problems of pensions and other details of re-adjustment into civilian life, and how difficult they were until an organization of veterans was created to fight the battle of the returned man.

The soldiers of the new army are luckier than the Old Contemptibles of the 1914-1918 Canadian army. They have the experience and the wisdom of those veterans to guide them and the benefit of the personal services of the Legion organization in seeing that their path back into civilian life is made as smooth as possible.

It is because of those things that the drive of Canadian Legion War Services Inc. for funds to carry on their work for the men of the Canadian Active Service Force should commend itself to the whole country. Peterborough's chance to assist this altogether meritorious cause is at hand and the result should be an emphatic mandate to the Legion to "Carry On."

After The War, What?

Regardless of their political opinions Canadians will have little hesitation in agreeing with Hon. Dr. Manion that planning for the period of adjustment after the war is a responsibility that should enlist the best thought of the country and should be taken in hand as soon as possible.

The voters of this country have, we believe, every right to ask of the parties that are now seeking their support that they spread out on the table their plans for dealing with post-war problems. It is true that getting ahead with the war is the big task before Canada at the present time but closely associated with that task is the secondary duty of anticipating the problems of the post-war period and seeking to set up definite and workable plans for preventing Canada being overwhelmed by unemployment and depression.

The government we will elect next month will have five years in office. Long before that term expires, Canadians fervently hope the war will be over. That means the administration we chose on March 26 will be faced with the tremendous task of dealing with the difficulties that must necessarily arise when a country swings back from a war to a peace basis and when thousands of soldiers return expecting a grateful nation to find gainful employment for them.

That being so we are surely entitled to demand of all the politicians who are just now wooing our support two questions: (1) What are your plans for making Canada's war effort fully effective? and (2) what do you propose to do about the problems that will follow the close of the war just as surely as day follows night?

If we get compete and unevasive answers to these questions it should simplify the task of deciding how the ballots should be marked in the present election.

Is It Needed Here?

There are many things to be said in favor of a juvenile court in large centres of population; there is undoubtedly a place for such a court in crowded cities where slum conditions exist and where juvenile delinquency feeds upon the environment.

Whether there is a similar need in centres the size of Peterborough is a debatable problem but we have an idea that it would be difficult to make out a strong case for such an institution here, especially if the establishment of the necessary machinery added a noticeable addition to the municipal overhead. In the first place juvenile delinquency has not up to the present constituted itself a major problem in Peterborough. It is doubtful if the number of youngsters who find themselves brought before the magistrate in closed court averages more than one a month.

Then too the existing machinery for dealing with these children who have been slipping off the straight and narrow path seems to be adequate and complete. Magistrate Langley deals with such cases as are serious enough to be brought before him in camera and his long experience and his ability to judge human nature guarantee sympathetic and helpful treatment. Some of the children of course never reach the court stage. The advice and warnings given them by the Chief Constable, the police matron and the superintendent of the Children's Aid Society usually have the desired effect and help to straighten out the problem.

At the present time there does not seem to be any great need of adding a juvenile court judge and probation officers to the list of court officials in Peterborough.

The Anzacs Arrive

The imagination is stirred by the story of the arrival of the Australian and New Zealand troops in Egypt and their transference to the Holy Land. The transportation across thousands of miles of ocean of 30,000 Anzacs furnishes not only a striking demonstration of the solidarity of the British Empire and its determination to fight Hitlerism to the last ditch but it is convincing proof that Britannia really rules the waves. To bring an armada that eye-witnesses describe as stretching as far as the eye could see safely over such a long distance without the loss of a man was a masterpiece of planning and execution that entitles the British and Australian navies to throw out their respective chests.

The Anzacs—and perhaps for the benefit of the new generation it might be well to explain that the name is derived from the initials of the phrase "Australian and New Zealand Army Corps"—are no strangers in the eastern Mediterranean. Doubtless many of the present expeditionary force fought gallantly in the Dardanelles campaign and many more are the sons of veterans of that epic struggle. Good soldiers, gallantly led are the Anzacs and they can be counted upon to give an excellent account of themselves when the time comes. Just why they have been added to the army the Allies have been gathering in that quarter of the globe or just why that army was sent there in the first place remains one of the puzzles of this puzzling war. Whatever the reason, however, the Anzacs can be depended upon to put on a good show when the zero hour comes.

Canadians will rejoice with the people of Australia and New Zealand in the safe arrival of these gallant troops.

Make Sure Now

The enumerators have finished their task of compiling the lists of names of those eligible to vote in the coming Dominion election and they are posted at the present time in conspicuous places in the various polling subdivisions. As a helpful hint we suggest that electors should study the list in their own neighborhood and make sure that the enumerators have secured their names. Every effort has been made to make the lists as complete and accurate as possible but the human element enters into the thing as it does into most other matters and that means there will be mistakes and omissions. As a matter of fact all the names on one side of a street for three blocks have been left off in one subdivision.

The machinery is provided for correcting these errors and revising officers will be sitting shortly to add names to the lists or to strike them off as the case may be. Voters who have been omitted can make sure of having a vote on election day by appearing before the revising officer and registering then.

Printed preliminary lists will soon be in the hands of the political organizations so that the headquarters of the two candidates will be in a position to supply information as to names on the list. It would be wisdom on the part of all electors to make sure their names are listed in time to correct the omission. Those who are too indifferent to investigate while the remedy is still available should expect little sympathy if they discover on election day that they are unable to vote because their names are not on the official lists.

Spike Those Stories

Although February's snow still lies deep over the land, longer days and brighter sunshine tell their own story of the spring that is just around the corner. And just a little further around is vacation time and the summer resort season.

We mention that fact because we believe that there is a valuable bit of service Canadians can do at the present time in making sure that the success of the tourist industry in the coming holiday months is not curtailed by false impressions on the part of our American friends of conditions in Canada during war time.

All sorts of wild stories are being circulated across the border about the difficulty residents of the United States will experience in trying to enter Canada, of the need of passports, of "blackouts" and wartime restrictions. We know these yarns are silly but the trouble is they are believed by many folk in the United States and if they are not blown out of the air soon will have a disastrous effect upon the tourist business next summer. Federal and provincial governments are taking steps to let Americans know that such rumors are utterly foundationless and Canadians generally can assist materially by writing to their friends in the United States and to Americans of their acquaintances who have been visiting Canada. Let them know that the welcome is just as warm as ever, that no passports are needed and that there are no restrictions to interfere with a happy holiday in Canada even although this country is at war. Furthermore with the exchange situation as it is at present they can have the cheapest outing in Canada that has ever been available to them. A flood of such letters would have a very beneficial effect.

NOTE AND COMMENT

With the Anzacs in the headlines it begins to look a great deal like the first great war.

It would be interesting to know whether or not Mr. King and Mr. Hepburn exchanged Valentines.

Nazis are organizing political shock troops. We have something of the same kind in Canada at the present time.

The cost of living is soaring in Italy. Mussolini must be losing his grip or castor oil would be going down in proportion to the climb in food prices.

These are times when you do not know how some politicians stand until you have read the last edition of the daily paper.

A separate Air Minister has been suggested. There are enough of our statesmen up in the air these days to give a wide field for choice.

The skating costumes the girls are wearing these days makes one wonder why the Russian soldiers have been freezing to death.

Alberta's social credit government reports a deficit of $1,169,841, but as no new taxes are to be imposed every one will be satisfied.

A contribution to the Canadian Legion War Services is an effective way of taking a swing at Hitler and all he stands for.

Ontario beans advance, a market report says. Ontario onions are still strong too, Premier Hepburn will probably hasten to point out.

Increased pay and allowances for Canada's sailors are justified. The laddies in blue are certainly fighting this war the hard way.

The Canadian Corps Association's charge that "sordid struggles for party advantage come close to treason" should give a lot of folk something over which to ponder.

Canadians who contributed toward the Canadian Red Cross fund will applaud the decision to use $15,000 of the money in providing ambulances for the Finns.

A Chinese army under former Premier Wang Ching-wei is said to be fighting with the Japanese. The slogan of the regular Chinese forces will now be "Wham Wang."

An anti-war candidate in a London constituency was badly defeated at the polls but apparently no one ever suggested that he should be taken out and shot. Dictators will find it difficult to understand the omission.

The death of a northern miner from injuries received in a hockey match calls attention to the fact that while hockey is a robust pastime and has been called the fastest game in the world, there have been very few fatal accidents.

IN MEMORIAM

Valiant of heart, he gave no thought to fame,
But ever strove to serve, and, serving, made
Humanity his friend; his guiding star;
"In honor's name."

His were the genial smile, the uplifted head,
The kindly way, the understanding soul,
The stimulating word that, rightly said,
Makes sick minds whole.

In native worth of simple dignity
He went his way. He did his task, and died.
Passing, he leaves a fragrant memory,—
Loyalty sanctified.

There's Money In Those Holstein Cows

Written by B.L.W. of The Ottawa Journal Editorial Staff.

AN ORGANIZATION which shows net assets of $135,328, with more than $60,000 of that amount in Government bonds, is sufficiently rated in Canada to bear study—especially when it is a farm breed organization with all members farmers and managed by a board of directors composed entirely of farmers.

On Wednesday evening this week 900 farmers, their wives and friends gathered for a banquet in the Royal York Hotel, Toronto. The charge was $1 each and there were plenty of guests who must have been on the free list. The meal cost $2 a plate, while such items as good after-dinner entertainment, a big dance orchestra and floor show during dancing were thrown in for good measure.

The Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada does things that way. It is one of the wealthiest and best-organized trade associations in the country. Its membership consists of 6,847 farmers from Halifax to Victoria who breed the famous black-and-white cattle so familiar to every city motorist who looks behind the highway fences.

The Holstein men meet every year in Toronto during the first week in February. This week about 500 attended the annual meeting and they were as prosperous a looking crowd of men as could be assembled anywhere in Canada. There might be more fur-lined coats when the Canadian Manufacturers' Association meets, but the level of debate would be no higher.

And it is extremely doubtful if the manufacturers would have a better balance sheet. Better than $60,000 in bonds, $37,000 in savings account, $36,374 operating surplus for the year 1939—those are items worth boasting about. Like most successful farmers these Holstein men don't boast but they are mighty proud of that statement they read every year at their annual meeting.

It means they are independent, they stand on their own feet and ask no man, nor government, for aid.

At this Toronto banquet Col. George Drew was the guest speaker and he referred to this very fact. "Canada would be a better country," he said, "if every individual and organization paid its own way, made a little money each year and gradually accumulated a surplus as you Holstein breeders have done. The curse of this and most other lands today is the demands for more and more paternalism in government."

HEADQUARTERS of this well run breed association is in an old stone building in Brantford, Ontario, where last year a staff of 22 carried on the business. Few members have ever been inside that building, although they receive vast quantities of mail from it. Their visible contact with the association is the annual meeting in Toronto each year.

Unlike all other such organizations in Canada the Holstein-Friesian cattle breeders do not register or transfer their stock through the Canadian National Live Stock Records Office here in Ottawa. This work, which is done here on a co-operative basis for all other breeds, is entirely controlled within the Brantford headquarters of the Holstein association. The major part of its revenue comes from these transfers and registrations, plus the dues of over 6,000 members.

In Eastern Ontario there are 2,063 members of the association, farmers who breed pure-bred Holstein cattle. So nearly one-third of the members of this great organization reside in the eastern section of this province, many of them on the best farms around Ottawa from which they supply milk to the Ottawa market. Last year 286 new members were recruited within Eastern Ontario. Two directors reside in thisr area, Norman Paul, of Almonte, and D. W. MacLeod, from Dalkeith.

The immediate past president is an Eastern Ontario man, Fred Hubbs, a six-foot giant who farms near Bloomfield in Hastings County, and who has developed a gift for oratory which may soon make a politician out of a good farmer. The new president is T. R. Dent, of Woodstock, the man on whose farm has been erected the huge iron statue to a world champion dairy cow.

To The Editor

"GENUINE ORPHANS"

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—Now that the most "lonesome soldier" in Aldershot, has been corresponded with I think it is time that some of the other lonesome soldiers should receive some attention. Although lonesome soldier may not have received correspondence from his near relatives, there is no indication that he might not be in a position to buy necessities for himself. Now the lonesome soldiers I am thinking of are the ones who have no living relatives, for whom an appeal went out from Lt.-Col. Fallis, Chaplain in charge of Exhibition Camp, Toronto, also from Lt.-Col. Thompson in command.

It is surprising the number of (Orphans) who have gone overseas and are now lonesome in Aldershot. If any kind-hearted person in Peterborough wants to adopt one of these genuine "orphans" please get in touch with the writer, or with Lieut.-Colonels Fallis or Thompson. They have assured me that genuine "orphans" names will be submitted so that each and every person may have a son for the duration of the war. Both Catholic and Protestants are for adoption. So instead of sending everything to Aldershot for the Lonesomest Soldier let us pick several and give them all a share. Every person writing to Lt.-Cols. Fallis or Thompson will receive a gracious reply and they have a long waiting list for you to pick from.

Lonesome soldiers can be found also in France. Anyone wishing to correspond with a French Lonely Soldier (there are thousands) please write to the "Duchess of Windsor," 24 Boulevard Suchet, Paris, France. "The Duchess" will see that your letter is forwarded. If you wish to write to a lonesome sailor address your letter (Any Lonesome Sailor), Portsmouth, England, (or elsewhere).

All these Lonesome Soldiers and Sailors will answer your letters and would be glad to receive any small necessities they may require. There is no excuse for anyone, when there are Lonesome Soldiers of all races and creeds waiting to hear from you.

I remain,

E. W. CHILDS.

• Wants Charities Under Control

ALDERMEN Walsh and Ash, representatives of Wellington ward in City Council, are asking that body to take steps for the regulation of "all persons or agencies within the municipality collecting funds or goods for charitable purposes," excluding churches, excluding also organizations working within the Federated Charities or under Government charter.

The sponsors of this resolution propose that private charities be licensed by the municipality, each to be controlled by a board of responsible citizens, periodically to render audited financial statements. These would seem to be reasonable precautions in the public interest and the city should have, if under the law it does not now possess, the right to enforce them.

It will be argued, of course, that those who wish to make donations to an individual doing charitable work should not be restrained; that they are giving away their own money or their own goods and it's nobody's business. That applies, we should say, in the innumerable cases of kindly women with a few protegees who sometimes seek a little help from their friends, but hardly in cases where public appeals are made and contributions invited from the general public. In such circumstances the people are entitled, we think, to some protection.

What is proposed, in fact, is nothing more than the application to local charities of the principle applied by the Dominion Government to war charities. A War Charities Board has been set up, with headquarters in Ottawa, and no collection for funds which come within that classification can be made legally without its approval and supervision. Organizations and individuals desiring to collect funds or goods from the public for any purpose connected with the war must apply to this board for permission, and if licensed after rigid inquiry must then abide by the rules.

No war charity may be run by one individual — there must be a committee of at least three persons. An annual return must be made to the board of collections by canvassing and of the disposition made of goods and money, and immediate returns made of special campaigns and of money-raising entertainments. If business done exceeds $500 in the year the financial return must be certified by a chartered accountant; if under that sum, a sworn statement suffices. The War Charities Board has authority to make such investigations as it finds necessary, to demand production of books, to put in auditors, and penalties up to imprisonment are provided for those who ignore its powers.

These regulations are aimed, of course, at the prevention of profiteering at the expense of patriotic men and women who are anxious to help the soldiers and their dependents. There should not be much difficulty in applying the principle to the local field and local charities through municipal authority.—Ottawa Journal.

• Maginot Line In Muskoka Setting

Gregory Clark writes for the Toronto Star from "Somewhere in France with the British Expeditionary Force."

BACK in Canada we are aware of a queer unreality in relation to the war. How much more grotesque is it to move amidst a deathly silent world that is rigid with millions of men facing each other and armed to the teeth, yet in which not only does nothing happen but nothing — save for little secret scuffling patrol encounters and the methodical ranging practice of guns creating a measured and industrial sound — has happened for breathholding months.

The Maginot line first. All I heard of the Maginot line gave me not the slightest inkling of the fact that almost throughout its length it is in a country of splendid wooded hills like Muskoka or the Gatineau.

The wide valleys are full of flat, cultivated fields, with wooded Muskoka hills rising abruptly on all sides. As we walked up the valleys amidst these steep divided hills, under a deep mantle of snow, I felt exactly as if I were off to watch my children skiing near Huntsville. But in every hill was mighty death itself, in the form of the greatest fortresses in human history.

The Maginot is a line of man-made volcanoes, each ready to erupt. And the second terrible thing about the Maginot is that unless your eye is trained you cannot possibly see it. It looks like Muskoka. But it is hidden hell.

Up a narrow steep Muskoka gulley we walked, swinging our canes. We met a few French soldiers in little parties, some carrying stores, some leading the horses hauling carts of rations. But aside from them, all was as peaceful and beautiful as a Sunday morning walk in any wild hilly land.

And then, halfway up the side of the hill, amidst an orchard, we saw an incongruous thing. It looked like the concrete entrance of a car barn. It was one of the casemates or visible bastions of a Maginot fort.

"The whole mountain is the fort," laughed the French captain who was the guide, when I expressed my astonishment at such a massive corner of concrete jutting out of a hillside orchard. "The entire hill, hundreds of acres of it, is a mass of concrete tunnels.

"It has casemates like this showing. It has scores of little towers that rise and fall by machinery and from which cannon and tank guns and machine-guns fire. It is a subterranean village, housing a lot of men. This is only one of the medium-sized forts. Some of them house thousands."

Then we walked across a concrete pavement and the sentry greeted us and permitted us to pass through a door, not like a car barn door at all but cut through steel and concrete as thick as the walls of the pyramids. And the first thing that caught my eye as I found myself inside the eerie half light of the Maginot line was a lot of bicycles.

"What are the bikes for?" I inquired. "For the orderlies to ride around the fort," replied the French captain. "There are several miles of passages in this little fellow."

"I trust we shall make you feel quite at home," remarked an hotel manager to a new guest. "Don't trouble yourself in that direction," came the rejoinder. "I don't want to feel at home. That's why I'm here."

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

The Pharisees also with the Sadducees came, and tempting desired him that he would shew them a sign from heaven. He answered and said unto them, When it is evening, ye say, It will be fair weather: for the sky is red. And in the morning, it will be foul weather today: for the sky is red and lowring. O ye hypocrites, ye can discern the face of the sky; but can ye not discern the sign of the times?—Matt. xvi, 1-3.

FUN FOR THE PARTY

The PARTY was dull, and the guests were sitting round, looking and feeling much bored. The hostess, in an endeavor to infuse a little pep into the proceedings, said brightly, "Well, what shall we do next? Does anyone know a really good game we can play?"

"Well," a normally gay young man suggested, "I know a decent guessing game and it's somewhat original."

"How do you play it?"

"Well, first of all, I go out as if I was going home — and everyone spends the rest of the evening trying to guess where I've gone!" — Edinburgh Dispatch.

"Sorry, Miss"

The boy was sniffing until the teacher could stand it no longer. Finally she rose from her desk and said pointedly: "Henry, have you no handkerchief?"

"Yes, 'm," said Henry, "but mother said I wasn't to lend it."

Capital In Mourning As Lord Tweedsmuir Brought Home

The great of Canadian public life, headed by Sir Lyman Duff and Prime Minister King, waited in hushed silence as the train bearing the body of the late Lord Tweedsmuir drew to a stop at Ottawa's Union Station. From the station the body was carried, ABOVE, to a waiting motor hearse and taken to the Senate Chamber to lie in state. Hon. Alastair Buchan, the Governor-General's third son, and Sir Shuldham Redfern, secretary to the Governor-General, followed immediately behind the casket as it was carried from the station.

Delinquents' Act Explained Children's Aid

A clear routine of the operation of the Juvenile Delinquents' Act was given at Tuesday's meeting of the Children's Aid Society Board by B. W. Heise of Toronto, Provincial Superintendent of the Children's Aid Branch. Pointing out the value of such a court, Mr. Heise explained that it would bring in an entirely new piece of legislation which would make it possible to deal with juveniles, not as criminals, but as delinquents. Because of its flexibility, and the fact that it is framed to deal with children, Mr. Heise believes that it is an Act that ought to be in operation in every centre of the Province.

"Many of the problems that the Children's Aid Society has to face as protection cases," he said, "may in a sense be cases of delinquency, or result from parents not providing the supervision for their children that they should."

The Juvenile Court comes into being in any particular locality only on the request of that locality, remarked Mr. Heise as he explained to Board members the machinery for getting such a Court into operation. If it is the desire of Peterborough to have a Juvenile Court, some individuals representing interested groups in the city would apply to the Attorney-General of the Province with the request that the city be declared an area where the Juvenile Delinquent Act would become operative. Before doing this, however, the city must be prepared to provide a Juvenile Court judge, a probation service, and a place of detention for juvenile offenders. The judge might be a person acting in a voluntary capacity. In several instances, Mr Heise explained, the present sitting magistrate is designated Juvenile Court Judge within the meaning of the Act

Treated as a Delinquent.

A decided advantage provided by the Juvenile Court, as pointed out by Ross L Dobbin, is that a child is treated as a delinquent only, while under the present system he is convicted and has a definite charge against him.

In reply to a question from one of the Board members, V. J. McElderry, Crown Attorney, explained how juvenile law breakers are handled in the Magistrate's Court. He believes that no more than one case a month could come under the Juvenile Delinquents' Act in the city of Peterborough if it were established here. "The situation, I think, is not being handled too badly at the present time," he said.

Mr. Heise, who was introduced by Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr, president of the Board, complimented the local Society on its spirit and accomplishments, but warned against being "Penny wise and pound foolish" in the matter of an additional worker. "Either you spend money and take children into the care of the Children's Aid Society, thus breaking up a family, or you spend money to provide sufficient staff to keep those families together," he said. Since 1935, the staff of the Children's Aid Societies throughout the Province has been practically doubled in number. The work has not merely increased in so far as the provision and care is concerned, but has almost tripled in the protection phase of the job. Mr. Heise feels

Canada Wants No Lost Generation As War Is Over Canvassers Told At Inauguration Of $5,000 Drive

We must not have a lost generation after this war is over, Rev. Capt. J. Maxwell-Allan, senior personnel officer of Canadian Legion Services Inc. told a gathering of ninety men at the Legion Hall last night when he addressed them on the necessity of raising funds for the work which had been planned.

The Rev. Allan was introduced by Lt.-Col. M. R. Sloan, zone commanding officer of the Legion, who paid tribute to the men now directing the drive for funds, explaining that all of them were acting voluntarily and al lhad made financial sacrifices to take up the work of the new army. The speaker, said Col. Sloan ,comes from Pembroke.

"A task without a vision is drudgery, and a vision without a task is a dream—but a task with a vision is victory and we have such task at this time," Rev. Allan said in his first remarks. This task has attracted many outstanding leaders across Canada, men who have been through the last war and who wish to protect this country and its people from a recurrence of the chaos which existed at the close of the war in 1918 and 1919.

"It would be a calamity if we gained victory only to find the country demoralized and the soldiers bewildered and at a loss as to where to seek employment and reestablish themselves in civil life. At the close of World War I many soldiers after a few months at home were unemployed, were even begging all because they were not fitted to assume the exacting responsibility of civilian life. This can be avoided and is the main aim of the drive which we are launching to-night.

Rev. Allan spoke in tribute to the late Lord Tweedsmuir and said in part that [illegible] last public act on this world was to dictate a letter in which he lauded the work of the Canadian Legion and the plan outlined for the new army.

"Everyone Has a Task."

It is fitting that the Canadian Legion take a leading part in the work of looking after the soldiers in this war and in raising the money for the work because they were through the last war," said the speaker.

We of our generation must do our work if we are not in the fighting forces, we must provide the educational facilities and the entertainment for the men in the ranks and keep the wheels turning at home so that the transition from war to peace may be affected without dislocation of undue unemployment.

The plan we have in mind can fire the ambition of the young man who was unemployed and discouraged when he joined the army and it will afford him an opportunity to develop his resourcefulness and train for a job in civilian life. Our vision is a new Canada and everyone must give generously so that this great work may be done."

Chief Gimblett Presides.

Fire Chief George Gimblett, president of the Legion, Branch 52 and campaign manager for the entire district, was chairman at the banquet. He tendered a warm welcome to the ninety men who are grouped in teams to do the canvassing and raise $5,000 in one week. Chief Gimblett called on the division majors, John McKone, Lt.-Col. C. H. Ackerman, Gordon Matthews, Lt.-Col. Hicks-Lyne and Jim Wharry to take a bow and he also introduced three Overseas Nursing Sisters, C.A.M.C. who sat at the head table in uniform. The three were Mrs. F. J. Lynch, Mrs. W. Moorehead and Miss E. Davidson.

His Worship Mayor Hamilton said a few words in which he officially approved of the drive and its objects and brought best wishes from the people of the city and members of the City Council.

Dan Douglas moved a hearty vote of thanks to the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Legion, who provided the meal and served it, and a standing vote of appreciation followed.

Blood Indian Files Suit For Divorce

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., Feb. 14. — (CP).—For the first time in the history of the Alberta Supreme Court here, an Indian has filed a petition for divorce.

Lily Big Sorrel Horse seeks a divorce from Big Sorrel Horse, who has denied her claim that they were married according to blood tribal rights. Lily, in her petition, said that after the marriage she entrusted him with the management of a herd of her cattle.

Her petition is based on grounds of desertion and adultery. She also has demanded the return of her cattle and an accounting of the management. Bill Sorrell Horse has asked for dismissal of the case.

Both Indians are residents of the Blood Reservataion south of here.

HE FACES Death...

WILL YOU HELP HIM FACE LIFE?

Major-General John A. Gunn, C.M.G., D.S.O., V.D., President
Brigadier-General Alex. C. Ross, K.C., C.M.G., D.S.O., V.D., A.D.C., National Campaign Chairman
Lt.-Col. E. A. Oliver, D.S.O., V.D., Campaign Director
Col. The Hon. G. V. White, C.B.E., V.D., Honorary Treasurer.

FOR months he has undergone intensive training for war. Soon, we hope, the war may be over. Shall he be turned loose with no training whatever in the pursuits of peace?

The minds of our boys who have enlisted must be kept focussed on the life they left behind. Their training as good Canadian citizens must continue. Education to fit these men for the pursuits of peace must be made available to them in Canada, in England and on active service.

Educational and Vocational Training for Men in Our Service Forces

In providing educational facilities to our service forces, the Canadian Legion is assured of the technical assistance it needs. The Canadian Association for Adult Education has offered its complete facilities; and its long experience in work of this kind will be invaluable. The departments of education, universities and vocational bodies throughout Canada are lending their support. The co-operation of British and French educationists is assured.

Enlisted men will be able to continue their education, to take courses in agriculture, economics, technical subjects, various trades, bookkeeping, stenography, secretarial work, etc. Courses leading to matriculation and college degrees will also be available.

We Will Help Him in His Personal Affairs

The Canadian on service far from home frequently has troubles of a personal or business nature on which he needs trustworthy advice. Representatives of the Canadian Legion will be present wherever Canadian troops are quartered. Through 1100 Legion branches located in all parts of Canada they will be able to have such matters investigated and corrected.

Entertainment and Recreational Services

The Legion will assist in providing entertainment and recreation, and in organizing sports activities wherever the need arises. Leave hostels and travel bureaus will be provided in England. Concert parties will be trained and equipped. Every effort will be made to bring to the men a real touch of home when they are far from family and friends.

HELP WIN THE WAR

Will you lend your help to enable us to carry on this great work successfully? If your son or brother were over there wouldn't you like to see these facilities available to him? Every dollar you give is an investment in Canadian manhood. Give to the Legion's great new cause—today!

LINDSAY MIDGETS GET 4-GOAL PLAYOFF EDGE OVER LAKEFIELD

Indians Defeat Ramblers To Pass Eagles

CLEVELAND, Feb. 14.—(CP)—Springfield Indians, who started climbing when owner Eddie Shore was granted permission to play for them, have reached second place in the International-American Hockey League's eastern division.

Indians were a poor third when Shore came out on their defence but have been moving rapidly ever since and last night overtook and passed the faltering New Haven Eagles by defeating Philadelphia Ramblers 3-1.

In another game, Syracuse Stars gained a last place tie with Hershey Bears in the western division by rallying twice to tie the champion Cleveland Barons 2 all.

Shore was a prominent figure in the Springfield victory, scoring his first goal in Int-Am play.

Max Kaminski drove in the winning goal and Larry Thibeault added another for good measure. Herb Foster scored for Ramblers.

Maxie Bennett's goal less than two minutes from the end of the overtime gained Syracuse the draw with Cleveland.

After a scoreless first period Bud Cook sent Cleveland into the lead in the second. Klein tied the count at 11.25 of the third session and the teams went into overtime.

Don Deacon's goal half way through the extra session looked like the winner until Bennett came through.

King Edward and Prince of Wales top two teams in the circuit at the end of the schedule, will now meet in a home-and-home series (dates not announced yet) for the league championship. In the final trio of tilts, Prince of Wales nudged out a 3-2 nod over Queen Mary, as King Edward defeated Queen Alexandra 2-0, and Central beat King George 5-1.

In happier days for both Finland and Poland, Juho Kurikkala of Finland won the 18-kilometre langlauf in the world ski championships at Zakopane in Poland one year ago to-day. Dog Judge Booed In Placing New Daschshund

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—(AP)—About 11 o'clock tonight Judge Samuel Milbank of New York will point to one of six dogs in the centre ring at Madison Square Garden.

That simple act will make the dog "best in show" at Westminster probably the most sought-after title in dogdom. For the climax act of three-day show of the Westminster Kennels Club stamps one dog—out of an original entry list of 2,736—as the dog nearest the canine perfection that has not yet been attained.

For as long as they can remember dogs have been pointed for this show. Yesterday's age-long doings that limited the field to the 89 breed winners who go into six groups today was a weird one.

A judge was booed for a decision. Tempers grew thin. Dogs grew tired and set up an ear-wrecking din in the basement.

A new daschshund came from nowhere to outclass a favorite in the day's most exciting happening. Ch. Helmar Flotenberg, owned by Herbert Bertrand of Greenwich, Conn., is the new victory and it was in choosing him that the crowd booed Judge Laurence A. Horswell.

For he dethroned a many-times winner, Ch. Herman Rinkton from the South Orange, N.J., kennels of Mrs. Annis A. Jones.

PRO PUCK PERSONALITIES

PEP KELLY

Toronto Maple Leafs

(By Central Press Canadian)

One of the lightweights of N.H.L. puck warfare and one of the smoothest skaters in the same going is Regis (Pep) Kelly, right wing and a general handy man with Toronto Maple Leafs. He's in his sixth season with the team, coming straight from junior rank, as he and two of his team mates with Toronto St. Michael's, Memorial Cup winners of 1933-34, Nick Metz and Art Jackson, turned pro together. He's averaged about 11 goals per season, although for the past couple of winters he's been hampered by the injury jinx. Celebrated his 26th birthday last Jan. 9 Born at North Bay, Ont., he played junior hockey at Oshawa, Newmarket and St. Mikes, playing on dominion championship teams in successive years with the latter two. Makes up for his not being what one might call a great scorer by his tireless checking and has killed off many a penalty for the Leafs. Biggest night this season came early in the campaign when he counted three goals against Americans. And it was just previous to this feat that he was considered fair trading game. Complete major league mathematical output in five seasons: 57 goals, 41 assists for 98 points, plus 83 minutes of repentance on the penalty bench. Three years ago he went to Chicago Black Hawks in mid-season, but returned to Toronto at the end of the year.

Scugog Outfit Wins, 6-2 In Home Arena

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 14.—(ENS)—In their first O.H.A. Junior 'C' semi-final game at Lindsay last night the local juniors were defeated 6-2. They played good hockey and kept the Midgets on the scoreless side of the game till in the third period and then when a penalty was received, they became disorganized and five goals were banged in. Three penalties to Lindsay and two to the juniors were handed out by Referee Lou Lebarr of Peterborough.

The game opened very fast and Lakefield took the lead after thirteen minutes of play when Stewart scored unassisted. Lindsay came right back and tied it up three minutes later. The period ended in a tie 1-1.

The second period was scoreless with the Lindsay line of Brennan, Sharpe and Owen, and Lakefield's Stewart, Calhoun and Connelly being robbed many times. Both goalies put up a fine performance throughout. Brennan, Owens and Birch received penalties this period for tripping but neither team took advantage of the shortage.

The third period was the downfall for the visiting juniors. Sharpe and Warrian teamed up to score and break the tie after one minute of play. Then Brennan from Warrian counted again at the 8-minute mark. Brennan and Begley broke away together and put the Midgets three goals in the lead. Owen skated into the corner for a check and picked the puck off the boards to score another. Lakefield got its second and last goal when Jewell tore in after a scramble to beat Nichols with his shot. Warrian scored the last goal just as the bell rang to end the game. Connelly received the only penalty this period for tripping.

Morris, Bullock, Stewart and Jewell looked best for Lakefield, while Nichols, Brennan, Owen, Warrian played fine hockey for Lindsay. The teams:

Lindsay: Goal, Nichols; defence, Warrian, Elliott; centre, Owen; wings, Brennan, Sharpe; subs, Logan, Ellis, McDonald, Begley, Christie.

Lakefield: Goal, Morrison; defence, Birch, Graham; centre, Bullock; wings, Jewell, Clarke; subs, Calhoun, Stewart, Connelly, Chappell.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

Side boards at the Brock St. arena will be bulging tonight from the fan pressure, and the shingles will be curling from the racket raised as the Fliers and Petes open their intermediate "A" group, final playoffs here. Yeah, another steaming dish of puck entertainment served up as only these keen rivals can present it. Greased-lightning speed, thrilling hockey, bangs and bumps and very possibly a few fist fights or free-for-alls. Both squads at top strength—and Goalie Gibson makes a heck of a lot of difference in the Airmen's cage, cocky as he is. It should be a ripsnorter as both clubs try desperately for the first win in the three-in-five serial. Better not pass it up, folks.

* * * * * *

This item from the Belleville sheet is interesting and perhaps significant: "The Petes are quite certain they are going to be victims of a ganging act before the current Fliers-Petes' series is over, and off the record we can say we don't blame them for their present nervous state." What does he mean? Probably that the R.C.A.F.-ers will try to bring in a couple of star puckists from the air camps at Ottawa or Borden. Which might make it tough for the locals, but we're not worrisy too much. Because those other teams are in the throes of a playoff berth battle themselves now, and anyway new players are liable to disorganize a team at first. Besides the Petes have lots of class. Yes, sir.

Three Hockey Tilts

Industrial Hockey League stages another triple-header at the Rue Brock on the morrow after supdown. Games are: Packers vs. Raybestos at 7.30, Watercrafts vs. Brintons at 8.30, and Quakers vs. Westclox at 9.30 by your gold watch and chain. Schedule only runs a few more weeks and the clubs are beginning to sweat as playoffs approach, and they're playing better and tighter hockey all the time. Quakers are on the top, with Marines next, followed closely by Westclox, with Packers, Brintons, Watercrafts and Rays in that order; but only a couple of tilts separate the pack.

School children throughout the city are invited to a big junior ski jamboree out in the hills of Bethany this Saturday. With parents invited along to see the fun. Club junior championships are on, but also kids not belonging to the club—from all schools here—may take part in various healthy competitions, or just ski for fun. Prizes up, too. They've got a wonderful winter spot at Bethany, a fine chalet, ski tow, beautiful snowy hills, train and car accommodation, et al. And the youngsters should be given this chance of a fine Saturday outing, taking along warm clothes and lunches. They'll get a whale of a bang out of it.

"Elbows And Knees"

Motor City key-mauler states: "Oshawa Bees got off on the right foot in junior 'B' playoff finals against Peterborough Colts. The score was 8-3 and the shortest description we can give of it is that it was a junior 'B' interpretation of the Guelph-Oshawa junior 'A' game. The visitors carried their sticks high and used elbows and knees whenever possible, and the Oshawa contingent—headed by Fraser—was just as bad. He might easily have been given three or four more penalties. The return game, second of the series, in the Liftlock City this Friday night, should be a dandy." Yep, we rather imagine it'll be a hot affair.

* * * * * *

Lakefield's junior "C" squad is down four goals on the group semi-final round with Lindsay, losing a 6-2 contest on Scugog ice last eve. But the large Midgets had their hands full, scoring five goals in the third—several on breakaways—after Lakefield had held 'em for over two chukkers. A fine showing by the visitors, who will be at home to Lindsay on Thursday in the village to the north of us, and they might well rub out that four-goal margin and cop the goals-to-count round. Winner will meet Cobourg for the junior "C" championship of the group. Stewart, Calhoun and Jewell shone for the Lakefield lads last p.m., as Brennan, Warrian and Sharpe looked best for the victors. Both goalies were okay.

A Very Good Tussle

Folks who dropped into the Brock St. rink last night to view the juvenile joust between St. Peter's and Norwood Bees got a great kick out of it. The Saints jerked out a tight 7-6 decision o'er the battling Bees, and both sides were fairly flying all evening. These O.J.H.A. games are practically on a par with O.H.A. junior "C" and the high-tailin' young ice warriors never let up. Manager Hap Wilgar of the junior "B" Colts (after watching the Vitarelli and Kempt crews blaze away for three periods in a close struggle) remarked: "That's pretty good hockey and there are several fine O.H.A. junior prospects out there, boys who should step up next year."

In the Church Hockey League race at All Saints' fresh-air arena, St. James and All Saints have a senior scrap at seven tonight, and a loss will eliminate either team. Three playoff frays are billed for Thursday in the gloaming. Knox meets Trinity Bantams at six in a semi-final while Trinity Juveniles start finals at 7.15 'gainst All Saints, and St. Paul's Juniors clash with Park St. at 8.30 in a junior semi-final. Some of the church clubs have hung up their bent war clubs already for this winter, and more will be following suit this week. Yep, winter is just beginning to wane a bit now.

Hastings Outfit Defeats Roseneath

HASTINGS, Feb. 14 (ENS)—In a double header hockey session last night at Riverside rink, Tanners and Clerks tied with four all and the Combines of Hastings sent Roseneath one game deeper into their loss column with a 10 to 6 victory. With dissention brewing among the tannery teams for the past week or more, neither tannery team could put a full outfit on the ice and the games were put on as exhibition matches. A small turnout of fans were on deck for the affraye.

In the first game, Crate, Coughlan, Thompson and Faux did the scoring for the Tanners while Petticrew and Edwards, with two goals each, did the honours for the Clerks. Tucker and Pacey were goal getters in the second game for Roseneath while the Combines were all well represented in the scoring.

The Teams:

Tanners—Goal, Calberry; defence, Crate, Turner; centre, Scriver; wings, Coughlan, Blackburn; alternates, Thompson, Wilson, Faux.

Clerks—Goal, Bonds; defence, Jones, Boyle; centre, Hill; wings, Radford, Petticrew; alternates, Mouncey, Scriver, Edwards, Crowley.

Combines—Goal, Bonds; defence, Boyle, Mouncey; centre, Petticrew; wings, Faux, Wilson; alternates, Edwards, Radford, Crowley, Jones.

Kirkland Places Hope In Davis In Consols Trophy

TORONTO, Feb. 14 — (CP). — Crack rinks from various sections of the province will compete here today for the British Consols Trophy and the right to represent Ontario in the Macdonald's Brier Canadian curling championships at Winnipeg next month.

Northern Ontario's representative has already been decided and J. R. (Jim) Davis of Kirkland Lake will carry the hopes of that territory. In the south, however, it's difficult to name a favorite as rinks from Kingston, Galt, Chatham, Oshawa, Midland, Kitchener, Guelph and Toronto take up the hunt.

First draw is scheduled for 9.30 a.m. and by tonight it is expected a champion will be crowned. In the opening tilts, G. Hanson and his Kingston rink will face J. M. Tait's Galt quartet; A. A. Fleming of Ottawa meet B. C. Hall of Kitchener and his 1939 Dominion champions; F. R. Michael of Oshawa is billed to meet C. F. Mason of Toronto and W. L. Mackenzie of Midland is paired with J. F. Robinson of Guelph.

Saints Beat Beavers

In a Southend Hockey League bantam game at the Sacred Heart rink last evening, a strong St. Peter's squad blanked the Beavers by a 13-0 score. The losers were shorthanded and never in the hunt. Jones got five goals, Quigley four, Fallon two, and Ryan and Monahan one apiece for the winners. Basciano, Jones and Quigley were outstanding. The teams:

Beavers—Goal, Basciano; defence, Carravaggie, Pilling; centre, Goodman; wings, Farren, Crebar.

St. Peter's—Goal, Delpellaro; defence, Jones, McBrien; centre, Quigley; wings, Fallon, Legrow; subs, Ryan, Monahan.

Referee—R. Leether.

Hockey Loop Broken

HASTINGS, Feb. 14 (ENS). — The Town Hockey Loop here seems for the present to have become disorganized as a result of petty grievances among players of the two tannery teams who form the bulk of the league. Each game saw players of these teams drop away until now there is not sufficient hockey material to field two teams. The Clerks, who have remained intact, will not see a consolidated outfit of Tanners play against them fearing they may produce an extra strong team; and so organized hockey may pass for the balance of the season here.

Detroit Shifts Greenberg To Outfield

LAKELAND, Fla., Feb. 14.—(AP)—The shift of Hank Greenberg from first base to the outfield and the purchase of Bruce Campbell has "solved" the outfield problem of the Detroit Tigers in the opinion of Pitcher Tommy Bridges.

He expected those two moves and other changes to enable Detroit to improve its position in the American League this season but—"I don't see how anybody is going to stop the Yankees from winning the flag again this year."

"There's no question in my mind whatever," said Bridges, "that Hank will make good in the outfield. It will be great to have both Rudy York and him in the lineup every day with their big bats."

Bridges envisioned an infield composed of York on first, Charley Gehringer on second, Dick Bartell, obtained from the Chicago Cubs, at short and Pinkey Higgins at third, and an outfield made up of Greenberg, Barney McCosky and Campbell or Pete Fox.

SAINT PETER'S BOYS TAKE FIRST PLACE IN THE O. J. H. A. SERIES

Norwood Bees Beaten 7-6 In Close Game

St. Peter's took first place in the O.J.H.A. round-robin series standing 1:st night at the Brock St. rink with a 7-6 victory over Norwood Bees. Previously, Norwood had beaten the Saints in Norwood but the S.P.S. squad defeated the Grads of this city here Monday.

A fair-sized crowd of fans viewed a very tidy tilt. It was real fast all the way, with some good hockey shown by the juveniles—who are practically on an O.H.A. junior 'C' basis in calibre. Play kept fast from start to finish, and roughened up in the third and threatened to get out of hand a few times.

The score was a good indication of the play, with the Saints having a slight margin, but being crowded all the way by the speedy Bees. The score was 2-2 to end the first frame and 5-4 for the Vitarelli crowd going into the third. Halfway through the third the Saints broke a 6-6 to win out in a wide-open stanza with both sides bumping rivals hard and doing some slashing.

Goalies Good

Both goalies kicked out some nice ones, and the defence pairs checked hard and fairly effectively for O.J.H.A. competition. The starting front lines looked good for the Bees and Saints, with Routley an offensive standout for the winners, and Buck prominent for the losers. All the pucklets worked hard and played fine hockey throughout, though play at times became a bit disorganized in the lively third.

Routley led St. Peter's to the victory with a four-goal scoring splurge, showing fine form and giving promise of future O.H.A. stardom. Horton, Huard and Garvey were the other scorers for the victors with some nice work. Buck and Thompson got two apiece for Norwood and looked smart in their sniping efforts, with Gill and Brown each counting one. Puffer, with some rugged checking, proved a tower of strength on defence for the visiting crew, and several others were dangerous all the way in this lively fray. The teams:

Norwood Bees—Goal, Hill; defence, Brown and Puffer; centre, Gill; wings, Buck and Green; alternates, Webb, Yeo and Thompson.

St. Peter's—Goal, Hatton; defence, Scriver and Curtis; centre, Garvey; wings, Routley and Eason; alternates, Mortimer, Huard, Horton, Griffin and Chimenti.

Referee—R. Ennis of Norwood.

Bruins Lambaste Wings 10-3 In 3-Fight Tilt

BOSTON, Feb. 14 (CP)—Boston Bruins shared the top rung of the National Hockey League today with the New York Rangers, but hockey master-minds expect the Bruins to show no let-up in their drive toward sole possession of first place.

Detroit Red Wings played the Bruins last night and started the scoring, the fist fights and the penalties, but the Bruins finished on the right side on all three departments.

The Bruins scored 10 goals and the Wings three in the biggest scoring game of the season. Herb. Cain got two goals and two assists while his team-mates added 21 points to their scoring average.

Probably Art Ross got double satisfaction as his henchmen shoved 10 goals past Detroit's goalie, Tiny Thompson. Most of the Bruins fans howled loudly last year when Ross traded Thompson to Detroit and replaced him with Brimsek.

Penalties were frequent with five majors among the 16 imposed by referee Mickey Ion. The crowd of less than 10,000 saw three fist fights.

Ebbie Goodfellow started the fighting by menacing Cooney Weiland, Bruins' coach. Art Ross, jr., son of the Boston manager, intervened and swapped punches with the Detroit defenceman.

Milt Schmidt, who leads league scorers, was unable to play because of an injured groin, but his companions on the Kraut line Bobby Bauer and Woody Dumart collected five points between them.

It was the fifth straight victory for the Bruins. The last team to defeat them was the Wings. In the past five games the Bruins have scored just four times as many goals as their opponents, 32 to eight.

Sailors Defeat Hamilton In 6-5 Tangle

TORONTO, Feb. 14 — (CP). — With the Ontario Hockey Association playoffs a few days off, the Senior A group finds itself in the unusual position of not having chalked up a tie game in the records during the current season.

Hamilton fought back furiously in an effort to square matters in the game against the Sailors at Port Colborne last night, but lost out 6-5 after trailing 5-1 at one stage. St. Catharines edged Niagara Falls 4-2 in the other Senior contest to remain in a deadlock with the Sailors for second place 12 points behind the leading Toronto Goodyears.

The Sailors started out to make the tussle with Hamilton a walkover. Goals by McKelvie, Upper, Laroche, and Allan against a lone marker for the visitors by Barlow gave the home club a 4-1 margin at the end of the first frame. Upper notched another for the Sailors early in the second before Hamilton found the range with Miocinovich, Barlow and Conick scoring to swing the game into the nip-and-tuck class. Fitzgerald lashed home another Sailor goal early in the third, but again Hamilton fought back, Barlow taking a double relay to put fourth-placers within range of a tie which the Sailors managed to forestall.

Defeat of Niagara occurred in a peppery 150-minute battle at St. Catharines. The teams were all square at the end of the first frame, Rudy Pilous banging home the first goal for the winners and Begin equalizing.

Reynolds and Pilous each got a goal for the Saints in the second period against Stuart's counter for the Cataracts. Joe Catlin, formerly of Cornwall Flyers, made his debut one of the sensational variety by skating through the whole Niagara team for the clinching score in the final session.

Manager Boyd of Niagara twice threatened to call his team off the ice, alleging unfair penalties to his team. Niagara drew down eight of the 13 sentences which included four majors and one misconduct.

Hudson Of Capitals Again Top Scorer

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 11 — (AP).—Ronny Hudson of Indianapolis Capitols has gone right to the top of the International-American Hockey League scoring pile on the wings of his one-month rampage, displacing Hemmerling of New Haven Eagles.

In 19th place right after the new year opened, Hudson's two assists last week broke his first-place tie with Hemmerling and raised him to 43 points. Hemmerling was second with 42.

Two pairs of teammates, Fred Thurrier and Norm Schultz of the Springfield Indians and Jack Toupin and Norm Locking of the Syracuse Stars, were all tied for third place at 39 points each.

Petes Are Set For Fliers Here Tonight

The O.H.A. intermediate 'A' group championship of Central Ontario is at stake here tonight (Wednesday) when Trenton Fliers and the Petes clash at 8:30 o'clock in the Brock St. rink. It is the first game of their three-in-five group final playoffs, and both squads are most anxious to get the big initial money encounter. Second joust will be in Belleville on Friday, and third one here the first of the week. A huge crowd is expected to view the first of the playoffs this evening, as it promises to be packed with action.

Every Fliers-Petes' fray is exciting as the old rivals bump each other hard, with fights a common occurrence. They play streamlined hockey with some smart work and very fast skating shown. The Airmen will be at full strength, with Gibson back in goal, and possibly an import or two from Camp Borden or Ottawa air camps. The Petes, also, will be at top strength for this important contest.

NorwoodHornets Whip Bata In 5-2 Tussle

HAVELOCK, Feb. 14—(ENS). — Unbeaten in their last five starts, the group-leading Norwood Hornets chalked up another T.V.I. victory on Monday evening in the Frankford Arena, when they defeated the Batas by a 5-2 count.

Since Tweed dropped a decision to Marmora the same night, Alex. Kempt's hustlers are now enjoying a comfortable five-point margin over their nearest competitor for group honors. The Hornets take a brief rest now until the Stirling Shells visit the Norwood Arena on Friday eve, for what promises to be a lively struggle.

An exceptionally clean game, only one penalty was administered by Referee Finnegan, and that to Meyette of the homesters for a trip in the final canto. The tussle was fairly fast despite the close-checking type of play to which the homesters reverted.

Rogers starred for the winners, collecting four of their five counters. He opened the scoring early in the initial stanza with Puffer and Hill assisting, and combined with Puffer shortly after for his second marker. A hard drive from just inside the blue-line by Aboud, netted Norwood's third goal, before the Batas finally broke into the scoring column near the end of the period. Meyette tallied for the homesters from a scramble in front of the visitors' cage.

The middle frame was decidedly close. Bata doing the only scoring of this session, when Reid's shot glanced off Aboud into the Norwood cage. The last period saw Rogers pop home another pair of counters, the first about the halfway mark and the second near the end of the game. The teams:

Frankford.—Goal, Lawrence; defence, Guay, Stojan; centre, Reid; wings, Foster, Meyette; alternates, Pollard, McDonald, Dore, Rose.

Norwood.—Goal McMaster; defence, R. Webb, Rothwell; centre, Puffer; wings, N. Rogers, Hill; alternates, O'Leary, Richardson, W. Webb, Aboud, W. Rogers.

Referee.—H. Finnegan, Frankford.

Roslin Defeats Bearcats In 2-1 Battle

TWEED, Feb. 14 (ENS). — In the first game of the double-header at the local arena on Tuesday night, Roslin of the East Hastings Rural League edged out the Tweed Bearcats 2-1 in a very closely contested game.

The first period was scoreless with Doran receiving the only penalty.

Roslin tallied the first goal of the second period with Mattis driving in a long shot past McIlroy in the Bearcats' net. The Bearcats tied the count with J. Sinclair repping in a hard drive from inside the blue line.

During the last period it remained for Vance to break the tie, when he drove in the winning counter with two minutes to go. Emmerson went to the bench for holding. Both teams played well, and it was not until the closing minutes of play that the game was decided.

The lineups:

Roslin — Goal, Bailey; defence, W. Slingerland, S. Colden; forwards, H. Harte, D. Chisholm, J. Mattis; subs., W. Chumbly, J. Chumbly, H. Vance, E. Burleigh, C. Harte, C. Bellis.

Tweed — Goal, McIlroy; defence, Woods, Emmerson; centre, Sinclair; wings, Thompson, Cronkwright; subs., Tufts, Hayes, Courneyea, Doran, A. Sherry.

Referee—Sayers.

Plainfield Wins.

In the second game of the double-header, the Plainfield team battled to a 5-4 victory over the Farnsworth Bees.

The first period saw Plainfield open the scoring, with Platt tallying on a pass from D. Denyes. However, H. Meraw rapped in a hard drive to tie the count. Carleton went to the bench for tripping.

Plainfield jumped into a one-goal lead early in the second period, when McCaw backhanded a drive from a scramble in front of the nets. However, the Plainfield boys tallied three quick goals, with Platt tallying twice, and G. Denyes from D. Denyes for the other. Two minutes from the end of the period saw the Bees cut the lead to one goal, when R. Palmateer banged in a hard shot from inside the blue line.

The lineups:

Plainfield — Goal, Pennington; defence, Parks, Dunning; forwards, Platt, D. Denyes, G. Denyes; subs., Harrison, C. Carleton, H. Carleton, Gray, Moore.

Farnworth — Goal, R. Palmateer; defence, G. Jones, G. Gunning; centre, McCaw; wings, H. Meraw, W. Bateman; subs., D. Palmateer, R. Palmateer, T. Courneyea.

"FIRST DAYS"—SHOWING FIRST DAYS IN LONDON AFTER WAR WAS DECLARED

Anzacs' Arrival Is Hailed In London Press

LONDON, Feb. 14—(CP). — The press hailed today the arrival of Australian and New Zealand troops in the middle east as further proof of the dominions' intensive war efforts.

"Turn your eyes to Suez," the Daily Herald said. "There Anthony Eden (Dominions Secretary) welcomed on your behalf yesterday the Anzacs of 1940.

"Nothing could make us British rejoice more than the quick decision of the dominions to give not merely moral but practical help in the present mortal struggle."

The News Chronicle saw the arrival as one more answer "To false prophets in Germany who built hope on the break-up of the empire in the event of war."

"Once more the Australians and New Zealanders have taken war stations for the defence of our common heritage."

The Times said "The Allies have been building quietly in the near middle east in readiness for any emergency in any part of the world."

"Both Australian and New Zealand forces are composed exclusively of men who have volunteered individually to take their part in this crusade for freedom and for the right of small nations to maintain their independence against lawless aggression.

"Governments and peoples are united on this question as they have rarely been united before.

"In Asartalia and New Zealand, as was also the case in Canada, the governments were disposed to think the speediest and most useful war was to co-operate with Great Britain in building an irresistible air force, and that it would be unwise to launch out into any other enterprise which might weaken that effort.

"But in all three dominions public opinion and the men themselves insisted that the great traditions built up by dominion armies in Gallipoli and in Flanders must be maintained, that they must take their part in the war on land as well as in the air."

Library Love

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 14—(AP). —Some young man is seeking a sweetheart with the aid of the public library. He left a note in an Aldous Huxley novel suggesting any young lady interested in cultural pursuits should leave a card in James Whitcomb Riley's "Pipes of Pan at Zekesbury.' Librarians scanned Riley's book. There were no takers.

Reds Claim 84 Forts Taken

(The Russian command early today claimed capture yesterday of 23 more forts of the Mannerheim line, making a total of 84 such positions seized within a week.)

Russian air raiders carried the war into southern Finland again yesterday, attacking Borga (Porvoo), Sortavala, Viborg, Laati and Heinola. Up to midnight, however, only two air raid fatalities were reported.

As in previous raids, property damage outdistances human casualties. For example, The Associated Press correspondent who visited Borga, near Helsingfors, found the centre of the city a scene of devastation, with 28 buildings burning last night. Borga's normal, pre-war population was 7,000.

It appears only Finland's air raid shelters and the removal of civilians from cities could account for the almost negligible casualty reports.

The Finnish command likened the defence of the Mannerheim line to the battles of Verdun and the Somme in the First Great War and termed the resistance in the Summa sector "the Summa miracle."

It estimated Red losses at Summa at 30,000 to 50,000 men—presumably including wounded.

Need Help in Every Way

The high command's informal statement said Finland's need was pressing for "help in all forms, men, material and especially airplanes."

A monster tank, 70 tons, according to the Finnish high command, was used against the Finnish line at Summa. The Finns said it was disabled and forced to return to the Russian line.

Finnish reticence as to losses among the defenders persists. An officer, questioned on this point, said, "We can tell you that the Finnish losses are exceedingly small, and you will find it hard to believe.

"You've seen and acknowledged the ease with which the phantom skiiers disappear against the snow with their caps as camouflage. Our losses are small. Our men know how to conceal themselves."

Canadians File Past Casket Of Lord Tweedsmuir

Canadians of high and low degree filed past the casket of Lord Tweedsmuir where it lay in the shrouded Senate Chamber of the Parliament Buildings in Ottawa. Unopened, by Lady Tweedsmuir's request, it was placed before the throne, where four officers of the Governor-General's Foot Guards mounted guard. Hon. Alastair Buchan, youngest son of Lord Tweedsmuir, shared in the solemn duty of mounting guard over the casket.

Dr. G. I. Christie, president of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph Ont., said "the adoption of sound farming practices in peace-time have made it possible to produce adequate supplies in war-time. We are ready to meet the demands to be made on us with better quality cows and milk and increased supplies of pork."

Citing the advance in the average yield of Ontario dairy cows over a period of years, Dr. Christie told delegates that Canada exported only 11,000,000 pounds of bacon in 1931 and now she is prepared to provide Great Britain with 5,000,000 pounds a week.

Negro Spirited Off

By the margin of some 30 minutes, Sheriff J. William Hall and his deputies spirited away a Negro man who had been held as a suspect in the jail battered open by the mob.

He was taken to Salisbury, Md., and held there with a fourth Negro while the crowd demanded that Hall give up his prisoners. Refusing to accept the sheriff's word that the man was not there, four civilians were designated to look over the jail.

Cries of "You've been bought!" greeted assurances of the quartet that the men had been taken away. Hall invited them all in, two-by-two, and they marched through the jail, taunting the frightened Negro women. Momentarily the mob dispersed, only to gather in larger numbers about an hour later.

This time they brought hacksaws and crowbars to effect an entrance. The jailer and his wife watched helplessly a dozen men bearing a rope crawled through a window and terrorized the women, saying "How would you like to have this around your neck?"

The screaming women, booked under the names of Martha Blake, 31, and Lillian Virginia Blake, 14, were dragged out and loaded into cars for the ride to Stockton. Police said the crowd did not harm them.

and suggested that whole milk and cheese could increase greatly the consumption of butter-fat.

Domestic consumption of cheese, he said, is "ridiculously low compared with many countries, and it seems there is a field here for increased consumption." Of recent years, statistics would show that it would be more profitable to put the milk surplus into cheese rather than produce butter.

Mr. Joss recommended formation of a board or committee representing the industry to study possibilities of increasing Canada's butter-fat production.

"Something of this kind seems more imperative today than ever before, as production, because of our war requirements, is likely to be increased, which may have the effect of aggravating our present difficulties when peace returns," he said.

The animals, three times the size of cottontail rabbits, have done serious damage to Meafoard district orchards, and James C. Pilgrem, Meaford sportsman, has offered $1 a head for 100 for them which will be shipped to the Huntsville district and turned loose there for the amusement of hunters.

So far he has been able to purchase only 24 jack rabbits, but now the word is out that a $1 bounty has been offered, Pilgrem thinks the complement of 100 soon will be filled. Trappers in the district are using wood traps to catch their victims and the animals are not harmed.

Sugar You Eat Blamed In Tooth Decay

CHICAGO, Feb. 14 (AP)—It's the sugar you eat that causes teeth to decay, Dr. Leonard Fosdick of the Northwestern University Dental School is convinced.

Sugar taken into the mouth produces an acid which, with bacteria normally present, causes tooth decay, he reported yesterday to the midwinter meeting of the Chicago Dental Society.

"The only method known at present to control dental decay, which has good scientific evidence to support it, is to avoid the intake of sugar into the mouth," he said.

Some conclusions Dr. Fosdick drew from the research and which tend to disprove many popular beliefs about tooth decay were:—

1. There is no evidence to indicate that cleaning the teeth will stop or decrease decay.
2. There is no relation between soft and hard teeth and tooth decay.
3. Eating hard foods doesn't prevent decay.
4. Dietary changes have no direct influence on the enamel, where decay always begins.
5. Teeth decay is not a continuous process but an intermittent one.

Presbytery Meets St. Andrew's

Peterborough Presbytery of the United Church of Canada held an all-day meeting in St. Andrew's Church to-day with Rev A. L. Siscoe, B.D., of Millbrook as chairman. The meeting was attended by ministers from all sections of the Presbytery.

The Religious Education Committee, under leadership of Rev. C. H. Ferguson of Bethany, presented a special program. Ladies of St. Andrew's Church served a delightful lunch at noon, and the afternoon session was given over to consideration of nominations for president of Conference and Moderator of the General Council, and to reports of standing committees.

and at the close of the service Martin Caenhall, A.R.C.O., organist, played the Dead March in Saul.

Members of the City Council and Mayor Hamilton with the exception of Alderman Cotton, who is ill, occupied the front seats of the church along with many other city officials.

The Rev. Dr. Barr delivered an eloquent and inspiring sermon in which he lauded the late Lord Tweedsmuir as a deeply religious man and he took as his text Hebrews 11:4, God, testifying of His gifts....he being dead yet speaketh.

Honor Memory Of Great Man.

"Today we are gathered here in this solemn hour to honor the memory of a great and good man, one of the most precious gifts ever received by this fair land of Canada from the motherland across the seas," said Dr. Barr. "Born in that border country of Scotland, which has provided so many outstanding men in the history of the Empire, Baron Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of Canada, came to us to fulfill a trust imposed on him by his King —a responsibility which he carried with real dignity, and to which he has added a lustre which shall remain undimmed far into the future annals of our country. Possessing a variety of gifts, of scholarship, of art, of literary genius, with a great capacity for friendship and a genius for diplomacy unsurpassed, and yet withal, forming as it were a true foundation, a simple religious faith, certainly no one was better fitted for the high office he occupied, nor more capable of entering into the colorful life of the Canadian people as he. Thus it could not happen otherwise that he should win his way into the hearts of all, whether in the larger civic centres of the East or in the more remote hamlets of the great West, or in the newer mining centres of our northern hinterland. And so, how true we may echo the words of Scripture: 'God testifying of his gifts...he being dead yet speaketh.'

"That voice so musical, so cordial, so friendly,—heard in Peterborough just a short time ago—is hushed, yet 'he being dead yet speaketh.' On his first arrival in Canada, he appeared before a religious gathering in Ottawa, and introduced himself: 'As an elder of the Church, and a son of a Scottish manse, I am glad to be among you.' No fanfare of trumpets, no trappings of office, no elaborate ceremonial, no attitude of snobbery! Just a plain man, proud to belong to that honorable religious group of officials which have adorned the church for many centuries. Here was John Buchan, novelist, author, historian, professing his faith openly, giving his testimony, declaring his creed. How many today think of greatness in this fashion? How many today prefer to leave such activities to those whom they considered old-fashioned. How many think that it is out of keeping with real social standing to engage in church work of any sort? Thank God for that simple statement from him, who 'being dead yet speaketh'; it provides a fine corrective to such thinking, compounded as it is of pride and ignorance and things equally unlovely.

Our Works Confounded.

"But that voice, so arresting in a variety of avenues of human thought and life, had spoken prophetically ere he had crossed the ocean. The war was not yet a reality, yet the deplorable condition of human ways had caught his attention, and evoked consideration. No more fitting preparation could have been found for the manifestation of those graces that later sent him to be our Governor-General than the post of High Commissioner, the personal fepresentative of the King to the Church of Scotland. And in the General Assembly of 1935, we hear that voice in pleading tones saying, 'In these days we have built up for ourselves a superb mechanical apparatus of life. We have dominated the forces of nature for our enrichment and our comfort. We have increased the speed and the complexity of living. We have broken down many of the old categories of thought, and have adventured without chart or compass into a strange world. But have we not been in peril, amid our material triumphs, of forgetting the things of the spirit? Now, in the last few years, we are seeing the work of our hands confounded. The lordly palaces we have built are everywhere crumbling. Much of the wealth we have created is vanishing like fairy gold. The winds from the outer spaces have broken into our security, and we realize today how frail a thing is our civilization. In such an hour of crisis is it not the duty of secular statesmen to build up again a world in which man may live? Is it not for you of the church of Christ, at this hour when material standards are being largely discredited to uphold those spiritual standards which cannot fail? May it not be that our troubles are a blessing in disguise that they may form that praeparation evangelica which turns the mind to God?' Surely such words need to be heard again, especially by us who form the foundation of a Christian civilization.

"One thing more. That voice, so sincere and true, now hushed in death, was heard by folk of all sorts, in organizations and institutions, all over the land. On the radio it had been heard more than once, and will again be heard ere this day closes. "He being dead yet speaketh." But among those in whom the late Lord Tweedsmuir had an abiding interest were the youth of our nation. And so we find him towards the end of the year 1935 addressing the youth of the University of Toronto on the subject of spiritual democracy, and saying: "Spiritual democracy means the safeguarding of the personality....It is the human soul which to-day is in danger, its integrity and independence.....No machine can be permitted to impair the freedom of the spirit and weaken the citizen's responsibility toward that conscience and that reason which are the gifts of God....This freedom of spirit is what you young men must most strictly preserve. Do not take your creed second-hand from anyone, but shape it for yourself. You will make plenty of mistakes, but it is only by fresh and candid thought that you will work out a faith worth having." What finer advice to give to young men looking out upon a career in a world with civilization crumbling, and every phase of life confused. But here we have the essence of the distillation of a mind passionately industrious, unquenchably eager for knowledge, incurably romantic in its approach to realities, and bravely courageous in its examination of ideas—the ideas by which men live.

"God testifying of his gifts....He being dead yet speaketh." Thank God that this is true. For many years to come Canadians will pore over the ennobling thoughts of that fertile mind. He is gone, but yet he lives in that immortality of influence which abideth for ever. And how fitting his going. How blessed Just as if God had timed his demise. The Sabbath bells on the frosty air ringing out their call to worship, barely silent, when he heard, beyond the fields and above the hilltops, the distant chimes of a diviner summons, making sweet music in his dying ear. In the beauty of death, in the Senate Chamber he has lain for many to pass by, and note that serene face, no longer wrinkled by the cares of state. In kingly silence, this king of men passes on. He had fought a good fight. He had finished his course. He had kept the faith. And his words will for ever hang like a rainbow in the world's sky, an ideal and an inspiration for the Canadians yet to be, lifting this Canada of ours to the higher and nobler things which make for that true national greatness, which we hope will be the destiny of our Dominion of Canada in the centries ahead.

"Oh, death, that has of us such riches reft,
Tell us at least what thou with it hast done?
What has become of him whose flower here left
Is but the shadow of his likeness gone?
What of that mortal spirit which was decked
With all the dowries of a kingly grace?
Ah, no; he is not dead, nor can he die,
But lives in blissful paradise for aye."

Firemen Are Still Awaiting Police Reply To Meet In Hockey Game For Red Cross

The fire department is convinced that policemen are men of big words—like the word blitzkreig, for example—but of little action.

They're comparing the police threat — "we'll blitzkreig you"—to the Russian attack on Finland. For one member of the police force said firemen would have a hard fate in the projected hockey game between the two forces. Firemen have gone into training for the duel, proceeds from which are to go to the Red Cross, but they claim that policemen have taken no steps to bring the match closer. Indeed, they assert without reservation, that coppers don't want to play now. Reason, they claim, is that the reputation of the fire fighters as hockey stars has travelled far and wide and has finally come to the attention of their intended victims.

In any event, the date of the match has not yet been set, although firemen have announced that they are ready at any date suggested by the police force.

Three-Point Program Is Planned By Legion Services For Soldiers

A three-point program aimed not only at keeping the morale of the Canadian army at a high peak but also at fitting the soldiers to assume the exacting responsibilities of civilian life when the war is over was described at the Legion Hall last night as the opening shot was fired launching the drive for $5,000 for Canadian Legion Services.

Lt.-Col. J. A. Dewart, M.C., city campaign manager told the gathering that the money to be raised has no relation to the Canadian Legion as an organization, but that the money will go entirely for war work. The Legion by virtue of its experience an dorganization is being used as a medium to put the drive across and assist in getting in the money, while as the actual work now planned gets underway more members of the Legion may be recruited to assist in this particular branch of the war service.

Briefly the objects of the drive are as follows:— Educational facilities will be set up making it possible for the troops to take both academic and vocational courses, conversational French and German will be taught, and other subjects to be covered will be the causes of war, and the value of democracy, so that subtle or sinister influences which now exist and which are aimed at undermining the morale of the troops will be niped in the bud. It is hoped to arrange the training so that young men who were unemployed when they enlisted may fit themselves to take a job in civil life. Others may continue a course of studies which they had dropped because of the war while students and others will find opportunity to add to their knowledge.

The second point of the program is known as the "Personal Service and means that an organization will be set up to act as a connecting link between the people at home and the boys in the fighting line. This plan would be equally efficient at home and abroad. The soldier could have his affairs looked after at home and the mothers and wives of soldiers could obtain advice and assistance without cost and at the same time be in constant touch with their loved ones. The innumerable problems which arise during a war could thus be handled removing a burden from the officers who did this work in World War I.

The final object of the plan is to provide recreation and entertainment for the soldiers while they are in the service. This is essential from the standpoint of morale. Men would be appointed to organize concerts, athletic programs, and thus keep the spirits of the soldiers high, and their minds and bodies in a healthy condition.

"This is a different kind of a war to the last one, because large groups of men may be inactive for long periods and we must do our work during these periods of inactivity" said Col. Dewart.

Two Large Wolves Caught In Preserve

Towering Stan. Windsor, ace woodsman of the Apsley district, is seen here with the two huge wolves he captured by snare Saturday less than 10 miles from his home. The one on the right, a male, tipped the scale at almost exactly 100 pounds, while its mate, on the left, weighed 75 pounds. When the Department of Game and Fisheries learned about the capture of these two wolves, permission was given Mr. Windsor and Jim Lean of Apsley to hunt with guns in the game preserve where they were snared. In future they will stalk their quarry with guns. (Examiner Staff Photo.)

MORE THAN EVER

The spate of valentines through the mails on this occasion set a new high for Peterborough, one of the staff of the local postoffice declared: "There were more valentines this year than over," he remarked.

MAIL MUST GO THROUGH.

The old slogan "The mail must go" came home to Peterborough's mail collector, C. Elliott, this morning, and to a group of early P.C.I. students on their way to school. The car wouldn't run, and yet the mail had to go, so someone was pushing it east on Aylmer street as fast as possible.

DISCOMFORT TO ICE CUTTERS

Ice harvesting is in full swing at Mud Lake, Chemong Lake and Stoney Lake but the ice cutters are working under a handicap. The weight of snow on the ice causes water to rise over the ice as soon as ice cutting operations begin, and the men usually have trouser legs frozen and must wear rubber boots to keep dry.

BUILDING CABIN

Frank (Drake) Jopling, well-known hockey player, is having logs taken out this month in preparation for the building of a large summer cottage, log cabin style. The cottage will be built on Kee-Wa-Din island just off the Ennismore shore west of the floating bridge. The first cottage was built there last summer.

SILENT TRIBUTE.

Two minutes of silence was observed at the Legion Hall on Tuesday night when ninety men attended a banquet opening the drive for funds to carry out the Canadian Legion War Services program. "We pay tribute at this time to the memory of Lord Tweedsmuir and the men who died in the last war," Chief Gimblett, the chairman, said at the start of the meeting.

WAR ORDERS NEEDED.

If only war orders would come to Peterborough, is the daily prayer of Bill Mellis, superintendent of the Employment Service of Canada here. For, while he did not look for war orders for some time after the outbreak of the conflict, this city is in dire need of such work. Number of men and women on his file is just as great as it was when war came, possibly greater.

WORK FOR REVISION OFFICIALS

The election revision officials are assured of at least some work when they sit to correct errors in the enumerators' lists. It has been discovered that all the voters on the north side of Murray street from George street to the Otonabee River have been left off the list, through a misunderstanding on the part of the enumerators assigned to that subdivision.

ANOTHER SOLDIER.

Arnold Starke of Norwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Starke, who is a member of the 14th Battery, Cobourg, C.A.S.F., was in the city recently renewing acquaintances.

IN MOURNING

Officers and warrant officers of the Prince of Wales Rangers were noticed wearing black arm bands at the Legion dinner Tuesday evening in mourning for Lord Tweedsmuir.

NOW IN HOSPITAL

W. J. Cottrell of Marmora, a former sergeant in the 2nd Battalion during the last war, is now in Nicholl's Hospital. He has many friends not only in Deloro where he is employed and in Marmora, but also in this city and district, and all wish him a speedy recovery.

BUSINESS HALTED

Business in the Peterborough C.D.S. store ceased for two minutes at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon, the time of the funeral of Lord Tweedsmuir. This respect to the memory of Canada's Governor-General was observed in two minutes of silence throughout all the Eaton stores and branches of Canadian Departmental Stores throughout Canada.

250 RESIDENTS REGISTERED.

More than 250 residents of Peterborough and district have already signed up for war work under the Dominion government's plan to know beforehand what employees are going to be available. The majority of applications have been from skilled workers in Peterborough, although more and more are coming in each day from the surrounding country.

MILLBROOK REPRESENTED.

Fred Edworthy, president of the Ex-Servicemen's Club of Millbrook, along with James Peers, vice-president, and Ed. Barnes, treasurer, were guests at the Legion banquet on Tuesday night, representing the village in the campaign which was launched. They spent some time renewing acquaintances with many of their old friends with whom they went overseas.

NOMINATIONS CENTRE

In compliance with a general demand to return to its accustomed municipal arena, the council of North Monaghan passed a bylaw on Monday directing that nomination meetings be held in future at May's School at 7.30 o'clock in the evening. The council tried two years meeting at the Court House, but it proved to be too far from the centre of municipal interest, and attendance declined.

REASON FOR DISCORD

Reliable sources revealed today that one reason people on Waterford street were mildly opposed to the London street footbridge was because clothes had been stolen from lines behind the houses on the east side of the street. The people took a short cut across a large field passing through a lane and several backyards and these were blamed for the thefts. On other occasions empty beer and wine bottles were found lying around. All has been serene since the bridge was closed and if this large field was fenced the opposition from a few home owners who really have a grievance would probably disappear.

MASTER CARVER.

Mayor Hamilton, a head table guest at the Legion Hall on Tuesday evening, drew a kindly remark from Captain the Rev. J. Maxwell Allan, guest speaker, who said: "I am impressed by the hospitality of this city, and have been waited on by a master carver, His Worship the Mayor." Mayor Hamilton showed skill as a carver as he sliced one of the large juicy hams which were on each table.

THE BATTLE RAGES

Merchants and sand tossers were involved in another tangle this morning. A caretaker was noticed sweeping off the sidewalk in front of a store and the man supervising the sanding evidently took offence at his action. The supervisor remonstrated with the caretaker but getting no co-operation went in to see the manager of the store. Eye-witnesses report that there were three offenders along the main stem and all drew the ire of the sand men.

Two Wolf Hunters Are Given Permission To Use Firearms In Game Preserve

The Department of Game and Fisheries is convinced now that there are wolves in Peterborough County, and big ones at that.

After Jim Lean had trapped a 75-pound specimen and Stan Windsor had snared a 100-pound and a 75-pound sample, G. N. Gordon got busy with the Department and this morning learned that as a result the two Apsley hunters have been given special permission to hunt wolves with firearms within the boundaries of the Peterborough County Game Preserve. Up to now they have had to trap or snare their victims, since it is unlawful to hunt with guns in a preserve. The Department may look for many a wolf pelt from Apsley in the future, and should have their cheque books handy to pay bounty money.

Canadian Soldiers Are Taught To Dance; Hostesses Arranged And Dances Organized

The Canadian army is going to have more jitterburgs, according to an announcement from Montreal where Y.M.C.A. hostesses are organizing dancing lessons for soldiers. Maybe they think a jitterbug would be a difficult target for an enemy bullet to catch.

It all started, according to the Y.M.C.A.'s weekly bulletin, "War News," a Toronto soldier at the Red Triangle club's weekly dance, was found to be a wall-flower. When a hostess saw the lonely fellow moping in a corner she asked him to dance. Shamefaced, he said, "I don't know how."

And so dancing lessons were arranged for him, and the next day he turned up for his first lesson with a list of 35 companions who wanted to learn all about shagging in three easy lessons with complete definitions of the meaning of hot lick and jive thrown in for good measure.

A new recreation centre for troops was opened by the Y.M.C.A. at Barriefield camp near Kingston and is now in full swing with reading and writing room, billiard room, pianos, table tennis, and a large auditorium with stage and dressing room.

High Tribute Paid Col. Stevenson As His Remains Laid To Rest

The solemn funeral service in memory of Lieutenant-Colonel Arthur Stevenson in St. John's Church Tuesday afternoon seemed momentarily to glow with the reflections of a bright departing spirit as Rev. Canon Robertson quoted in a brief address to the congregation of many friends the exceedingly high tribute in the words of one who had been closest to the deceased, "If ever there was a saint it was he."

Their significance was deepened by the costom of usually avoiding persona leulogy in funeral rites at St. John's, and that significance was given a sharper reality and concreteness by Canon Robertson's associated thought. The word saint was regularly used in the new testament for the word Christian, and connoted a strength and manliness of loyalty in Christian living and service.

"Take out the word charity and put in the word saint in the thirteenth chapter of St. Paul's first epistle to the Corinthians," Canon Robertson said and in the transposition he summarized those transcendant attributes of the good life as follows, in part: "A saint suffereth long and is kind; a saint envieth not; is not puffed up; is not easily provoked; thinketh no evil; beareth all things, hopeth all things, believeth all things."

Canon Robertson concluded his address by speaking of the fineness of human sympathy, "not for those who have passed, since but for those who have to sorrow."

The service was largely attended by members of St. John's Church, of which Colonel Stevenson had been a member all his life of three-quarters of a century. He had received its invocation of blessing and its dedication in baptism, in confirmation, in his marriage, in the finality of his life up to the closing of his grave in the Little Lake cemetery. All the members of the City Trust Commission, of which Colonel Stevenson had been its capable secretary for forty years, were present; old associates of his military days with the 57th Regiment; members of the Peterboro Law Association; representatives of the city's municipal departments, including the City Council and Utilities Commission; men of business and the professions, and other friends from the city and county who had known the man Arthur Stevenson and could subscribe in their hearts to that innate kindness of his and other qualities of his personality contemplated in Canon Robertson's application of St. Paul's plain definition of charity.

The pall bearers were John A. Harstone, Vincent M. Eastwood, Heber Rogers, Herbert I. Bradburn, John O. Weldon and Graeme Falkner; and the honorary bearers were E. A. Peck, K.C., Vincent Eastwood, S. R. Armstrong, R. G. Kingan, Frank Adams, Col. F. L. Bradburn, F. D. Kerr, K.C., B. D. Hall, F. M. DelaFosse, Dr. W. D. Scott and S. T. Medd.

The sudden death of Colonel Stevenson last Sunday morning was a profound shock to the community of Peterboro with which he and his family had been long and prominently associated. There seemed some effect of unreality Tuesday afternoon in the contrast of his usual activities up to last Friday and Saturday morning with the tolling of St. John's Church bell that sounded his last going forth, borne in death.

Rev. R. T. F. Brain assisted Canon Robertson in the funeral service in the church and also at Little Lake Cemetery.

Township's Sympathy

The following resolution was adopted at the meeting of the council of North Monaghan on Monday: "Moved by Councillors Cassan and Grady that the council of North Monaghan express in a letter the sympathy o fthe citizens of North Monaghan to Lady Tweedsmuir and the members of her family in the death of her husband, our beloved Governor-General."

Retains Memento Of Tweedsmuir Visit

Albert B. Doris has a little gift from Lord Tweedsmuir which he highly prizes. It is a gold tie pin with the simple design of the letter "T" set in a fine ring of gold and surmounted by a crown. As chef on the "Bessie Butler" Mr. Doris had the responsibility of preparing the meals during the His Excellency's three day trip up the Trent Canal from Peterborough.

"He was a grand man," Mr. Doris said, "so kind and considerate in his manner, you just wanted to do everything you could for him. And he was so unassuming, and yet so dignified. He wrote his signature on the menu of his last meal aboard the "Bessie"—"Tweedsmuir" and underneath it "With warm thanks to the admirable chef." I certainly didn't think I deserved anything like that, but I do like to mention it as an indication of Lord Tweedsmuir's warm interest in people."

SENTIMENT GALORE

Old fashioned Valentines with plenty of frills and tender verses found a ready market this year as wives, husbands, boys and girl friends took advantage of the occasion to say the things they usually forget in the humdrum of every day life. Book stores report that the sale of cards was unusually brisk with customers lined three deep around the counters. Candles and flowers were also popular as gifts.

Premier Daladier of France has received an anonymous gift of nearly $25,000 for National Defence from a foreign woman.

Tender Message Crooned Over Telephone

Service comes first, if the customer wants us to sing Valentine Greetings then we will sing even though our crooning may be a bit off key—such is the philosophy of Bill Parkes, telegraph operator for the C.N.R. uptown office, who ran into an unusual situation today.

A local citizen who formerly resided in the United States and was familiar with Western Union's system of singing tender messages for its customers, decided that would be the best way of sending Valentine greetings to a friend in this city to-day.

At 8.30 this morning the message came in and started off, "I love you truly," then added a few more suitable endearments.

The message was taken, but the staff was stumped as there were no crooning troubadors or budding Crosby's among the delivery boys. Finally Bill Parkes summoned the addressee and the message as requested was sung over the telephone in true Hollywood style. The recipient caught on quickly and had a great laugh over it, while Bill after his burst of song, leaned back a little bewildered but satisfied that it was another step along the path of progress and service, and the great tradition "the message must go through" was upheld once again.

New Clothing Store Is Opening In City

Peterborough is to have a new store in the near future, one that will feature men's clothing, hats and furnishings. The proprietors will be Arthur Bacon, for eleven years associated with the McWilliams store and Bob Sager, member of the staff of the same establishment for the last five years.

They will open their new business early in March, in ample time for the Easter buying, at 136 Hunter street. The premises will be thoroughly modern store. The new firm will carry many lines that are familiar to Peterborough buyers.

Challenging Message Is Brought To Women And Girls

Knox United Church C.G.I.T. group under the leadership of Mrs. A. P. Huffman, entertained the other missionary societies, including the W.M.S. Auxiliary, the Helen Rogers Evening Auxiliary, the Frances Watt Mission Circle and the Mission Band, at a pleasant social evening.

Conducting the splendid program, Norma Gardiner, C.G.I.T. president, called upon Eunice Thexton, one of the group leaders, to welcome their guests. Responding to these greetings, Mrs. J. Gerrard, Auxiliary president, thanked the junior group for this mark of hospitality and unity for one great purpose.

The guest speaker, Miss Christina Gardiner, Girls' Work Secretary of the Y.W.C.A., was introduced by Mrs. Huffman and brought a challenging message on "the position of girls and women in the world to-day."

Miss Gladys Gerrard voiced the thanks of the joint service to Miss Gardiner for the inspiration given to the several Knox organizations.

A delightful musical program was enjoyed when the Mission Band, as one of the guests, contributed a fine chorus, and pleasing solos were sung by Miss Viola Sexsmith, accompanied by Miss G. Lancashire, and Mrs. Ross Williamson, with Mrs. H. Williamson accompanying. At the conclusion of the program, refreshments were served by the C.G.I.T. Girls, with Mrs. Huffman in charge, and a social hour enjoyed.

W.M.S. Has Life Members' Meeting

What was termed a "good meeting" was held in George Street Church Board Room Tuesday afternoon by 53 life members of the W.M.S. Mrs. A. I. Brown, president, was in the chair.

Mrs. H. G. Walker was in charge of the following program: A paper on the life of Frances Willard, Mrs. J. H. Rowe; a violin selection, Mrs. E. Wellwood with Mrs. M. C. Parr at the piano; prayers, led by Mrs. C. Wood and Mrs. A. F. Lane; and a playlet, "Waked Up," which illustrated the importance of Stewardship, time, possessions and talent.

Miss Dunoon of Lindsay, president of the Bay of Quinte Branch of the W.M.S., was guest speaker, and outlined the entire field of W.M.S. work, stating that the worthwhile work of this organization, which is world-wide, is doing more than almost any other society to blend nations together.

In appreciation of her services as Superintendent of Supply Work for the past 11 years, Mrs. E. F. Mather was presented with a book. "The Life of Dr. Smith," by W.M.S. members.

Christian Missions Is Theme Of Meeting

Miss Dorothy Smith, leader of the Christian Missions' group of George Street Church Young People's Union, presided Tuesday evening at an interesting meeting attended by over sixty-five members. Mr. Jewitt Parr read the scripture, and a reading, "The World's Bible," was given by Miss Jean McKenzie. The cry of the church in India was the theme of a story told by Miss Dorothy Smith, who also led in prayer. A reading illustrating that "When religion causes us grief, we have Christianity," was presented by Miss Mary Duncan.

A delegate to the Belleville Winter School, Miss Loretta McDougall recalled her experiences, and gave a brief report of the session, concluding her remarks with the "Message to 1940 Winter School," written by Rev. H. A. Mellow, president of the school. Miss McDougall also led the group in a period of singing.

Announcement was made by the president, Mrs. Lloyd Ash, that next week's meeting would be in charge of the Christian Citizenship Group, and that technicolor slide would be shown by Mr. Brock.

Mr. Lloyd Parnall led a quiz program, which is an outstanding feature of every meeting.

St. James W.M.S. Is Entertained

The members of St. James' W.M.S. Auxiliary were entertained Tuesday evening by the Jean Wagar Mission Circle at their February meeting. Miss May Welch, Princess Street, lent her home for the occasion, when both the Circle girls and their guests gathered in large numbers.

Presiding over the meeting, Mrs. R. C. Searles, the president, welcomed the senior society in gracious words.

The familiar admonition to "Take Time to be Holy," was given in the first hymn, with Mrs. H. F. Doig accompanying throughout. Earnest prayer was offered by Mrs. W. H. Buckler for this little group of united mission workers.

The chapter for memorization this year from the Scripture in all Circles is the 14th of St. John, and was read by Mrs. Gerry Cuff.

Observing one of the Circle triads, "Study, Pray and Give," the fourth chapter of "Freedom," the interesting story, being studied, was presented by Gladys Langton. India is gaining a prominent place in the missionary-minded women and girls of our societies today, especially in the adventures of the Roy family, a typical one, showing all the problems of modern life in India. The particular problem discussed in this chapter deals with the ancient custom of child-marriage, where the betrothal is arranged by parents. A concrete example of this is found in this month's study, with the solution still to be worked out.

Mrs. Vera Leggitt of the supply committee read excerpts from letters received by her department of bales received.

In a brief report of the "Stewardship Retreat" held during the recent Presbyterial, the secretary of this department, Zetta Wood, brought some new suggestions for adding to the funds of the Circle, which will probably be tried out during the coming spring months.

Further Presbyterial reports were brought by the delegates, Gladys Langton and Mrs. Gerry Cuff, each of whom found rare material of interest to the individual Circle workers.

A pleasing feature of this particular Circle is the making of life members along the line of an efficiency contest. Last night, Miss Dorothy Drysdale, one of the most faithful workers, was the recipient of this honor, when an address of appreciation was read by Connie Wagar, and the certificate of life membership presented by the advisory president. Miss Drysdale made appropriate reply, assuring the girls of her continued interest in the Circle.

During the evening a musical program contributed by guests of the Circle was enjoyed. These included a beautiful solo, "For a Little Bit of Love," by Mrs. G. M. Wallace, and "Growing Sweeter Each Day," sung in solo by Rev. F. W. Craik, with all joining in the chorus.

Mrs. Welch and her daughters, Miss May Welch and Mrs. Ivan Butler, were thanked for their hospitality by the president.

A suitable closing was a Valentine contest, arranged by Jean Meeks, and won by Mrs. A. Davis and Mrs. W. Rose.

Assisting the hostess to serve refreshments were Miss Jessie Martin and Mrs. Percy VanNest.

The president, Mrs. R. C. Searles, will be hostess at her home, 242 Lansdowne Street, for the March meeting.

Valentine Tea Is Held In Lakefield

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 14 (ENS) — Mrs. W. W. Leonard, Lakefield, lent her charming home for a successful Valentine tea on Tuesday afternoon under the auspices of the Young Women's Missionary and Service Club of the United Church. The proceeds are being given to the local Red Cross Society.

Mrs. S. Grylls, president received the guests. Pouring tea were Mrs. Alex Graham and Mrs. Dora MacMillan, vice presidents of the society.

Tea table appointments were effectively carried out in scarlet and silver with a centre of scarlet tulips in a silver holder and scarlet candles on a central reflector. A dainty cut work cloth covered the table. Members of the society assisted in the serving.

Mrs. Stanley Richardson, secretary, was in charge of the display of articles upstairs, made by the Red Cross Society. Of particular interest was the quilt on which tickets will be sold in the near future.

When linoleum-covered or stained floors are regularly polished you can prevent the surface being too slippery by remembering to use only a small quantity of polish, to rub it in thoroughly, and polish it off completely. A further safeguard is to never polish the portions beneath the mats and rugs.

With The Girl Guides

About 200 Guides and Brownies of all four companies united in a very entertaining program held on Monday evening in the Salvation Army Temple. This rally was the first of its kind in Peterborough, but we hope to have more—it shows the true spirit of Guiding, and fosters that sisterhood which is our main objective. The funds raised were handed over to Mrs. Norman Buckley for the "Red Shield."

There will be no meeting this week for 1st and 2nd Companies.

First pack of Brownies are having an enrolment on Saturday and mothers are cordially invited.

S.A.G. Guides are invited to a "Sports Night" on Friday. Meet at the hall at 7 o'clock.

Every Guide will feel deeply the loss of our Honorary President, Lord Tweedsmuir, especially those who were Guides when he visited Peterborough. His interest in both Scouts and Guides was so very keen, and the kindly and inspiring messages sent out to leaders from time to time will be sadly missed.

"THE SCRIBE."

DOROTHY DIX

The Maternal Instinct or the Overwhelming Desire to Reform Him Often is the Cause Why Many Women Marry Men They Know Will Make Poor Husbands.

Did you ever notice that some women seem to have the unhappy faculty of always getting entangled with the wrong men? They invariably fall in love with rotters. They go through long engagements that end up in their being jilted for younger and fresher faces. And, no matter if they marry and are divorced a dozen times, their last pick of husbands is no better than their first.

I once asked a woman who was an old maid and who was still beautiful and fascinating at middle age how it happened that she had never married. "Oh," she replied with a smile and a shrug, "I am one of the women who haven't any man sense and I have always let my fancies run away with my judgment. I have had plenty of opportunities to make fine marriages to splendid men, some of them very important men who would have given me security and position and riches. But always when the right man came along I thought myself in love with the wrong one—some ne'er-do-well who couldn't support himself, to say nothing of a wife.

"Or I was being noble, being a prop for some weakling who made me feel that he would flop without my influence to brace him up. Or I was ga-ga about some poet who wrote sonnets to my eyebrows. And by the time I had recovered from one of these sentimental attacks the good chance had passed on and married some woman with more sense than I possess. There are plenty of women like me," she added philosophically, "who are always unlucky in love. There is a fatality that always makes us set our hearts on the men who will beat us and starve us. We never make a marriage about which our mothers love to boast."

And now comes the wail of a mother who asks: "Why is it that human derelicts seem to have an irresistible attraction for some girls? I have a daughter like that. From her school days up she surrounded herself with down-and-outers, shabby boys out of jobs, near geniuses who were going to dazzle the world with their achievements, but who were always hungry; drunkards she was reforming, sinners she was praying over.

"Against the entreaties and remonstrances of her father and myself and every friend she had in the world, she married about the worst of this pack of hangers-on, a man she had to go out to work to support and who gambled away the money she earned. Fortunately for her he died in a few years, and we thought her experience must have taught her some sense.

"But it hasn't. She has fallen in love with a man who has every fault that her first husband had, with the addition of being extremely high-tempered and hard to get along with and arrogant and conceited, as such men are. You would think she must be insane to do such a fool thing, but she isn't. She is highly intelligent and well educated? What makes her do it?"

Oh, many explanations may be offered for this vagary of the feminine fancy for the men they shouldn't marry. Young and unsophisticated girls think it is romantic to have a man make love to them who has a dark and unsavory past. The quiet and domestic type of girl is fascinated by the tramp who tells her tales of wild adventure of which he is the hero. The girl with the instinct of the reformer in her is allured by the prospect of having a victim always at hand whom she can make over according to her own pattern.

And there are many other girls who, as a father once said to me with disgust, speaking of his daughter, seem to have a passion for the great unwashed. But the real thing that makes so many girls wreck their lives for unworthy men is the fatal maternal instinct. It is the mother pity for the man who is still a child and cannot cope with the world; the mother impulse to take into her arms those who are weak and sick, hungry and discouraged, and comfort them.

It is a grand and noble sentiment, but it plays hob with the lives of many good women.

Don't Let In-Laws Impose on You

Dear Miss Dix— I married a widower who had two boys, aged 17 and 10, one of whom lived with his father's mother and the other with his mother's people. After we had been married a year we decided we were in a position to take the younger boy and his grandmother on his mother's side brought him to us. She stayed for a six months' visit and we got along well together, although at times my nerves seemed to be at the breaking point because she is hard of hearing and talks constantly. Now the trouble is that she has decided that she will come and live with us and bring the older boy also with her. She has plans that she will do the house work while we work and pay the bills. We have tried in every way to put her off, but she is a determined old woman who does what she wants to do, and I feel that it will kill me to have her. She has six children all able to take care of her. What shall we do? MRS.C. F. W.

ANSWER:

Have enough backbone to tell the old lady flatly that she cannot come and that you do not want any outsider in your home. Goodness knows, having to live with a mother-in-law is bad enough, but to have to live with your husband's ex-mother-in-law is an affliction that no woman is called upon to endure.

Home and School Association News

CONFEDERATION SCHOOL

A pleasing Founders' Day program was held by members and parents at a meeting of the Confederation Home and School Association Monday evening.

Mrs. R. Parnell, president of the Home and School Council, was guest speaker, and spoke of Home and School work, stressing to all members the need of the "Home and School History" for reading, and the hand book for study.

Delightful musical numbers included piano solos by Miss Frances Wells, A.T.C.M., and vocal solos by Mrs. G. A. Spier, with Miss Wells at the piano.

Mrs. H. Naish, Association president, was in the chair for a brief business period, at which reports were presented by Mrs. E. Hopkins, secretary, and Mrs. W. Naish, treasurer.

A "Founder's Day Cake" decorated with candles centred the tea table at which Mrs. R. Parnell and Mrs. G. A. Spicer presided. Assisting to serve were Mrs. E. Styles, social convener, and members of her committee.

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, February 15.

Rather auspicious conditions are noted in this day's pinetary setup. There are signs of steady progress, although there is need of precaution and vigilance to side-step tricks or machinations, particularly those emanating from group sources. There is augury for some important financial success. It is advisable to postpone major or radical changes.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a prosperous and successful year if they will exercise precaution and wariness when confronted by duplicity and schemes. There is likely to be an outstanding financial event.

A child born on this day may be enterprising, steady and ambitious, making a success of its affairs.

DEPARTMENT OF FISHERIES, OTTAWA:

BONED STUFFED FISH

Fish to be stuffed should be medium size and fresh. How to prepare: Fish is scaled (rub a little salt on hands to facilitate scaling). Remove the eyes and gills. Take off ⅓ of tail; clip off fins, split the fish about ⅔ of its length on under side. Bend the body to break the backbone at head and tail, or cut bone with scissors; slip strong sharp knife along backbone, making the strokes on each side. Then bone may be easily pulled out. Sprinkle lemon juice and some salt over inside of fish and put in the stuffing. Bake in moderate oven.

STUFFING:
1 cup bread crumbs
4 tablespoons butter
½ cup oyster liquid
½ cup of oysters
½ cup chopped celery
Salt, pepper, onion juice

such work will be further increased as the war progresses. "Our Children's Aid Societies have an exceedingly important part to play; they've got to be equipped to do it," he declared.

T. J. Carley was named chairman of the following committee appointed to look into the matter of a Juvenile Court in Peterborough: Alderman James Dutton, Reeve W. A. Anderson of Otonabee, Miss Rachael A. Young, superintendent of the local Society, and Mrs L. E. Cutting.

During a progress report concerning the securing of an additional worker, Mr. Dutton told of a suggestion made to the City Council that it provide a grant of $500 to the Society when the services of such a worker are secured.

During the absence form the city of C. S. Cummer, R. H. Parsons was appointed to act as treasurer.

The superintendent's report for January showed 116 office interviews; 164 visits, 152 telephone calls, 207 letters sent out. 6 court attendances. Mrs. Lawrence, who presented the Shelter report, stated that 15 children had been taken care of during January, with 14 in the Shelter on the 1st of February.

CURLING

By HERB MARTIN

We expect to finish up all schedule games by next Friday night, and even at this advanced stage we hesitate to call the group winners. There are one or two rinks that stand out as having the best chance, but we'll have to wait and see.

The entries are coming in for the Neill Trophy competition. Must be schedule rink calibre. The zero hour for receiving entries is 8 p.m. Friday. Now don't be left out. Remember last year there were 39 rinks in this competition and it proved about the best bonspiel of the year.

The local bonspiel draw, from the board, will get under way at 7.15 to-night. Please be on time.

In a recent monthly magazine there is a huorous article on curling. It covers a couple of pages and is worth reading. It's headed "Hoot, Mon, Hoot." At one stage the writer refers to curling as "lawn bowling on ice."

All Saints' Win To Gain Bye

All Saints' Bantams took a 2-0 Church League win over Knox at All Saints' rink last night to cop a first-place bye into finals, as Knox meets Trinity in a semi-final. The winners carried most of the play, with Shadgett, Jones and Hill leading the attack. The latter pair got the goals in the second and third periods, Parnell had a busy night in the Knox net but showed plenty of class. Darling was the main offensive threat in a rugged, close-checking contest. The teams:

Knox — Goal, Parnell; defence, Gertley, Braund; centre, Darling; wings, Slaughter, Batley; subs, Craig, Fine, Covert.

All Saints—Goal. Panter; defence, Shadgett, Outram; centre, McDougall; wings, Hill, Baxter; subs, Mason, Jones, Menzie, Padgett, Chambers.

Referee—H. Conlin.

Organization of the junior ski train to Bethany on Saturday is now perfected. A couple of surprises have been planned for the day, and information about these will be forthcoming in this column either to-morrow or Friday. Watch this column for further details about a special event for all non-members of the Ski Club and maybe a ride on that ski tow, who knows.

Things to Remember.

Bring a good lunch, well packed and easy to carry, in a packsack if at all possible.

Bring along a tin cup or some kind of unbreakable cup for a hot drink.

Be at the station not later than 9.45 a.m. on Saturday morning.

Tie your skis and poles together with a strap or pieces of rope and put your name on them or some form of identification so that they won't get lost in the baggage car. A lot of time will be wasted if you don't do this.

Wear lots of warm clothing; better too warm than too cold. Gloves are cold things when skiing. Wear mittens, not gloves.

Tell all your friends about the ski train. Tell your parents all about it and get them all to come along with you. There's room for everybody.

Most important of all—Do not wait until Saturday morning to buy your ticket. Please get your tickets either on Thursday or Friday at the ticket office uptown.

Watch this column for further details. That's all for now.

Ski Tow Runs Wednesday.

The ski tow will be in operation on Wednesday from now on, same rates as any other day. Arrange to do your mid-week skiing the day the tow operates.

Dates for the senior club championships have been set and will be announced in the Telemarker this week. Better get practising, boys; they aren't very far off.

"TELL BILL GOODBYE"

By Marie Blizard

CHAPTER FORTY-ONE

FABIENNE opened the door that led to the steps of her apartment house and the wind caught at the skirts of her coat, whipping it around her legs. The wind had died earlier in the evening, but now it was up again like a December gale, nipping her fingers before she could get her gloves on.

If it weren't so late in March, she thought, I'd almost think we were in for a blizzard.

The engine of her car was cold. It took a long time for her to get started and she indulged in a hearty "Damn!" Every moment meant so much to her. She wondered when Chris had risen from her drugged sleep and left. Surely, she hoped, it couldn't have been very long ago. Bill had said those sleeping tablets would put a hearty man to sleep for ten or twelve hours. It was less than six since she had left Chris in her deep sleep.

The car jerked, was still, jerked again, and finally the motor turned over. She sped rapidly into Fifth avenue, was halted by a red light, turned east and was again stopped by a red light. So it went all the miles of her route across town and up Fifth avenue, Park avenue and at last onto the East River drive to East End avenue and the Park-Plaza hospital.

The street was utterly deserted as if men had been driven from the streets by the gale that swept icily over it.

There was one car, an open roadster, parked half a block away from the apartment building that housed the hospital.

As she passed it, Fabienne's eye was caught by the colors of the license plates and a message that flashed to her brain. She backed her car up beside it and looked again.

The plates were California issued.

She got out of her car and went over to the small roadster and with the light of her cigaret lighter, cupped against the wind in her hand, she read the initials on the door: C. M. P. It was Christine's car! It must have been standing there since she whisked Christine away earlier in the afternoon.

It did not mean, she told herself she didn't feel, that Christine was at the hospital.

She ran her car in ahead of Christine's, a hundred feet or so away from the entrance, and got out, debating the wisdom of asking the doorman if Mrs. Parsons had come in. Lewis would still be on duty and surely he would remember her distraught passenger of the afternoon.

But Lewis was not in the foyer. A sleepy-eyed elevator boy, poring earnestly over an evening tabloid, looked up, recognized her and pulled himself to his feet.

"Evening, Robert. Where's Lewis?" she asked.

"Eatin' his supper, Miss Seymour. I'll take you up.

"Anyone else come in lately, Robert?"

"I dunno, miss. I ain't been here long. Ain't no doctors in, though. They all left by ten.

He let her off into the dim foyer where night lights burned.

A white-clad nurse appeared silently, showing traces of hastily wakened sleep. "Oh, it's you, Miss Seymour," she whispered.

"Good evening, Miss Brown," Fabienne answered in a like whisper, her eyes sweeping the sleepy calm of the waiting room and the shadows beyond. "I hope I didn't disturb you? I—I left my pocketbook here this afternoon and I — I thought I'd stop in and get it.

"Where did you leave it?" the nurse asked her, trying to hide a yawn.

Fabienne wondered if she'd keep her from going up to the second floor where the private rooms were, and how she could make her errand seem casual yet persistent.

"I'm not quite sure," she said, "I think I had it in—in" Then she smelled coffee boiling and noted the half-turn of the nurse's head in the direction of the pantry at the end of the hall. She said, "I'll look for it and slip right out, Miss Brown. You'd better catch your coffee before it boils over.

The nurse smiled gratefully. "The wind always makes me feel sleepy," she said. "I simply have to have something to eat and a little coffee to keep me awake."

Casually Fabienne said, "It must be hard to keep awake. It's so quiet and calm in this hospital at night. Nothing exciting ever happens, does it?"

"Very seldom," Miss Brown said importantly.

"And the last of the visitors is out by half past nine?"

"Oh, always."

"Did you have many tonight?" Fabienne asked conversationally.

"No. No one, as a matter of fact."

Fabienne felt her breath escape with a sigh of relief.

Anyone not connected with the hospital would be unlikely to know about the private elevator which was the only one that would take a visitor to the second or third floors of the hospital. Therefore, if Chris had returned to the hospital, she must have got off at this floor and Miss Brown would have seen her. But Miss Brown had said there were no visitors.

"Would you care for a cup of coffee, Miss Seymour?"

Fabienne said, "No thanks. I'll have a look in my office. I may have left my purse somewhere else."

As a gesture, she went into her office and opened a drawer and closed it and then went back to the elevator to ring for the car to take her down.

With her finger on the button, she was impressed with the dimness of the foyer and the eerie quiet over all. The car door always made a noise when it was slid back, but if Miss Brown had been deep in a nap, she might not have heard it.

It was only a step around the corridor to the winding stairs that led to the second floor.

It was hardly likely that Chris had been able to get into the hospital without someone being aware of her presence, but Chris was desperate, and Chris was determined.

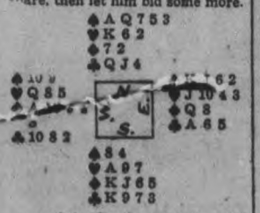
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER
By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

A JUMP NOT A FORCE

IN MOST circumstances, a 2-No Trump call over your partner's suit bid of one is an absolute guarantee of sufficient strength for a game contract and forces the side to keep going to game, barring an opportunity for a lucrative penalty double of the opponents. But if the maker of the jump bid had previously passed, it is optional with the original bidder whether to go on or drop it. If his hand is an absolute minimum, he had better quit, as a generality, but if he has even a jack or queen to spare, then let him bid some more.



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

North made the opening bid on this deal, 1-Spade. South bid 2-No Trumps, North 3-Spades and South 3-No Trumps. West led the diamond 10 to the Q and K.

Declarer tried hard to build nine tricks, but could get only eight. He lost the spade finesse, then East led the diamond 8 to the 9. West laid down his diamond A and returned the 10 to the J, setting up his 4, which he never got a chance to use. The spade A was taken, the spade 3 lost to the 6, the heart J was led to the A, the club Q was allowed to win, the spade 5 lost to the J, the heart 10 was led to the K, the spade 7 taken, then the club J lost to East's A.

North should have reasoned that, without an opening bid opposite him, game was quite unlikely. Add to his hand the heart Q or J or the spade J, and he would have had enough strength for his second bid. As it was, he would have done well to pass South's jump bid of 2-No Trumps. Nine of 13 fine players, to whom this borderline case was submitted, would have passed, and the others would have bid again just as North did in this case.

Red Cross Party Gay Event At Havelock

HAVELOCK, Feb. 14——(ENS)—A combined euchre, bridge and dance sponsored by the social committee of the Havelock-Belmont Red Cross Society on Monday evening in the Town Hall auditorium met with great success. The total attendance topped the hundred mark, and the net proceeds amounted to approximately $25.

Two minutes' silence was solemnly observed at the beginning of the program, in honor of the passing of His Excellency Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of Canada, and also president of the Canadian Red Cross Society. This manner of showing respect to their distinguished leader was followed, since it would have been almost impossible to cancel the event at the last moment. This rather sad note marking the occasion, was stressed by the president of the local Red Cross branch, Mrs. A. McLauchlin, in her opening address of welcome. The silence was followed immediately by the National Anthem, with Mrs. D. J. Holdcroft as piano accompanist.

Sixteen tables of euchre and six tables of bridge were played, with prizes being won as follows: Euchre, ladies, Mrs. Sanford Hoard, men, William Copp; bridge—ladies, Mrs. James Cook; men, Everard Chiles. Mrs. Ted Watson was tied for first with Mrs. Hoard in the ladies' euchre, but the latter won the draw.

Refreshments were served in the basement following the cards, and then a period of both round and square dancing was enjoyed, music being provided by Miss Helen Spencer, Joseph Little, Larry Brown, and Hector Bannon, with Harry Ferguson as floor manager.

Much praise was bestowed upon the members of the social committee, Mrs. P. T. Greenley, Mrs. D. R. Brennan, Mrs. D. F. Miller, and Mrs. Glenn Wright, for so successfully arranging and conducting the event. Mrs. McLauchlin also extended thanks to all others who assisted in any way.

Red Cross Rally.

Thirty-two ladies assembled in the Red Cross Society's work room yesterday afternoon as the Havelock-Belmont Branch held its weekly work meeting. The president, Mrs. A. McLauchlin, opened the meeting with prayer, and two minutes' silence was observed by the members in respect of the passing on Sunday of His Excellency Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of Canada. This was followed by the National Anthem.

The treasurer's report was received during the meeting, and it was announced that the Red Cross nursing manuals could be obtained for the sum of 35c per copy. Receipt of a cheque for $25 from Mr. Rappaport, manager of the Campbellford theatre, was also acknowledged.

Labelling of the already finished goods was completed during the afternoon. One quilt was quilted, dozens of quilt blocks made and much knitting carried on by the active group of workers.

Day of Prayer.

The World Day of Prayer was observed here on Friday afternoon in the Havelock United Church by the Women's Missionary Societies of the Anglican, Presbyterian, and United Churches. The respective presidents of these three societies, Mrs. Joseph Holdcroft, Mrs. E. E. Chase, and Mrs. A. McLauchlin, conducted this joint meeting, which was well attended.

A most interesting talk on the subject of "Prayer" was given by Mrs. (Dr.) A. S. Thompson. Prayers were offered during the service by Mrs. M. Kinnaird, Mrs. W. A. McFarlane, Mrs. A. Anderson, Mrs. C. Jamieson, Mrs. Joseph Holdcroft, and Miss M. Seeney. A passage of Scripture was read by Mrs. George Chiles, and a vocal solo contributed by Mrs. D. J. Holdcroft, with Mrs. D. D. Kirk as accompanist. Mrs. Roy Campney presided as organist for the service. The offertory was taken up by Mrs. C. Price and Mrs. G. W. Chiles.

India Ready

New Delhi, India, Feb. 13 (CP).

THE Indian Army, whose peacetime strength of 150,000 men has been increased, is undergoing a process of modernization and becoming more and more an efficient fighting force with equipment specially designed for tropical service.

Many thousands of Indian soldiers were brought into full army service during the first month of the war. They included newly-enlisted men, reservists and members of mobilized territorial units. This large intake is regarded as adequate for the present, and is of finest types of fighting men. India also is producing munitions. The great ordnance factories are turning out material at a speed and in quality which, a few months ago, would hardly have been contemplated.

Russia Bolsters Attack On Karelian Line

HELSINGFORS, Feb. 13—(AP)—The Red army blasted away at the Mannerheim Line in the Summa sector for the 12th day to-day with indications that reinforcements were being thrown into the attack.

One source said five Soviet divisions, including reserve lines, were occupied in that sector, although no definite figures were available. (The strength of a Russian division is estimated at 15,000 men).

The bark of artillery continued steadily as the Karelian Isthmus batte went on.

The vigorous onslaught followed a short week-end decline, but the Finns said they were repelling the invaders at every point.

(There was no specific mention of a Russian contention that 32 more Finnish defensive fortifications" had been captured, bringing to 61 the number claimed since last Thursday).

Battle Spreading.

The Russian drive spread along the Isthmus to other points. The Finnish command said a battle was continuing on the neck of land between Muolajaervi and the River Vooski; that an attack at Taipale was repulsed, and that the Russian attempts to cross the ice of the Gulf of Finland and Lake Ladoga had been thwarted.

The Finns did not mention their casualties but said th Russians suffered heavy losses.

Finnish leaders in Helsingfors expressed interest in reports that Latvia and Estonia possibly were approaching a crisis in their relations with Russia, with whom they made military pacts last autumn.

In Riga, Foreign Minister William Munters of Latvia said, however, that relations with the Soviet Union were very satisfactory, and inquired, "where's the Sovietization of which we were warned? No one in Latvia can say the Soviet Union intervenes in our home affairs some way or another."

Counterfeits

TORONTO, Feb. 14—(CP)—Several counterfeit bank notes, similar to those seized in large quantities in Toronto and Kirkland Lake last week, have been rebovered in Lake Ontario here and at the city waterworks filtration plant, it was learned today.

For the last few days, isolated bills have been washed ashore along the eastern beaches and four of them were found by employees in the filtration plant machinery. The finders took them to a bank where they were recognized as counterfeit.

Beaverton's Valentine Twins Celebrate Their 81st Birthday

LINDSAY, February 14 (ENS)—Beaverton's valentine twins, Duncan and Peter McMillan, celebrated their 81st birthday today. Known far and wide as the McMillan boys, both are hale and hearty and take an active part in curling activities each winter. They have been taking part in district bonspiels for many years and few curlers of this part of Ontario are as well known as Peter and Duncan McMillan.

Their grandfather was the first school teacher in Thorah and originally came to Canada from Scotland. Their father was a carriage maker in Beaverton for many years.

In their youth, the McMillan twins were famous lacrosse players. For 27 years they played this roughest of all games and were never ruled off for infraction of the rules of the game.

The two men have been curling for 49 years and their homes in Beaverton are furnished with prizes won by their able playing.

The McMillan boys delight to tell of the old days when they played lacrosse and when their similarity in appearance was confusing to the opposition.

Alexander Muir, composer of the "Maple Leaf Forever," was a teacher of the boys in Beaverton. They were, in fact, his favorite pupils, but he admitted difficulty in distinguishing them one from the other.

A clean, active, useful life is the recipe the twins will give those who ask their idea as to what will contribute to longevity. Their lives have been evidences of this and Beaverton's favorite citizens are undoubtedly the two McMillan "boys."

Fairmount YPU Holds Missionary Night

FAIRMOUNT, Feb. 14—(ENS)—The Y.P.U. was held on Wednesday evening, being well attended. The missionary department under the leadership of Miss Jean Hanbidge and Helen Earle gave a very interesting program, "The Great Physician at Work," the theme, "Jesus Answers to a Doubting World."

A duet was rendered by Mr. and Mrs. F. R. McIndoo, "They Are Nailed to the Cross."

The fourth chapter of the study book, "The Ministry of Healing in India," was taken by Mrs. R. C. Hanbidge.

A reading was given by Mrs. C. W. Seymour, "The World's Bible," by Annie Johnston Flint, and the meeting closed with a hymn and benediction.

Mr. and Mrs. I. S. Allin and Morley of Newcastle spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. McBain.

Mr. and Mrs. T. McIndoo called on Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Connell.

A very enjoyable evening was spent at the oyster supper on Friday evening, sponsored by the Sunday School. After a sumptuous repast a short program was given by Mr. G. H. Hooton, Roger Hanbidge and Margaret Earle, with the superintendent, Mr. G. Seymour, as chairman.

Lad's Queer Death Finally Solved

MINEOLA, N.Y., Feb. 14—(AP)—The puzzling case of Walter Kuck, brilliant high school pupil, whose death baffled doctors for three weeks, is solved.

A deputy medical examiner, Abraham Friereich, said chemical analysis proved the 15-year-old youth died as a result of an experiment to test a solution known as Winkler's reagent.

The boy was found seated on the kitchen floor. Over his face was a rubber bathing cap, held in place by a pair of airplane goggles. Beneath the cap was a rubber bottle, from which a tube led to an open gas jet on the kitchen range.

Freireich listed the cause of death as carbon monoxide poisoning. He didn't add "suicide" or "accident." He couldn't prove accidental death, and he couldn't believe that the boy, normal and happy, had committed suicide.

An analysis of the rubber bottle showed it contained cuprous chloride, dissolved in an ammonia solution—a solution that will absorb carbon monoxide from any gas passing through it. The fluid in the bottle must have become saturated within a minute or two, the doctor said, and after that the boy was breathing pure illuminating gas.

Warsaw Woman Completed 9 Pairs Socks

WARSAW, Feb. 14 — (ENS). — goodly number of ladies attended the Women's Institute last week at Mrs. Henry Clement's home. In the absence of the president, Mrs. T. Cooper, because of Mr. Cooper's serious illness, Mrs. George Taylor, first vice-president, took the chair. Letters of thanks for sympathy from shut-ins were read by Mrs. J. Morgan. Unfortunately very few had valentine verses for the roll call.

Rev. J. W. Wilkinson gave a talk on the present national crisis and began with proclaiming the necessity for mediation, in the Lenten season which began the previous day. "Meditation is necessary. Christ showed the world its value. Perhaps we let the radio do our meditation, which is not our own thinking. We can make contact with higher things by meditation of prayer, which is needed now. We can back up our men by our prayers as well as by finance. Only as we are active working, praying members at home can we held the men at the front. Civilization depends on belief. Where God is forgotten, there civilization fails. Valuable lives will be lost ere the error of forgetting God is rectified," he declared.

Miss Lois Clysdale read a letter from the Red Cross regarding work and contributions.

Mr. Digweed gave an account of the yarn purchased and of the work done. Thirty-seven pairs of socks have been knit, with Mrs. John Cooper knitting nine pair.

Mr. Cooper spoke of giving men socks. Mrs. Weller moved and Mrs. H. Clements seconded that the Institute give each man who goes from this district two pairs of socks.

Vera and Violet Darret, whose ninth birthday it was, sang a duet.

After the meeting closed Mrs. Clements assisted by Mrs. T. Clements served afternoon tea. A happy half-hour was spent.

One of the members who had been a nursing sister during the last war spoke of sending games, gum, candy, cigarettes as well as good reading matter and clothing. The men over there were just the same as people everywhere, no better, nor worse.

World's Day Of Prayer

There seemed a special solemnity at the World Day of Prayer in the United Church on Friday afternoon. A goodly number were present. Mrs. Douglas had taken great pains and let the women know early what was to be done. The official program was carried out with Mrs. James Greystock as leader for the first half and Mrs. Allan Taylor leader of the second half. Mrs. James Hawthorne sang "Come Unto Me Thou Weary One," with Mrs. Wilkinson at the piano. Mrs. Stuart Clysdale sang "The Beautiful Garden of Prayer." Mrs. Wilkinson gave the paper on the theme, "In Quietness and Confidence Shall Be Your Strength."

John Payne suffered severe bruises on his arm on Saturday when felling a tree.

Conservative Nominee Offers To Resign And Submit Name To National Convention

ORONO, Feb. 14—(Special)—One of the largest and most enthusiastic meetings of the executive of the Durham Conservative Association in many years was held here Monday under the chairmanship of the president, Charlies McNeil of Janetville, when W. Ross Strike of Bowmanville, who was chosen as Federal Candidate at the Convention held here in June last, expressed himself as being in complete accord with the stand of Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion in promising that if after the present election he is leader of a majority group in the new Parliament he will form a National Government without regard to party lines and having as its chief object making Canada's contribution towards winning the war as effective as possible.

Mr. Strike stated that if the Executive wished he is willing to allow his name to go before any convention that may be held which would be open to any supporter of Dr. Manion's National Government idea without regard to party lines. After full discussion and particularly in view of the uncertain condition of the roads and the shortness of the time the Executive unanimously endorsed the stand taken by Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion regarding a win-the-war Government and confirmed the candidature of W. R. Strike in view of his pledge to support a win-the-war government.

FDR's Budget Cut $111,699,699 For The Navy

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP).—A $111,699,699 slash was made in President Roosevelt's Budget for the Navy today by a house committee which recommended appropriations of $966,772,878 and urged the United States build battleships and cruisers "superior" to those abroad.

The cut, from the president's figure of $1,078,472,577, was the largest yet made by the appropriations committee in any single budget recommendation. The Committee said the fleet's needs could be adequately met with the smaller sum.

Included in the measure was $1,000,000 to start work on a $3,000,000 project designed to develop the tiny Pacific Island of Guam as a naval "lookout" post.

While allowing money to start work on 19 new combat ships and five auxiliaries, the committee cut $7,750,000 from the sums recommended for two new battleships and two cruisers.

Financing your Business

THE PROPER financing of your business is one of the major elements in its success. Over-capitalization, in almost every case, causes confusion and failure. Under-capitalization, in times of emergency or adverse business conditions, is dangerous. Capitalization which is based on maximum requirements, usually results in idle money over quite a portion of your fiscal year. Therefore, it is a loss.

When your business is financed for your average requirements you have placed yourself in a position where you can readily borrow from the bank sufficient funds to carry you over your peak requirements, or to aid you in buying forward in advantageous markets.

When you borrow from the Bank you are only paying for the money which you actually use. When you don't require the money you pay off, the loan and eliminate the cost. If your business is rapidly expanding—if your profits are consistent and adequate—if your business is well managed—The Dominion Bank will advance your money requirements, thereby saving you the cost of re-financing your business. You can liquidate bank loans by additional profits made.

It is not only our purpose to serve you in the ordinary banking routine, but to aid you in your operations wherever it is possible for us to do so.

J. J. DUFFUS IS NAMED TO CANADIAN SENATE

Appointment Comes As Surprise

Prime Minister King Telephones News To The New Senator

Appointment of Lt.-Col. J. J. Duffus to the Senate of Canada was announced today by Prime Minister King.

Shortly before the noon hour, Mr. Duffus at his home received a telephone message from Ottawa, and the voice of Mr. King carried over the wire the accolade: "How is the Senator this morning?"

"I want to be first to congratulate you on being appointed to the Senate," Mr. King said. "I feel that this recognition of your long service to the Liberal party has been well deserved, and Mr. Rogers (Hon. Norman McLeod Rogers) especially felt that your organization work should be recognized."

Made On Wednesday.

The Prime Minister added the information that the appointment was made at a meeting of the Cabinet council late Wednesday afternoon; presumably about the time Mr. Duffus was speaking at Marmora where Rork Ferguson was nominated by the Liberals of Hastings-Peterboro.

The promotion of J. J. Duffus to the Red Chamber was so unexpected by him that he had turned the hope from his thoughts towards the end of last week and again offered himself as candidate of the Liberal party for the riding of Peterboro, which he had represented in Parliament since 1935.

By him and his friends who were of the same opinion that his many years of public service entitled him to consideration in the distribution of the vacant senatorial posts, it was assumed that the appointment of Salter Hayden of Toronto, a few days ago to one of the last remain-

From The Hustings To A Senatorship

The election campaign of J. J. Duffus was abruptly terminated at noon today by a telephone message from Prime Minister Mackenzie King greeting him as "Senator," the first intimation of the appointment of Mr. Duffus to the Senate of Canada by the Cabinet Council Wednesday afternoon. "Home is the sailor home from the sea, and the hunter home from the hills."

Finns Call Up Men Of 44 To Save Line

Turn Captured Tanks On Invaders; 3,500 Reds Die In Day

HELSINGFORS, Feb. 15 (AP)—Finland called another class of reserves to the colors—the second in 24 hours—today as furious fighting on the Karelian Isthmus was reported to have cost the invading Red army 3,500 dead.

The class of 1896—men 43 and 44—was called up for service against the Russians who sent a squadron of 27 planes droning over Helsingfors today to cause the capital's first air raid alarm in weeks. No bombs were dropped, however. Instead they roared to Riihimaki, about 20 miles north of Helsingfors and bombed it heavily, starting numerous fires.

A Finnish communique described heavy fighting on the isthmus front, now in its 15th day of battle, and declared Russian attacks had been repulsed on numerous sectors.

A thousand Russians were killed while attacking over the ice at Muolojaervi and 2,500 in a series of blows near Taipale, at the eastern end of the isthmus front where the two armies have been engaged for 15 days.

In one of the attacks the Finns said they captured two tanks, turned them around and put them into immediate service against the Russians.

Thirteen Russian tanks were said to have been wrecked in the attack.

On the Summa sector, where the Russians have concentrated some of their heaviest blows against the battered Mannerheim line, continued enemy attacks were repelled as were other assaults northeast of Lake Ladoga, the communique said.

Coincidence

IT'S a strange coincidence but exactly one year ago today J. J. Duffus was taken by special car to the Neurological Institute in Montreal where Dr. Wilder Penfield, famous surgeon performed a most serious operation and at the time of the trip Mr. Duffus was close to the threshold of death. Today, one year later comes word of his appointment to the Senate, one of the highest honors to which a Canadian can attain.

Not Permanent

Toronto, Feb. 15 (CP)

INCREASE in corporation taxes, levied chiefly on income, is not intended to be a permanent part of Ontario's fiscal system, Premier Mitchell Hepburn said today in his budget address in the Ontario legislature.

"I do not at this time suggest that the increase shall form a permanent part of the fiscal system of the province, and, with this in view, the bill to amend the act will contain a provision by which the taxing sections of the bill expire with the year 1941," said Mr. Hepburn. "The increased revenue from corporation tax is expected to amount to $5,000,000."

4 Subs Bagged In Six Days, 2 On Wednesday

LONDON, Feb. 15 — (CP). — The Admiralty's scoreboard to-day showed four German submarines sent to the bottom in the past six days, raising the unofficial total close to 50 since the start of the war.

An Admiralty statement last night announced the destruction of two. One British destroyer was credited with sinking a pair last Friday.

Of the new ones, the Admiralty said vengeance came within a half hour against an undersea raider which torpedoed the 12,306-ton freighter Sultan Star, bound for Great Britain with 6,000 tons of frozen Argentine beef.

The other was sent down in the North Sea where two other large British merchant ships, the 10,191-ton Gretafield and the 8,501-ton British triumph, both tankers, were sunk recently.

Five of the British Triumph's crew of 47 and 13 of the Greatfield's crew were missing. The first capsized and sank after an explosion in the North Sea, and the other went down in flames off the Northern Coast of Scotland.

Seventy-two survivors of the Sultan Star landed to-day at a West Coast port. Captain W. H. Bevan said only one man was lost and two injured.

Secret Device Credited.

The success of Britain's convoy system against submarine attack is credited largely to the Navy's secret "Asdic" device which enables warships to stalk undersea raiders with depth bombs ever after they dive—once they have been spotted.

One German merchantman and two neutrals also were new victims of war at sea.

Premier Hepburn said: The people of Ontario are determined to see this war through to a victorious conclusion and, with this in view, are prepared to stake their last dollar and furnish the last man, if need be, so that the world may be rid of this constant threat of war.

Relief Cut 40 Per Cent; Ontario's Debt Grows 24 Millions

TORONTO, Feb. 15—(CP).—Ontario was presented today with its first budget of the present war which helped swell to nearly $4,500,000 a deficit for the fiscal year ending next March 31.

It was the sixth provincial budget presented to the Ontario Legislature by Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn, who reported an increase of $24,482,239 in gross debt; pledged strict economy to help the Dominion in its war effort and declared the people of Ontario were prepared "to stake their last dollar and furnish the last man, if need be, so that the world may be rid of this constant threat of war."

No Taxation Changes.

The previous budget had estimated a surplus of $150,000 for the fiscal 12 months but unanticipated expenditures, some due to the war, had helped increase the deficit. No reference was made to new taxation except a suggested change in the corporation tax for which a bill already has been presented in the Legislature. The increased corporation tax, a temporary measure, was estimated to increase revenue by more than $5,500,000 annually.

40 Per Cent Relief Slash

Reduction of 40 per cent in the estimate for direct relief was announced by the Premier, who also revealed that subsidies to municipalities would be reduced by one-half mill. The subsidy, increased ½ mill last year to 1½ mills, will be set back to one mill.

Savings in various departments were outlined by Mr. Hepburn who

Bulgar Cabinet Resigns Over Red Ties

SOFIA, Feb. 15. —(AP).— The cabinet of Premier George Kiosseivanoff resigned to-day. King Boris immediately called Professor Bogdan Philoff, Minister of Education, to form a new Bulgarian government.

Kiosseivanoff, a close friend of the king, had re-organized his cabinet for the eighth time in less than four years only last Oct. 23, retaining the portfolios of Premier and Foreign Minister himself.

Philoff, also a close friend of King Boris, is a professor of archeology and president of the Bulgarian Academy of Sciences.

Political circles expected Kiosseivanoff's foreign ministry portfolio to go to Ivan Popoff, Bulgarian Minister of Yugo-Slavia.

This was interpreted as meaning that the King desires further to intensify Bulgaria's close relations with Belgrade. Kiosseivanoff's resignation was caused by a bitter fight with Ivan Bogranoff, Minister of Agriculture, reportedly over relations with Soviet Russia.

Bogranoff, a popular member of the Kiosseivanoff government, was said to favor further tightening of relations with Moscow.

The two men were known to have quarreled also over domestic policy with Bogranoff demanding a return to democratic, parliamentary rule which Kiosseivanoff opposed.

Thirty Airfields In Ontario Being Surveyed

TORONTO, Feb. 15 (CP)—Ontario's department of highways is co-operating with the Dominion Government in surveying 30 airfields, presumably in connection with the empire air training scheme, Premier Hepburn announced in his budget speech in the legislature today.

The premier said that immediately after war was declared the department approached the federal department of militia and defence at Ottawa, undertaking to carry out any work that might be required to further Canada's war effort.

He went on:

"About the middle of October we were approached with a view to determining as to the possibility of our staff making surveys of airfields that would be used in connection with those already in existence. We undertook that we would carry on any work they had in mind.

Quick Start Made

"Under date of Nov. 8, representatives of the department of transport advised us that several locations had been decided upon and asked that we commence surveys at once. We immediately did so. From that time up to the present various locations have been decided until now 30 fields in all have been con-

Guard For Hydro Costs $895,000

TORONTO, Feb. 15.— (CP). — Largest increase in expenditures by the Ontario Attorney-General's Department during the fiscal year ending March 31, was made to appoint, equip and arm guards to maintain watch over vital power source, Premier Hepburn said today in his budget speech to the Ontario Legislature.

The Premier stressed the importance of Hydro to Ontario industry and revealed that since last Sept. 3 to the end of the fiscal year, March 31, 1940, the cost of the unanticipated service would be $895,000.

He outlined the duties added to the department by the war in steps taken to curtail subversive elements and said the law enforcement officials were being kept informed "and up-to-date on the regulations by full briefs on the law and supplementary memoranda as they become necessary."

Reds Build Stalin Line Along Poland As Nazis Aid Fortifying Black Sea

LEEDS, England, Feb. 15 (CP)—The Yorkshire Post reported today that while Germany is helping Russia fortify Black Sea ports, the Russians are busily building a "Stalin line" of fortifications along the border between German and Soviet-occupied Poland.

"There is little doubt of Hitler's intention to move along east to the north shore of the Black Sea," the paper said. "The trickle of German soldiery that has already begun will grow as means are found to warrant dispatch of the force. Sabotage on the railway and looting of supply trains can be declared as happenings which demand larger forces.

"While there is no direct confirmation of any military arrangement beyond the railway troops, it is believed that Hitler was undertaken to garrison the Black Sea region and the Caucasus if it becomes necessary to withdraw all Russian troops for service in Finland this summer.

"Whether Germany could carry out this undertaking if the Allies force the pace and make her fight is very doubtful.

"It is also said that Hitler has offered to garrison all of Russian Poland and that the offer has been declined. Instead the Reds are increasing the work of building a Maginot line in Poland which is to shut Germany out as soon as the temporary arrangements between the two countries come to an end. This is an important indication of Russian policy, as the defence lines are being mapped out to run from the Rumanian border defences through to Lithuania. In Moscow this defence system is openly referred to as the "Stalin Line."

"German engineers now in Moscow are trying to direct Stalin's ideas toward a barrier line in the South against Turkey and the Allies. The Russians agreed to German construction of such a line on payment. So while Germany is aiding Russia to fortify the Black Sea ports, the latter is directing her own efforts to a barrier that will keep the Germans out of West Russia."

Exeter, Spee's Conqueror, Arrives Home, With Churchill Heading Great Welcome

PLYMOUTH, England, Feb. 15. —(CP).—The cruiser Exeter, one of three which defeated the German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee in the battle of Montevideo, came home to this historic port today to be greeted by a cheering crowd headed by Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty.

The Exeter, which had been repaired at Port Stanley, Falkland Islands, for the long voyage home, saluted the First Lord as a tug led the way to port.

Also on hand to pay tribute to the crew of the 8,390-ton warship were Admiral of the Fleet Sir Dudley Pound, First Sea Lord, and Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer.

It was a happy homecoming for members of the crew, called back to duty last August only three days after their first leave in England had begun following a duty tour of nearly three years.

The 32,000-ton battle cruiser Repulse returned to Plymouth yesterday for refitting, it was disclosed.

In his speech of welcome to the officers and men of the ship which bore the brunt of the Admiral Graf Spee's fire and suffered the heaviest casualties, Mr. Churchill said:

"We are especially able to congratulate you upon the fortune which enabled you to fight an action in old style instead of the long and intricate struggle with

Rork Ferguson Is Choice Liberals In East

(By Staff Reporter)

MARMORA, Feb. 15. — The Liberals of Hastings-Peterborough renewed with Rork Ferguson their covenant of confidence and support by giving him a unanimous nomination as their candidate in the Federal elections at their convention here on Wednesday afternoon.

Mr Ferguson was proposed by Fred Whitmore of Coe Hill and Harry Heath of Rawdon Township, a party acclamation which the various speakers declared to have been well deserved by Mr. Ferguson's faithful service to his constituents during his term of more than four years as Member of Parliament.

The convention was opened by Dr. Donald Munro of Warsaw, first vice-president, who, precisely at 2.30 o'clock, requested the large audience of men and women to stand in two minutes of silence in association with the nation's mourning of its deceased Governor-General, Lord Tweedsmuir.

A resolution by R. F. Bristol of Madoc directed the secretary, on behalf of the association, to send to Lady Tweedsmuir and the members of her family the deep sympathy of the Liberals of Hastings-Peterborough.

Another resolution by Roy Brown of Apsley expressed the condolence of the association to Mrs. Fraser Aylsworth in the death of her husband since the last annual meeting.

Roger Meiklejohn of Stirling moved a formal declaration of confidence in Mackenzie King with assurance of fullest support in the approaching elections. Another resolution by Dr. Munro and Mr. Heath expressed appreciation of the service of Mr. Ferguson as the parliamentary representative of the riding, congratulated him on the faithful manner in which he had carried out his duties, and promised him loyal support in the present campaign.

The assisting speakers of the convention were J. J Duffus and T. J. Carley, K.C., of Peterborough, Bernard Collins, K.C., of Belleville, and also Dr. Munro and Norman Gilroy of Coe Hill.

The association retained its officers of last year with the one exception of electing Mr. Gilroy, president. Although winter lies deep with snow on both sides of the Hastings - Peterborough boundary, virtually every part of the riding was represented, and representatives of the constituent township and town municipalities generally reported that their organization was ready for action.

Mr. Ferguson was greeted with rousing applause as he began his reply to Mr. Gilroy's announcement that the party's standard was returned to him for a new engagement on the hustings.

Japs' War Drive Believed At End Of Rope

SHANGHAI, Feb. 15.— (AP). — Foreign military sources said today they saw unmistakeable signs that Japan had reached the limit of her ability to win and hold Chinese territory.

In their view, the Japanese "have stopped winning the war without achieving their objectives" and are incapable of striking an effective blow to China's resistance.

The invaders' men and materials are beginning to wear out, they said, and their strength is so scattered over thousands of miles of China that their punch has lost its snap.

These statements were made in comment on the Japanese proclamation yesterday urging General Chiang Kai-Shek to surrender. Foreign sources regarded it as a significant admission that Japan already has made her maximum military effort.

The part of the proclamation declaring that Japan will not extend her operations further "but will await your offensive," they interpreted also as a confession that the invaders were unable to carry out their oft-repeated vow to "crush Chiang even if we have to pursue him to Tibet."

Million Lopped Off Education

TORONTO, Feb. 51—(CP).—The Ontario Department of Education is budgeting for expenditures $1,000,000 less than in the current fiscal year, ending March 31, 1940, Premier Hepburn announced today in his budget address to the Legislature.

The Premier said the Department was making its contribution to the economy campaign by making economies and changes in administration. These included suspension of middle school examinations which "will alone involve a saving of more than $100,000." Reduction in summer courses and elimination of grants for such special subjects as agriculture, music and art were included in the economy measures.

It was felt, the Premier said, that these subjects had now become sufficiently well established in the schools of the province to warrant withdrawal of special subsidies and that school boards in fixing the teachers' salaries would give consideration to their qualifications in these subjects.

Exchange To Cost Ont. $13,562,456 In U.S. Funds If War Lasts 4 Years

TORONTO, Feb. 15—(CP).—Ontario has obligations of more than $100,000,000 falling due in United States funds in the next 4½ years, Premier Mitchell Hepburn said in his budget speech today.

"Assuming that the war continues up to September 16, 1944, and that the present 11 per cent. premium on exchange continues, it will be observed that the cost of New York exchange to this province will be $13,562,456.60," he said.

"Of this sum $5,488,162.20 must be paid by Hydro customers, and the balance, some eight million dollars, is a dead weight upon the backs of the taxpayers of the Province of Ontario.

"From this there is no escape, provided of course, that the province meets its obligations in the exact terms of the contract. This the government intends to do."

The present 11 per cent. exchange on United States funds might be exceeded, the Premier warned. If the present rate obtained during the next fiscal year, cost to the province will be $1,842,913.85.

"In view of the difficulties that I have outlined, and the unhappy position in which Ontario is placed because of the folly of former governments in issuing debentures payable in United States funds, you must agree that this government is entitled to full credit for borrowing on conditions which require repayment in Canadian funds only," he said. "Never have we borrowed a dollar repayable in New York funds."

Total obligations in U.S. funds of the province of Ontario, the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, the Timiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway and the Niagara Parks Commission exceeded $300,000,000. The total of these, including interest and maturities, and exchange at 11 per cent., from April 1, 1940, to September 16, 1944, was $123,295,060.

Premier Hepburn pointed out that in the last war sterling exchange in New York never dropped below $4.49, considerably above today's rate.

Allies Covered For Present.

"At present it is said that the Allies have available in the United States in dollar balances, readily saleable securities, and other resources over four and a half billion dollars. Beyond this, the British

Over 178,000 Individuals Subscribe To Canada's First War Loan Drive

OTTAWA, Feb. 15.—(CP).—Canada's recent $200,000,000 war loan, first loan of the Second Great War, was distributed to more than 178,000 individual subscribers, Finance Minister Ralston said in a statement to-day.

"The wide distribution of this loan is a really remarkable achievement on the part of the Canadian people," said Col. Ralston.

Combining new money to the total of $200,000,000 and conversion of March 1 maturities of other loans to the extent of $50,000,000, the total of the loan reached $250,000,000.

Final details of distribution are not yet available for all subscriptions received through dealers and there are many cases where a single subscription was put in by an employer on behalf of a large number of his employees, Col. Ralston said.

For these reasons the returns received from investment dealers, stock brokers and chartered banks who were acting as authorized agents for the loan, substantially underestimate the wide distribution of the loan received.

Analysis of the returns received, however, showed 178,363 separate subscriptions with an average of $1,327 each. Of this total number of subscriptions, 172,321 or 96.6 per cent, were for amounts from $50 to $5,000 with an average of $664.

Allotments on subscriptions from private individuals exclusive of corporations and dealers, accounted for $157,821,950, or 63 per cent. of the total amount of the loan.

"Almost two-thirds of the $250,000,000 loan came from private subscribers, as distinguished from corporations and dealers," said Col. Ralston. "As a result of our appeal to the subscriber of small or moderate means, we received no less than 121,407 orders for $500 and under, with an average of $235 each.

"It is this particular classification that gives me the greatest satisfaction. The response of smaller investors and the widespread distribution of the loan among private individuals constitute a remarkable testimonial to the strength of Canada's economy and to the unity of the Canadian people behind the prosecution of the war.

Finns Hoping Diversion To Save Line

More Forts Are Lost As Defenders Fight Odds 50 To 1

HELSINGFORS, Feb. 15 (AP)—Finland, avowedly with no choice but to fight to the last man against odds of 50 to 1, hoped today that successes in the north might force some diversion of Soviet Russia's hammer blows on the forts of the Karelian Isthmus.

In the 10-mile strip of inferno at Summa, the Finns acknowledged that relentless Russian assaults, now in their 15th day, had caused abandonment of some of the Mannerheim line's advance fortifications.

(A Soviet army communique today reported capture of 16 more Finnish positions, bringing to 100 the number claimed within a week. The Finns are falling back with "heavy losses," the communique claimed.)

The main line still holds, the Finns reported, and everywhere else, on the isthmus, north of Lake Ladoga and on Finland's "waistline" front, the Finnish story was one of success.

The Russians bought the Summa outposts at high prices in men, munitions and machines, the Finns said. A communique related that "thousands of enemy fallen and dozens of wrecked tanks" were heaped before the Finnish lines.

Russian infantry still stormed over the isthmus' shell-cratered fields of snow to be met in many cases with Finnish puukkos (hunting knives) in hand to hand combat.

Foreign Aid Only Hope

Discussing the invasion, which began Nov. 30 after Finland refused Russian demands for territorial and military concessions, Finland's President Kyosti Kallio, the "first peasant," told news correspondents: "Everyone knows we are outnumbered 50 to 1, but the issues at stake are clear. We appreciate the sympathy shown us in our struggle to be free—indeed, to live at all—but we really hope our cause might stir

A French communique announced yesterday that "a German cargo boat has been captured and taken into a French port." No other details were disclosed.

Reuter's News Agency reported from Oslo that the Danish ship, Martin Goldschmidt, 1,095 tons, was sunk off the West Scottish Coast, and that only five of her crew of 20 had been picked up.

The owners of the 1,503-ton Norwegian steamship Eika were said to have been notified that the ship was sunk on a voyage from Spain to Norway, and that a submarine had landed two survivors at Wilhelmshaven, Germany. The Eika, carrying a crew of 18, had been unreported since January 26.

Second Major Fire Sweeps Timmins

TIMMINS, Ont., Feb. 15 (CP) — The second major fire disaster in Timmins within a week and one of the worst in the town's history broke out shortly after midnight this morning and raced through the Bardessono block, on Pine St., S., home of Friedman Department Stores, Shaheen's Department Store and the David Man's Furnishings, demolishing the entire structure. Three walls were left standing today as firemen continued to pour water into the icy interior, still smouldering in a number of places. Firemen placed the damage as $100,000 while business estimated the total loss at more than $200,000.

Appointment

ing unoccupied seats in the Upper Chamber cut off his chances for the honor that seemed again about to be withheld from him. And in those circumstances the Liberal party and Mr. Duffus as candidate proceeded to muster its forces for the new campaign.

To-day's message from Ottawa has upset the stage setting that was begun last Saturday afternoon, but Mr. Duffus told the Examiner that his first action at noon was to inform the members of the executive, and that it immediately decided to call a meeting this afternoon presumably to arrange for a new convention.

"Mr. King's message was a decided shock to me," Mr. Duffus said. "I could hardly realize it at first, but the Prime Minister went on with his news while I was trying to get my thoughts collected. Why, last night we had a meeting of some of the executive getting ready for the campaign, so you can understand how unprepared I was for the announcement."

All Activity Suspended.

The Examiner had telephoned Mr. Duffus at 11 o'clock this morning for any news of the campaign and was informed by him that it had been decided last night to suspend all political activities for the rest of the week out of respect to the memory of Lord Tweedsmuir, and also that the premises on George street recently vacated by the Bank of Montreal had been rented as committee room quarters and would not be opened until next week.

Main Achievement.

The reference of the Hon. Norman Rogers to the contribution made by Mr. Duffus in the sphere of consideration was undoubtedly an appreciation of the leadership he had given in the organization of the Central Ontario Liberal Association of which he was the first president, remaining for several years in that position. Since his retirement from that position the Association has sunk into a morbund state in which it has been consistently inactive in other hands.

In the area of Central Ontario there were only two Liberal members when the association began its work of reviving party spirits and enthusiasm. In 1935 the concrete results of the Duffus leadership was reflected by the election of ten members in the eleven constituencies to which the association had directed its efforts.

Mr. Duffus in the spirit of recalling battles long ago reminded the Marmora convention Wednesday of the first entry of the Central Association into that riding. The party had fallen under the Conservative influence of the Hon. Robert Cooke, a political power in Hastings county and especially in the western riding. Liberals were letting conventions go by default, ad when Mr. Duffus arrived to get some life stirring in the party, Liberals told him it was useless effort. They actually said that a lot of Liberals were afraid to attend meetings of the party, that no one could be induced to accept a nomination, and other defeatist attitudes seemed to have become deep rooted.

Out of that hopelessness, as it seemed even the stoutest Liberals in West Hastings, eventually bloomed the victories of Rork Ferguson and the Hon. Dr. Faulkner, in other the Federal and provincial fields. Mr. Duffus had communicated his confidence, his energy and his enthusiasm, and the party was ready for the first favoring tides.

The West Hastings experience was typical of what developed in other sallents that were won elsewhere in Central Ontario.

Active Thirty Years

The public career of Mr. Duffus, now in its senatorial zenith, began in 1909 with his election to the city council. Prior to that there had been preparatory interests and activities that were extending his reputation. His success in the council reached a climax with his election as mayor in 1916 and again in 1917. He was president of the chamber of Commerce for five years, and projected into its affairs the influence of his dynamic spirit.

It was characteristic of Mr. Duffus that as new responsibilities came his way he found time to devote to them. He has been for many years associated with the Peterborough plowmen, was president of the association, and has never lagged in his support of it. He went on to the Ontario Plowmen's Association, became its president, and is still a member of its directorate. The thoroughness that marked all his endeavors cropped out again in this special interest of his, as shown in the fact that he developed his practical knowledge in plowmanship, gained in his youth on the farm, to the expertness that is now recognized all over the country, inviting him as judge at many of the autumn competitions.

Interest In Agriculture

The Duffus interest in agriculture is no passing fancy. It was very largely due to his support and really his demands that the country was given a prompt soil survey and also was made a T.B.-free area. Almost every agricultural organization in this county has received his attention and his aid, the Soil Improvement Association; the Grain Growers, and so on. He more recently became interested in the Chamber of Agriculture, and made a study of its program as a means of informing himself of the advanced thought that is leading Canadian farmers into new ideas of marketing. Farmers of this county had a high respect for Mr. Duffus because they knew he fully understood their problems.

Member of Parliament

It was natural that out of his connection with the Central Ontario Liberal Association a local candidature would eventually be offered to him. His first acceptance was in 1926 when he was defeated by the redoubtable Edward Armour Peck.

Mr. Duffus returned to the attack again in 1930, and was again vanquished by Mr. Peck. Reverses did not easily overcome the Duffus practical philosophy, and he returned to the political arena a third time in 1935 and was elected. Now, his fourth campaign has been abruptly ended with his elevation to the Senate. Of the last four years at Ottawa as member of Parliament, a recounting of it has been made recently, and it has been generally acknowledged that Mr. Duffus performed his duty with diligence, studious effort, and also in the desire to be of real help to all his constituents.

Opportunity to Serve.

Mr. Duffus' only comment in a noon time conversation was: "I hope the people of Peterbcrough will feel that I attribute the honor of being appointed to the Senate very largely to the opportunities they gave me to be of some usefulness and service to them. Without that trust nothing much can be done. I hope that I shall be able to continue my interest in the general affairs of this community, apart from the new duties that have come to me."

Tribute From the Mayor.

"The whole city rejoices with Mr. Duffus on his appointment," said Mayor James Hamilton. "He will be a credit to the city. We all know what hard work he has been doing for Peterborough during his term of office at Ottawa and we are all glad this honor has come to him."

"Im delighted beyond expression," said E. B. Fowler. "This is the reward of a life-time of service, not only in the Dominion's interest but in civic affairs as well. Mr. Duffus is admirably qualified for the position and well worthy of the honour that goes wth it. I'm thrilled about it."

F. D Kerr, K.C.: "I am delighted to hear that the government has called Mr. Duffus to the Senate. His long experience in municipal affairs, and his thorough understanding of the needs of the people, both of the city and of the country, and his great interest in public affairs, undoubtedly give him splendid qualifications for the position. The government is to be congratulated on his selection and his appointment will give great pleasure not only to the citizens of Peterborough but also to the whole of Central Ontario where he is so well and favourably known."

Profound pleasure at Mr. Duffus' appointment was voiced by V. M. Eastwood, senior. Mr. Eastwood said that he first came in contact with Mr. Duffus in 1908 when the Ford Motor Company approached him, asking who would be a suitable man to whom to hand over the agency. Mr. Duffus was Mr. Eastwood's choice and a little later Mr. Eastwood purchased the first entirely new motor car to come to Peterborough.

"Since that time, Mr. Duffus' business and political career has been an open book to me," said Mr. Eastwood. "In business he was always eager, energetic and upright and he carried the same characteristics into and throughout his political career." In politics the whole area of Central Ontario has been Mr. Duffus' field of activity in the interest of the Liberal party, said Mr. Eastwood. "He did a tremendous amount of work there when the Liberal party was not in power, and has continued to do so through his term of office."

"And now," he said, "comes the justly deserved honour of being preferred by the Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King for elevation to the Senate of Canada. His usefulness is, in a sense, only beginning." He wished Senator Duffus every joy in his new sphere.

Worthy Appointee.

G. A. Macdonald (former Mayor of Peterborough), said: "I am delighted to hear that Joe Duffus has been named Senator. He is certainly a worthy addition to the Red Chamber, and in my opinion the country is fortunate in having men of his calibre to take seats in the Upper House. Down through the years Joe Duffus has worked for all creeds and classes, in Parliament he was more than a Liberal—he was a people's candidate, and his good work certainly warranted consideration."

E. H. Howson, general manager, Peterborough Lock Company, said: "This is great news. I just arrived from a trip and had not heard it until you 'phoned. I don't know of anyone who deserved this appointment more than J. J. Duffus. I am sure the news will be received with universal approval, because his fine personality, friendly manner, and fairness in all things has won for him a multitude of friends."

Senator Iva Campbell Fallis, Peterborough's other citizen in the Red Chamber, said: "I have just learned of Mr. Duffus' appointment to the Senate, and I wish to congratulate him on the honor which has been conferred upon him."

"J. J. Duffus has given outstanding service for a long period of time, and in many fields of endeavor," Alderman James Dutton said. "He has been a moving spirit in the Plowman's Association, did good work as a member of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, was an executive member of the Associated Boards of Trade and Commerce, a member of the City Council, Mayor of Peterborough, and he also held many other leading offices. It is my impression that his work in these fields has been most outstanding.

"I am very happy over the news and from the standpoint of a reward for public service rendered, then the appointment was most certainly well merited. Mr. Duffus is the type of man who throws himself into a job with enthusiasm and vigor and none of his work has been marked by any lack of interest. It is a signal honor for Mr. Duffus and for the City of Peterborough as well.

"The appointment of Mr. Duffus to the Senate will be a great satisfaction to his many friends throughout the city and county," Alex L. Elliott, M.P.P., telephoned this afternoon to the Examiner. "I wish to be associated with them in their congratulations. Mr. Duffus has been actively and prominently identified with the Liberal party for many years, has taken part in many campaigns throughout Ontario, and the honor that has come to him will be endorsed not only in his own county, but also in many other parts of the country, especially in Ontario."

OTTAWA, Feb. 15—(CP).—Appointment of Lt.-Col. J. J. Duffus of Peterborough and W. J. Hushion of Montreal to the two remaining vacancies in the Senate was announced today from the office of Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

Both new Senators were members of the parliament which was dissolved January 25. Mr. Duffus represented Peterborough and Mr. Hushion represented Montreal-St. Ann's.

Mr. Duffus was first elected to the House of Commons in 1935. He was a candidate in 1926 and 1930 but was defeated on both occasions.

Mr. Hushion won a by-election in St. Ann's in 1924, was defeated in the general election of 1930, and returned to parliament in 1935.

These appointments bring the Senate to full strength for the first time in several years. The standing now is 51 Conservatives and 45 Liberals.

Senator Duffus was born in Peterborough County, June 17, 1882, and was for years managing director of the J. J. Duffus Company. He was a member of the Canadian contingent which attended the Coronation of King Edward VII.

A prominent figure in Peterborough activities, Col. Duffus was for six years an alderman, served two terms as mayor and for three years as president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Active in political, sporting and fraternal circles, Col. Duffus was president of the Central Ontario Liberal Association, 1932-35, and was president of the Peterborough Hockey Club when the Peterborough team was senior Ontario Hockey Association champions in 1926.

Senator Hushion was born in Montreal in 1883, was educated there and served as a city alderman for 14 years. He is director of the manufacturing company of Hushion and Hushion.

The new Senator from Montreal had experience in the Quebec Legislature before coming to the House of Commons, having been elected for his riding in 1923. He is a Roman Catholic of Irish descent.

sidered. Ten plans covering these fields have been turned over to Ottawa. Sixteen additional are over 50 per cent complete, with four fields yet to do.

"To facilitate the speedy return of the plans to Ottawa, our staff is working night and day that they may be returned with the least possible delay. As a matter of fact, instructions have been issued to the surveys branch that surveys as requested from Ottawa be given preference over all other work.

"I might say for your information much of our contract work is standing idle until such time as the plans are ready. I feel certain that the plans as they are returned to Ottawa are as fine as can be produced within the time limit."

Mr. Hepburn added that construction of a road into Camp Borden, a Royal Canadian Air Force training centre ,is under construction at cost of $270,000 of which $105,000 is to be paid by the federal mines department.

Tweedsmuir Rite One Of Canada's Most Impressive

OTTAWA, Feb. 15 (CP) — The capital returned slowly today to wartime problems and election issues after honoring Lord Tweedsmuir in one of the most impressive state funerals in the history of Sanada.

The funeral ceremonies ended when the body was placed on a Montreal-bound train yesterday after service at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church but official mourning will continue until Sunday. Flags on all government buildings remain at half-mast and officers of the armed forces wear black arm bands until then.

In Montreal, where the Governor-General died Sunday from the effects of a fall at his official residence here, the body was cremated and the ashes will be sent overseas. Owing to the wartime secrecy concerning all ships and their movements the time and manner of the

Patience Urged In Facing Farm Problems

OTTAWA, Feb. 15 — (CP). — Some sympathy and understanding for authorities wrestling with wartime problems confronting the agricultural industry were urged last night by Dr. H. S. Barton, Dominion Deputy-Minister of Agriculture, in an address before the annual convention of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association here.

"Each problem presents many angles perhaps unknown to the public and to the farmers themselves," said Dr. Barton. "There are many persons with what they consider a plausible answer to individual problems, but it would not be unfair to say that probably they are not in possession of all the information, which creates a big difference."

The war was too young, he said, to have yet had any major influence on Canadian agriculture, but the best brains of the country were at work on problems which already have risen and ready for what the future may hold.

Certainly Canadian cheese was expected to play an important role. It was already listed as a war requirement of Great Britain, but he warned the cheese industry that their commodity was not indispensable and there were substitutes.

Fatal Air Crash Nets Widow $100,000 Cash

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(AP). —T. R. Iserman, attorney for Mrs. Kathleen Cline Miller of Lincoln, Neb., a survivor of the destruction last year of the Imperial Airways flying boat Cavalier, said yesterday the company had awarded her "approximately $100,000" in an out-of-court settlement for personal injuries and the death of her husband, Donald W. Miller.

Mrs. Miller was one of ten persons saved when the flying boat sank at sea after making a forced landing en route to Bermuda on Jan. 31, 1939. She had filed suit for $201,109 damages, charging her husband's death was caused by "wilful negligence" of the ship's crew.

The company had denied her allegations.

Two others besides Miller lost their lives in the accident.

The Associated Press said some were in Canadian and British uniforms. There was no hint from official quarters, The Associated Press said ,as to what ruling would be made on British and Canadian soldier volunteers.

TORONTO— (CP)— Mrs. Lillian Brunton, 51, was injured seriously today when she leaped 35 feet from an upper window of her burning home just as firemen were extending a ladder. They Swelled Too

PALO ALTO, Calif., Feb. 15 — (AP).—Two Gypsy girls who sold furniture made of poison oak—with irritating results to the buyers—were freed by a sympathetic judge, because they suffered too. The girls, Peggy and Helen Stanley, were arrested after the Lawrence Farrens family swelled up with poison oak from wicker furniture. The judge took one look at the girls' inflamed hands and faces and released them.

W. A. Fraser Is Unanimous Choice Of Northumberland Liberals At Convention Held In Warkworth

WARKWORTH, Feb. 15—(ENS)—Delegates at Northumberland Liberal Association convention held in the town hall here yesterday afternoon again showed their confidence in W. A. Fraser by nominating him for the fourth consecutive time to contest the riding against Jamieson Bone of Belleville in the interests of the Liberal party. Jack Burnett of Cobourg, vice-president of the association, made the motion which was seconded by Clarence Massey. The meeting then heartily endorsed the selection by a standing vote to make their decision unanimous.

Speaking of the candidate, Mr. Burnett told the convention he did not think there was any riding in the Province of Ontario where a candidate had done more to promote the interest of the people than "Billy" Fraser. He said he understood their was a whispering campaign going on within the riding and added their could be nothing more damning. "Mr. Fraser had expended his time an denergy to the utmost of his ability," the speaker said. The seconder, Clarence Massey, endorsed the words of Mr. Burnett.

An expression of sympathy in the death of the late Governor-General Lord Tweedsmuir was read as follows: "In reverent tribute to the memory of late Governer-General Baron Tweedsmuir of Elsfield, we, the citizens of Northumberland assembled here, join with all His Majesty's loyal subjects to mourn the passing of a great statesman and to her Excellency, the Lady Tweedsmuir and family, we extend our heartfelt sympathy in their sad bereavement.

Unable To Postpone Convention

Speaking briefly, Marshall West, president of the association told the meeting the executive of the association would like to have postponed the convention due to the death of Lord Tweedsmuir but owing to the impracticability of trying to notify all delegates of the change, the convention was allowed to be held as planned. He thanked the delegates, numbering more than 300, for their attending and asked for the unanimous support of the candidate and their assistance during the campaign.

Offering a resolution of confidence in the candidate, A. D. Smith of Brighton said there never was a government as much in need of support as there is today. "We must have unity of organization and we must be loyal and true to the ideals of Liberalism which is in the county of Northumberland to stay. Liberalism strength in this riding is due for the most party to Billy Fraser. I therefore endorse the selection of Billy Fraser as the proper representative for the Liberals in this riding," he concluded.

Beginning his speech, W. A. Fraser said he joined with the delegates in the expression of sympathy in the death of Lord Tweedsmuir. "I met him on several occasions. A few weeks ago, I had the privilege of sitting near him in the officers' mess at Trenton air base. Lord Tweedsmuir was not only a good man but he was a good Imperialist and a good Canadian. It is with solemn reverence and respect I join with the gathering in mourning his sudden passing," Mr. Fraser said.

The candidate told the convention he would not be human on this occasion if he did not offer his hearty thanks for the honor given him by being offered the nomination for the county of Northumberland. "Once confidence has been placed in a person, nothing will disturb it," he said. The confidence placed in him was shown by the loyal support of Liberals and a number of Conservatives, he hoped. He definitely discredited rumors that he had ever thought of seeking the Liberal nomination in South Hastings riding. I could have had it in 1917-21-25-26-30. My interests are bound up with Northumberland riding where your interests lie. As an owner of large properties in this riding, I am one of the large taxpayers. No other riding in the Dominion of Canada could divorce me from Northumberland."

H said there had been criticism in connection with the disolution of parliament two weeks ago but explained that was the only thing Prime Minister King could do under the circumstances. "We are one of the Allies in the second world war. The government would have had all they could do to put their energies behind Canada's war effort without the "sniping of Bob Manion and his confederates." He said the public will be enlightened in the next six weeks as to what has been going on in parliament. "The calling of an election at this time saves two sessions of parliament."

Had Enough Union Government

Marking contrast to the King government and the proposed National government, Mr. Fraser said the the people of Canada saw enough of union government in 1917-18. They will remember the favoritism and the putting of privilege before populace at that time, he charged.

Pointing out Prime Minister King as the greatest Liberal, he said parliament had been dissolved to give the people a chance to decide what form of government they wanted. "I stand as opposed to the National or Coalition form of government. It would mean the damnation of Canada. The bulwark of our liberty is protected by the ballot box and that's my stand."

"This election is to elect an expired government and men qualified to carry on a successful prosecution of the war. No man in Canada is more capable of efficiently executing this than Mackenzie King. He is well experienced—he has dedicated his life to the government—he is well trained in picking out efficient men. No man has had a longer or more successful history. No man has done more for the unity of the Canadian people. No man has done more for the unity of the Canadian people. No man has done more to preserve British institutions. No man has done more to advance and increase the trade of Canada. No man has done more for the working people of Canada. It was an insult to the people of Canada to have Mackenzie King compared to Hertzog of Africa and DeValera of Ireland. Nothing could be more from the truth. He could be more aptly likened to Chamberlain of Great Britain or Smuts of South Africa.

"In the crisis of 1938, regardless of abuse and criticism, the King government carried through and carried a united country into war."

Defeated Duplessis.

Speaking of the threatened split in Quebec Provincial House last year over the war, Mr. Fraser said Mackenzie King's cabinet members defeated Premier Duplessis over the issue of whether there was to be a united Canada at war and the disloyal Duplessis government was ousted in favor of the Liberal Godbout government policy of remaining loyal to the Dominion. "No other man," he said, "could have brought a united country to face war than Prime Minister King." Mr. Fraser told the convention. "This showed the results of years of experience in the public service. If there ever was a time when he is needed it is today.

"Mr. King has the ability of picking the best men to suit each particular occupation. Men such as Dunning, Ralston, Euler, Howe, Gardiner, Crerar, LaPointe, Cardin, Power, could never have been found in the ranks of the Opposition.

"The Tory party has changed its name about five times since Confederation and now we find it under the title of National. Despite the fact they have camouflaged their name, I'll defy anyone to put their finger on one candidate, either nominated for this election or who will be nominated previous to the election as a National government candidate, who is not the common garden variety of Tory."

Explaining the manner in which Mackenzie King has exerted every effort for the common cause of winning the war, Mr. Fraser said he called into the government men of all political ideas and of the best brains to build up a worthy organization to win the war. "Would Dr. Manion take in Blackmore, Woodsworth or Caldwell?" the speaker challenged.

Prices Remained Steady.

"This government has refused to advertise what has been done to prosecute the war so far. They have done more in five months than any other government would have found possible to do under similar circumstances. Have prices gone up? Have living costs gone up? The price control board has kept prices on a fairly stable scale."

He said this was not a time for a vicious campaign but his friend (the Opposition candidate) will get any kind of a campaign he asks for. "We will not start a vicious campaign but we can finish one," he challenged. "This is not a time for starting battles on the home front while there are battles going on in the Western front, but we can fight back."

Again referring to the war effort, the speaker said Canada is at war with despots and Nazism. The people of this Dominion can and must realize that everything is submerged into infinitesimal things as compared to winning the war. The job before Canada now is to assist in every way possible to prosecute the war.

"I wish to stress emphatically that I know Dr. Manion cannot capably lead the government for the next five years. He has not the power nor experience as compared to Mackenzie King to bring a united Canada together for a supreme effort in winning the war. One of the greatest calamities that could befall this country would be an attempt on the part of Dr. Manion to go into the House of Commons at Ottawa with a minority and try to form his National government—and he certainly will have the minority. Manion's leadership is limited to being leader of a minority and that's where he will stay."

Mr. Fraser said he would not want to be branded an egoist for making the following remarks but as a representative of the people in the House of Commons, he felt they should know something of his activities. "I have 20 years' experience working with government departments, ten years as a member of parliament, have acted on behalf of every industry in Northumberland county, and I say the people of Northumberland require a representative who is one of them and who understands their interests. He must know something about fruit growing, dairy industry, cattle industry, farmers' problems and cattle testing. He is the only contact of the people with the departments of government. In short he must be part and parcel of the people he seeks to represent, not just during election but every day.

Concluding his speech, Mr. Fraser branded Jamieson Bone, Conservative standrad-bearer for the riding, "a foreigner in our midst." "If we have to meet the extreme language of this candidate, we will do it in no uncertain terms."

Band Practice Disturbed By Fireworks

Members of the Citizens' Band who practise regularly at the Y. M.C.A. claim there is skullduggery afoot and they may organize a committee of Vigilantes to deal with certain offenders.

The band was all set to start a tune on Tuesday night, lips were glued to the mouthpieces of the various musical instruments, and the bandmaster's baton was raised when someone threw a fire cracker into the room. A few seconds later another firecracker commonly known as a nigger chaser, came whizzing across the floor. When the bandsmen made a rush for the door someone tossed another nigger chaser in through the window from the fire escape. A determined hunt by the bandsmen failed to capture the offenders, but dire treatment is promised if they should return.

It was also reported that the bandsman who plays the French horn was so startled by the commotion that he chipped a tooth on the mouthpiece of the horn and he has threatened to wrap the horn around the neck of the first fire cracker thrower that he catches.

Keep Politics Out

Protests have been voiced in several Canadian newspapers against the dragging of the name of Major-General McNaughton, commanding officer of the Canadian Active Service Force, into the political arena. We hasten to associate ourselves with those who find such a thing distasteful and unwise. Canadians do not care one iota what the politics of the officer at the head of the overseas forces may be; all they are concerned with is that he is capable and big enough for the most responsible post to which he has been assigned.

The country has approved of the choice of Major-General McNaughton because they realize that in him the Canadian army overseas has a leader in every sense of the word. General McNaughton, termed by General Sir Arthur Currie the best artillery officer in the British army in the last great war, can be counted upon to have regard always for the welfare of the men entrusted to his charge. Shells are cheaper than men has always been his theory and there will be no senseless throwing away of lives so far as the issue is left to his decision.

That being generally recognized, the people of the Dominion do not, we repeat, care whether he is a Conservative or Liberal, a Social Crediter or a man of no political allegiance. Similarly it matters nothing to them what may happen to be the politics of any of his officers. They want to feel that they were chosen for their efficiency and ability and that no other consideration entered into the appointments.

There are enough issues to be fought over in this election without starting a political argument over the fact that the man chosen to lead Canada's army happens to have been of a different political persuasion than the party in power.

Wrecking An Experiment

The other day a fifteen-year-old boy appeared in Kingston police court charged with having been involved in breaking and entering a store and it was stated that he had escaped from the Bowmanville Industrial School.

The circumstances in this case and the name given the institution show what a thorough wreck has been made of the "noble experiment" of the Ferguson government in establishing at Bowmanville a school intended to save wayward boys from drifting into juvenile delinquency and eventually into criminal circles.

The plan was that before boys got to the stage where it would be necessary for them to be brought into court they could be taken care of in the Bowmanville school. It was claimed for the scheme that unruly lads would be reclaimed before it was too late and that they would be spared the association with older and harder boys that would be inevitable in industrial schools.

The idea appealed to service clubs throughout the province and they gave generously toward the establishment of the Bowmanville school. A Bowmanville Rotarian donated the land upon which the institution was located, the Rotarians of the province contributed a gymnasium and the Kiwanians a dormitory.

As a result of these splendid gifts a model plant was established and great things were predicted of the school.

With a change of government came a change in policy. Other industrial schools in the province were closed and the boys, originally sentenced by the courts, were moved to Bowmanville, with the result that the place planned to save youngsters from industrial schools was turned into one itself. How the transformation has been explained to the service clubs whose money helped to build the school has never been made clear.

A Little Bit Too Much

It is said that several motorists who have been involved in accidents recently when their automobiles skidded on icy streets and crashed into posts or fences have set up the claim that the corporation of the city of Peterborough is responsible for the damages caused.

Surely it has not got to the stage when municipalities are to be held accountable if they fail to make winter driving foolproof. The vagaries of winter weather set up conditions that no municipal government could reasonably be expected to cope with and we imagine that claims for damages would have little chance to succeed. Municipalities in recent years have added materially to the overhead by removing snow from city streets to make motor transport possible. This has been an expensive operation but it has justified itself through the comfort and safety it has provided for car owners.

If, however, there are to be persistent attempts to saddle upon the municipalities the cost of every accident that occurs when the streets happen to become slippery the result is likely to be a decision on the part of some municipal councils that the game is not worth the candle and that the best policy is to let the snow pile up on the streets all winter so that motor traffic will be cut down to a minimum.

There was a time when a fall on an icy sidewalk was considered merely a bit of bad luck and there was no thought of trying to hold the municipal government responsible. Now claims for damages are the usual thing when a pedestrian is hurt in this way and apparently car owners are pressing for similar consideration when they get into trouble because of treacherous road conditions.

What They're Thinking

In England an organization called the British Institute has been in existence for some time for the purpose of testing public opinion on many matters of general interest and its research work has not been interrupted by the war. The result is that some of its recent findings have produced some very interesting results. The Institute aims at a cross-section test of the views of the British people and claims that the conclusions it arrives at are an accurate diagnosis of the mind of British.

A short time ago the organization set out to try and discover what the folk in Great Britain thought about Prime Minister Chamberlain. The findings in this particular test were that 52 per cent. wanted him to continue at the head of the government, 30 per cent. thought Winston Churchill would be a more effective war-time leader and 18 per cent. declined to make any choice.

Adolf Hitler was probably interested in learning that according to the Institute's test more than half the people in the British Isles—52 per cent. to be exact—are in favor of the British air force bombing military objectives in Germany, even although they had reason to believe that such attacks would be followed by similar raids on the part of German air machines. Of the rest 41 per cent. were apparently opposed to Britain starting the air war on a major scale and the remaining seven per cent. had no opinion to offer.

On the question of the conduct of the war 61 per cent. said they were satisfied with what has been done, 18 per cent. found fault with the tactics and strategy used, 11 per cent. wanted the conflict stopped and 10 per cent. declined to answer.

Three out of every four, however, had thumbs down for the blackouts and voted for less severe restrictions. That is not difficult to understand. There have been no air raids to make the acceptance of the blackout plan a matter of safety and on the other hand the darkness of English nights since the war began has sent the traffic accident mortality up to a staggering total.

No Duplication

Other appeals for assistance in war work will follow the present drive of the Canadian Legion War Services Inc. and the criticism will naturally arise that there will be waste of effort and a duplication of effort.

We mention that fact now because it is possible to give the assurance promptly that there is absolutely no reason to fear overlapping in this job of administering to the welfare of Canada's fighting men. The thing is being worked out on a businesslike basis and each organization in the field will have its own job and there will be no duplication of work or of facilities.

This has been made possible because a director of auxiliary forces in the person of Col. Foster, Dominion president of the Canadian Legion, has been appointed and given authority to supervise the efforts of all the organizations so that no waste motion need be feared. The director, well-known as an organizer, will size up the situation in each area and will divide up the task of supplying recreation, education and entertainment among the different auxiliary service organizations so that all will have a useful job to do and there will be effective teamwork.

This is a point to keep in mind. There will be many calls for funds as the war progresses and the tendency will be to argue that some at least of these efforts are unnecessary. Under the set-up that has now been arranged every organization in the field will have its part to play in the all-important task of maintaining the morale of the Canadian army at its highest peak. There need be no hesitation about giving to any of these worth-while agencies for every dollar given will be usefully spent in the common task.

Standardized Clothing

Mussolini undoubtedly has effected some useful reforms in Italy but it would be a nice question as to whether the evils of regimentation have not wiped out the good. We imagine many Italians will be inclined to think so just now in view of the proposal to standardize suits, shoes, underwear, stockings and cloth.

Most folk, including probably all women, will agree that with the opportunity to select the clothing of one's fancy abolished gone too will be much of the joy of life. What a drab world it is going to be if men and women are to be ordered into standardized clothing.

The proposal comes from the consultative committee of the Clothing Corporation of Italy and is justified its advocates say, by the continuous raise in prices, the control of which is difficult owing to the multiplicity of the articles affected.

The plan includes two types of standard shoes for men and women, a standard shirt and suit for men and two types of stockings, one of cotton and the other of rayon, for women. A list of textiles will be authorized but is provided that they must contain a certain percentage of artificial fibres.

Imagine a standard shirt for men, and how monotonous that would make the Christmas gift-buying. Imagine too the temerity of a dictator in telling all the women of a nation that they must confine their choice of hosiery to two kinds of stockings. This standardization scheme may be a smart economic move but a lot of color will be knocked out of Italian life.

NOTE AND COMMENT

With Syl Apps a candidate in the present election it looks like a case of as Brant goes so go the Leafs.

The Galt hockey team has lost 25 straight games this season. The Russians will know how to sympathize with the Galt boys.

In Toronto the folks seem to be more concerned about what's wrong with the Leafs than what is wrong with the King government.

That lone Toronto bank robber who was overpowered and caught is probably ready by this time to subscribe to the theory that crime does not pay.

French authorities are guarding the Soviet embassy in Paris. Evidently they fear the French folk may begin to see Red.

This must be a real old-fashioned winter. The curlers, skaters, hockey players and skiers seem to be all satisfied.

Russians claim to have captured 84 forts in five days. That sounds as if the fellow who figures out the attendance at some of the fall fairs is now in the Soviet service.

He who scuttles and runs away may live to be scuttled again some day seems to be the motto of the German merchant marine.

We have an idea that Mussolini is more than a little interested in the allied army that is being mobilized in the Near East.

Britain's call for 10,000 more fishermen to battle the mines shows how serious a menace those infernal devices are proving.

Chicago court has found that being in love is an act of God and there is nothing you can do about it. That gives legal status to a long-popular theory.

A man who stole a $10 bill from a Toronto store must have been a bit vexed to find it was a counterfeit. It looks like a case for the shop committee of the Sneak Thieves' Union.

Dr. Manion, Conservative leader, gave medical treatment to a girl struck near Sudbury by the train on which he was travelling. You can almost hear some of his supporters going around saying "Could King do that?"

WINTER STAND-BYS

Here's a word for the bluebird, the robin,
the lark.
And the rest of that eloquent throng
Which, when winter is gone with skies
frosty and dark,
In springtime, returns with its song.
But I'm certain the warmest of praise which in words
We can truthfully offer is due
To that bevy of brave, weather-challenging birds
That is with us the long winter through.

There's the chicadee—what were the winter without
That brave little blessing of light?
And the blue jays whose blue coats and welcoming shout
Put the gloom of old winter to flight?
And the woodpeckers, juncos, nuthatches and crows—
Though it's too cold to ask them to sing—
Cheer the winter till robins and larks and all those Summer songsters return in the spring.

King George VI Hailed As Man Of The Year

(The Boston Post)

TO OUR READERS we commend as "The Man of the Year" (of 1939), one who has upon him the responsibility of a tradition which is combatting the forces of evil, who is fulfilling a tremendous position of exalted influence for which he was not trained, excepting by nature.

We offer a man of impeccable decency, a family man of worth and dignity, who treads daily the paths of duty with the gallantry and the grace of a true gentleman.

What shall we hold as greatness in a man? Is it that he has enslaved millions of his fellow humans with spurious philosophies? Is it that he leads them in the traces of the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse?

Or shall greatness be deemed applicable to the higher virtues of man, in that he fulfills his destiny with the dignity and the decency that is in him and which, we have been taught for these many ages, is the quality which raises him above the status of the beasts?

We choose to believe, in this mad hour of suffering and strife, that the latter qualities are those of man's greatness, and that the former are marks of his perversions.

Thus we could not overlook, in the long list of men of light and darkness that are ranging the world today, the simple, kindly man who bears Britain's secptre and her crown.

To be a King in a constitutional monarchy is not to be a dictator, or a leader, either in the field of politics.

It is to be a symbol of a race, which is now embattled in a fight for conscience and freedom, against calumny, treachery and destruction. It is to be a man who walks alone among all his fellows, bearing on his shoulders the aegis of empire, of unity of far and diversified lands beyond the seas.

The King is not a politician, nor a puppet, nor a ruler. He embodies in himself the majesty and the self-respect that such stupendous association of people must visualize lest it dissolve through sheer ambiguity.

The other kings in the world are generally standards of tight little governments for the people to see. This King and Emperor is one upon whose domain the sun never sets, and upon whose own personal bearing depends the integrity of the whole.

It is a vast emprise, this business of empire. It has its tangled threads of hope and despair, interwoven in its fabric. It is a tapestry of grand heroism and of bleak oppression. It is flung to the winds of time to unfold or fall at the haft, and the man who holds the staff is the King.

We, as Americans, see in our unity, our vision of democracy, the same principles that the British Empire sees in her King. But, unfortunately for us, we do not elevate one man, alone and without superior to represent that unity and that democracy.

Thus upon this man, one Albert Frederick Arthur George Windsor, a common man of honorable bearing, descends the responsibility, terrible in its import, of maintaining through the agonizing days and hours of national life the symbol of decency in human behavior.

To his credit he carries on with character and fine manhood. He took up the burden of that other King, his older brother, and he maintains it day and night.

He represents decent living, the love of home and family, for which all men have battled since the beginning of time. He faces, apparently, the travail of the future with courage which will eventually overwhelm the false gods of tyranny.

To The Editor

THE WHEAT SITUATION

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—In recent issues of The Examiner, there were two news items of particular interest to the farmers: (a) The decision of the federal government to bar the proposed sale of a million bushels of our wheat, for shipment to Vladivostok; and (b) Melville, Sask.: "Probability that farmers delivering wheat to the Canadian wheat board under present price conditions, will receive from five to eight cents a bushel in addition to the federally-guaranteed initial price, is seen by the Dominion Agriculture Minister, Hon. J. G. Gardiner."

Over a year ago (January 31, 1939), when this reader could see that foreign wheat was flowing into Germany at the rate of 100,000,000 bushels over the past two crop years, and all readers could sense the steady drift towards war in Europe, the following sentence appeared in the course of a letter to The Examiner: "In the meantime it occurs to me to say, that I know of no better way to slow-up the wheels of the charioteers of war, notably in the totalitarian countries, than to prevent millions of tons of bread grain moving thereto at below-cost prices, for purposes beyond the present or peaceful needs of their people."

Nothing was done, of course, for were we not all at peace? Nevertheless, no reasonable man can doubt that said 100,000,000 bushels of wheat is in the picture today, inside docile, regimented, unhappy Germany?

As regards the chance of a further payment from the Wheat Board; all need be said is that whatever comes will be very welcome. At the present level (i.e. 51 cents to the farmer) we do not recover our true production costs. Also it should be set down here that, since the open market price moved forward around a dime per bushel above the Board's minimum of 70 cents for No. 1 Northern, hardly a bushel of the 25,000,000 bushels delivered in the past nine weeks has gone to the Board. Not a very intelligent situation, Mr. Editor?

NO SUBSTITUTE

I CONFESS I should feel much greater alarm if tobacco were rationed than I feel over the rationing of beef, bacon and butter. It is reported that in some German cities smokers are now able to buy from their tobacconists only one cigar each a day.

The hunger for tobacco, however, like the hunger for beef, is mental rather than physical. We think tobacco is essential to our happiness and would worry ourselves needlessly if we were deprived of it. Yet, if we could think differently, there is nothing easier than to give up tobacco. I have half made up my mind to change gradually from cigarettes to a pipe and so ultimately to abstinence.

What is wrong with the over-smoker as with the over-eater is that he has never learned to appreciate the easiness of the simple life. I am not sure, however, that it is fair during the present crisis to penalize the over-eater without penalizing the over-smoker, too. On the other hand, the meat-eater has his offals to make up for the niggardliness of his Sunday roast. But what substitute is there for tobacco? The only substitute for tobacco I ever heard of is going without.—"Y. Y." in The New Statesman and Nation (London).

NOT FREAKS

THE GUARDIANS of the Dionne quintuplets have wisely and properly rejected the New York World's Fair bid of $100,000 for a month's appearance of the children on Flushing Flats this summer.

The "quints" will be six years old on May 28.

They are coming to an age when, if their future as human beings is not to be marred, they must be permitted to enjoy the normal routine of other children.

They can't be exhibited alongside of bearded women, two-headed calves and dogs that stand on one leg, without robbing them of the sort of life to which they are entitled.

We are not surprised that the management of the New York Fair, which featured Communist propaganda from the Soviet pavilion last year, should have the poor taste to try to get the "quints" as a side-show this year.

And neither are we surprised that their bid has been flatly refused.—Detroit Free Press.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

And Moses called all Israel, and said unto them, Hear, O Israel, the statutes and judgments which I speak in your ears this day, that ye may learn them, and keep, and do them .... All the commandments which I command thee this day shall ye observe to do, that ye may live, and multiply, and go in and possess the land which the Lord sware unto your fathers.

And thou shalt remember all the way which the Lord thy God led thee these forty years in the wilderness, to humble thee, and to prove thee, to know what was in thine heart, whether thou wouldest keep his commandments, or no. And he humbled thee, and suffered thee to hunger, and fed thee with manna, which thou knewest not, neither did thy fathers know that man doth not live by bread only, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of the Lord doth man live.—Deut. v, 1; viii, 1-3.

MERELY WORDS

AMERICANS are cheering for Finland. Her valiant struggle against the Soviet giant has captured their imaginations. And some perceive that the Finns are fighting for ideals and interests in which the United States has a very large stake. Words in praise of Finland fill the press and the mouths of citizens. Americans have been eager to send aid to Finnish refugees through the Hoover committee and the Red Cross. They have applauded all the steps taken by other countries to send planes and guns and men.

But there is realstance to the furnishing even of the nonmilitary loan just approved by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Cheers—from a grandstand four thousand miles away—are cheap. But dollars require at least some risk. In Berlin the Volkischer Beobachter says: "Small states are pushed into something; then big ones avoid action—and take up collections." America has furnished more than words for Finland and the right instinct of the American people will see that their desire to give further help is made effective.—Christian Science Monitor.

PREVIEW OF SPRING

WHILE the vernal season still drowses deep under the paper blanketa of the calendar, earmuffed postmen are busily delivering to dwellers of the North Temperate Zone figurative first robins and early violets. For that many-leaved harbinger of spring, the seed catalogue, is already in the mails. Its drab cocoon gives small hint of the butterfly within. Opening it one finds himself "knee deep in June." Viewing this colorful and weedless printed garden, the burden of the householder becomes lighter. His cheery whistle as he clears a path through snow to the garage proclaims that Summer is already on its way. —Christian Science Monitor.

Banquet Is Held By Bible Class

MILLBROOK, Feb. 15—(ENS)—Following its recent decision to hold a series of supper meetings, at the rate of one a month for the next four months, the Senior Men's Bible Class, of St. Andrew's Sunday School sponsored the initial event of this kind on Friday evening at 6.30, when over one hundred men sat down to well-laden tables in the school auditorium.

Included among the guests were members of the Men's Brotherhood of Knox Church, Peterborough, and the Young Men's Bible Class of the local Sunday School, who with their teacher, W. A. O'Brian, had at least 20 members in attendance. The next supper meeting, on March 13, will be under the auspices of the Young Men's Class, with the seniors as guests, and giving any help required of them.

Wilfrid Elson, president of the class, took the chair as toastmaster, and "The King" was duly honored. Leslie Unitt presiding at the piano as accompanist for the evening. Community singing was interspersed throughout the program, as were also selections by the "Harmonica Band" consisting of Jack and Charlie Guthrie, Charlie Sanderson, Piercey Pitt, Howard and John Lunn. Mr. H. McCannon, of Peterborough, also joined in with the local group.

Gordon Might proposed the toast to the Senior Men's Bible Class, and the teacher, F. L. Edworthy, made suitable response. The superintendent of the Sunday School, W. F. Fallis, proposed the toast to St. Andrew's Church, with the pastor, Rev. A. L. Sisco, B.D., responding. Following this and a selection by the harmonica players, the program was turned over to the members of the visiting Brotherhood from Peterborough, the president, Mr. Ralston, taking charge.

Songs by W. Lee, caricature drawings by J. Lewis, and an address, illustrated by lantern slides taken during a trip down the Saguenay River, in Quebec, by H. McKenzie, and some clever ventriloquism by Mr. Lee, were highlights of this part of the evening's entertainment.

The vote of thanks to the visiting friends was moved by ex-Warden A. J. Henderson, and seconded by J. H. McKnight. The men showed their independence by catering for the banquet themselves, asking no help even with the service from the ladies and this rule, it appears, is to be followed throughout the series. "God be with you till we meet again," appropriately closed a successful and entertaining evening, the ultimate object in view being to increase interest and attendance at the regular church services, as well as at the class sessions.

LEADING AMATEUR SCORER OF ST. HYACINTHE CLUB TURNS PRO

Gordon Poirier Signs Up With Canadiens

MONTREAL, Feb. 15 (CP)—Montreal Canadiens resume tonight the long struggle to get out of the National Hockey League cellar and into the Stanley Cup playoffs.

The main point to the advantage of the Habitants is the fact that they have played four games fewer than New York Americans, whom they trail by three points for the sixth and last playoff spot. That's a pretty fair sort of outlook for a club with a record so poor as the Canadiens, who hadn't won a game in their last 10 when they defeated Detroit Sunday.

But more than the statistics will be to the club's advantage tonight in the engagement with the fourth-place Chicago Black Hawks at Montreal. A new youth motif has been injected by the addition of three forwards from amateur ranks.

Gordon Poirier, whose signature the Frenchmen sought for several weeks, put it on the line last night and joined Tony Demers and Smiley Meronek as a convert to professional company. There is a possibility coach Pit Lepine may elect to start them on one line, though Demers has been working with George Mantha and Toe Blake.

The night's other game involves Detroit and the Rangers at New York. By winning the Rangers can pull into sole possession of first place again, but they will have made two more starts than Boston Bruins, with whom they are tied now.

Landis Yields Ground; All Are Satisfied

BELLEAIR, Fla., Feb. 15—(AP)—Again demonstrating a perfect sense of timing, Baseball Commissioner Kensaw Mountain Landis has reached a "compromise" with the embattled big league club owners and told them, in effect, to jump into their plans for another happy, prosperous season.

Only yesterday, with the start of the training camps only a matter of days away, club owners who maintain "farm" systems were wandering around in a quandry. Today they were at least mollified and looking to the future with some hope.

It all came about yesterday when the group of officials who were here for the meeting of the rules committee were invited to confer with the commissioner. The owners pleaded that the judge tell them where they stood in the delicate matter of controlling minor league teams.

Landis, though still determined that all ball players should be protected from a career of bondage, yielded a trifle from his "seven points" of January 15.

He agreed to suspend temporarily two of his "seven points" to which the magnates object most strenuously, having to do with a club losing a minor leaguer completely after three years and requiring that the major league clubs make all working agreements directly. Then the club officials agreed to submit an amendment of one of their most cherished rules to a vote of their members.

The amendment, in the words of Leslie O'Connor, commission secretary, "merely prevents extension of the period of three years in which minor league clubs or major league clubs could option a player." Under the old conditions, he said, clubs got around this merely by controlling the club that held the player. He said that adoption of the amendment would remove "about 99 per cent. of the commissioner's objections to present conditions."

It will take a week or 10 days for the clubs to accept the amendment, and there isn't much doubt that they will do so.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

Next big puck match here is to morrow (Friday) after supper at 8.30 in the Brock. It's the junior "B" group final playoff between Oshawa Bees and the local Colts, and is as important to the local lads as a carrying voice to a politician. It's a three-in-five serial with the Bees having won the first on the mile-wide Oshawa ice surface. The Colts—coached by Archie Weir and managed by Hap Wilgar—feel sure they can sew up the series with a win here Friday on the smaller surface at Brock St. A win will put 'em right back in the hunt, but a loss will see the curtains start to draw as the Colts' chances get dimmer than a London blackout.

* * * * * *

But it should be a rip-snorter of a scrap as the fighting young Petes—who practically hammered their way with their fists into group finals—have met a fistic match in the husky and speedy Bees. Big Fritz Fraser (No. 3) on defence was mowing 'em down like a machine-gun in Oshawa and the locals didn't like it a bit; in fact, they say they'll smear him so hard his great-aunt will get a twinge! Personally, we are a bit skeptical, the large Master Fraser looking like a lad who can take care of himself anywhere and anytime. But it'll be a bruising, speedy and exciting struggle all the way, with the count pretty close, we believe. Fans should flock out for this Friday night fray.

No Ball In Kingston

Kingston columnist says: "Peterborough is peeping around for baseball prospects with a hope that the old Central Ontario League will be revived. Max Swanston, former president of the defunct C.O.B.L., wrote Ald. Art Casterton to get Kingston's ball plans for next summer, while the Examiner sports editor wrote to this department to find out what chances there are for Kingston to come back in the old Central Circuit. The answers to both Peterborough letters are the same. There is not a possible chance at present for Kingston to return to senior ball till the boys in the minor series graduate or some angle appears unexpectedly to finance a few imports."

* * * * * *

He adds that the Petes seem not too anxious to return to a Toronto loop where the locals helped muchly financially. Scribe Walshe feels Kingston will return to senior ball in a couple of years, but might play in the St. Lawrence loop or even tie up with U.S. teams down that way. He doubts if the Locomotive Works in that town will sponsor sports this summer, and mentions the uncertainty of any game in Kingston during the war. Tossing a barb at the C.O.B.L. and O.B.A. officials—especially up this way — the writer thinks out loud that more co-operation with the Ponies two years ago might have kept the Central Loop going. But we doubt it very much. Right now, it looks like maybe Oshawa and the Petes will go into a Toronto setup this year.

Three Torrid Tussles

Industrial Hockey League swings into action again this e'en at 7.30 in the Brock St. arena. First of the triple-header sees Packers and Raybestos tangling, followed by the scrap betwixt Watercrafts and Brintons, with Quakers and Westclox winding it up. That last joust should be the nuts with the top-place Porridge Punchers in grave danger of getting slapped around by the bolstered Clockmen—who have Mike O'Leary back from the O.H.A. wars at Lakefield, and Manager Speed Currie back in goal-minding pads. Three right lively tussles at a low admission fee.

* * * * * *

Tomorrow after sunset the Petes trek to Belleville for their second group playoff with the Fliers, having copped the first here last night by a 6-3 tally. Some 1400 fans saw a fairish struggle, fast enough, with fireworks threatening often, but somewhat spoiled by two delays. For the love of Carmichael, the R.C.A.F.-ers had to send out five pairs of skates between the first and second periods. Shot some line about their new men being used to artificial ice, etc. With a sheet like the Brock had last night, the skates were okay—but possibly the Fliers figured the hot locals with a 4-0 lead might chafe at the delay. Which they did, and were held on pretty even terms the rest of the route. That delay was for half an hour, and the shivering fans didn't know what was the idea for a long time. The teams just started again when Goalie Ray Harding got a one-stitch gash on his cheek from a stick, and it took 15 minutes to make repairs. He was white and shaky the rest of the game, but did fine.

A Bit Below Par, Eh?

So these delays and some spotty hockey at times made the melee a bit below par for the playoff course—but the squads will likely be clicking like grandpaw's store teeth on Quinte ice Friday. Bun Kingdon was brilliant to figure in on five goals, and his buddies on that line, Heal and Tompkins, also gave Goalie Gibson a hop-step-and-jump evening. The rest of the gang did pretty fair, too, but those delays seemed to throw 'em off stride the last half. The R.C.A.F.-ers kept battling to gradually whittle down the local lead, but their new men (Floyd, Lightfoot and Hebert) didn't look any better than the ones they replaced—McNab, McLeod and Deryer. Jim Ellis hurt his shoulder bodychecking in the first period and had to retire. He'll be out for some time, we fear. It was thought at first his collar-bone was fractured, but later learned that 'twas torn shoulder ligaments. Too bad, as Jim has been going swell on defence.

* * * * * *

Guess that's about all we can say on this contest. A nice win for the Buckland-Jackson gang to open the three-in-five finals. Capt. Dr. Moffatt of Air Force kindly attended Ellis and Harding in the dressing-room. We heard that the new redheaded player of the Airmen, Lightfoot, was a pilot officer. Wonder how many recognized Mike Rodden, the gray-haired referee, last eve. Mike cut quite a swath in sports in his day, being former sports editor of a Toronto sheet, ex-N.H.L. referee, retired Big Four grid coach and once a race-track steward. He handled the game pretty good last night, we thought.

Norwood Midges Hold Trenton In 7-7 Battle

HAVELOCK, Feb. 15.—(ENS). — Norwood and Trenton midget teams battled to a 7-7 draw last evening at the Trenton arena, in the first game of a home-and-home series in the Ontario Bantam and Midget Association hockey playdowns. Trenton scored the tieing counter with less than two seconds remaining in the match, to place them on even terms for the second encounter which is scheduled for Wednesday, Feb. 21st in Norwood. Total goals on the round will decide the winner of this peewee series.

Spearhead of Norwood's attacking force was Hamilton, their shifty young defenseman who tallied four of his team's counters. Rusaw, Cole and Jamieson were also particularly effective. For Trenton Lamorre, Allison and Wickens were the standout performers.

Exceptionally fast from start to finish the youngsters provided a thrilling brand of hockey. Trenton got the edge early in the opening stanza, Lamorre tallying after two minutes. A couple more goals by Langman and Allison halfway through, made the count 3-0 before Norwood finally got accustomed to the strange playing surface. Scriver scored the locals' opening goal and Rusaw accepted a pass from Hamilton for their second, just before the end of this session.

The score was deadlocked by Hamilton at the three minute mark in the middle frame, and he also notched the goal that gave them the lead a minute later. Both of these came on solo efforts, as did his third marker scored at the halfway mark. Allison combined with Wickens for Trenton goal to leave the count 5-4 for Norwood at the end of the second. Wickens and Hamilton drew penalties this session.

Going into the final canto Fillion deadlocked the count unassisted, and Wickens put Trenton one up after four minutes of play. Hamilton again retaliated for Norwood and Rusaw, assisted by Cole, reversed the count once more in their favour. For the next eleven minutes the score stood 7-6 in favour of Norwood, then just when a victory for the locals seemed assured, Lamorre burst through for his last second tally. Hubble and Hamilton of Norwood both got the nod for misdemeanors in this session.

Norwood—Goal, Parcells; defense, Jamieson, Hubble; centre, Cole; wings, Rogers, Rusaw; alternates, Hamilton, Pollock, Scriver, Nelson.

Referee—R. Ennis, Norwood.

BUN KINGDON

Leading the way for the Petes in their 6-3 playoff win over Trenton Fliers here last night, Bun Kingdon (above) scored three goals and aided on two more in a fine two-way showing.

Oshawa Juniors To Play The Colts Here

It's do or die for the Peterborough Colts here tomorrow (Friday) night when they clash with Oshawa Bees in the second game of their three-in-five O.H.A. junior "B" group finals. The Bees won the first at home and will have a huge margin if they win here tomorrow. However, the Colts claim they can take the Motor City huskies in the smaller Brock St. rink this time and even up the play-offs. Both squads will be at full strength for this important playoff, and both are big, fast, scrappy teams. There is just the possibility that this will be the last time this year the Colts will be seen in action here, so the tilt deserves a big crowd of fans.

In their last clash on Oshawa ice, the Colts and Bees dished up a torrid, scrappy kind of game, with slashing, bumping and fights threatening all evening. The Bees play a hard type of hockey and the fighting locals will hold their own in this sort of going. It ought to be a highly-exciting puck tussle from start to finish, and plenty close.

BC Smoke Eaters Bear Cats Lead League

WINNIPEG, Feb. 15.— (CP). — Allan Cup winners of the last two years are in first place in their respective leagues to-day as Western Canada's senior hockey teams girded themselves for the stretch run to the play-offs. In three of the four major western senior leagues the greatest margin of a top-place is two points.

When the week started Port Arthur Bear Cats, champions of Canada last year, led by four points in the Thunder Bay Senior League. Two successive draws between the other league members, Geralton Gold Miners and Fort William Forts cut this lead to two points, with Miners in second place.

Smoke Eaters from Trail, B.C., Dominion titleholders in 1937-38, and winners of the world's amateur hockey crown in Europe last winter, have established a big margin over their opponents in the West Kootenay Senior Hockey League. Four To One.

Evidence of Trail's superiority over the rest of the league is demonstrated most clearly by the fact Smoke Eaters have hammered in four goals for every tally made by opposing teams.

Saskatoon Quakers are on top of the Saskatchewan senior heap by a one-point margin over Moose Jaw Millers. Quakers took over first place early in the week when they staged the league's greatest scoring splurge this season by whipping Millers 13-1.

The Quaker win came after Moose Jaw returned from a triumphant visit to Flin Flon where they scored two victories over the cellar-dwelling Bombers. The Moose Jaw six is only one point ahead of Regina Vic-Aces who, in turn, have a four-point edge on Yorkton Terriers.

The Alberta senior loop has developed into a three-team race between Calgary, Lethbridge and Turner Valley. Calgary Bronks head the parade, but Lethbridge Maple Leafs are just a point behind with a four-point advantage over Turner Valley Oilers.

Edmonton's fourth-place Eskimos are more than 10 points off the pace, pressed closely by Olds and Drumheller.

BILL CARSE
Chicago Black Hawks

By Central Press Canadian

A high scorer in two minor leagues was Bill Carse, one of the members of the cast that is instilling new life into Chicago Black Hawks under the able guidance of Paul Thompson this winter. Three seasons ago he played for Vancouver Lions and led the Pacific Coast league sharpshooters in both goals and total points with 29 of the former, 38 of the latter. Next season he shifted to Philadelphia Ramblers in the International-American loop, where he finished seventh in the scoring race, improving on this last season to finish second behind Don Deacon. It was last season also that he saw his first N.H.L. action, a few games with Rangers, who owned him at the time, and for whom he also took part in the play-offs. The Hawks bought him from Rangers along with George Allen, before the present season got under way, and he's been providing fine service at both left wing and centre since. Mid-way through this season, he was joined by his brother, Bob, on the Chicago roster. Like the Colville brothers, the Carse brothers were born in Edmonton. Bill on May 29, 1914, christened William Alexander. Played junior hockey in his native city and turned pro there also, Edmonton having an entry in the Northwestern league in 1934-35, when Bill made the jump. Moved to Vancouver the following winter.

Veteran Wood Wins Consols

WINNIPEG, Feb. 15.— (CP). — Howard Wood, Winnipeg, veteran of four Canadian championship curling rinks, won the British Consols in the Manitoba bonspiel Wednesday by defeating last year's winner, Ross Kennedy of Winnipeg, 9-8 in the final.

The Granite Club veteran will represent Manitoba in the Macdonald's Brier national title event opening here March 4. Wood won the Brier first in 1925 beefore the competition took its present Dominion-wide form. He skipped the Brier winner in 1930 and was a member of Jimmy Congalton's championship rinks of 1927 and 1932.

Curling with Wood are his son, Howard, Roy Enman and another Winnipeg bonspiel veteran, Ernie Pollard, third rock and vice-skip. They defeated the same Kennedy rink that lost to Bert Hall's Kitchener rink in the 1939 Brier at Toronto.

Cocker Spaniel Best Of Show At Westminster

NEW YORK, Feb. 15—(AP).—It ended on a note of utter exhaustion. The Westminster Kennel Club's Purple and Orange colors dropped from the balconies of Madison Square Garden. The dog-fo salesmen had lost their fixed grin and courtly manners. The women sitting with their toy dogs at one end of the building had worn themselves out with three days of constant chatting.

Everybody, including the spectators, was dog-tired—except a bundle of haughty cockiness—a fine bodied, perfectly coated black cocker spaniel, Ch. My Own Brucie, the dog of the minute, winner of best in show at Westminster and best American-bred dogs in the show.

For Ch. Brucie, for whom 7,000 persons almost wore out their hands applauding, trying to influence Dr. Samuel Milbank into making the decision they hoped he would make —and did—had turned back a predicted foreign invasion of imported dogs that was threatening the supremacy of American pooches.

The smoothly-moving Brucie had the situation well in hand, and seemed to know it. His handler and owner, Herman E. Mellenti of Poughkeepsie, N.Y., was a lot more nervous than Brucie.

Brucie, the day before, had won best in his group—the sporting dogs, and in the final judging he faced five other champions of their groups.

But the winner of the best in show at Morris and Essex last May, and a veteran campaigner of more than two years' experience, could not be denied. Brucie, who almost won last year, was best—the crowd knew it, Judge Milbank knew it—and there isn't a doubt that Brucie knew it, too.

Swing is waning in London.

Nailing A Whispered Lie

It is being whispered around, in the hope of hurting the chances of the National Government candidate in this riding, that the party led by Dr. R. J. Manion is in favor of conscription.

That is a plain, unadulterated lie.

Dr. Manion has repeatedly stated that he is opposed to conscription, and that its use in the last war was a mistake. He stands for the full measure of voluntary Canadian participation in the war—that and no more. He believes that every Canadian who wants to enlist in the struggle against Hitlerism should have a chance to do so without having to hitch-hike all over the country trying to find a place where enlistment is going on. He feels that this country is engaged in a life-and-death conflict and that with the proper leadership there will be no need of conscription to throw the whole weight of united Canadian effort into the battle against dictatorship.

The country's answer to the Red Cross appeal, a private enterprise, showed how ready Canadians are to serve when decisive and energetic leadership calls the tune.

PETES GRAB FIRST OF GROUP PLAYOFFS OVER TRENTON FLIERS

Locals Win 6-3 Fixture Here In First Of Finals With Delays Holding Tilt Up

The Petes took the first game of their O.H.A. intermediate "A" group finals over Trenton Fliers here by a 6-3 score last night before 1,400 fans. A 4-0 scoring splurge in the first game gave the locals the margin in a fair puck tussle.

It was a long-drawn out tilt with two delays keeping the crowd more than half an hour longer than usual. Between the first and second periods, five of the Fliers sent their skates out to be sharpened and this caused a half-hour delay. The game had hardly started then when Goalie Harding of the Petes was cut on the face with a stick and it took 15 minutes before he was ready to resume. Jim Ellis suffered torn ligaments of the shoulder in the first period and will be out of action for some time.

As a game, it fell a little below expectations. Play was fast most of the route, but some indifferent hockey for this class was shown. The Petes piled up a big early lead but fell down somewhat the last frames, possibly the long delays throwing them off. Fights threatened a couple of times, but it was fairly clean for these old rivals. The score 4-0 for the homesters in the initial inning and 6-2 for them going into the third. They always looked a little better than the R.C.A.F. crew.

Kingdon Is Star

Bun Kingdon led the locals to the victory, scoring three of the six goals and aiding on two more. He was outstanding for the Petes, with the first line pressing most of the time they were on the ice. The rest also played good hockey, though a bit off in passing attacks the last half of the game. The defence and goalie looked good. Lemieux, Lightfoot and Legris worked hard for the Fliers, and Gibson had little chance on the goals that beat him.

The teams and crowd observed a minute's silence at the start in tribute to the late Governor-General of Canada. Early in the first period, an Ellis-Tompkins rush made Gibson jump and the Petes pressed most of this frame. The Airmen played defensive hockey, looking for the breaks, but fast passing plays swept the Buckland boys in regularly. Coughlin made a fine thrust and then the puck came off the backboards to carom in off Higgins' body into the Petes' net, but was not counted. The first goal was scored by Kingdon on Heal's passout in close, and two minutes later the same pair clicked again, Heal going around the net and Kingdon backhanding the pass home. Right away, Kingdon swept around defence alone to make it 3-0, and shortly after Starr blazed in a hot angle drive on Coughlin's pass at defence. Ellis went off hurt, and then Lemieux got a penalty for tripping, but no damage was done the rest of the way.

Even In Second

After a long delay, the second opened with a Heal-Tompkins rush nearly notching one. Floyd came close then and Harding was hurt, the game again being held up. The locals' first line buzzed in and should have had a couple on their work but the Airmen came back and tallied two. Cameron got one on an angle shot at defence as one of the Petes' defencemen fell down going backward. F. Jopling pulled a swell rush and a Starr-Coughlin try was close, but Lemieux got another for the visitors on Floyd's fine pass at defence. It was fast and even for a time, and then Tompkins took a pass from Kingdon at close range to fool the goalie. J. Jopling and Cameron nearly tangled as play got rougher. Legris bored in hard and, just before the gong, Heal tallied a smart counter in close, aided by Kingdon and Tompkins.

Lightfoot and Gardner were gated for roughing it to start the third, but were back with no scoring done. Irvine then got the air for boarding and the Petes made Gibson jump before his return. Lightfoot and Coughlin tangled briefly and got the finger and play was fast and even. A Tompkins-Kingdon drive almost rang the bell and then Burton and Tompkins pulled a neat rush in close. Irvine got the final goal halfway through on Legris' pass inside defence. The Fliers ganged up for a time near the finish but Harding kept kicking them out and the Petes were threatening to score on semi-breakaways right to the last. Gibson thefted Heal at pointblank range in the dying minutes of the contest.

The teams:

Fliers: Goal, Gibson; defence, Higgins and Cameron; centre, Lemieux; wings, Lightfoot and Floyd; alternates, Legris, Baldwin, Gathercol, Irvine, Thompson and Hebert.

North Dummer Beaten By Oaks

WARSAW, Feb. 15.—(ENS)—An epic battle raged at the local rink on Tuesday when the rugged Oaks nosed out North Dummer's hitherto unbeaten sextette in 10 minutes overtime by a 3-2 count.

The Stoney Lakers had more than their share of the play during the regular three periods but failure to cash in on their chances and the good defensive work of Goalie Parcels and Defenceman A. Darling enabled the oldsters to force the issue into overtime.

In the fast and furious extra session the Oaks pressed hard, netted a rather easy counter in two minutes and staved off the northern rush in the dying moments by a fine display of backchecking. The teams:

Oaks: Goal, B. Payne; defence, Crowe, L. Whetung; centre, A. Whetung; wings, R. Whetung, Ramsay; subs, Coppaway, Ivey, Edgar, Puffer.

North Dummer: Goal, Drain; defence, Drain, A. Darling; centre, R. Darling; wings, Munro, Bell; subs, C. Payne, Eliot, Hamblin, Davis.

Referee—M. Lonsberry.

The only counter of the last period was scored by Gehan of the Bruins on a pass from Trudeau. Players began to rough it up in this period, with Donahue and Lajoie of the Rangers going to the box. Lineups:

"First Days," a two-reel short, showing the first days of the war in London. This short was made in England with the co-operation of the government and shows how London looked during the first few days of the war. It shows many shots of London streets, of the balloon barrage, of air raid precaution shelters and many shots of individual Londoners and their comments on the war. The reel is not remarkable for its action but it very definitely has interest for you. "First Days" is now showing at the Regent. Don't miss it. (Advt.)

Albions Paste Elgins 8 to 2

HAVELOCK, Feb. 15—(ENS). — Maintaining their supremacy of the East Peterborough Rural Hockey League, the as yet undefeated Havelock Albions chalked up another victory last night at Norwood Arena, when they handed the Elgin crew a 8-2 trimming. It was a fairly fast and rugged session, with the locals holding a definite edge on their rivals.

The Albion line pivoted by K. Pollock with Brunton and Hagerman as wings, were the big guns of the winners' offensive, obtaining all eight goals. Brunton notched four markers, while Hagerman accounted for three and Pollock one.

At the 16-minute mark, Hagerman combined with Brunton for the Albion's opening counter, only to have Scott nullify it a minute later. Havelock took the lead again immediately after, Brunton scoring from Pollock. The lone penalty of this session went to Hagerman for slashing.

Two quick counters soon after the start of the middle frame made the count 4-1 for the locals. Brunton tallied the first and Pollock got the other with both Brunton and Hagerman assisting on the play. A couple of successive penalties to Hoffman for minor offences, gave Elgin the odd-man advantage, and while he was serving the last Lumsden streaked in alone on Peters for their second and final goal of the night. Sheppard of the losers went to the cooler for tripping.

The final canto had barely got under way before Hoffman ran into difficulties again, this time drawing a major when he chose to dispute Referee Rothwell's decision. While he was off, however, the Albion's continued to attack and Hagerman combined with his linemates to notch their fifth goal. Then Brunton got two and Hagerman the eighth. Near the end, Boyle failed on a penalty shot, which he was awarded when he was pulled going in on the Havelock cage. The teams:

Elgin — Goal, Lobb; defence, Sheppard, Scott; centre, Metcalfe; wings, Murphy, Lumsden; alternates, G. Richardson, J. Richardson, J. Preston, E. Preston, Boyle.

Havelock. — Goal, Hill; defence, Lade, Hoffman; centre, Pollock; wings, Brunton, Hagerman; alternates, E. Ellis, F. Ellis, McMullen, Hamilton.

Referee—G. Rothwell, Norwood.

Remember When—

Oldest continuously-run race in North America, the King's Plate, run annually at Woldbine Park in Toronto, had its value increased to $3,000 36 years ago today by the Ontario Jockey Club. The Plate was first run in 1860, when Queen Victoria donated the plate to encourage Canadian racing. Present stake in the race is $10,000.

Westwood Beats Trent River 6-4 In Overtime

HAVELOCK, Feb. 15.—(ENS)—In a lively last half of an interesting E.P.R.L. doubleheader at the Norwood arena last night, Westwood copped a 6-4 decision from Trent River. Starting out clean, the game grew rougher by degrees as the play progressed, until a general flare-up resulted in the last few minutes of the final stanza. Jim Brown and Shearer, the chief antagonists were given majors for their part in the battle. These two started swinging at each other first, and before Referee Webb managed to separate them, several more had decided to enter the fray.

The squads were evenly matched for last night's tussle, both being short some of their star performers. The count in fact was deadlocked at the three-quarter mark in the final canto, and everything pointed to an overtime session.

Trent River broke in front after two minutes of the initial gong. Jim Brown opening the scoring. Ross however tied it up for Westwood shortly after, and then Mortlock accepted a pass from Sargent to give them the lead. Sargent combined with Mortlock to make the count 3-1 for Westwood before the end of this session. Parcells of Trent River got a penalty for slashing.

J. Chaplin on a solo effort notched Westwood's fourth goal before Trent finally tallied, McLaughlin combining with Parcells for this one. Trent River scored this one while Westwood were shorthanded with W. Graham on the bench.

Down a pair of goals entering the last session, Trent River forced the play continually. Jim Brown combined with brother George to make the count 4-3 and later Parcells notched the tieing counter, while they were themselves at disadvantage with Van Volkenburg serving a penalty. At this point Brown piled into Shearer after the latter had handed him a stiff bodycheck, and the two went off for the rest of the game. With each side playing four-handed hockey, the breaks finally went Westwood way, Mortlock making a neat tally to again give them the lead. Ross definitely decided the issue with another goal just in the last moment of play. Morris assisted on each of these counters.

The teams:

Trent River: Goal, Hill; defence, A. Brown, McLaughlin; centre, Geo. Brown; wings, Jim Brown, Parcells; alternates, E. Stevenson, C. Stevenson, Van Volkenburg, C. Chaplin, Jack Brown.

Westwood: Goal, Richardson; defense, G. Chaplin, W. Graham; centre, Mortlock; wings, Shearer, Sargent; alternates, B. Graham, Ross, Morris, Coughlin.

Referee—W. Webb, Norwood.

Rork Ferguson

of the confidence that had been again placed in him. Mr. Ferguson said there had been many improvements in the condition of the people which every person could see for himself.

"I well remember, when on this platform I received your nomination before, that the country was in a bad condition," Mr. Ferguson said. "Shortly after that I was at a sale in Huntington Township, and good Holstein cows sold at $12 and $15. It was almost impossible to get a bid for live stock. When the King Government came into power the first thing we did was to enter into a trade agreement with the United States, and from that time onward there was a steady advance in prices. I remember a sale in our own section before that when a young springer cow brought only $35. Not much more than a month after the trade treaty with the United States went into effect I was at another sale when the lowest cow sold for $56. I remember those prices very well because they showed to me the difference that resulted from opening up a new market in the neighboring country.

Driving around the riding five years ago you couldn't help but notice the lack of repairs in farm buildings because the farmers hadn't enough money to spend on their property. Buildings were falling down for want of repairs. Laboring men on the farms and in the shanties were working for $10 and $15 a month. Since the King Government came into office that condition has also greatly improved. I used to see piles of logs and other wood that had been cut and piled at the railway sidings, and they were standing there for want of a market. Go through the same country to-day and you see this same stuff moving, because there is a market for it, although sometimes the prices are not always the best.

When I used to go to Norwood and Havelock, Marmora and Madoc and Bancroft in those days before the trade began to improve, I used to see large groups of young men standing around because they could not get work. I remember one time in Norwood seeing about thirty-five men standing around the main corner waiting for work and asking for it. Go in these same towns to-day, and you see very few out of work. That is one of the important changes that have taken place in the last five years, and I think you will all agree that the Government has done something worthwhile for the working man and also for the farmer."

War Preparations.

Mr. Ferguson said the King Government was prosecuting Canada's part in the war in an efficient and also an economical manner.

"Every fair-minded citizen will remember that when Great Britain declared war at the beginning of last September, Mackenzie King immediately called an emergency session of Parliament. We met on Thursday, September 7, and two days later Parliament authorized the Government to declare war on behalf of the people of Canada, and that declaration was made on September 10."

Mr. Ferguson said the people were all aware of the arrival of three contingents of the Canadian forces in Great Britain as a result of the prompt mobilization. Soldiers were rigidly examined by army doctors, and only A-1 men were enlisted because the Government wanted conditions to be different from the last war when in the rush of recruiting man men were passed by the doctors who were later unable to stand the hardships of army service.

"We've got to remember, too, that in 1914, when you fitted a man with a uniform and gave him a rifle, he was equipped; but to-day the army has been mechanized, and we have machine gun battalions, tank corps, and so on. It means that you can't equip men as fast to-day as in 1914 because they need the machines that are being used in the war of to-day. Building up an air force was another problem. We already have forty airdromes erected in Canada, thanks largely to the work that was done in creating the Trans-Canada Airways, but we need forty more for the great air program that is going to cost $600,000,000 by 1943, and Canada's share of that cost will be $350,000,000.

We've got to realize that Canada is spending $1,000,000 a day on the war effort of this country. That is a tremendous amount of money. I feel the Government has been doing a full share, and I think the people know that we are doing a good job. Soldiers joined up at $1.10 a day in the last war. They are now receiving $1.30 a day, and their wives and mothers are receiving a substantial allowance. In 1914 any assistance that was received by dependents was through the help of charitable institutions. I've had a number of mothers and wives inform me at the start of this war that they didn't receive their allowance, but it was found that the board in Ottawa was getting as many as 550 a day to take care of before this detail was smoothed out, and then there were some soldiers who didn't mention dependents when they enlisted, and that was another cause of delay. But I believe that they have all received their allowances now."

Mr. Ferguson briefly outlined the task the Government had to supervise, including the making of 30,000 blankets a week, 7,000 uniforms, 19,000 suits of underwear, 3,500 greatcoats, 13,000 pairs of boots, and so on. The Government appointed a War Supplies Board to handle such contracts, and picked the best men they could get with Wallace R. Campbell, president of the Ford Company, as chairman. These men are giving their time and their ability without salary. You all remember that when war broke out last fall it seemed we were going to have a shortage of sugar. The Board stepped in and took action to see that the people got supplies at a reasonable price, and kept down profiteering. That is just another of the things the King Government has done for the people."

Mr. Ferguson briefly mentioned the increase in the Canadian Navy, now including six cruisers, with mine sweepers and training ships. He concluded with a reference to Mr. King, his experience in Government since he was elected Leader of the Liberal Party in 1919. "The aim of his life has been to keep Canada a united people, and in that work he has been ably assisted by the Hon. Mr. Lapointe. I feel that the people of Canada in this election are not going to put aside the King Government for one that is untried. I have been your representative for the last five years. I have tried to be fair and just to all the people of this riding regardless of party or creed, and if I am elected on March 26, I will do my best to represent Hastings-Peterborough in the same fair and just manner to everybody."

Tribute to Ferguson.

J. J. Duffus said he was glad to attend the convention because he could tell the people of the riding that Rork Ferguson held his own with any of the members of the House in so far as good work was concerned. "He is the kind of man who takes his work seriously. You see him in his office as early as 8.30 in the mornings. He is the right type of member to take care of the requirements and wishes of the people, and he has well deserved the nomination you have given him. I have no doubt of his success."

Mr. Duffus said that one of the most significant statements of late was that made by the Hon. Dr. Sutherland, former Minister of National Defence in the Bennett Government. "Dr. Sutherland said, 'I think the Government has been doing everything that could possibly be done.' As a comment by an exminister of the Bennett Cabinet that statement should have some weight."

Mr. Duffus expressed his agreement with the decision of Premier King in calling an election, and said that after all the preparatory work that had already been accomplished with war boards established he did not think the people would elect a new administration to start all over again, disturbing the efficient organization that is already in effective and efficient operation."

Mr. Duffus reviewed at length the Government's preparations for war, and concluded with a summary of its accomplishments in expanding Canada's foreign trade, covering in the main the subjects with which he dealt at length at the Peterborough convention which renominated him last Saturday.

Ferguson a Worker.

Mr. Carley, who also spoke at the Peterborough convention, congratulated the Liberals of Hastings-Peterborough on retaining Rork Ferguson as their candidate.

"I have known Mr. Ferguson for quite a number of years, and I have found in him one quality that shines out above all others, and that is his honesty. He makes no pretensions to greatness, but devotes himself to the everyday needs of his constituents. A friend of mine in Ottawa described Mr. Ferguson as "a worker, not a yapper"; and several others told me that in committee and caucus Mr. Ferguson's advice was valuable and was a help to the ministers because he was so well acquainted with the needs of our farming community. You can have different types of members. One of them is the man whose only aim is to serve the best interests of his constituents, the people who elected him; another is keen to speak on every occasion, intent only on glorifying himself. Rork Ferguson is not looking for personal advancement. You have already seen how well he can represent you, and you will find him serving you equally well and faithfully if you send him bac kto Parliament."

Mr. Carley extolled the leadership of men like Mr. King, Mr. Lapointe, Col. Ralston, Mr. Howe, Mr. Crerar and other members of the Government, with special reference to the courage of Mr. Lapointe in meeting the challenge of the Duplessis Government in the Province of Quebec, and the threat to united effort for the winning of the war.

Bernard Collins added his recommendation of Mr. Ferguson to the electors, remarking that Mr. Ferguson was not only well known in his own riding, but also favorably known in adjoining ridings. "I didn't know Mr. Ferguson five years ago, when you first nominated him, but I inquired about him then and since, and I found that no one had anything but the very best things to say of Rork Ferguson. And if you want to know a man you can soon find out by inquiring among his neighbors.

"I did what I could to assist in the election of Mr. Ferguson in 1935, and I feel that he has represented this riding in a manner in which it was never before represented from the time of Confederation down to the time he took office. I sincerely hope that on March 26 the people of Hastings-Peterborough will send him back to Parliament for another five years, to assist the Government of Mackenzie King in showing a united front to the enemy that is challenging us across the seas.

"I think we all realize by this time that Christianity and civilization are being threatened at their very roots, and that every Canadian man and woman must stand together through this crisis until a better day dawns."

Mr. Collins said he endorsed everything that had been said about Mr. Ferguson, and added, "Your interests are safe in the hands of a man who has the blood of the Wallaces and Bruces in his veins."

The convention concluded with the National Anthem, and cheers for King George, Mr. Ferguson, and Mackenzie King.

Not since the King, whom Lord Tweedsmuir represented in Canada, and the Queen visited the national capital have such crowds been seen on the streets.

Then it was an occasion of joy under the bright skies of May, yesterday it was an occasion of sorrow and the weather was cloudy. The raw chill in the air, however, failed to keep indoors the men and women who knew Lord Tweedsmuir as a fellow-townsman as well as they knew him in his august rank.

Japs Believed

Through the proclamation and Japanese Premier Mitsumasa Yonai's statements to the Diet, it appeared to foreign observers that Japan would be more willing to deal with Chang if a face-saving formula could be found.

One expert, who has followed the fighting since the first shots in July, 1937, declared that "from a strictly military point of view the Japanese have almost shot their bolt and have stopped winning the war."

The Chinese have not started to win but, in his opinion, their chances of ultimate victory are improving.

From the stanpoint of power, the Japanese are estimated to have lost about 1,000,000 men killed, wounded and invalided so far and still to have another 1,000,000 spread out on active duty protecting occupied territory south of China's great wall.

Wherever the Japanese weaken garrisons, the Chinese attack. The Japanese, therefore, cannot take large forces from any important area for concentration against new objective. In addition, they lack the reservoir of manpower at home to use for a drive inland.

Agonizing Eczema (Salt Rheum)

No rest, day or night, for those afflicted with that awful skin disease, eczema, or salt rheum as it is commonly called.

The intense burning, itching and smarting, especially at night, or when the affected part is exposed to strong heat, or hot water, are almost unbearable, and relief is gladly welcomed.

To get rid of eczema it is necessary to have the blood cleansed by the use of a thoroughly reliable blood medicine such as Burdock Blood Bitters which during the past 60 years has met with great success in relieving such diseases by its blood cleansing and purifying properties.

Oldest Resident Of Campbellford Dies In Aged 85

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 15 (ENS)—This town's oldest resident and a daughter of one of the pioneer families which came out to settle Canada eighty-five years ago, died at the home of her daughter here on Tuesday.

Mary Sommers left County Wexford in Ireland with her perents, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Sommers, at the age of twelve. On their arrival in Quebec following a seven weeks' crossing of the Atlantic, the family decided to move farther inland, and made their first home on Baker's Island, which is located on the Bay of Quinte between Belleville and Trenton.

She was married in Trenton at the age of eighteen to Alexander Johnston, and the couple began life on a farm on the 8th Concession of Rawdon, where they tilled the soil and raised seventeen children—ten boys and seven girls. With her large family Mrs. Johnston found time for few outside interests. She was widely known throughout Rawdon Township for her neighborliness and willingness to render any assistance she could to others.

Thirty-eight years ago she was predeceased by her husband and though sorely grieved by his death she remained on the family homestead with several of her children for the succeeding thirteen years when she was finally persuaded to come to Campbellford where she has resided with her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Brenan for the past twenty-five years. A devout Catholic Mrs. Johnston had until a year ago been active spending most of her time in sewing and knitting and taking a keen interest always in the affairs of the day.

Surviving her are seven daughters Mrs. Thomas Brenan, Campbellford, Mrs. William Brenan, Thorold, Mrs. Charles Pounder, St. Catharines, Mrs. George Stapley, Thomasburg, Mrs. Peter Ryan, Belleville, Mrs. William Forestell, Codrington, and Mrs. James McAvoy, Campbellford; also five sons, William of Belleville, Alexander of Wellman's Corners, Edward of Crookston, David of Campbellford, and George of Cushing, Oklahoma. One brother, William Sommers of Ottawa, also survives.

The funeral left the residence of Mrs. Thomas Brenan, Mill Street, for St. Mary's Church, where Requiem High Mass was celebrated by Rev. J. V. McAuley at 9.30 this morning. Interment was at St. Mary's Cemetery.

Tributes Paid Perry Alexander

A sketch of Perry Alexander's experience in hotel management was featured in a recent special "Pine Forest Inn" edition of the Dorchester Eagle-Record, South Carolina.

Quotations from this personal tribute to the proprietor of Oak Orchard Lodge in the Kawarthas are bound to be of interest to Mr. Alexander's friends in this city and district.

"The veteran hotelier first entered the business as lesee and manager of the Hotel Islanda, a Canadian resort house. From then on his talent as a public-pleaser grew steadily. Following his first hotel connection he worked in New York, Cleveland and Buffalo.

Since 1929 he has been identified in the operation of many hotels including the Roycroft Inn at East Aurora, New York, founded by the late Elbert Hubbard.

Down on the east coast of Florida Mr. Alexendar's hostelry associations have taken him to Delray Beach, Lake Worth, Port Pierce, Rockledge and Cocoa. By many annual visitors to Florida he is remembered as operator of Miami's Dolphin Hotel.

For the past 27 years Mr. Alexander has owned and operated Oak Orchard Lodge, near Peterborough, Ontario, during the summer months. It is a well-known fishing camp."

Among the felicitations to the Pine Forest Inn since its ceremonial opening on January 20, was a letter from James A. Farley, Postmaster General in the United States, and chairman of the National Democratic committee, in which he wrote: I wish it were possible for me to take part in this delightful ceremony, particularly in view of the fact that the Inn has been placed unde rthe management of my friend, Perry Alexander. Numerous obligations to which I am already committed will, however, prevent my attendance."

The sketch of Mr. Alexander concludes with the comment: "Mr. Alexander is married. He has one daughter, a noted rider of show horses and winner of many cups."

Obituary

STEWART LANG FIFE

The death took place at his home 9628 88th Avenue, Edmonton, Alta., on February 6 of a former well-known resident of this district, Stewart Lang Fife, son of the late James H. Fife and Sara Lang of Otonabee. Mr. Fife was born in Peterborough and went to Edmonton in 1897, living there for 43 years.

He is survived by his wife, three brothers: Richard C., Alberta; Charles of Peterborough, and George W. of Otonabee, and two sisters, Elizabeth and Phoebe, both of Peterborough. The funeral in Edmonton was very largely attended.

MRS. SYDNEY N. SMITH.

The death of Mrs. Sydney N. Smith occurred at noon Wednesday at her home, 612 Armour Road, after a short illness.

Mrs. Smith was born at Atherly, Ontario, Agnes Lucille O'Connell, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius O'Connell and his wife, Elizabeth Bolton. She had lived in Peterboro twelve years, having come here from Atherly. She is survived by her husband and two children, Barbara and Shirley; three brothers, Daniel of Havelock, Vincent and John of Orillia; and three sisters, Mrs. D. F. Parish and Mrs. R. M. Kelly of New Toronto; and Mrs. Roy Kearns of Orillia and also by her mother and stepfather at Orillia.

The funeral will take place Friday at 2 p.m. from Belleghem and Sons' funeral home to the Little Lake cemetery. Rev. W. McArthur of Bethany Tabernacle, will conduct the service.

FRANK FLOOD

The death of Frank Flood, a resident of this city for many years, occurred on Saturday in Detroit at the home of his sister, Mrs. M. J. Duggan, after a short illness.

Mr. Flood had been a resident of Peterborough since early childhood, and was a mess-sergeant in the U.S. army during the Great War. He is survived by four brothers, Michael and Hugh of Peterborough, William of Detroit, and Joseph of Port Arthur; also four sisters, Mrs. Catherine Gilman and Mrs. Floyd Noble of Peterborough, Mrs. M. J. Wesner and Mrs. M. J. Duggan of Detroit.

A full military funeral was accorded Mr. Flood and the service was conducted from the Church of St. Rose to Mt. Olivet cemetery.

MRS. ELIZABETH HARKNESS.

MILLBROOK, Feb. 15—(ENS)—Bereavement entered the home of a prominent family of Cavan Township for the second time in recent weeks on Wednesday, taking away the mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Harkness, just three weeks after the death of her husband, the late Teasdale Whitfield Harkness.

Mrs. Harkness, who was in her eightieth year, was the daughter of pioneer and highly-respected citizens, the late Mr. and Mrs. James Sisson, whose family homestead, cleared from the virgin forest, was on the Tenth Line of Cavan. She was the last of a family of ten children, eight sons and two daughters.

Greatly weakened by the death of her husband, Mrs. Harkness, who had not been in good health for some time, apparently loosened her frail hold upon life, and followed his decease by her own in less than one month's time: they had been married for fifty-five years. A lifelong Anglican, the connection of the Sisson family with historic St. John's Church, Ida, has extended over a long period of years.

The immediate surviving relatives include two sons, Thomas and Frank at home, and three daughters, Mrs. Harry Dawson (Lola), Mrs. Merton Seney (Iva), both of Cavan, and Mrs. W. Werry (Belle), of Blackstock; there are eleven grandchildren, and a number of nieces and nephews.

The funeral took place on Saturday at 2.30 p.m., a private service at the homestead, Ida, preceding the public and largely attended service at St. John's Church, the Venerable Archdeacon William Simpson officiating.

The pall-bearers were six nephews Hamlin, Charlie and Sandy Braithwaite, Joseph Jackson, Bruce and Clifford Sisson. Floral tributes were many and beautiful, and interment was in the family burial plot in St. John's Cemetery.

Cecil Richardson Is Honored By Postal Clerks

Another milestone in the history of Peterborough Post Office was passed Wednesday evening when members of the Postal Clerks' Association, accompanied by the Postmaster and his assistant, paid a surprise visit to the home of Cecil J. Richardson, senior postal clerk, to congratulate him on having completed a quarter century of service in the local office.

The president of the association, J. P. Legros, greeted the surprised veteran on his return from work just after eight o'clock and then called on Postmaster Charles Lacheur to present a beautiful floor lamp and plaque as momentos of the occasion.

Mr. Lacheur spoke briefly of his record of service and the high esteem in which Mr. Richardson is held by all members of the staff and voiced the sincere good wishes of the staff for many more years of service. His next presentation will be of gold, marking 50 years service, Mr. Lacheur hoped.

A bouquet was presented to Mrs. Richardson by the president and a few words of appreciation from Mrs. Richardson closed the proceedings.

Request Made By Firemen Is Turned Down

The application of the members of the Fire Department for an increase in salaries was not endorsed by the Fire, Water and Light committee of the council last night.

A resolution by Alderman Dutton, seconded by Mayor Hamilton, recommended that a letter be sent to the Department saying that their petition had been carefully considered, but "that the committee does not think this is an opportune time to accede to it."

Alderman McIntyre presided. Appreciation of the effective work done by the Department was warmly expressed, and there were some suggestions of increases, especially in some individual instances, but that the committee decided against any action of increase or tribute that might disturb the efficiency and harmony in Chief Gimblett's forces.

Legion, Scouts To Join Service

The past, the present, and the future services of Canada will pay tribute to the memory of Lord Tweedsmuir on Sunday afternoon at the Armouries. The Canadian Legion will pay its tribute to the King's representative, the Prince of Wales Rangers to the Commander-in-Chief of the Canadian forces, and the scouts of the city to the Chief Scout of Canada.

An invitation to the Legion and the Boy Scouts to take part in the regimental drum head service Sunday afternoon, has been extended by Lt.-Col. R. T. E. Hicks-Lyne, M. C., commanding officer of the Prince of Wales Rangers. It is believed close to 800 ex-soldiers, soldiers, and scouts will take part, and special arrangements may have to be made to seat the general public, who are cordially invited to attend, Col. Hicks-Lyne said.

The scouts will meet at their headquarters on George street at 2.30 and will march to the Armouries for the services at 3 p.m. Colors will be carried. All scout units in the city are expected to be in attendance.

Men of the Canadian Legion, and all other returned soldiers, are asked to fall in at the Legion Hall at 2.15 o'clock Sunday afternoon, ready to move off at 2.30, President George Gimblett said today. He hoped for a full turn-out of veterans, regardless of whether they were members of the Legion branch here. All veterans will wear berets, medals and armbands.

CURLING

It was bonspiel day all around the district. Up in Orillia our club was represented by one rink, but their scores were not big enough to qualify for any of the prizes.

In Lindsay we had three rinks entered, with Billy Widdess just about capturing the cup. Bill won his three games alright but his aggregate score was just two points short and so he had to be content with second money. He was supported by W. Harvey, A. Gibbs and P. De Wolfe, and for their efforts they each received a nice big blanket.

At home we had a little bonspiel all our own—8 rinks coming out in the evening. The winning rinks were skipped by F. Batten, D. Grant, R. Payne and J. T. Braund.

On Saturday there will be five mixed rinks from the Toronto Granite club here for a friendly visit. Just what time the games will be played we don't know. Most likey all the details will be worked out to-day and we will have full information for to-morrow's paper.

Bus Driver Corners Large Jack Rabbit; Kills It With His Screw Driver

Ivan Fletcher, fleet-footed bus driver from Keene, modestly admitted today that the story which is circulating to the effect that he outran and killed a ten-pound jack rabbit single-handed is true. Moreover, he has five reliable witnesses to vouch for him.

Official figures indicate that a healthy jack rabbit can clip off at least thirty miles an hour, so Ivan must have been moving to overtake the bunny, or perhaps the poor rabbit had rheumatism.

As the story goes, Ivan spotted the rabbit making a bed beneath a spruce tree on the Sixth Line, about a mile south of No. 7 Highway. He stopped the bus, and picked up a large screw driver then began to stalk the rabbit. The animal took fright when Ivan was about ten feet away and it sped down the road toward the bus where five school children were standing. Ivan was close behind and gaining at every step. The rabbit saw the bus and immediately attempted to climb the steep snow bank at the edge of the road thrown up by the road plow. It fell back and as it started up the second time Ivan let go with the screwdriver which sped true, clipping the luckless rabbit between the ears. It fell squirming to the road and Ivan administered the coup de grace.

Of course the snow bank was a factor in the sudden death of the jack rabbit, but the fact remains Ivan the Great caught and killed the rabbit single-handed.

C.C.F. Decides To Not Enter West Peterboro

The Canadian Co-operative Federation will not enter a candidate in Peterborough West in the Dominion election.

This was decided Wednesday night at a largely attended constituency council meeting with representatives present from all parts of the riding, including the northern districts.

While feeling among C.C.F. members, particularly in Peterborough, had been divided on the question of entering the contest, the constituency council at Wednesday night's meeting was practically unanimous against placing a candidate in the field. Only one vote was registered in favor of contesting the riding.

"We believe," says the statement issued after the meeting, "that the fundamental economic problems are the same this election as in the last Federal election, but due to conditions beyond our control it was felt that it would be unwise for the C.C.F. to contest West Peterborough."

Car Hits Rail Of Bridge; Two Men Escape

Two men had a very narrow escape from serious injury or possible death at Lakefield early this morning when the car in which they were riding skidded into the guard rail of the bridge over the river and came close to being hurled into the water.

The car was driven by Gordon Kidd and was moving north. Just after crossing the bridge over the canal another automobile came along and in passing this machine Kidd's car skidded and crashed into the guard rail of the other bridge.

Kidd and Beavis who accompanied him were shaken up and bruised by the impact but not badly hurt.

See 12 Millions In Death Duties

TORONTO, Feb. 15 — (CP). — Normal succession duty revenue, collected from estates of deceased Ontario citizens, may be estimated at $12,000,000 a year, Premier Mitchell Hepburn said today in his budget address to the Ontario Legislature.

"Any amounts collected in excess of $12,000,000 will not be taken into account as ordinary revenue, but will be considered as capital revenue and applied either in reduction of capital expenditures or for reduction of the debt of the province," he said.

There are still more than 3,000 old estates to be investigated by the Treasury department, the Premier said. Many larger estates had already made settlement for arrears claimed. More than $25,000,000 had been collected from estates closed by previous treasurers. There would be no relaxing in this drive for collection of provincial duties.

Four Men Committed On Theft Charges

LINDSAY, Feb. 15 (ENS)—Four Toronto men, Ernest Carr, Charles Martell, Isadore Wolfe Wexter and Jack Skuta, charged with breaking, entering and theft at Fenelon Falls on January 16, were committed for trial when they appeared before Magistrate E. A. Gee. They will be tried on February 26.

Stanley Flett told the hearing that his garage had been broken into and a car and merchandise taken. Later, he said, he identified his car in Toronto and now had it in his possession.

Detective Scott of the Toronto Police Department, who, with two other officers, arrested the four men, said the officers had been watching a garage at the rear of 63 Major St., Toronto, and they saw three men drive up in a car. The men were identified as Wolfe, Martell and Carr. They were arrested. Skuta appeared at the garage and he, too, was arrested.

Northern Mining Power Up 16 p.c.

TORONTO, Feb. 15—(CP). — Development of the northern mining industry was responsible for an increase of 16 per cent. in the primary load of the Northern Ontario properties held and operated by the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, Premier Hepburn reported today in his budget speech.

He said some 50 mining and large industrial properties, together with 15 townsites and permanent communities, are served by the commission.

During the fiscal year to end March 31, more than 13,000 customers were added to existing districts, necessitating construction of 2,300 miles of primary lines. Special attention was also given to serving new rural territory in Northern Ontario.

The Premier said the commission's 18,000 miles of rural lines serve about 113,000 customers, more than half of which represent service to individual farms.

For the coming year it was estimated 1,900 miles of primary line will be constructed at an expenditure of about $4,500,000. Of this amount the province will contribute $2,250,000. In addition to the grant-in-aid, the province has advanced to the Hydro Commission $320,000 to enable it to make loans to farmers for wiring premises and obtaining electrical equipment.

Bolivia is shipping more tin to other countries than its mines are producing.

Hepburn Denies Any Settler Driven Off Farm

TORONTO, Feb. 15 (CP)—There is no justification for "a mistaken impression that the government's policy with regard to settlers' loans is driving people off their Northern Ontario lands to become relief charges in the city," Premier Mitchell Hepburn said today in his budget address to the Ontario legislature.

Not one mortgagor under the settlers' loan act was dispossessed in 1939, and very few, if any, before that, said Mr. Hepburn. It was true that 700 farms were repossessed in the north in the year ended March 31 last, but none was repossessed unless abandoned, or unless the government had been asked to accept a quit claim deed, or unless the government had been compelled to pay insurance premiums and taxes.

'It had been the fixed policy of the agricupiltural development board that no mortgagor is to be dispossessed unless he has fallen into arrears of interest for at least four years," he said. "As long as the interest has been paid, we have given the mortgagors every consideration as to principal sums overdue and unpaid."

Liquidation of loans made by the agricultural development board in all parts of Ontario from 1922 to 1935 was continuing. At Jan. 31 there was principal of $39,584,144.37, interest of $2,048,592.04, and sundries of $28,327.66 outstanding. Total collections in the 10 months ending Jan. 31 were $3,469,109.89.

See War Netting Wider Pulp Mart In States

TORONTO, Feb. 15.— (CP). — Loss of the Scandinavian trade with the United States will afford Ontario an opportunity of gaining additional markets for its pulp and papers, Premier Mitchell Hepburn said to-day in his budget address to the Legislature.

"The uncertain condition of Europe during the year 1938 and the greater part of the following year," said the Premier, "caused grave apprehension in the forest products industry of the country and adversely affected prospective undertakings with the province of Ontario. The declaration of war, with its consequent disturbance in the economic field may, however, have an important reaction on the pulp and paper business of the province. Although there have been serious governmental restrictions placed upon the use of newsprint in the United Kingdom which will affect Canadian export, it is predicted that the loss of the Scandinavian trade with the United States will afford Ontario an opportunity."

During the past year more than 16,000,000 trees—more than 4,000,000 more than ever planted any other year—were distributed and planted, the report showed. Recipients of the trees totalled nearly 11,000, said the Premier, who predicted "the investment in years to come will enhance the potential forest wealth of the country and pay substantial dividends to the holders."

Premier Hepburn also outlined the ways in which the province had co-operated with Dominion authorities after the outbreak of war by placing at the Dominion's disposal the provincial air service and other facilities.

Jewish Citizens Honor Memory Lord Tweedsmuir

Peterborough's Jewish community joined in the mourning for Canada's Governor-General on Tuesday night when a memorial service was held in the Synogogue on Aylmer street, Rabbi J. Lipshetz officiating.

A moving religious service was conducted with Rabbi Lipshetz offering traditional prayers for the soul of Lord Tweedsmuir. High praise for His Excellency was voiced by the Rabbi when he told of the broad democratic principles for which he had stood. The Jewish people lost a good friend when Lord Tweedsmuir died, he declared. He said that the attitude of His Excellency toward the Jewish people left nothing to be desired, and that he had worked for their Palestine cause with great conviction in its justness. When he was a member of Parliament in England, Lord Tweedsmuir, then John Buchan, was chairman of a pro-Palestine committee. In Canada he opened the United Palestine appeal of last year. Throughout his life, said Rabbi Lipshetz, the late Governor-General had displayed those principles of sound democracy that were the basis for freedom of all groups within a community or an Empire.

He reviewed his work as a biographer and a novelist, and Morris Black delivered a biography of Lord Tweedsmuir.

During the course of his remarks Mr. Black not only sketched the life of this great man but mentioned some of his more famous books. He said, quoting the late John Buchan, "I have three ambitions, one in each sphere: to write a full life of General Robert E. Lee; to make the best literature accessible to the poorest purse and in any language; and to do a little in helping bring about the full understanding of America and the British Empire.'

"We Jews have truly lost a dear friend, and one who always had the Jewish interests at heart.

Rev. Hugh Shaw Is Laid To Rest

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 15 — (ENS)—Funeral services were held on Monday for the late Rev. Hugh Shaw, of Menie, who died at the Campbellford hospital following a brief illness. Born in Antrim County, Ireland, eighty years ago, Rev. Shaw came to Canada as a Baptist minister in the year 1887, and during the same year received his first pastorate in Campbellford. He had received his education at Harley College in London and at the Hulme Cliff College in Derbyshire, England. The year following his induction here he married his now grieving widow, the former Mary Mather of Menie. Although he had ministered in various parishes in Ontario he returned to Seymour in the year 1915 and since that time Rev. and Mrs. Shaw had resided with the latter's sister, Mrs. C. Mather.

The funeral service was conducted by Rev. M. E. R. Boudreau, D.D., of Burn Brae Church, assisted by Mr. M. Scott of Toronto. Interment was at Mount Pleasant Cemetery in Campbellford.

Pall-bearers were Messrs. Ernest Eagleson, Jack Rannie, James Ketcheson, Alex. Milne, W. S. Milne, and F. M. Little.

Three Westwood Church Groups Rally In Prayer

WESTWOOD, Feb. 15—(ENS).— The "World Day of Prayer" was fittingly observed in St. Michael's Anglican Church on Friday afternoon by the ladies of the three local churches. The program by the Inter-Board Committee of the Women's Missionary Societies of Canada was followed with Mrs. G. A. Renwick as leader.

Bible readings from John 15 were read by Mrs. W. Renwick, Miss M. Seabourne and Miss Jessie Davidson. In the period of intercession prayers were offered by the following ladies: For the royal family, Mrs. Jane Thompson; for those who serve in our defence, Mrs. John Hope; for the sick, wounded and homeless, Mrs. Gilbert Elmhurst; for the strengthening of our national life, Miss Ella Comstock; for missions, Mrs. Margaret Faux; and for the church, Miss K. Sharp.

An inspiring message on prayer and missions was the address by Mrs. J. E. Glover. Mrs. F. E. Birdsall rendered a beautiful solo, "My Task," with accompaniment by Mrs. J. S. Sargent.

At the close of the meeting the arrangement committee was appointed for the 1941 World Day of Prayer. Miss Jessie Davidson was appointed key woman with two representatives from each church: Mrs. James Thompson and Miss Marie Seabourne, Mrs. Harry Boswell and Mrs. Archie Shearer, and Mrs. Hilliard Neilson and Mrs. James Sargent.

Courts Rescind Indians' Treaty Right

TORONTO, Feb. 15. — By a decision ratified between Ontario's Department of Game and Fish and Ottawa, backed by a judgment of the Supreme Court of Ontario, the old Robinson Treaty, which gave to Indians the right in the Nipissing area to hunt as "long as the grass grows, the sun shines ,and the rivers flow," has been abrogated, Hon. H. C. Nixon, Minister, announced last night at a meeting of the Ontario Tourist Association.

Under the agreement Indians must abide by the Ontario fish and game laws, said Mr. Nixon, and he announced, the Government planned shortly to set aside certain large township areas in which Indians would have exclusive rights to trap under the game laws, bearing on seasons and catch.

The issue, long a question of controversy, came to a head last February, said the Minister, when officers of his Department caught an Indian, known to be a poacher, with two moose and several deer. He was charged and convicted in magistrate's court, and the decision was appealed by the Federal Department of Indian Affairs on the basis of the old treaty.

The magistrate's judgment was upheld by judgment in the Ontario Appeal Court, and Ottawa then lodged a further appeal with the Supreme Court of Canada, which, however, did not hear it. The final decision came from prolonged negotiations between Mr. Nixon and Federal officials.

Charge Woman Inspector Cause "Jitters"

WINDSOR, Ont., Feb. 15—(CP).—Trustee J. F. Twigg, K.C., of the Windsor Board of Education, and Leonard Wheelton, Superintendent of the city's schools, will investigate criticism of the work of Miss E. I. McKim, Inspector of the Ontario Department of Education.

Wheelton reported to the board last night that Miss McKim caused pupils in the home economics department of the Windsor Vocational School to weep because of her close scrutiny of their work. The superintendent described Miss McKim's descriptions of the conduct of the household economics department as "more or less exaggerated."

Wheelton submitted to the board Miss McKim's report on her inspection of the classes. If there was any fault to find with the work of the teachers, he said, it probably was caused by the inspector's presence in the classroom.

"Teachers are made to weep while she is in the room," he said. "The pupils cry, too, after she has left."

Trustee Cecil W. Daynes suggested that the inspector gave the pupils the "jitters" and Wheelton agreed.

Twigg and Wheelton were empowered to submit a report which would be turned over to the Provincial Department of Education if Miss McKim were found to be in the wrong. If her criticism of the work in household economics classes were found substantiated, it was decided the board will act itself.

said the province would not "embark on any program of new capital expenditures whatsoever, even though such expenditures could be justified on sound economic grounds."

It was the government's intention, he said, "to leave the borrowing markets free and unhampered by provincial financing so that field may remain clear for the Dominion Government to finance the successful prosecution of the war."

With this economy planned, the Premier, who also holds the portfolio of Provincial Treasurer, budgeted for an estimated surplus of more than $350,000 for the new fiscal year ending March 31, 1941. Ordinary revenue for the coming 12 months was estimated at $89,051,209, with ordinary expenditure at $88,694,970.

Revenue Seen Down.

The revenue estimated for the coming year was more than $9,000,000 less than the $98,456,000 for the closing fiscal year (10 months actual and two months estimated). Budgeted expenditure for the coming year was shown at $88,694,970, compared with the current year's budgeted expenditure of $102,900,929, a decrease of $14,205,959.

"Far be it from me," said the Premier, "to paint any dark picture. I realize, as do we all, that we are in the second phase of the Great War. There is no need to emphasize this point today but, realizing the responsibility that rests upon Canada, a responsibility that must be shared largely by this province, it is the considered opinion of the government that Ontario must give leadership to the rest of the Dominion.

"This richest, most prosperous, most progressive part of the Dominion must not betray any faltering in this time of testing. No greater disservice could be rendered the Dominion or the cause of the Allies than that this province should forecast a deficit either in ordinary or capital accounts; and no greater disservice could be rendered than by a government attempting to deceive itself by allowing estimates of revenue to be founded on optimism.

Sure of Surplus.

"We must be sure, and I believe that we are certain—as certain as human foresight makes it possible—that we budget for a surplus for the year on which we are about to enter."

The Premier outlined the increase in gross debt which he said had increased from October 31, 1934, to March 31, 1940, by $81,488,530. But to call this increase in the gross debt without showing the other side of the picture and dealing with what might be properly called the investments of the province, he said, would give an incomplete and misleading impression.

Increase of $24,482,239 during the current year in the gross debt was offset by capital assets in highways, public buildings and public works amounting to nearly $26,000,000. The increase in the gross debt from October 31, 1934, to March 31, 1940, amounted to $81,488,530.75, but during this period the province had increased capital assets by $146,308,805.76.

"I am content to be judged by the people of the province in respect of the increase of $81,000,000 in the gross debt when I am able to report, as I do to-day, that during the same period we have an increase in the tangible capital assets of the province of $146,000,000, and I like to report having contributed to the human resources of the province a sum in excess of $226,000,000." said Mr. Hepburn.

(In the statement of debt presented in last year's budget, the funded debt of Ontario was given as $596,884,631).

Review of the activities of Government departments were cut shorter than usual by the Premier as he read the budget address from a prepared text. Neither was there as much controversial matter in it.

Industry Expanded

All branches of the Labor Department increased activity in the past year. Expansion of industry for war production was partly responsible. In the first nine months of the fiscal year more than 108,000 placements were made by the Ontario Government offices of the Employment Service of Canada, 6,000 more than in the corresponding period of the previous fiscal year.

Ontario's mining industry set a record for production in 1939. Increased war demand for metals and a 10 per cent increase in September in the price of gold were the chief factors. Of the total value of Canada's mineral production, $470,000,172, Ontario produced $235,000,000 or 50 per cent. Ontario gold production was $109,506,979, a record.

Stabilization of municipal credit largel ydue to the amicable debt refundings for supervised municipalities, was claimed. Out of a total of $105,000,000 of debenture debt in default at one time, involving 35 municipalities, more than $93,000,000 has been refunded in 24 municipalities.

Municipalities of Ontario would have more than $3,900,000 in the fiscal year because of the continuance of the government's policy of assuming the municipal share of the cost of old age pensions, pensions for the blind and mothers' allowances.

Indications were the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway would in the present fiscal year have one of the best years in its recent operating history. The net receipts for the year "may now be conservatively estimated at $1,300,000, which reflects a decided improvement."

Body Of Lord Tweedsmuir Lying In State

The body of the late Lord Tweedsmuir was taken, on arrival in Canada's capital, to the Senate Chamber of the Parliament Buildings where it lay in state until the funeral Wednesday afternoon. Thousands of Canadians filed past the flag-draped casket to pay homage. On top of the casket are the plumed hat and sword of the late Governor-General, while at the foot of the bier are his orders, medals and decorations. In front of the casket is a simple red and white wreath of carnations from Lady Tweedsmuir.

Seaboard Swept By Blizzard Of Snow, Sleet

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (CP)—The worst storm of the winter, sweeping up from the South with gale force, struck the Eastern United States yesterday with a blinding mixture of snow, rain, sleet and fog. The storm took at least three lives, imperilled vessels offshore and brought highway traffic in the area virtually to a standstill.

Pennsylvania bore the brunt of the storm, but a dozen other States reported snow-blocked roads, crippled communication lines and other damage. The Atlantic seaboard from the Virginia Capes to Eastport, Me., was pounded by mountainous waves.

The 3,262-ton tanker Astec was caught in the storm, which last night reached a crescendo of 100 miles an hour atop the Empire State Building in New York City. From a position fifty miles southeast to Sandy Hook, the Astec sent out an SOS: "Steering gear carried away, vessel helpless in full gale; all ships close by please help."

A Coast Guard cutter was reported fift. miles from Astec about midnight. The Coast Guard said the stemship Exmoore reported it was proceeding to the Astec and was approximately twenty miles away at midnight.

"If their spirits brooded on this scene you would be entitled to tell them: 'We, your descendants, still make war, and we have not forgotten the lesson you taught us. Thousands Wait For Tweedsmuir Cortege To Pass

The streets of the Dominion's capital were thronged with thousands of citizens waiting in reverent silence for the funeral cortege of the late Governor-General to pass, on its way from the Senate Chamber to St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, where a funeral service was held. From the church the body was escorted to Ottawa's Union Station and placed aboard a train for Montreal. The casket bearing the remains of the late Lord Tweedsmuir is shown here being carried from St. Andrew's Church.

Roots Pretty Deep Tweedsmuir Writes

LONDON, Feb. 15—(CP Cable).—The Earl of Bessborough received a letter from Lord Tweedsmuir the day his death in Montreal was announced, expressing regret over the prospect of leaving Canada where 'I have got my roots pretty deep."

Lord Bessborough, who was succeeded by Lord Tweedsmuir as Governor-General, disclosed a passage of the letter in a letter to The Times today.

Speaking of his approaching return to England, Lord Tweedsmuir had written:—

"I do not believe in any governor-general going on too long. Also my health needs a little attention. I begin my melancholy farewell tour of the west at the end of March. I shall find it hard to leave in many ways, for I have got my roots pretty deep."

In an appreciation printed in the same paper, Violet Rosa Markham recalls conversations with Lord Tweedsmuir at Quebec, in which he declared:

"Canada never can compete in numbers with the United States. Her job is quality, not quantity; not a vast population but a race of elect and splendid men and women who will be light-bearers in the world and such men and women can be trusted to use for the right ends her incredibly rich natural resources."

The writer of this appreciation is the widow of Lt.-Col James Carruthers and was representative of the Canadian Government on the governing body of the International Labor Office at Geneva in 1923.

The offering of first war loan bonds was over-subscribed in the first 48 hours, but the books were held open an additional three days to permit acceptance of smaller subscriptions from the more distant communities.

The figure of more than 176,363 separate subscriptions contrasts with 24,862 orders for the first war loan issued during the first Great War.

Humanity Rules In Rescues By Nazi Killers

LONDON, Feb. 15 — (CP). — Winston Churchill told the House of Commons Wednesday that "ordinary instincts of humanity require rescue from the sea of drowning men or castaways should they be observed by His Majesty's ships in the course of their duties."

The First Lord of the Admiralty was replying to a question by Col. Josiah Wedgwood, Labor, who asked if Mr. Churchill would consider refusing to send ships to rescue German airmen brought down in the sea after "murdering unarmed seamen."

Mr. Churchill said the Admiralty is "ceaselessly engaged" in the defence of British trawlers and fishing boats and hoped that within a month or six weeks "a very great measure of protection will be afforded to our men" in the North Sea.

All To Have Guns

This was taken as an indication that every British vessel in the North Sea soon would be equipped with anti-aircraft guns for defence against German bombers and aerial machine-gunners.

Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House he considered publication of a White Paper less effective "than the present methods" of informing the public abroad of the inhumanity of German attacks on British and neutral shipping and lightships.

Mr. Churchill, asked how five German merchant ships now loading at Rotterdam had escaped detection by the British blockade, said the question was not in accord with his information, but that in any case the House must be aware that the coasts of Germany and Holland are contiguous and that it is not because of a lack of British zeal or thought that any German ship had escaped.

"I think no one would expect us to be able to maintain a close patrol or a close blockade off German coast having regard to the enormous development of shore base aircraft since the late war," he said.

London, Feb. 15 (CP)

THE government announced today that there were 619 traffic deaths in Britain in January, 134 more than were recorded in January, 1939. The wartime blackout has sharply increased British traffic fatalities.

Germans Uneasy Lest Floods Damage Forts

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 15 — (CP-Havas) — Sections of Germany's Siegfried Line may be seriously damaged by the record cold which has sent temperatures in Western Europe down to zero, military observers here believe.

Army engineers were said to be blowing up ice accumulations wherever possible along the Rhine. German authorities feared the first thaw might cause floods, which would interrupt communications with the rear and undo construction work on the Siegfried Line proper.

The intense cold and heavy snow are rapidly sapping the spirit of the German public, according to travelers arriving here from the Reich.

Increasingly serious lack of food, clothing and other essentials was one of the reasons behind the recent cancellation of German Army leaves, it was said. The Nazi command was described as most reluctant to let the soldiers see how badly their families are faring at home.

C.W.L. Hears Of Red Cross Work

The Immaculate Conception Subdivision of the Catholic Women's League held its February meeting in the school on Tuesday evening with the president, Mrs. E. Crowe, in the chair. Reports presented by the officers showed that much valuable work was being accomplished by the organization. After the business meeting, the guest speaker, Mrs. Frank Lynch, Diocesan Convenor of Citizenship, and War Time convenor, was introduced by Mrs. Crowe.

In an inspiring, instructive address, Mrs. Lynch described the work of the Red Cross organization. Relating personal experiences overseas the speaker told of the many comforts which had been provided for the soldiers. Splendid examples of the aid given to the families of soldiers, especially in time of illness, were given. Appreciation for all donations to the Red Cross was expressed by the speaker. Mrs. Lynch urged the subdivision of the C.W.L. to appoint a war time convenor, and requested that the members of other organizations in the city each Tuesday from 2 to 5 p.m. in the Public Library to assist with sewing and knitting.

A vote of thanks to Mrs. Lynch for her helpful address was moved by Mrs. Gilbert, Rev. Father Walsh also expressed his appreciation. Mrs. Houlihan, who accompanied Mrs. Lynch, expressed her pleasure at being presented, and extended a cordial invitation to C.W.L. members to attend the meetings of St. Peter's subdivision.

Trinity Baby Band Makes Layette

A layette for a bale was made by members of Trinity Church Baby Band at their February meeting, held at the home of the president, Mrs. V. Skitch, on Wednesday evening. A knitting and baby shower will be the form of the next meeting, which is to be held at the home of Mrs. R. Walton.

After the reading of reports, Mrs. Skitch read a chapter of the study book, "The Little Bride." Refreshments were served by the hostess and her committee.

Men's Magazines Are Urgently Needed For Soldiers and Sailors

In answer to an urgent appeal for magazines from a war service worker in Halifax, the Peter Robinson Chapter, I.O.D.E., is requesting housewives of the city to make a bundle of all they can spare—men's magazines are particularly wanted—and leave them at Belleghem's Furniture Store, Hunter Street. If it is not possible to deliver them, dial 4577 and they will be called for.

Lest there be any doubt as to the immediate need of reading material in Halifax, we quote excerpts from the letter of this worker, received by Mrs. D. A. Loucks. She writes: "Hostels, canteens, reading rooms, waiting rooms, etc., for the forces are everywhere. The whole city is organized into various war purpose committees. We need men's magazines—have more than enough women's—for the men of H.M. Forces, all three services, both on shore and at sea. There are so many of them here—coastal defence forts, military camps, hostels, recreation rooms, R.C.A.F. camps. Most of all, though, reading material is required for the Navy. Battleships, submarines, British, French, Canadian, and all the hundreds of freighters, tankers, and merchant marine in general now being convoyed here with supplies for Britain and France.

"Friends of mine are working very hard in the Magazine Bureau receiving, sorting, and sending out. Bundles of magazines are sent to each ship as they come in for fueling, loading, waiting convoy, or what not, and you would be surprised how many there are day by day, week by week."

Personalities Of Famous Artists Are Outlined In Music Lecture

Holding his audience enthralled for over two hours on Wednesday evening while he talked delightfully and informally of the lives of famous singers, a number of whom he had known personally or had studied with, Mr. J. Campbell-McInnes, after several minutes' intermission, returned to continue for a short time longer his intimate glimpses of artists' lives simply because his audience was so reluctant to let him go.

Mr. Campbell-McInnes was speaking last night at the Y.W.C.A. in the last of his four lectures on Music Appreciation, a series presented by the local branch of the Ontario Music Teachers' Association. Dorothy Allan Park, president of the Association, presented the speaker.

A renowned British baritone, Mr. Campbell-Innes has studied in England and France under several great masters. After appearing in Paris and London at his own song recitals, he soon became known as the finest Bach singer, and most naturally gifted singing musician of modern England. His fine interpretation of the songs of Brahms brought him to the notice of Joseph Joachim, who introduced him to various concert societies resulting in many important engagements as principal baritone at the leading musical festivals and concerts in Great Britain. He was chosen by the late Sir Edward Edgar and the late Sir Charles Stanford to sing the part of "Christus" in the first production of their editions of the "St. Matthew Passion" of John Sebastian Bach. After resuming his profession in Toronto, Mr. Campbell-Innes interested leading musicians here in the performance of this great work.

The story of Opera from its beginning, and personalities of the more gifted operatic singers, were outlined by the speaker. Opera, he stated, has never been an unqualified success with the British people, although they like to take it in small doses, as the 19th century proves. With rare exceptions, however, the people in the British Isles have always felt that Opera is something alien. They prefer the gaiety of Gilbert & Sullivan's music to the gloominess of the Opera—particularly Grand Opera.

Distinguishing between the temperament of the artist and the artistic temperament, the speaker remarked that many great artists who have influenced the period in which they lived have been of both temperaments, but those who achieved the most distinction had the temperament of the artist.

Such famous personalities as Dame Clara Butt, Jenny Lind, Sims Reeves, Caruso, Salvator Rosa, Sir Charles Stanford, and many others came vividly to life as Mr. Campbell-Innes drew a word picture of their personalities, portraying them as simple, kindly people, anxious to do their best to interpret their art to the people in its highest form.

Gay Valentine Dance Is Held By Y.W. '38 Club

The tradition of St. Valentine's Day, with all its delightful atmosphere of gaiety and romance, was brought to life at the Valentine dance of the Y.W.C.A. '38 Club Wednesday evening in the Recreation Room. The walls were adorned with Valentine emblems, and with huge clusters of colored balloons that caused much merriment during the course of the evening when they were allowed to float down among the dancing couples. Music was by Stanley Northrop, and "Curly" Gibson, in charge of dance arrangements, was soloist.

Guests were received by the Club president, Miss Grace Sargent, and the Girls' Work secretary, Miss Christine Gardiner.

Coffee was poured in the adjoining club room, where a grate fire was a cosy background for the coffee table, at which Miss Gardiner and Miss L. Brownscombe, secretary of the Y.W.C.A., presided. A silver bowl filled with narcissus and red tulips centered the lace-covered table, which was lit with scarlet tapers in silver candelabra. Miss Mary Wallace was coffee convener, and Miss Leona McMillan convener of the decorating committee.

Novelty dances included a birthday dance, won by Miss Edna Morrow and Mr. A. Thompson, and spot dances won by Miss Edna Morrow and Mr. Jerry Cochrane, Miss Helen Whytock and Mr. Everett Gibbs.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hewitson, the Misses Meta Hart, Helen Wootten, Leona McMillan, Muriel McMillan, Flora Metcalf, Audrey Ellis, Helen Ovens, Mary Wallace, Jean Walters, Marjorie Frankish, Marion Ovens, Alma Riley, Audrey Page, Margaret Skitch, Agnes Purdy, Norma Stenson, Beryl Stenson, Muriel Stenson, Helen Whytock, Mary Johnston, Bernice Weart, Frances Wand, Edna Morrow, Mary Mitchell, Marguerite Gardner, Irma Rosborough, Ruth Ellis, Jean Barringer, and Messrs. Many Attend W.A. Valentine Tea

The Valentine tea arranged by the Women's Association of Murray Street Baptist Church was held with gratifying success Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. A. Morgan, 474 George street. Mrs. P. Blade was at the door, and the many guest who called were welcomed by the hostess and Mrs. J. H. Sutcliffe. Mrs. W. Breyfogle and Mrs. L. H. Ingram were living-room hostesses.

Pouring tea were Mrs. C. A. Salmonsen, Mrs. W. C. McCreery, Mrs. Maurice Pringle, Mrs. H. Frize. The tea table, arranged by Miss Eileen Morgan, was unusually attractive, with a centre of scarlet tulips in a silver bowl, and Valentine motifs and emblems cleverly worked into the decorative scheme. Tapers in silver holders blended with the Valentine colors. Assisting in the tea-room were Mrs. C. V. Colley, Mrs. D. Hunter, Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. W. Brown, Miss Wilma Campbell and Miss Nellie Stenton.

Mrs. R. G. Gavine and Mrs. P. Blade were convenors of the tea. An attractive home cooking table was under the direction of Mrs. S. Cottingham and Mrs. A. W. Wray.

We Noticed

...Here's a tip for you students—a psychology professor at Boston University believes that a well-dressed college student is likely to get better marks in examinations than the traditional sloppy student.

...In outlining methods for preparin gan examination, the professor said that neat clothing gives confidence and a disheveled appearance makes the student feel insecure. You will notice, however, that the word "neat" is used—not smart, since it is possible for an individual to be described as "smartly dressed" when the word "neat" might not be correctly applied. Remember that, girls, when you are tempted to put on the newest shade of nail polish without first taking the precaution of seeing your nails are perfectly groomed and your hands clean and smooth.

...Another suggestion made by this professor is that during each month of study the student should stop work and enjoy some active recreation like skating or skiing—a suggestion which will undoubtedly meet with the approval of most students.

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, February 16.

An excellent opportunity for advancing affairs with steady application and hard work is predicted for this day. But an effort should be made not to run counter to employers or superiors. It might be advisable to deal with large corporations, diplomatic or political bodies, or fraternal groups. There will be many opportunities for stabilizing affairs by attention to detail and by co-operating with those in high places. Old as well as new projects should thrive.

Those whose birthday it is may attain a very successful and prosperous year if they will attend to affairs at hand with steadiness and fidelity. They have their best chance with corporations, diplomatic, political or fraternal organizations. Such close application will bring progress to all affairs, old and new.

A child born on this day may be loyal, faithful, and warm-hearted, as well as steady, serious and contemplative, making a success of its interests.

WOMEN'S WORK AND INTERESTS

Ontario Fruit Juices Take Place Of Imported Ones

By MARY MOORE

It was a flu bug trying to bite me, we think, but we got a head start on him and nosed him out, by drowning him out in liquids, and smothering him with sleep.

What I enjoyed the most besides the service was the big pitcher of tomato-lemon juice Audrey kept making up for me. We have been using No. 10 cans of tomato juice rather generously because of the sudden rise in price of imported fruits and vegetables, since it teems in vitamins, and is so plentiful and cheap.

To about 2 quarts of canned tomato juice, we add the juice of 3 lemons, ½ teaspoon salt, and shake of white pepper, then about enough ice cubes to make it up to 3 quarts. Stir well and let stand until ice dilutes and chills it. This makes an excellent course for breakfast in place of fruit—it can be passed at table, and when you are serving the table yourself, eliminates one course to be removed.

I am "hipped" on the subject of keeping up vitamin, mineral and caloric content in meals in "low" February. As eminent a nutritionist as Dr. Kerley states without reservation that a high sugar (or candy) intake during the "cold" months is without doubt conducive to catching cold. So when your family craves 'sugars" give them to them in forms that are protective; prunes, apricots, dates, raisins, figs. All of these may be served without cooking. But if you do wish to soften them, steaming is less destructive to their vitamin content than stewing.

Apricot Bavarian (8 Servings).

One-half cup cold water, 2/3 cup juice drained from stewed or canned apricots, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 2/3 cups stewed or canned apricots, 2 tablespoons gelatin, ½ cup sugar, few grains salt, whites of 2 eggs. Soften gelatin in the cold water and dissolve it in the apricot juice which has been heated. Add sugar lemon and salt, and when mixture begins to stiffen beat in whites of eggs, which have been beaten previously until stiff. Arrange the apricot halves in 8 individual moulds and pour jelly mixture over them. When cold and set turn out on plates and surround base with narrow fluting of whipped cream; or serve in patty dishes and pass plain cream.

A quick way to make "sweets" is to stuff dates with peanut butter and roll them in sugar or chopped peanuts. Pruns stuffed with a whole Brazil nut or cheese are nice ingredients for individual fruit salads.

Cream of Shrimp Soup.

One cup canned shrimps, drained (they do not need to be cut up as they will break with stirring-, 4 cups whole milk, ½ cup top milk or canned milk, 3 tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, salt and paprika, ½ cup grated cheese optional. Heat the milk. Melt the butter, add the flour, salt and paprika, Worcestershire sauce, then stir in the hot milk and stir until thick. Beat with rotary beater. Then add the shrimps and cream or canned milk, and still just enough to break up some of the shrimps, and serve. Sprinkle top with cheese if desired.

Egg and Tomato Custard.

Four eggs, 1 tablespoon cream or evaporated milk, ¼ teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons thick strained tomato pulp, 1 tablespoon grated old cheese, ½ teaspoon onion juice. To the beaten eggs add the other ingredients, mixing them well. Pour into buttered custard cups or small casserole. Stand in pan of hot water and bake at 325 degrees Fahr. (slow oven) for about 30 minutes, or until custard is set. Single casserole takes about 35 minutes. The above is delicious for small children who need to be coaxed to eat eggs; it is easily digested and its appearance is appealing to invalids with indifferent appetites.

Cold Hot Chocolate for Children and Invalids

One tablespoon good quality cocoa mixed with 4 teaspoons sugar, and then mixed with ½ cup cold water. In top of doube boiler heat 4 cups milk. Bring cocoa mix to boiling point over low heat, and when it appears slightly thickened, stir into the scaled milk, rinsing out cocoa dish with some of the milk. Add shake of salt and let heat through again covered in top of double boiler. To make this richer and more nourishing, beat 1 egg very well, and pour 1 cup of the cocoa over it stirring, then pour this mixture back into cocoa pot and serve at once.

Pineapple Cream (2 Servings) Egg-Orangeade (High in Vitamins and Nourishment)

This is one large serving—it may be multiplied to serve as many as you wish: Beat separately the yolk and white of a fresh egg. Add gradually to the yolk the juice of 1 medium sized orange, strained, then add the beaten white and whip to a froth. Pour into 8 or 10-ounce glass and fill glass with whole cold milk—serve immediately.

Scraped Beef Sandwiches

Lay round steak on board and with dull knife scrape off all the pulp—when you are finished nothing but the cellulose of the meat will be left. Cut one-day-old white bread not more than ¼-inch thick, remove crusts, and spread 1 slice with just a little butter, spread the beef pulp on the other slice. Sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper, put slices together and press. Toast very lightly under broiler or in toaster. Seve hot cut in inch-wide strips. This is easy to eat and since the beef is cooked very little has relatively high vitamin content for a meat dish. If your patient prefers the meat slightly cooked, lay the slice spread with meat under the broiler until it turns white, before putting sandwich together.

Pineapple Cream (2 Servings)

Scald 1 cup milk in double boiler. Mix 1½ tablespoons cornstarch, 1½ tablespoons sugar, and speck salt; add slowly the scalded milk, stirring. Return to top of double boiler and cook 20 minutes, stirring constantly for 5 minutes. Cook stirring frequently for 20 minutes. Then remove from heat and stir into the well beaten white of 1 egg. When partially cooled add 3 tablespoons drained canned pineapple; pour into wet cups or moulds, cool and chill. When ready to serve, turn out and serve with whipped cream.

Pineapple Juice

Pineapple juice, has an almost specific action on throats, it eases and heals sore throats—so much so that when Marianne was in bed with a cold and cough, we kept a 50-oz. tin of pineapple juice in the ice box exclusively for her. She like it diluted with water or ice half-and-half—in this way she never had to drink plain water. Byt the time two such cans were empty (2 days), her throat was mended—and usually it takes at least 4 days to rid her of a cold.

Fresh pineapple, when you can get them, are of course, better than canned for throat infections.

Life Membership Is Presented Mrs. R. B. English

Prayer for adopted missionaries, led by Mrs. W. H. Buckler, was one of the opening features of St. James' United Church Auxiliary meeting on Tuesday afternoon, when the president, Mrs. W. Rose, presided during a well-planned program. Choosing the same as last year, another missionary was added to the prayer list.

During the business session a motion went through that the Auxiliary should repeat its gift of twenty-five copies of "World Friends" to the members of the Mission Band.

An invitation to St. James' from George Street Auxiliary to attend their next meeting was read. Both meetings were found to take place on the same day, and since St. James' has invited guests for that meeting, they could not accept.

Miss M. Deyell in her paper on "Christian Stewardship," suggested as a good motto for giving to missions, "Give from the top of your purse and the bottom of your heart." It is a satisfaction to report that our Auxiliary gives both systematically and as Christian stewards.

Temperance, which is presented at every W.M.S. meeting, was a very helpful and interesting little homily on the "uses" and "misuses" of alcohol, as told by Mrs. George H. Rowe.

A specially pleasing feature of the meeting was the honor paid to Mrs. R. B. English, the faithful treasurer of the society for the past ten years, when her co-workers presented her with the well-earned trophy of life membership in St. James' Auxiliary.

In an appreciative address read by the president, Mrs. Rose, tribute was paid to her many fine qualities of executive ability, and the gift was presented by Mrs. E. J. Wagar. Though words were difficult, Mrs. English expressed her thanks and gratitude for the gift she would prize above all others.

A devotional program in charge of the group and their leader for the day, Mrs. F. A. McAdams, was a very fitting way to close the meeting with the theme "Beginning at Jerusalem."

Mrs. H. May read the first Scripture lesson and Miss M. Marton took the second, which applies to every Christian.

The quartette "Keep the heart of sunshine" was a beautiful message in song contributed by Mesdames Monks, Robinson, McKinstrey and Kitney (known as the Lee sisters). Mrs. H. F. Doig, pianist, accompanied.

Mrs. E. M. Davis brought the report of the recent Presbyterial in a few pithy words, and Mrs. E. L. Woodley, in her splendid synopsis of the study gave the meeting a clear conception of the chapter in "Moving Millions" which is based upon "The Untouchables." She said that the most characteristic thing about them was the "cruelties inflicted upon them by the Hindus of higher caste." The "untouchables" is a study in itself, and is forming a worthwhile work among all W.M.S. women in the conference.

The meeting closed with the prayer-hymn, "Beneath the Cross of Jesus."

Home and School Association News

KING GEORGE SCHOOL

A demonstration of the Delineascope was given by Mr. P. D. Windrum and Mr. A. J. Noftall of Prince of Wales School at a meeting of the King George Home and School Association Tuesday evening. Miss F. A. Rahmel explained the use of the Delineascope in teaching social studies, using as an example a lesson on Captain Cork, and showing pictures of his travels, as well as views of modern Australia. Mr. Kerr explained a number of pictures he had collected while on a trip to the Pacific Coast recently.

Mrs. T. L. Ashton presided for the meeting, which opened with "O Canada" and The Lord's Prayer. A moment of silence was observed in memory of the late Lord Tweedsmuir.

Mrs. M. Swanston reported for the telephone committee, and Mrs. Beggs was appointed convener of the nomination forms committee. The attendance picture was won by Miss C. B. Dobbin's room.

Mr. F. E. Kerr gave his usual comprehensive and instructive review of current events. It being Founder's Night, Mrs. H. Dodds, a charter member, lit the candles in honor of the founder and for the federation. Mrs. G. Groombridge, another charter member, cut the birthday cake.

The program, which was in charge of the teaching staff of the school, included musical numbers by both teachers and pupils, as follows: Miss M. Cox delighted the audience with several piano solos; Everet Hayes played several Hawaiian guitar selections; Alex McLeod and Noel Eason gave a violin duet, with Miss Jean McLeod, and a guitar duet was played by Everet Hayes and Gerald Hillis.

Mrs. M. Cullen and her committee served refreshments after the meeting.

DOROTHY DIX

Grandmothers Make A Great Mistake When They Become Too Possessive Of The Offspring Of Their Children—Discretion Must Be Used To Prevent Disagreements.

DEAR MISS DIX—A girl married a fine young man, but unfortunately just before their first child was to be born he lost his job. Having no place else to go, the girl's parents took them in and gave them a home for more than five years, as the girl's husband, through one tough break after another, couldn't keep a steady job. When their first baby was born it was a boy, and as the grandmother had never had a boy and had always desired one, she simply worshiped him and monopolised him, kept him in her room at night and devoted herself to him. Now the young husband has the opportunity to go to another city, with a good, steady job. He and his wife want to go terribly, but the grandmother has become so attached to the boy she positively refuses to give him up. She says she is justified in keeping him after all she has done for them, and that if they take him away from her she will never speak to them again. The young people are heartbroken, torn between love and gratitude to their mother and love for their boy They feel this is their chance in life and yet they are afraid to take it because they don't want to give up their son. What should they do?

A FRIEND OF BOTH PARTIES.

ANSWER:

I should certainly urged the young couple to take the good business proposition that is open to them because they owe that to their other children and to themselves. It is bad enough for one member of the family to be sacrificed to the selfish passion of an old woman. All should not have to suffer for it.

Also, I think that the best way, and perhaps the only way, for the father and mother to get their child back without any break between them and the grandmother who has been so kind to them is for them to go on about their own lives and leave the child with her. When they are gone and the cause of conflict is removed, and the grandmother has time to quiet down, she may come to her senses and realize what a cruel thing she is doing in trying to separate a child from its parents, and that she cannot take her own happiness at the price of her daughter's.

It is not uncommon for aging women to develop an abnormal affection for a grandchild that seems to have in it not only a far greater love than they had for their own children, but something fiercely and fanatically possessive. Perhaps the touch of a baby's head once more on their breast makes them feel young again. Perhaps the child that is bone of their bone and flesh of their flesh makes them feel that only a woman shares with God the sacred joy of creation. Perhaps it is the interest, the curiosity in a child to whom everything is new that reawakens their interest in a world that had grown stale and dull to them.

But, however it is, we know that grandmothers are often simply obsessed by such love of a child that they lose all sight of justice, of right and wrong, and of what is even good for the child they adore. Hence we have those terrible and bitter fights over the custody of a child of which so many unfortunate little creatures are the victims. It is a hard thing to say, but it is true, that very few grandmothers are fitted to raise children. It is not alone that the difference in generations and customs make it impossible for them to get the youngsters' points of view, it is mainly that they are so overfond that they cannot bear to discipline a child or to deny it anything it wants.

It takes young parents to fight with self-willed children and conquer them. It needs the give and take of brothers and sisters to teach a child its place in society, and no greater misfortune can befall a child than to miss this and be reared by elderly grandparents in a household where he is the center of the universe.

The Adventures of ELSIE, THE BORDEN COW

For Lenten menus, Baumert is just the thing! Favourite of the Dionne Quintuplets, it has that fresh down-on-the-farm cream cheese flavour, for it's churned from rich country cream . . . cream that's made from the milk of well-tended cows like Elsie.

Look for the Chateau family of fine cheeses at your favourite food store:

Chateau Cheese (plain or pimento)
Canadee Cheese (blended with French Roquefort)
Old Vintage Cheese (two-year-old wine cured)
Baumert Cream Cheese (five varieties)
Chateau Grated Cheese (standard equipment for the kitchen)

men, but finally decided I had got tired of it, so I told my husband all about my escapades and that I was sorry for them and would never be naughty again. He told me that he had known about it all the time, but he loved me so much that he was waiting for me to get weary of my affairs and tell him that I was sorry, so that we could finisn our loves happily together. I have a wonderful husband and I do love him, but I believe I would love him more if he didn't have quite so much patience with me. SURPRISED.

ANSWER:

I should say you have every right to be surprised at finding out that you are married to a man with such an abnormally capacity for forgiving as your husband seems to have. He is a museum specimen whose like most of us have never seen.

But I am afraid his patience will be ill rewarded, for evidently you prefer the caveman type of husband who would drag you around by the hair of your head and beat all thoughts of wandering out of your flighty head. Maybe that is atavistic and all of us women have a secret contempt for the man who will kiss our feet while we are trampling all over him. At any rate, I have never known a woman who henpecked her husband who had any respect for him.

How does the old rhyme go: "A woman, a dog and a walnut tree, the more you beat them the better they be."

DOROTHY DIX.

A lot of folks have been asking who to telephone for information about the junior ski train. If there are questions in your mind about Saturday, telephone Graham Eastwood at 9026 or Eric Westbye at 9417. Either one will be very pleased to give any details you wish.

Through the courtesy of two local manufacturers we are able to announce that each person making the trip Saturday will receive free soft drinks and a nourishing hot drink. Our thanks to these two concerns for making this possible. Consult the Telemarker for further details on this.

A special competition will be held on Saturday afternoon in which all non-members will be able to compete. Suitable prizes for this event will be awarded at the annual club banquet some time in March.

Super Attraction

Can you imagine getting a ride or maybe more than one ride on the new ski tow free? That's just what every younger member of the ski train has in store for him or her on Saturday. Yes, sir. Thanks to the owners, Messrs. Richardson and Cousens, the tow will be open between twelve and one o'clock so that each of the younger skiers can try it out. About fifteen of the senior club members will be on duty to help any of the boys or girls who might get into difficulty with the rope so that everything will be safe. Thanks a lot, Bill and Al, the gang certainly appreciate your generosity.

That's all for now but watch tomorrow night's column for last minute news.

Terriers Of Zion Tie Foxboro Win Semi-Finals

TWEED, Feb. 15—(ENS).—Going into the second game of the semi-finals of the Central Hastings League, one goal down, the Irish Terriers of Zion Hill battled to the top of the heap over the Foxboro Foxes on Tuesday night, to trounce them 6-4, and won the round 7-6 to earn the right to meet Glen Ross in the finals.

In less than three minutes of play in the first period, Simms scored to tie the round count; with Tummon and Ray in on the play. Less than a minute later Simms put the Irish in the lead and the crowd went wild. Foxboro seemed slightly disorganized, and Simms tallied his third counter before they broke into the scoring, as Ray Thompson and Wright combined for the Foxes' only tally in the first period, with the former scoring. Ray Dickey made it 4-1 for the Irish midway through the period to make the score on the round 5-3.

In the second frame after ten minutes, Wright scored on a pass. With only three minutes of the period left, Thompson scored from Elder to tie up the series. Play was held up briefly, when Elder, snappy wingman for the Foxes, was hurt in a crash along the boards.

Starting the final period on even terms, Foxboro turned on the heat and on the first play Gifford came ten feet out to beat Elder, who was right through alone. At the three-minute mark, Wright put Foxboro in the lead, scoring from Elder.

After twelve minutes of play, Brough bagged in a pass from Simms to tie up the series again. Foxboro sent every man up and the power play cracked up, when Ray Dickey, making the best play of the night, went through the entire Foxboro team to draw Guay aside and score the winning goal of the game and of the series. Score on the game 6-4 and on the round 7-6.

Guay brothers, Walt, Spencer, Gough and Elder were next in line to Thompson for effectiveness on the Foxboro team, and for the star of the evening with three goals and an assist. Tummon, Ray and Dickey were next in line for honors on the Zion Hill team. Lineups:

Foxboro.—Goal, Norm. Guay; defence, Noel Guay and Gord Walt; centre, Elder; wings, Thompson and Spencer; subs., G. Gay, L. Gough, C. Dafoe, R. Halliwell, J. Guay and G. Wright.

Zion Hill.—Goal, Gifford; defence R. Dickey and T. Bedford; centre, Brough; wings, Ketcheson and Faulkner; subs, Tummon, Simms, J. Ray, B. Clark and R. Sills.

Referees: E. Wallace, J. Hulin.

CHAPTER FORTY-TWO

Fabienne did not ring the elevator bell; on soundless soled shoes, she stole through the corridor and let herself out the door into the fire-proof stairway hall. She went up the stairs and opened the door to the next floor. She did it very softly, not wishing to rouse any of the nurses.

There would only be one—Sonny's nurse—since there were no other patients on the second floor.

Fabienne hastily fabricated a story to tell the nurse if she should meet her. She took a few tentative footsteps along he corridor in the direction of Sonny's room and grew bolder, and more relieved, as her nostrils caught the aroma of coffee once more. The nurses would all be in the dining room for their midnight supper.

Out of doors, on the edges of the gale that shrieked and whistled around the towers of the building, the echo of city clocks striking the hour of midnight was borne through the open windows.

The door of Sonny's room was open a crack. It was dark in the room where only a faint beam from a lighted window across the court lifted the stygian blackness.

Fabienne pushed the door open gently, intending to look in at the sleeping child.

Then her blood froze!

There was a figure moving towards the window, a shadow of a woman. The window was wide open. From the window there was a sheer drop to the courtyard, twelve stories below!

"I knew you'd come," Chris said. "You'll take him out for me?"

Fabienne said, "Come away from the window, Chris. I'll call for help in a minute."

"No, you won't," Chris answered calmly. "Because, if you do, I'll step out. I've got him wrapped in blankets. Pick him up. Pick him up—or else—"

Fabienne picked up the sleeping child. He was light as a baby for all his blankets.

"Take him out the door to the elevator and I'll tell you what to do," Chris directed.

IT WAS too fantastic. Only a few moments before, Fabienne had hoped there would be no one to see her slipping up stairs to look in on Sonny Parsons. Now with him, bundled in blankets, cradled in her arms, she would have given anything in the world to have someone find them. It was, seemingly, a deserted hospital in which they made a strange group.

You can't take a sick child out into a night as cold as this," Fabienne said, hoping to appeal to Chris' instinct.

"He's not sick any more. The doctor said he was going to discharge him tomorrow. I've dressed him warmly."

The child in Fabienne's arms stirred restlessly. He was hot and uncomfortable. Any moment he would awake. Let him, Fabienne thought wildly. Let him cry out as she could not!

No, she couldn't because, for all that she was well aware of the wrong in what was being done, Chris' story of persecution and injustice had affected her deeply. Perhaps Christine was not made. Perhaps there was right in what she was doing. If she believed that Larry would come soon and help her, Fabienne thought, Chris was doing no different than she would have done herself. There are things that are beyond such a law as gave the custody of Chris' child to his father and into the care of a grandfather who wanted to deprive him of his mother's love.

Christine said, "I don't like to say this to you, Fab. You'll have to forgive me for being melodramatic. I—I've got a gun."

She pressed the elevator bell while Fab stared at her, unable to believe her own ears.

"It's in here," Chris said, indicating her pocket, as if she were talking about a handkerchief. "Don't say anything to anyone as we go out."

"But suppose someone asks me where we're going?" she said, wishing that her brain didn't go completely numb in the face of the first real occasion she'd had for using it.

"I've thought it all out. You say, 'This is the case Dr. Mallory spoke to you about. He was coming to bring the baby to his mother, but he was delayed and sent me to take him with Mrs. Parson's.'"

"Chris, I can't. Don't you realize what this means? We can both go to prison—"

"Did you ever hea rof a mother going to prison for kidnaping her own child?" Chris asked calmly. Indeed it was suddenly a new Chris, not the distraught, shaking girl of the afternoon. She was completely calm, mistress of the situation. It was Fabienne whose teeth were chattering with nervousness when the elevator came up.

Robert wasn't very bright, but he was briugh enough to know that there was something irregular about a child being taken from the hospital at that hour. His face showed his struggle to become articulate about it.

Fabienne said, "It's all right, Robert. Dr. Mallory discharged this case today. His mother's only just come for him. We're taking him home."

Out in the cold street, she held the child closer to her.

"My car is up the street," Chris said. "Give him to me now. I'm going to drive him to Boston. Mother's there. She'll put me up."

Fabienne said, "Get in my car. It's the coupe ahead of yours. You can't take a child anywhere in an open car tonight." She had completely given up trying to decide whether this was right or wrong.

Christine got into the car and Fabienne placed the still sleeping child in her arms. She ran around and got in the other side and started the motor.

When it was running but the car not yet in motion, she said, "This is a desperate thing, Chris, and heaven only knows what'll happen to us, but I seem to be in it now."

"Stay on the East Side and take the Bronx River parkway," Chris directed.

"We'll never get to Boston tonight. We're mad! As soon as the nurse discovers Sonny is gone, she'll send for the police and they'll get us before we're out of the state."

"Drive fast," Chris said, bending lovingly over her child, cradling it hungrily.

Chris met few cars on the road, and when she got on the parkway she opened up, driving 60 miles and more an hour. "Don't you know that your mother's place is the first place they'll look for you?"

"I won't let them find me until Larry gets back. I'll find a way. I won't let you turn back now, Fabienne. If you turn me and Sonny over to the police, I'll kill myself. I don't want to live without Sonny. My life has been hell for two years. This is my chance to save our happiness."

After that, Fabienne fell into deep silence, driving steadily, keeping her eyes on the road, her ear attuned for the sound of a motorcycle.

Christine coughed two or three times and turned the collar of her coat up around her ears.

Fabienne looked at her anxiously, a new fear beginning to tug at her. As if she did not have enough to worry about with a lifetime sentence in prison ahead of her, now there was Chris' health to worry her. Chris' cough was sharp and in the light from the dashboard she could see the bright spots of color on her cheeks.

They had to stop once for gas. "Keep low, and pull the rug over Sonny," she instructed.

"Can you get a glass of water? I'm awfully thirsty," Chris said, and began to cough again.

Fabienne got the water and brought it back to her. When their hands touched, it was like touching burning coal. Christine had a fever.

"Oh, Lord," Fabienne prayed, "I haven't asked much of you. I don't know how to say prayers, but please help me to do SOMETHING! I don't know what to do. Please tell me what to do and I'll do anything You ever ask of me again."

It was the first prayer Fabienne had voiced.

And it was immediately answered.

Suddenly she KNEW what to do. It was as clear as if it had been written on the windshield before her, where big white snowflakes were beginning to cling. The storm she had feared was coming.

She turned off on a side road at Stamford.

Instantly, Chris said, "Stay on the parkway."

"No, Chris. I've got a better idea. I know where we can go and be safe. We would not be safe in Boston. We'll be where we're going shortly and you and Sonny can be put to bed and kept warm. No one in the world would ever think of looking for us there."

"Where?" Chris asked, a guarded but alert one in her voice which had become raspy.

"A friend of mine has a little house he uses in the summer time. It's between Stepney and Newtown."

There wasn't anything else she could do that night, but in the morning she could telephone Bill and have him come out. Bill's broad shoulders could take on bigger burdens than this.

She said no more, devoting herself to difficult driving, leaning her head out of the window to find the road she had traveled but twice. The snow was getting thicker and she could scarcely see the road ahead of her.

For some time she thought that she was lost. Then she saw the big red barns at the corner where the side road and the state road met. Bill's house was half a mile down the side road.

When they got there and she parked the car, she found she could hardly stand. "A fine pair of kidnapers we are," she said, lifting Sonny from Chris' arms. "I hope this snow is over by morning."

All Saints' Seniors defeated St. James' 7-2 at All Saints' Rink last night in a Church Loop encounter to keep well in the playoff hunt. It meant elimination for St. James. "The Authority on Authorities"

SAVE THE RIGHT SUIT

UNOBSERVANT players throw away pretty close to a trick on every other hand when they are in their most lackadaisical streaks. A keen-eyed declarer, who watches the discards of such a performer, will see many an unexpected opportunity loom up to make extra tricks or an otherwise hopeless contract, by means of end-plays, by establishment of little cards he never counted on, and in a variety of other ways.

(Dealer: West. Both sides vulnerable.)

West's 1-Club on this rubber deal was passed to South, who bid 1-Heart. West then bid 1-Spade, South 2-Hearts, North 3-Hearts and South 4-Hearts. He was plenty high, but also plenty lucky.

Two clubs were taken by West, who led a third to be ruffed. The heart A won, diamond 10 was finessed, heart J won, diamond Q was finessed, heart Q taken, then the diamond A. South noticed that on these last two tricks West discarded two clubs. He therefore knew from the bidding that West was holding four spades. So he confidently cashed his heart K and led the spade 3.

If West had let this ride to the K, he could have had two spade tricks on the return, setting the contract. But he stumbled in with his A and then had to lead from his queen to the dummy's guarded K and declarer's guarded J, so South got the last two tricks and made his contract, which was utterly impossible without lots of help from West. An observant West would have held at least one club, and also would not have used his ace on the first spade lead.

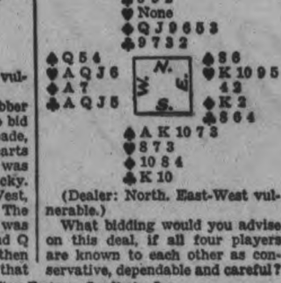
Tomorrow's Problem



(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

What bidding would you advise on this deal, if all four players are known to each other as conservative, dependable and careful?

Artie Shaw Elopes With Lana Turner

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 15—(AP).—As it is appropriate this Valentine's Day, the movie colony is abuzz with chatter of romances, broken and otherwise.

Conjecture about damaged hearts, if any, followed the first shocked surprise at the elopement of Artie Shaw, the swing bandman, and Lana Turner, young film actress whom a director recently described as personifying "Glex"—a camera combination of glamor and sex-appeal.

Shaw and Miss Turner, who dissed so sharply during filming of a recent picture, "Dancing Co-Ed," that they were barely speaking when it finished, flew to Las Vegas, Nev., yesterday and were married.

Another topic of discussion was the dinner date Al Jolson had with Ruby Keeler at a swank hotel last night.

Reconciliation?

"I'd give my life if it were true," Jolson exclaimed, but Ruby, recently divorced, looked the other way.

Less happy, romantically speaking, was the admission from Ginger Rogers that she is contemplating divorce after a long separation from Lew Ayres.

Two Plainville Groups Hold Joint Session

PLAINVILLE, Feb. 15—(ENS).—On Friday afternoon the ladies of the W.M.S. and W.C.T.U. observed the World's Day of Prayer when they held their February meeting at the home of Mrs. Elmer West. Twenty-two ladies were present.

The president, Mrs. L. Carruthers was in charge of the business. The roll call was answered with a temperance thought. The list of supplies for the bale was read by the supply secretary, Mrs. W. Herriott. Some of the quilts required are ready and blocks for more quilts were received at the meeting. The bale is to be packed at the March meeting. By suggestion the roll call is to be answered with a missionary though and the fee paid by those who have not already done so.

Mrs. Ewart King was leader of the program. The regulation World Day of Prayer service was used. Scripture passages were read by Miss Helen Carruthers, Mrs. Everett Brisbin and Mrs. Fred Bowman. Prayers in the period of intercession were offered by Mrs. Ames, Mrs. Herriott, Mrs. W. Lander, Miss Baptist, Mrs. Gerald Lander, Mrs. Joice and Mrs. L. Carruthers. Miss Ada Lander gave the first chapter of the study book, "Moving Millions."

At this period the W.C.T.U. had a short program, with the president, Mrs. H. Lander as leader. Miss Clare King gave an interesting story of a pioneer of the Women's Christian Temperance Union. Mrs. Letitia Youman, who at one time had lived at Cobourg when it was known by another name. Mrs. Ames offered prayer at this time and the benediction specially for the World Day of Prayer was used.

A social hour was spent when the hostess and Mrs. Alex Buttars' group served lunch.

The young people were guests of Bethel Grove Y.P.S. for their weekly meeting. A goodly number attended in spite of the fact that they had to travel via Cobourg and Port Hope on account of the road condition across country. Miss Ruby Houskin was in charge of the program. The Bethel Grove Y.P. entertained the visitors after with games and lunch.

Mr. Frank Westington spent the week-end visiting friends at Burlington.

Pendergast Machine Loses Kansas Vote

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 15—(AP)—The political machine built by Boss Tom Pendergast was beaten two--to-one on the only measure it backed in a charter amendment election, but many competent observers said today it was only playing 'possum.

Reform votes yesterday carried a proposal to cut terms of elected city officials—including the Pendergast controlled council—from four years to two. This ends present terms in April.

There will be an election in April to name new officials, but one prominent political writer said he doesn't believe the reformists can get out any more than the 75,044 votes with which they defeated the firemen's civil service amendment which the machine backed.

CAMPBELLFORD

Jews Appreciate British Justice

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 15. — (ENS).—In all the races in the Empire there is none which appreciates more the real value of British justice and freedom than the Jews, according to A. Rappaport, local theatre proprietor who addressed Rotarians at their noonday luncheon. Principal purpose of the speaker's remarks was to explain why people of the Jewish race are invariably found in the cities in nearly every aspect of commercial life rather than in the rural areas. Chief reason for this, said Mr. Rappaport, who gave as an example of his own sad experiences gained in his attempt to be a farmer, was that on the whole the race didn't make good farmers.

Religious doctrine of the orthodox Jew made it difficult for him to carry on in a farming community unless there were enough of the race in the district to support a Synagogue, Rabbi and killer.

Even in Russia, said the speaker, who himself is of Russian extraction, the Jews were not allowed to own property, but owing to the astuteness of some they managed to circumvent this law and if they didn't actually become land-owners they did operate huge farms which they rented from the Russians and in turn hired the peasants to work for them at twelve roubles a year. Referring to the persecutions of the Jews, Mr. Rappaport declared that all that had kept them alive during the past nineteen hundred years, when they had no nation which was home to them, was their faith.

Guests at the luncheon were James O. Benor, J. Goody, Mayor F. F. Long, Rev. G. N. Maxwell, Rev. T. S. Gault, and Rev. B. Simpson Black.

Appeal Is Made For Woollen Scarfs

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 15 (ENS) —In conformance with the week of mourning announced following the death of Lord Tweedsmuir, the local branch of the I.O.D.E. Bemersyde Chapter has cancelled the bridge which was to have been held on Tuesday of this week.

Continuing their war work the Chapter has made an appeal for more woollen scarfs to be sent overseas. "These," declared the Regent, Mrs. G. A. Ironside, "are very easy to knit and we could supply wool to anyone who is unable to buy it themselves." At present members are filling ditty bags for the Navy, and these include such items as sweaters, mitts, scarfs, tobacco, cards, notepaper and pencils, and a paper-covered book. The bags, when completed, are sent to the Navy League in Toronto, from where they are forwarded to the sailors. At the present time nineteen flashlights are on order, these to be sent along with a parcel containing tobacco and sox to the men who have enlisted from Campbellford.

Numbered among the group's more recent activities were the blanket on which members held tickets. This was won by Mrs. F. G. DeCarrol, and the Chapter raised $5.00 which will go to buy wool and other requirements. From the bridge held under Group 4, they made $16.50, but with the demands on their finances so great the I.O.D.E. is seeking more ways of raising money, and have announced their desire to do quilting for anyone who has the material and would like to have one made at a small cast by experienced quilters.

Had Stiff, Sore Joints, Headaches and Backache Tells Of Grand Relief

Praises Syntona As He Walks Again Without Crutch, Says Nervous Headaches, Dizzy Spells and Constipation Also Overcome.

MR. M. SCOTT

"Every person who knows me can see the improvement in my health and I am glad to be able to tell them it was Syntona that helped me like this," said Mr. M. Scott, R. R. 7, London, recently.

"For months I was unable to walk without a crutch and I was tortured with rheumatic pains in my joints and muscles. Often dizzy spells would come over me and I would get nervous, throbbing headaches. My tongue was coated and I was always needing something for constipation.

"I had almost given up hope of getting any relief when I started taking Syntona, and I said if this medicine helps me I will surely recommend it. I have now taken Syntona for about eight weeks, and in that time it has done wonders for me. The rheumatic pains are relieved and I get along without the crutch. The headaches and dizzy spells have left me and I am free of that ache across my back. I never used anything that acted so nicely on my bowels before."

Syntona produces these results without the aid of drugs or depressors. It is made only from pure herbal juices that promote assimilation of food and elimination of excess acids and waste matter.

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store. All who suffer are cordially invited to find out for themselves all about this pure herbal compound. (Advt.)

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 15—(ENS). — Despite the stormy evening the hot meat pie supper, under the auspices of Group C of the Lakefield United Church on Monday evening was a huge success. The tables were attractively decorated with red streamers and hearts.

Following the singing of grace, the guests remained standing while the members of the group sang the group song.

Hastings Boys Reviewed By King George

HASTINGS, Feb. 15 — (ENS) — Army life has its distinct advantages over civilian life according to Private Vernon Phillips of Hastings, now with the Hastings and Prince Edward regiment at Aldershot. In one of a number of letters to his sister, Marion, in Hastings, Private Phillips revealed his biggest thrill since going overseas was when King George inspected the Canadian troops more than two weeks ago.

"The King stopped to talk to a man standing beside me who was a veteran of the last war," the letter reads. "He was standing right in front of me and was I ever thrilled."

While Private Phillips has no fault to find with the girls on this side of the Atlantic, he points out there is a different system employed in "courting the English girls." "When we take them to a show or dance, they take us out the next time or they just don't go. The girls explain they have as much right to take us out as we have to take them out," the letter continues. "I met a nice girl here who is in the women's army as a chauffeur. She knows the town pretty well and we have been taking in the shows and dances together. I have been down to her place quite often and her parents make me feel quite at home."

"All the rest of the boys are well and, although they are in different buildings, we see each other quite often. We have agreed that cigarettes would be the most appreciated gift we could receive from home right now. They are quite expensive here."

A taste of Canadian type climate visited the Canadian troops about three weeks ago when the section of country in and about Aldershot was a glare sheet of ice from rainy, freezing weather. Private Phillips revealed the troops will receive another new uniform. One will be used to drill in and the other uniform will be worn to "rough it in." "We are also getting smart new great coats and we have been issued with English boots for drill and are they ever heavy," the letter continued.

"We are all learning to play football and I am on the regiment team. We were to play the Toronto Scottish Regiment today but it rained and so we will be playing them next Sunday."

Adding the English influence at the close of his letter, Private Phillips signed with a "Cheerio." He explained the English people teach him not to use the words good-bye but Cheerio."

Governor's Church Founded In 1828

OTTAWA, Feb. 15 (CP)—St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, scene of Wednesday's funeral service for Lord Tweedsmuir, has a Scottish Presbyterian tradition that appealed to the Governor-General when he lived and provides a fitting background for Canada's last formal good-bye to the lowland peer.

The mother church of Presbyterianism in Ottawa, it stands a towering Gothic edifice at the corner of Wellington and Kent streets a few blocks west of Parliament Hill.

The church was founded in 1828 by Scottish pioneers. A small building was built on the site first by Scottish workmen here constructing the Rideau canal, and as the years passed new structures were erected until the present imposing one was built.

Lord Tweedsmuir joined St. Andrew's when he arrived in Ottawa in 1935 and later became an elder. As frequently as possible, Lord and Lady Tweedsmuir attended Sunday services, sitting in the front row before the pulpit. For the state funeral the casket was placed before his old pew.

To the right of the vice-regal pew is the lectern where his excellency frequently read the scripture lesson during the service.

Subsidy Cut Rouses Protests

Mayors Call Rally For Tuesday; 'Banditry' Says Day

TORONTO, Feb. 16. —(CP). — Many Ontario municipalities signified intention to-day of being represented at a meetng of the Ontario Mayors' Association in Toronto next Tuesday when protest will be made formally against an Ontario government budget announcement that municipalities will get a subsidy of one mill on their general assessments this year instead of the 1½ mills received in 1939.

Mayor Stanley Lewis of Ottawa, secretary of the Mayors' Association, said last night that Ottawa will join other municipalities "in a vigorous protest against the grossly unjust cut in the subsidy."

"The subsidy decrease will cost the city of Ottawa $77,206.90 annually," he said. "And may force a half-mill increase in the city tax rate for 1940."

Mayor Ralph Day of Toronto, said that the "proposed reduction borders on banditry." Toronto Control Board assembled in special session to-day to consider the situation.

Heads of municipalities said they were faced with readjustment of budgets by the government action. Mr. Day said that the government gave one mill to the city when it took over monies formerly collected from income tax.

Share of Gas Tax.

"The other half-mill given last year was our share of the increase of two cents a gallon on the gasoline tax . Why should we not continue to receive our share?"

Mayor Joseph Meinzinger of Kitchener said the reduction was a "sad blow" but that "I expected it." Chatham and Kent County officials expressed hope the reduction will not bring an increased tax rate.

"It is going to create a hardship

336 Candidates Now In Field

TORONTO, Feb. 16 (CP)—A total of 336 candidates have been endorsed by constituency political associations for the Dominion general elections on March 26.

An unofficial tabulation by The Canadian Press today showed Liberals have 119 candidates in the field across Canada and the Conservatives have 115. The Cooperative Commonwealth Federation has already nominated 71 candidates, and the remaining 31 are of various political stripes, including Social Crediters, Communists and Independents.

For Ontario's 82 federal seats 146 candidates have been nominated and the lists are fairly well filled from Manitoba to the Pacific coast, but only a sprinkling of candidates appears so far in Quebec and the Maritimes. The routine nominating conventions halted when war broke out last September and from then until parliament was dissolved on Jan. 25 virtually no conventions were held. Now they are coming with a rush.

On War Path

London, Feb. 16 (CP Cable)

DETERMINED to save the kilt for Scotland's famous regiments, the chiefs of Highland clans and Scottish members of parliament visited the war office today to seek reversal of the ban on the kilt as a battle dress. A promise was obtained that the whole case will be laid before Oliver Stanley, Secretary of State for War.

It was made clear that the group seeks retention of the kilt not merely as a walking out dress but as battle dress. It was argued that in the last war kilted regiments suffered no more from gas attacks than other regiments. The war office has contended that poison gases might cause severe burns to exposed knees.

Norwegians Vie In Rescue On Wild Atlantic

NEW YORK, Feb. 16. — (AP)— Twelve members of the British freighter Sea Rambler, rescued from their sinking craft last Saturday about 540 miles east of St. Johns, Nfld., arrived today on the Norwegian freighter Mosdale.

The 13 others were saved by the Norwegian tanker Kaia Knudsen, bound for Europe.

"It was a magnificent piece of seamanship," said Alexander McLean, 34, of Lossiemouth, Scotland, describing how Thor Bille, third mate of the Mosdale, worked his lifeboat crew through heavy seas and a blinding snowstorm.

Instructors To Train At Trenton

OTTAWA, Feb. 16—(CP). — The air station at Trenton, Ont., will become a training centre for instructors, arrangements having been completed by the Royal Canadian Air Force for the concentration there of facilities for training flying instructors and specialists in air armaments.

The Defence Department announced today that air armament school and the flying instructors' school, for which provision has been made under the British Commonwealth air training plan, are now functioning at Trenton and a repair depot will be established there.

When operating at full capacity, the total personnel at Trenton will exceed 1,600. Of this number, little more than 200 will be under instruction at one time.

As instructors qualify, they will be sent forth to take their place in schools for training pilots, air observers and air gunners.

70 Planes To Care For.

A large proportion of the personnel will be responsible for maintaining the approximately 70 aircraft which will be in active operation and in immediate reserve at Trenton.

France Encourages Volunteers to Aid Finns Sends Anti-Tank Guns, Planes; Hitler Press Sees U.K. Trap for Scandinavia

PARIS, Feb. 16—(AP).—A French Government spokesman said today France is sending a great many anti-tank guns to Finland as well as other artillery and airplanes.

He added that any foreign resident in France volunteering to join the Finnish army would be permitted to leave the country.

French General To Lead Volunteers

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 16—(CP-Havas).—Unconfirmed reports here today said General Clement Grandcour, formerly of the French army, is taking command of a Finnish Foreign Legion which will include all foreign volunteers in Finland except the Swedes.

General Grandcour was on the retired list when the war between France and Germany broke out. He enlisted in the French army as a sergeant. Later he went to Finland.

Hitler's Press Sure Finland Doomed

BERLIN, Feb. 16—(AP). — Adolf Hitler's newspaper Voelkischer Beobachter in a three-column article today asserted that a complete defeat of Finland by Russia is inevitable.

The article repeated the familiar German contention that Great Britain hopes to prolong the Russian-Finnish conflict by persuading the Scandinavian countries to jump in to help the Finns.

"Much of the world press which is sympathetic to Finland has published wild reports of Finnish victories when under winter conditions the Finns succeeded occasionally in cutting Russian communications," Beobachter said.

Finns In Retreat On Isthmus Moscow Claims

MOSCOW, Feb. 16 — (AP). — Russia's vast military machine was reported in Red army communique today to be smashing its way along the Karelian Isthmus toward Kamara, 15 miles from Viborg, having captured 53 more Finnish "defensive fortifications."

"The enemy is retreating to the rear, abandoning arms and war materials and suffering grave losses," the Russians said.

(In Helsingfors, however, Finns said they were holding vital positions and exacting heavy toll on the Russians).

Seizure of the 53 fortifications was the largest claim made by the Russians since the war started. It brought to 153 the number of such fortifications the Soviet has reported captured in the 15-day isthmus drive.

Ontario Offers $1,000 Reward In Hit-Run Death

TORONTO, Feb. 16.—Attorney-General Conant announced last night that the Ontario Government would pay $1,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the driver who hit Mrs. Grace Aston, Monday night, and ran carrying the woman's body for more than a mile.

Mrs. Aston was struck by a motor vehicle somewhere on Bloor street between Margueretta and Dufferin streets, and her body was found on College street near Dovercourt road.

Mr. Conant said in the formal announcement that, in the event of more than one person claiming a share in the reward, it shall be apportioned "in such manner as Attorney-General deems just, and in these and all matters of dispute his decision shall be final."

The city's reward was raised from $100 to $200 by the Board of Police Commissioners yesterday. Police have discovered no eye-witnesses of the tragedy.

Fully Willing To Aid In Other Ways Says Swede Premier

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 16 — (AP).— Premier Per Albin Hansson declared to-day that a request by Finland for "transport of Swedish military groups to Finland" had been declined on the grounds that Sweden's position in regard to assisting her neighbors was unchanged.

Hansson's statement, contained in a communique, was occasioned by reports in the Stockholm press that Finnish Government leaders had informed Sweden they must have more help or face the necessity of "concluding peace with the Soviet in a manner greatly concerning Sweden."

The communique said:

"On various occasions the Swedish government has entertained from the Finnish government proposals concerning deliveries of necessities. These proposals generally could be filled. The question of giving injured and invalided care in Sweden also was discussed, as well as sending civil workers from Sweden to Finland."

Stand Pat On Resolution.

"Steps were taken in these respects.

"During a visit in Stockholm, members of the Finnish Government then took up the question of personal military assistance. Only last Tuesday the Finnish Foreign Minister had talks about this matter with the Swedish Prime Minis-

Capt. R. Maxwell Enlists In R.A.F. At 47

TORONTO, Feb. 16 — (CP). — Captain Roy Maxwell, one of Canada's best-known fliers, has enlisted with the Royal Canadian Air Force training command here with the rank of flying officer, it was learned to-day. He is 47.

Maxwell trained fliers in Camp Borden and Texas during the First Great War. In 1920 he made history by taking the first flight to Moose Factory on James Bay. He has made many "mercy flights" and in 1924 was made head of the newly formed Provincial Air Service, which he organized and directed until 1935.

Before joining the R.C.A.F. he was with Baillie-Maxwell Limited, which operated from Nakina, Ont., and carried freight by airplane.

Strategic Summa Now In Soviet Hands Battle Still Raging

HELSINGFORS, Feb. 16.—(AP).— The Finnish command announced today that the Russians had penetrated farther into Finland's Mannerheim Line positions in the great battle of the Karelian Isthmus but declared that Russian gains had been bought at the price of great losses.

This acknowledgment of Russian gains in the 16-day battle was made in the army's daily communique issued shortly after a Finnish military officer told correspondents the invading Red army had seized part of the village of Summa. Around that village the severest part of the Isthmus battle has been fought.

After already having acknowledged some Russian gains on Feb. 13, the Finns in their communique today said:

"East of the Summa sector and at a couple of outpoints in a defile between Lake Muolo and the Vuoksi River the enemy succeeded in penetrating to our positions."

"Elsewhere attacks were repulsed," said the communique of other Isthmus fighting, and semi-official advices up to the time of issuance of the communique indicated that the Finnish Mannerheim Line, the country's main line of defence, was holding firm.

The line is a deep series of fortifications so arranged that positions can be lost without necessarily risking a serious break.

Finns On Top Elsewhere

The communique indicated there was relatively little land fighting elsewhere yesterday, and stated that the Finns were victorious in what there was. The communique said the defenders repulsed attacks northeast of Lake Ladoga, where "our forces captured one of the enemy's positions." The Russian losses were said to be "heavy."

Merchant Crews Learning To Handle Guns

CARDIFF, Wales, Feb. 16.—(CP) —British merchant seamen are rapidly learning how to handle the guns with which their ships are equipped to counter U-boat or airplane attacks.

Hundreds of them are attending gunery training schools established here and at many other ports. Those at Cardiff include a captain whose unarmed vessel was under fire for three hours from German submarines during the last war. He did not give in and he will have a rude surprise for an enemy U-boat trying similar tactics this time.

Said a high naval officer: "They are really a magnificent lot; submarines, mines, torpedoes — they don't care a damn."

More than half Britain's huge merchant fleet has been equipped with four-inch guns to deal with U-boats and 12-pounders to chase off airplanes. Eighteen days after a ship asks for a gun to be mounted she goes to sea again with one or two guns in her stern and a trained gun crew on board.

Technical experts examine the ships to determine how best to strengthen the decks to withstand the terrific downward thrust exerted when a four-inch gun is fired.

Paravanes, anti-mine device invented during the first Great War by Admiral C. V. Usborne, also are carried by many merchant vessels.

Mail Plane Down In Wilds North Of Halifax

HALIFAX, Feb. 16—(CP). — Over snow-covered woodlands and lakes northwest of Halifax, search was resumed today for an airplane and two occupants a day overdue on a flight from Moncton, N.B., to Halifax which normally takes 70 minutes.

A blizzard was believed to have forced down the Canadian Airways monoplane carrying Pilot Jimmy Wade of Moncton and James Noonan, Halifax oil company office manager, on a regular mail run between the two cities. The plane carried no radio.

Search yesterday by another Canadian Airways ship failed to turn up any trace of the Stinson "Reliant" machine that set out shortly before the storm blew up. It had been reported in the air at several points along the line of flight, and a man in suburban Rockingham told of seeing it and then hearing a "loud noise that sounded like a crash" after it disappeared into the storm.

H. S. Jones, Maritime superintendent of Canadian Airways, who began the air search, said he believed the machine was down on some frozen lake outside Halifax.

Seemed Looking For Port.

The report of the apparent 'crash' came from William Gifford of Rockingham, six miles outside the city. He said he saw the machine with two other men.

"The plane came down quite low—about 150 feet—and seemed to turn on its side as if the pilot was looking for the airport," he said. "The three of us saw it circle around

Citizens Urged To Unite In Drive To Attract American Tourists

An appeal to every citizen in Peterborough city and county to unite in a campaign of publicity to attract American tourists was embodied in a resolution passed at the annual meeting of the Peterborough Fish and Game Association in the Paragon Hall last night.

Max Humphries of Hastings told the meeting that he has been receiving enquiries from the States which indicated that Americans believed many restrictions had been put in force in Canada because of the war. "They think if they come to Canada their cars will be seized and they will be conscripted into the army. They believe that food is scarce and that every city is blacked out at night". He expressed the opinion that every person in this district should take a part in breaking down these damaging rumors.

Asked To Write Friends

Mr. Humphries' suggestion was that every person in the district who has friends or relatives in the States, write a letter to them explaining the true state of affairs in Canada and telling them that there are absolutely no restrictions and that taking a holiday in Canada in war time is exactly the same as taking one in peace time. This motion was seconded by Ted Outram who also emphasized the need of taking determined action in refuting rumors in the States which might injure the tourist business.

It was explained at the meeting that there are no restrictions, no passports are needed, a tourist can bring in or take out $100 in currency. He can also obtain 10 per cent premium for all the American money he has. Personal affects to the value of over one hundred dollars can be brought in and taken out without fuss, and an American can take 100 dollars worth of goods purchased in Canada. There are no taxes, no restrictions, no delay at the border, and no danger of anyone being conscripted because we can't even take care of the Canadians who want to enlist now.

War Aids Tourist

In brief the war works to the advantage of the American tourist because they obtain $110 for every $100 because of the favorable exchange rate.

The second resolution introduced by Charley Kingan was given unanimous support and seconded by Herb Routley. It was agreed a let-

Hunter Proposes Ontario Vote Aid To Finland

TORONTO, Feb. 16—(CP). — Ontario Legislature today turned to the disposal of several non-contentious bills, reported out of committees, in a drive to reach prorogation by the end of next week. Debate on the budget address delivered yesterday by Premier Mitchell Hepburn will start next week.

The budget shared the spotlight yesterday with an unprecedented proposal, made by Col. Fraser Hunter (Lib. Toronto-St. Patrick) that the legislature should vote money to aid training men for a war in which neither Canada nor Britain are participants. Col. Hunter wanted help for Finland right away.

Balked on previous occasions by the rule which prevents a private member introducing a resolution requiring the expenditure of money, Col. Hunter yesterday rose to a question of "public importance" and made his plea for help to Finland.

"What Canadian could ever hold up his head again if he were to allow the debauch of murder of Finland?" asked Col. Hunter. "No victory that the years will bring to us will ever resuscitate a destroyed Poland or a massacred Finland. Now is the time for action. It is your money or gallant Finland's life."

Recruiting For Finland

Col. Hunter said he wished no secret to be made of the fact he was aiding recruiting for Finland.

Soviet-German Trade Best Since Before '14

MOSCOW, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Izvestia, Soviet government organ, declared today that trade between Russia and Germany in the first year of their new economic agreement signed five days ago would exceed the peak year since the first Great War.

The newspaper said both sides expressed a desire to increase their trade turnover in the future.

"The economic agreement will provide Germany with necessary raw materials produced in large amounts in the U.S.S.R. and so much needed by Germany in view of the blockade organized by the Allies," the newspaper said.

"The economic agreement will contribute to the extension of foreign trade of the U.S.S.R. which now will experience no difficulties on account of the fact that trade of the U.S.S.R. with England and France has been reduced practically to nothing by the will of the governments of those countries.

"Even before the outbreak of war, England and France cancelled a number of Soviet orders previously placed with their factories and thus undermined their trade with the U.S.S.R. and prejudiced their own interests.

(Great Britain was negotiating with Russia for a trade agreement when the Russo-German pact was signed.)

Crossing Smash Kills 2 Men

HAMILTON, Ont., Feb. 16— (CP) —Toll of a level crossing accident between a passenger train and an automobile reached two to-day with the death in hospital of Kenneth Sanders, 30, Stoney Creek insurance agent. K. C. Bond, 33, Hamilton building contractor, was killed in the crash. The accident occurred last night at Hannon, five miles south of here, when a car driven by Sanders skidded into the engine of the train. Frank H. Wells, 50, London, and N. J. Hall, 37, Mount Hamilton, other passengers in the car, were injured and taken to hospital.

Hall was released after treatment but Wells is recovering from multiple lacerations and abrasions and his condition is reported "fair."

The men were on their way to Hamilton from Welland and skid marks on the road showed that Sanders attempted to stop the car at the crossing. The car, however, skidded into the engine, was turned around, dragged a few feet, then shunted nto a gully at the side of the track.

Material Delay To Tie Up Shipyards 6 Weeks On Kingston War Orders

TORONTO, Feb. 16.—(CP).—Little material change was reported today in the industrial conditions in Ontario in the weekly reports from the unemployment offices of the Labor Department. Demand for farm help was generally stable with Owen Sound saying that "indications are that there will be a scarcity of farm help."

Sarnia reported a noticeable increase in the registration of married men for farm work. Trade generally was "very quiet." Pembroke said things were better because of the re-employment of 80 men at the Petawawa military camp.

At Brantford there were 350 fewer unemployed than a year ago. Farm implement manufacturers had a pay roll of 1,600, better than last year but still 400 to 500 below the 1929 level. The January relief rolls showed 3,193 persons, compared with 5,661 a year ago.

Hamilton said there was no shortage of skilled labor. All firms with war orders are canvassed daily to make sure there is no hold up in production.

It will be six weeks before Kingston ship yards can start on their National Defence orders, the Employment Service reported. Material will not arrive before that time.

Relief Figures Down

London said factories were not taking on any extra men. On relief here in January were 4,038 persons compared to 5,896 a year ago. Niagara Falls said "no change in the industrial situation. Factories are all running on a full time basis with indications pointing to staff increases within a short time."

Demand for good machinists and tool makers with supply very limited, was reported from St. Catharines. Manufacturers reported business improving generally.

Registration of unemployed building mechanics showed considerable increase at St. Thomas. Construction was expected to start this week on new buildings at the Royal Canadian Air Force training centre.

Windsor said "there was no material change in conditions in the automobile industries." Last week there were 9,705 persons on relief, an increase of 32 over the previous week.

Brazilians Jump Nazi Freighter On Amazon Order Her To Shut Radio Or Put To Sea

BELEM, Brazil, Feb. 16 (AP)— Twelve Brazilian marines boarded the German freighter Koenigsberg in Brazilian waters today and the Brazilian gunboat Amapa stationed itself nearby to ensure compliance with the Brazilian neutrality law prohibiting operation of a ship's wireless for communication with belligerents.

The Koenigsberg was boarded as she lay 55 miles from Belem but in Brazilian territorial waters.

Maritime authorities yesterday ordered the vessel either to sail outside territorial waters or return to Belem, whence she had sailed Feb. 8 with 2,000 tons of rubber. This action was taken when it was discovered the ship had installed wireless antennae which made it possible for her to communicate with German warships in violation of the neutral-

Sub Raids Stir Norwegian Threat To Cease Sailings To Germany

OSLO, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Norwegian seamen's organizations protested today against Germans methods of sea warfare the "only aim of which seems to be to terrorize neutral ships," but said they could not be driven to stay ashore.

Their protest was registered in a resolution handed to foreign Minister Halvdan Koht. Captains, engine crews and ordinary seamen were represented by the various organzations.

"It may be possible to annihilate Norwegian seamen," the resolution said in part, "but it is not possible to scare them ashore.

"What we can do will be done. We may urge our members not to sail in ships carrying cargoes to that belligerent nation who has set herself the proud war aim of murdering defenceless seamen."

The resolution further asked that future trade agreements take into fuller consideration the question of wartime trade.

LONDON, Feb.16—(CP)— Reuters news agency reported it understood two Danish ships, the 1,066-ton passenger vessel Sleipner and the 1,064-ton Rhone, had been torpedoed off the east coast of England today and were feared lost.

It said six persons were believed saved from the Rhone and 12 from the Sleipner. Total aboard each was not given, however.

The agency also reported two Norwegian vessels are overdue and presumed to have been lost. They were the 1,000-ton Bisp which left a British port January 20 with a cargo of coal for Norway and the 1,168-ton Start. The Bisp had a crew of 16.

Finns Admit Summa In Red Hands

20,000 Shells An Hour Blast Defenders; Dead Blanket Front

HELSINGFORS, Feb. 16 — (AP) —The Finns admitted to-day that the Red army had seized at least part of the village of Summa on the shell-churned Mannerheim Line, but declared that the security of that vital defensive system was not affected.

A military informant indicated that the great Russian drive, now in its 16th day, had reached its foremost points on February 13 and that there had been no new gains since then.

But, he said, the Russians were and presumably still are in Summa Village, around which have raged the fiercest phases of the great battle which the Finns liken to France's stand at Verdun in the First Great War. The village has been demolished by shellfire, he added.

Summa is 20 miles south-east of Viborg (Viipuri), Finland's second largest city, and apparent objective of the Russian drive.

Reds Fell Like Wheat

Finnish machine guns are mowing down Russian infantry "like wheat," the Finns reported to-day, but the Soviet drive on the Karelian Isthmus is continuing with unabated fury.

The Finns, in communiques and in the statements of officers, said they were hanging on to all vital positions, but within two days have called up the classes of 1896-97—men of 42 to 44 years—to combat the Russian onslaught.

A Finnish officer from Summa declared Finnish losses were "phenominally low" because of deep dugouts and well-camouflaged machine gun nests. Concentrated artillery fire, he said, dropped 20,000 shells on the 10-mile front in a single hour.

"Yet, when the artillery ceased and the Russian infantry and tanks attacked," he said, "we all seemed to be still there, for all our machine-gun posts were mowing down the Russians like wheat."

All of no man's land in that sector is covered with Russian dead, he said.

"On this occasion the transport of Swedish military troops was requested. From the Swedish side the matter was referred to the enunciated Swedish principles governing assistance to Finland as declared in the speech of the Swedish Prime Minister in the Swedish Riksdag January 17 and which were generally accepted.

"There has been no change in this position."

In the speech mentioned Hansson declared Sweden would give Finland all material and humanitarian help possible, but that her efforts would be limited to such assistance.

No official mention was made of published reports that Finland, if unable to obtain direct military aid from Sweden, would request such aid from Great Britain and France. Assistance from this direction would entail the question of whether Sweden and Norway would permit transit across their territories.

Some diplomatic circles believe that Sweden, with her neutrality status becoming increasingly delicate as Finland's urgency increases under Russian pressure, may soon issue an official declaration on this matter.

Not stopping Volunteers.

While refraining from offering any outright military aid to Finland, the Swedish government has placed no obstacles in the path of Swedes desiring to volunteer for the Finnish service. Many officers and man have resigned from the Swedish army to go to Finland to fight.

Estimates on the number of Swedish volunteers now bearing arms for Finland vary greatly. Despatches from Copenhagen in January put the number at 6,000, but unofficial figures from Helsingfors estimated the total at about 1,000. It is known that at least four contingents of Swedish volunteers have reached Finland, and one of these contingents— according to reports from Stockholm — numbered 500 men.

Reports from the war front also have indicated that Swedish fliers have been active in Finland, especially in the Arctic Salla front and north-east of Lake Ladoga.

The newspaper Aftonbladet said that Finland, having failed to win direct aid fro mSweden, had declared she either must conclude peace with Russia or get direct help from the Western Powers.

Curvin, Weese Bowl High In City League

Piling up 3601 pins for a 4-0 win over Grant's gave the pace-setting Gordon's the top place in team scoring in the City League last night. Heavy individual hitting featured the night's play with Tom Curvin and Bud Weese shooting well up over the 800 mark. Curvin threw in a fine 848 which enabled the Duffus five to bust their second place tie with Jay's Cigars while the speedy Weese crashed off a nifty 818 in the Gordon win.

After a disastrous previous week Grafton's bounced right back in the running when they trimmed Capitol Grill 3 to 1, while the bewildered C.G.E. crew had all they could do to hold the Lock Works to a tie.

Tom Curvin chalked up 368 to top the six big singles which were tossed out. Sid Trowbridge hit 358, Bud Weese 334, Len Anthony 316, Frank McCormack 309 and Frank Wood 309.

After last night's results the standing now shows Gordon's with 60 points, Duffus' 43, Jay's 41, Capitols 40, C.G.E. 38, Grafton's 37, Grant's 20 and Lock Works 9.

MORE ABOUT—
Finns Said

struction of isolated enemy detachments continued," said the communique.

The Finns reported they bombed Russian encampments and railways and stations behind the Russian lines, and "engaged in several successful air battles."

The communique said 500 Russian planes took part in raids on the Isthmus in which earlier advices had reported 34 persons were killed and 60 injured in raids on towns. The Finns said they shot down eight enemy planes.

Principal attention continued to be centred on the Isthmus fighting, in which the Russians 16 days ago launched a great offensive which has been almost ceaseless since and in which the Finns state they have mowed the invading troops down "like wheat."

A military informant said prior to issuance of today's communique that the Russians had made no gains since Feb. 13.

No Troops Likely?

LONDON, Feb. 16—(CP)—British spokesmen today minimized the possibility of regular troops being sent by the western powers to aid Finland in comment on Stockholm advices that Finland would ask such aid as an alternative to suing for peace with Russia.

They said that aside from political considerations it would be difficult technically for the Allies to place sizeable active service detachments on the Finnish battlefront immediately.

Most of Britain's trained troops are either in France or engaged in training conscripts—the latest of whom, 23-year-olds will register tomorrow.

One source asserted Britain has any army in training for conditions "different from those in Finland."

"Any British troops would require a period of seasoning and acclimatization unless they were to fill hospitals instead of trenches and that would take too long for them to be of aid in the Mannerheim Line crisis.

"It would seem like the present is either too late or too soon if all aspects are considered for the Allies formally to send active service units to Finland's aid."

Just before the clash with Russia, Finland received huge electric generators from Germany to be installed in new hydro-electric plants.

Cash grains business was featured by sale of 250,000 bushels of No. 1 Northern wheat for shipment from head of the Lakes at the opening of navigation. Resting orders in barley contributed to a steady price trend in the coarse grains pit.

Charles Kingan Re-elected Association Head

Charles Kingan, dynamic president of the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association for 1939 was unanimously re-elected at the annual meeting of the Association held last night in Paragon Hall.

S. O. Shields who was returned as secretary-treasurer said the Association had a very busy year and expenditures had totalled $421.74 which was in excess of the cash on hand. This condition, however, had been quickly rectified by the scrounging activities of the president who obtained a grant from the County Council, a grant from the City Council, and donations from several private citizens. The financial statement showed a credit balance of $65. Mr. Shields said that only half of the $100 grant from the city had been used. The speaker lauded the president for his fine work and for his co-operation during the year.

E. A. Outram, who presided during the election of officers, described the president as "one who gets things done," and went on to describe the splendid work the president had done during his first year in office.

Alex. L. Elliott, M.P.P., was named honorary president. Fred Goodfellow is vice-president and Herb. Routley is second vice this year. The executive consists of ten men elected at last night's meeting, two members to be appointed by the City Council, and two members to be named by the County Council.

Following are the members for 1940: Wallace Harvey, Sid Black, E. A. Outram, Fred Rappe, Max Humphries, E. G. Wagar, Chris Graham, George English, Chris Hughes, and Stewart Brown of Apsley.

Aged Residents Of Anson House And Red Cross

A worthwhile contribution towards Red Cross war work is being made by Anson House residents, Miss A. M. Robinson, superintendent, told members of the Board at the annual meeting on Wednesday. Since the outbreak of war, residents have subscribed $21.00 to the Red Cross Society, and pledged at least $4.50 monthly for the duration of the war. In addition, 49 pairs of socks, 12 night shirts and 12 hospital binders have been sent, and approximately 13 to 15 pairs of socks will be turned in each month.

The loss of four outstanding friends who have had the welfare of the institution at heart was mentioned with regret by the secretary, Mrs. F. M. Somerville, in her 78th annual report of the Board of Directors. Their names are: Mr. E. F. Mason, a devoted member of the Board for many years; Mr. W. G. Morrow, a friend who will ever be remembered for his unfailing kindnes sto the aged; Mrs. G. M. Roger, who in years past gave unstintingly of her services when she acted as secretary, and Miss Emma Denne, who for many years faithfully represented St. John's Anglican church. "In saying farewell to these true and faithful friends," she said, "may it be thought of them that they departed sustained and soothed by an unfaltering trust."

The many friends of Anson House have kept up their interest, as has been evidenced by visits and entertainments. During the year the Board has held 12 regular and 1 special meeting, with an average attendance of 9. 73 persons have been lodged in the Home from January 1st, 1939, to January 1st, 1940. On January 1st, 1940, there were 32 residents, 8 men and 24 women, and at present there are 33 residents, 9 men and 24 women.

For the protection of those who make Anson House their home, Mrs. Somerville reported, a fire alarm system has been installed which, in addition to almost instant house alarm, has two direct connections with the City Fire Department. This major undertaking was made possible largely by the bequest of the late Mr. W. G. Morrow, and in addition to the protection afforded the residents, brings a greater sense of security to the Board.

As usual the garden, under Mr. Northey's care, has flourished and yielded abundantly, providing much valuable produce in the fall. Evidence of the special care of the superintendent, Miss Robinson, is not lacking anywhere. In addition to her many duties, the interior of the house bears testimony to her taste and ability, while in summer, due to her supervision, the grounds are made beautiful with flowers.

The following bequests have been received during the year: Mr. W. G. Morrow, Mr. Robert Reid and the Helen Reid Estate. Grateful thanks on behalf of the Board was expressed by Mrs. Somerville to the clergy of the city; the physicians; the members of the press, and all others who so whole-heartedly had given of their services to Anson House during the year.

The annual statement is as follows: Current assets, $1,672.79; capital assets, $1,095.87; investments, $40,600.00; value real estate and equipment, $36,718.82; total assets, $80,087.48. Surplus account. December 31, 1938, $77,630.62, add bequests, W. G. Morrow Estate, $1,000.00; R. W. Reid Estate, $62.50; Helen Reid Estate, $1,196.60; total, $79,889.72. Net loss for year, $302.24, total surplus, $79,587.48, William Trust reserve, $500.00, total liabilities, $80,087.48.

1940 officers are as follows: Honorary president, Mrs. Robert Neill; president, Mrs. F. M. DelaFosse; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Duncan Walker; 2nd vice-president, Miss Archer; secretary, Mrs. F. M. Somerville. Directors, Mrs. C. I. Suckling, Miss Laura Davidson, Mrs. F. L. Robinson, Mrs. W. H. Hill, Mrs. F. M. Somerville, Mrs. E. E. Harvey, Mrs. R. R. Hall, Mrs. W. C. Ackerman. Mayor Hamilton, Mr. H. A. Morrow.

Convict Tunnels To Doom Prison

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 16 (AP)—Pennsylvania may abandon the 111-year-old Cherry Hill branch of Eastern State Penitentiary — condemned as "awful" in 1842 by Charles Dickens and where, Warden Herbert Smith jocularly admitted today, convicts "are always digging holes."

A budding outbreak that might have freed an estimated 200 men was nipped at the institution two days ago by discovery of two 35-foot tunnels leading toward opposite walls.

After touring the buildings and talking to some of the 10 convicts directly involved in the attempted escape, the state welfare secretary, E. Arthur Sweeny declared last night he thought the prison should be moved from Philadelphia as soon as a new building program can be financed.

The warden disclosed that some 30 tunnels have been found within the prison walls in a two-year period. Discovery of tunnels is considered so routine, he said, that they seldom are reported.

Nearly two-thirds of the tobacco shipped from Cuba last year was destined for the United States.

Senator J. J. Duffus

Citizens of the city and district, regardless of their political affiliations, have been delighted with the announcement that J. J. Duffus has been honored by promotion to the Senate of Canada.

It is always a source of satisfaction when a home town boy makes good and Senator Duffus takes his seat in the Red chamber, conscious of the fact that when the city council recently expressed the hope that he should be so rewarded for his services to this section of Ontario it was merely making articulate the sentiment of citizens generally.

Concensus of local opinion regards the appointment as richly merited both on the ground of service to the whole district and in the narrower sphere of service to his party. As an alderman and later as mayor, as a member of the Federal parliament, as an executive of the Trent Waterway Development Association, the Plowmen's Association and in other public and semi-public capacities Senator Duffus has never spared himself. He has been a tireless worker who threw himself into the task at hand with every ounce of determination and energy that could be summoned for the work to be done. Any movement that aimed at the betterment of Peterborough and of the whole district found in him a stout champion and he has given lavishly of his time and energy to promoting all kind of causes that seemed to him likely to benefit the section of Ontario in which he was born and where he has always lived.

Of his party service it is perhaps sufficient to say that the Central Ontario Liberal Association owes the major part of its success to the organizing ability and the never-give-up-the-ship spirit of the man who has just been honored by his leader by promotion to the Upper House.

Peterborough feels that in Senator Duffus it is making a notable contribution to the Red chamber.

The Hepburn Budget

The Hepburn budget has to be studied in the light of the fact that we are at war to get the right slant. With an expected surplus of $150,872 transformed into a deficit of $4,444,929 and with the necessity of balancing the budget this year staring the administration in the face there wasn't a great deal that Mr. Hepburn could do other than seeking more revenue on the one hand and curtailing expenditure on the other.

For the additional revenue he has decided to take a much larger slice of the income of corporations. He proposes to cut down the overhead by cutting the subsidy to municipalities by half a mill, by substantial decreases in educational grants which are slashed nearly a million dollars and by chopping 40 per cent. off the relief appropriations. New capital expenditures are to be avoided and Mr. Hepburn hopes that he will be able to record a surplus on the year's operations.

Retrenching is never popular with those who are directly hit and Ontario municipalities which will lose $1,500,000 in revenue by reason of the subsidy slash could scarcely be expected to greet the Hepburn announcement with cheers. Those who are affected by the reduction in educational grants will also feel that they are being discriminated against.

After all, however, we are at war and it is essential that spending bodies should reduce expenditures wherever possible. That we feel will be the viewpoint of the majority of citizens.

The two real danger points in the budget, we believe, are the large reduction in relief appropriations which may have been based on too optimistic a view of the outlook and the chance that business and industry may be crippled by the heavy corporation levy. It is true that it is only for one year but if it has the effect that some executives fear one year may prove enough to do a lot of harm.

The Athletes Respond

The athletes of the country seem to be taking these calls for men of action in Canada's parliament literally. They're rallying to the colors with commendable enthusiasm.

Already some of them are in the field and others are spoken of as possibilities. Lionel Conacher started the movement when he was a successful candidate for a seat in the Legislature. Then Sylvanus Apps, star centre player of the Toronto Maple Leafs hockey team, came along and accepted the Conservative nomination in Brant for the Dominion House. From Edmonton now comes the announcement that Percy Page, the perennially successful coach of the famous Edmonton grads girls' basketball team, will be a candidate in the present election. Gus Marker, one of Apps' team mates on the Leafs, has apparently caught the infection, for it is rumored that he may become a standard-bearer in his home riding of Camrose, Alta.

The movement is evidently gaining momentum. It may be a matter of argument whether an ability to skate circles around your opponents on the ice or to teach girls how to toss a big ball through a hoop gives candidates an edge over their opponents, but at all events there is a certain amount of color added to the political game by the introduction of names that have become famous in other fields of activity.

After all the hockey players learn the knack of skating on thin ice and that is something that is always of importance to the politicians who find themselves called upon to do it sometimes and often find it a rather difficult feat to perform without breaking through.

Worth Going After

Premier Hepburn has announced that the Ontario Government proposes to make an intensified drive for more tourist trade this year. That is good business. Europe as a vacation land is cut off from our American friends because of the war and thousands of citizens of the United States who have been accustomed to cross the Atlantic each year will spend their holidays this summer on this continent.

It is our opportunity to persuade them that Ontario is the logical place. We have plenty to offer them. Some of the finest scenery in America, hundreds of beautiful lakes and rivers, good fishing, unrivalled opportunity for bathing, sailing and canoe trips. There is no reason why, with an intelligent promotion campaign we cannot record a substantial increase in the volume of tourist traffic into this province. An excellent start has been made in the appointment of Douglas R. Oliver, experienced newspaperman, as director of publicity. He knows all the answers and if given half a chance should get worthwhile results.

The value to Ontario of the tourist industry to Ontario is indicated by a speech made the other day by D. J. Taylor, deputy minister of game and fisheries, in which he said that more revenue was received from the tourist trade than from any exportable commodity during the last year. As a matter of fact, the deputy minister stated the tourist industry last year amounted to $25,000,000 more than Ontario's gold production.

When the value of the friendship between the people of the two countries engendered by the visit here each summer of thousands of Americans is added to the actual cash dividends the vital importance of fostering the tourist industry in every way possible stands out in its true light.

Centralized Executions

Residents of the little Quebec town of St. Joseph de Beauce are petitioning the authorities to have a double hanging scheduled for later in the month carried out in some other place.

The anxiety of the town folk to have their little community spared the depressing effects of a legal execution is not difficult to understand. Other small places have had the same experience and their reaction has been similar.

Under the law as it stands at present the death penalty imposed on those convicted of murder must be carried out in the local jail in the judicial district in which the trial was held.

We believe that it is high time that regulation was tossed out of the window and the sensible plan adopted of having all executions carried out in the federal penitentiaries. The local jail authorities would then be relieved of the responsibility of guarding the condemned person until the date of execution and the community would be freed from the morbid and unnerving experience of a hanging in the county jail, which as often as not is so located that a certain amount of curiosity is inevitable.

Incidentally the Ottawa Journal points out a curious anomoly in the present situation. A murderer is convicted under Dominion law but remains in the custody of the authorities of the local jail until his execution, the responsibility for which rests upon the sheriff who is a provincial officer. On the other hand if he had been convicted of manslaughter instead of murder and sentenced to life, he would be removed from the local jail at once and confined in a penitentiary.

The whole setup should be brought up to date.

Hitler Knows

Some people seem to be worrying over one aspect of the present election. Political arguments, in which the conduct of the war will be discussed from the platform, in the newspapers and over the air, they complain, will serve to hearten the enemy and be accepted by them as evidence that Canada is not wholeheartedly behind Great Britain in the war.

We feel certain that there is no occasion to lose sleep over that feature of the campaign. Unless the Nazi intelligence system is a lot more stupid than we think it is the German leaders will not be able to drag much comfort out of the Canadian election. They are probably well aware of the fact that the issue in the political battle is not whether or not Canada should stay out of the war but rather as to whether the full weight of this country's resources is being thrown into the conflict.

Herr Hitler is not likely to find any consolation in a situation in which the only difference of opinion is as to which side can strike the stoutest blows against himself and what he stands for.

The former Kaiser once suffered under the delusion that the British Empire was falling apart and that the various Dominions would fail to rally around the Empire standard in the hour of peril. He found out between 1914 and 1918 how badly he was mistaken. The troops from the Dominions crushed some of his finest divisions and it was the Canadians and Australians who in August, 1918, were responsible for what Ludendorff called "Germany's blackest day."

Hitler knows those facts and he is not in the least likely to misunderstand the real significance of the present election.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Winter Hard on Germany, says a news heading. We haven't noticed that it has been very easy on us, either.

We are surprised that no politician has yet dug up the slogan, "How would Hitler vote?"

Dr. Finn has been appointed deputy minister of fisheries at Ottawa. After all there is something in a name.

Immigration into Canada last year amounted to only 16,994. That is in vivid contrast to the boom years before the first great war.

The Roosevelts do not seem to be lucky in their marriages. The President's eldest son has now filed suit for divorce.

It's getting tough for burglars. Here is a Toronto youth who routs one housebreaker by dropping the full length of a flight of stairs on top of the intruder.

It would be interesting to know how many of the Mosley Fascists in Britain are voluntering for service in Finland. Surely a chance for a blow at the Reds is just what they have been waiting for.

Peterborough without a senator from Confederation onward until five years ago now can smile complacently at the rest of the country. She has two of them now.

British life boat crews have saved more than 15,000 lives since the war began. The total shows the efficiency of the crews and also the perils seamen are facing in these troublesome days.

The bright thought for the day is that no matter who is called upon to govern Canada after the election we are due for a budget that will knock us back on our heels.

The United States non-military vote of $20,000,000 to Finland will be appreciated by the Finns but right now that amount in military supplies would have fitted into the picture better.

It is not often a political candidate sails into a snug berth soon after his nomination as has Senator J. J. Duffus. Named Liberal candidate only last Saturday, he is within the week a member of the Red Chamber.

Canadian Scots are being appealed to in behalf of the Scottish Red Cross which reports that the war has been making heavy calls upon its funds and the generous support of Scottish people everywhere is needed.

The announcement that Lord Tweedsmuir's last volume shortly to be published contains nothing about Canada will bring genuine regret. The Canadian book we have all been waiting for from the pen of John Buchan will never be written.

MY SOUL

My soul is an enchanted boat,
Which, like a sleeping swan doth float
Upon the silver waves of thy sweet singing;
And thine doth like an angel sit
Beside the helm conducting it,
Whilst all the winds with melody are ringing.
It seems to float ever, for ever,
Upon that many-winding river,
Between mountains, woods, abysses,
A paradise of wilderness!
Till, like one in slumber bound,
Borne to the ocean, I float around
Into a sea profound, of ever-spreading sound.

—Shelley.

Friendliness Is Shown In United States

IT IS ANNOUNCED that Canadian and American border patrol services are arranging a co-operative effort to prevent spies and saboteurs from crossing the line.

The extended border, of some 3,000 miles, and the opportunities for organizing and procuring explosives in the United States add to the possibility of raids on Canadian war industries. The co-operative effort, therefore, becomes highly important from the material point of view.

There is another respect in which it is important. Canadians will not be slow to note that the attitude of Americans on this particular matter is but one more item of evidence to prove their friendliness at a time when friendliness can be particularly helpful. In this case it is a form of friendliness which is strictly within the bounds of and is, in fact, demanded by neutrality. At the same time it is a little more than might be expected of the United States were it not so inclined.

Other evidences of a similar friendship have been seen in the past. It has been noted, for instance, that United States, which at other times in its history might have insisted upon full and complete recognition of its trading rights with all and sundry and its strength and dignity, has raised little or no objection to the Allied embargo which stops its people from trading with Germany and, to some extent, with European neutrals. Little objection has been raised even to examination of the mails and the confiscation of funds and other articles consigned to Germany, notwithstanding that the mails are and have been considered as something practically sacred.

For a time it was felt that as matters of record it was advisable to send notes of protest to Britain but within the past few days it has been announced from Washington that there will be no more "waspish notes" sent to Britain by United States officials in charge of neutrality. In future questions arising between the two governments will be settled in personal conferences between responsible officials.

What this means can be readily understood. It means that United States will do everything that is in any way reasonable to facilitate the Allied operations. Not being made matters of record these things may be even more helpful than formerly. The well-known ability of the British to negotiate and to comprehend and the known friendliness of the United States will most likely produce important results.

Another item that might be mentioned is the regulation issued some time ago that war planes purchased in the United States by belligerents could not be flown out but must be hauled over the border. This looked peculiar but it was soon realized that it prevented Germans from purchasing planes in the United States and flying over Canada to possibly drop bombs or make raids while ostensibly enroute home. It was highly satisfactory to this country and Britain.

Preceding all this was the amendment to the neutrality law which opened the way for Britain and France to make purchases of war materials in the United States while Germany was prevented from doing so by inability to take delivery. This was probably the most important of all friendly acts.

The many kind words of sympathy, approval and encouragement, although sometimes prompting sarcastic remarks about their futility in comparison to material things, are actually helpful. They give to Canada and Britain a sense of right and confirm them in the belief that they are engaged in a crusade that is worthwhile. They have great moral value.

Truly may it be said that, notwithstanding a little sniping that goes on in isolated places, the United States is making itself a good friend of Canada and the Allies and this country is not without appreciation of the fact.—Port Arthur News-Chronicle.

LONELY ISLAND

A GROUP of 21 "streamlined pioneers" is headed for a deserted island in the West Indies, to lead a simple, pastoral life, and all of us, harassed by the complexities of a frenzied age, will wish them well. But the good wishes must be mixed with doubt, for life on a remote island isn't what it used to be in the placid days of Robinson Crusoe or the Swiss Family Robinson.

Those early castaways had nothing to occupy them but rustling food and shelter, watching for a sail and reading a book or two salvaged from the wreck. Nowadays, there's the radio, which puts the most distant listener smack at the ringside of astonishing events, capable of shattering the calm of the most serene paradise. An inland spot is far more isolated today than a forgotten island, for the minute dots on maritime maps are favored sites for seaplane bases and submarine refueling. With naval warfare sprawling all over the world's oceans, the 21 settlers on East Caicos Island may find their siestas wrecked any day by another battle of Montevideo.

Shangri-La probably has a full house by this time, which leaves the Ozark caves as the best place to get away from it all.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

• The British Penchant For Quality

ANNOUNCEMENT that a new $1,250,000 factory is being hurried to completion in the pottery district of England is not, as might appear, one more step in rearmament; it is simply a necessary measure to meet the rapidly increasing demand for British pottery in all world markets, says the London Free Press. And it must never be forgotten that sale of British goods means new income of money vitally necessary to pay for arms and munitions.

This new factory, for which special permits and facilities have been issued by the British Board of Trade, will manufacture nothing more devastating than teapots, dinner plates, cups and saucers, and other items of household crockery.

British pottery firm executives state that since the outbreak of war their orders from the United States have "increased two-fold." It is to meet these new orders and to be able to keep this new market after the war that the factory and others are being built.

Says one of these executives: "There is only one secret about British pottery, its standard quality. Empire and all neutral countries know from long experience they can depend on quality in British pottery."

Perhaps this is why new outlets are being discovered in the Latin republics of South America and the West Indies.

There is a lesson for Canada in this story. For many years now our ministers of agriculture have been emphasizing, in their talks to farmers, the essential need of high quality products for their export trade, and of maintaining that quality. The rule applies in all sales. If the producer does not keep up the quality of his product he is doomed to disappear from the market. Quality spells success.

• Trains At 150 Miles An Hour

OVER a century ago Colonel John Stevens wrote to De Witt Clinton that there was nothing "to hinder steam carriages moving on their ways with a velocity of 100 miles per hour," says the New York Times. If the Colonel had average speed over long stretches in mind his prediction has not yet been fulfilled, not because his figure is unattainably high, but because tracks are not usually straight or level.

A hundred miles an hour is made often enough where the going is good, and an average of 60, the traditional speed of an express, is slow for the world's fastest long-distance trains. And all because of the development of the light, streamlined train since the introduction in 1934 of the Burlington's "Pioneer Zephyr" and the Union Pacific's "City of Salina."

From a survey published in The Technology Review by H. F. Lobdell it appears that between 1933 and 1938 the world's aggregate train mileages operated from start to stop at 60 miles an hour or more increased ninefold. More than speed is involved in this evolution. The Diese' engine, once limited to yard and branch line service, has completely transformed railway transportation. Of equal importance is the introduction of new light, strong alloys and of a new principle of car construction. Sleek as the trains may be, with no ugly projections to halt the eye as it sweeps over unbroken lines, the high speeds now maintained are explained not so much by streamlining as by the saving in weight. Indeed, it is impossible to streamline a standard-gauge train in its entirety.

In the offing are 150-mile-an-hour trains. Before they enter service we shall have to increase the weight of rails, align tracks more carefully, improve signalling methods, do away with many curves and crossovers. The faster the vehicle that travels on land, the finer must the road be. The attainment of speed involves far more than a simple change in motive power and rolling stock.

To The Editor

RE PETERBOROUGH CITY TRUST

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—The logical appointment to the position of Secretary of the Peterborough City Trust would be either the City Treasurer, Mr. Morley Shaver, the Assistant City Clerk, Mr. E. A. Outram, or the City Auditor, Mr. Edward Humpage. Any one of these three men could capably fill the position, and there would be some co-ordination of the City's service, as well as saving about $1500.00 a year for the ratepayers.

The Ontario Municipal Board will not permit any further sinking fund debentures, but the Board is insisting upon municipalities issuing only debentures payable by instalments, so the work for the secretary to do now is practically routine.

All of these three men are able and capable civil servants of the city, who have had a training in municipal affairs which qualifies any one of them for this position, and in a time such as this, it is most important that the peoples' money should be saved as much as possible, in paying salaries for positions of this kind.

An appointment of this kind would save a great deal of duplication, and the suggestion is submitted to the City Trust as one which has been suggested and endorsed by many ratepayers.

G. N. GORDON.

Peterborough, Feb. 14.

VARIED CLIMATE

"SO FAR, not a snowflake, not a moment's injurious frost, have visited this favored city. Grass grows vigorously on its lawns, and its gardens are bright with snowdrops, daffodils, heaths and heathers, crosuses, white arabis, and aubrietia, while in many spots there are still fine displays of roses."

This is the information received by The Daily News in a letter this week. With Florida blanketed with snow, and cold, wet weather prevailing in California, one might wonder where this favored city referred to, is located. It may be surprising to many to learn that it is not situated in the extreme south, where so many of the more wealthy Canadians migrate in the wintertime. It is located right in Canada—Victoria, B.C.

Apparently Canadians, seeking relief from cold chilling blasts, have been overlooking advantages right in their own country. Canada provides every variety of climate demanded by the most varied tastes at all seasons of the year. We should learn more about our country, so that we may appreciate its beauties, and its facilities for providing the most enjoyable living to be found anywhere.—Chatham News.

EIGHT YARDS

"Eight yards of tartan are required to make a kilt for a man," said a Scots tailoring expert. "The abolition of the kilt for war service is likely to stimulate the demand for it among Scots 'exiles' throughout the Empire who will thus be able to 'keep the flag flying.' The decline of Army orders will make great supplies available for sending overseas." — Moose Jaw Times-Herald.

BROCKINGTON'S PLUM

IN VIEW of the fact that Gen. McNaughton resigned a $15,000-a-year job to go overseas at $12,000 a year it is amazing to find that Canada's war effort has raised a crop of office holders at home who draw salaries which run up to $100,000 a year for services which are insignificant when compared with those of Gen. McNaughton. The prize plum has gone to Leonard W. Brockington, K.C., of Winnipeg, recorder of Canada's war effort — a public office which is about as necessary as a fifth leg for a cow. He draws a salary of $9,000 a year, plus $12 a day while he is absent from his customary place of residence. If he sticks to his job he may get more than the officer commanding Canada's overseas forces.

The orders in council providing for the payment of the special war staff were, it is understood, laid on the table during the brief session of Parliament. They are an indication that there is much about which Parliament might have inquired had it been given the chance. — Toronto Telegram.

ARROGANT NAZIS

THE ATTITUDE of Nazis in internment camps in Canada reflects the arrogance of the Prussians. They have only one object in life. It is to escape and do as much harm in Canada as possible. Their mentality is one of contempt for the Canadians, whom they hope to dominate at some future date when the Fuehrer will have conquered the world. It's a revealing thought, because it indicates the spirit of the Nazis, which prompts them to be militarists and try to crush all other nations. — Windsor Daily Star.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

And there appeared a great wonder in heaven; a woman clothed with the sun, and the moon under her feet, and upon her head a crown of twelve stars: and she being with child cried, travailing in birth, and pained to be delivered.

And there appeared another wonder in heaven; and behold a great red dragon, having seven heads and ten horns, and seven crowns upon his heads. And his tail drew the third part of the stars of heaven, and did cast them to the earth: and the dragon stood before the woman which was ready to be delivered, for to devour her child as soon as it was born. And she brought forth a man child, who was to rule all nations with a rod of iron: and her child was caught up unto God....And the great dragon was cast out, that old serpent, called the Devil, and Satan, which deceiveth the whole world: he was cast out into the earth, and his angels were cast out with him.

And I heard a loud voice saying in heaven, Now is come salvation, and strength, and the kingdom of our God, and the power of his Christ. —Rev. xii, 1-5, 9, 10.

A Bit of Nonsense

Still Waiting

"You probably don't remember me", began the self-made man proudly, "but thirty years ago when I was a poor, humble boy you gave me a message to deliver."

"Yes, yes," cried the busy man. "Where's the answer?"

Two Good Reasons

Mikhail—I wonder why a woman always tells everything she's told?

Harefoot—You mean she can't keep a secret?

Mikhail—Sure.

Harefoot—Say, that's an easy one. A woman has but two views of a secret—either it's too good to keep or it isn't worth keeping.

OVERGOVERNED

IT IS LIKELY that the tremendous financial burden, which the war will lay on Canada's shoulders, will inspire renewal of the agitation to dispense with many of the superfluous governing bodies with which this country is afflicted.

At the annual meeting of the Trusts and Guarantee Company at Toronto the other day, the president, C. S. Hamilton, stressed the necessity to avoid every kind of waste. He pointed out that Britain, with a population of fifty million, found it practical and efficient to get along with one parliament, while Canada, with a population of eleven million, is supporting ten, which must embody many unnecessary and costly duplications.—Galt Reporter.

Fish Schooner Vanishes In Scotia Gale

YARMOUTH, N.S., Feb. 16 — (CP).—Fate of five fishermen aboard the Yarmouth schooner Seretha somewhere on the heaving Atlantic off Yarmouth was unknown to-day.

The Seretha, a 65-foot auxiliary fishing schooner, was caught in a gale of near-hurrican velocity that swept the south shore of Nova Scotia on Wednesday night. She put to sea on Wednesday noon and headed for the fishing banks about 20 miles off Cape Forchu. She was due back in port that night.

The Gertrude L. Thebaud, famed racing Gloucesterman, reported she had sighted the Seretha on Wednesday before snow cast a white shroud that cut off visibility. The Gertrude L. Thebaud tied up here for safety when the storm roared down the coast.

The Canadian Government steamship Laurentian, with Captain McLean in command, scoured the seas. Captain McLean said he could find no trace of the missing vessel.

Aboard the Seretha under Captain George Nugay of Yarmouth are William Muise and Arthur Farrington of Yarmouth, the cook, Albert Surrette of Surrette's Island, near here, and Bernard Cotreau of nearby Amiraultss Hill.

A Sparks' Plea

San Francisco, Feb. 16 (AP).

FILM COMEDIAN Ned Sparks had his own teeth pulled out and bought a $3,500 set of "store teeth" because of his art.

This was the claim of Sparks' lawyer, Edward Conroy, before the circuit court of appeal yesterday in asking that $3,000 of the urice of the teeth be deducted in figuring the Canadian-born actor's taxes on his $137,380 income for 1934 and 1935.

The lawyer said Sparks had his teeth replaced when he found he was hissing every time he pronounced the letter "S," as in the name of his home town, St. Thomas, Ont.

Conroy declared that while the teeth really had cost Sparks $3,500, the actor had loped off the $500 in his claim for a deduction because he used the teeth outside of acting hours.

Hastings-Peterboro Conservatives Approve National Government Stand Of Dr. Manion

MARMORA, Feb. 16—(ENS). — A well attended and enthusiastic meeting of the executive of Hastings-Peterborough Conservative Association was held Thursday under the chairmanship of the president, R. A. Dean of Norwood, when George S. White, who was chosen as candidate over a year ago, expressed himself as being in complete accord with the stand of Dr. R. J. Manion's demand for a National Government.

Mr. White declared that if the executive wished, he would be willing to allow his name to go before any convention open to any supporter of Dr. Manion's National Government idea without regard to party lines.

After a full discussion of the many angles, area of the riding, condition of roads and shortness of time, the executive unanimously endorsed the stand taken by Hon. Dr. Manion regarding a "win the war" government and confirmed the candidature of Mr. White without hesitation and in view of his pledge.

Keep On Smiling Rescuers Wire Sinking Vessel

HALIFAX, Feb. 16—(CP).—How the crew of the British freighter Sea Rambler was rescued by two Norweigian vessels as she drifted helplessly 500 miles west of St. John's, Nfld., was told in details reaching here last night.

Plowing through the Atlantic in a wild storm on February 9, the Sea Rambler was buffeted by heavy seas that stove in her hatches, swept away her lifeboats and filled her holds with water. Of the five vessels that answered the Sea Rambler's wirelessed distress calls, two Norwegian ships, the Mosdale and the Kaia Knudson, reached her in time to remove the crew of 23.

The Sea Rambler, 2,327 tons, registered in Dover, sent her first distress call at 12.30 p.m. on February 9: "Hatch stove in, making water fast. Will any vessel in vicinity please stand by."

Seven minutes later a British passenger liner asked the Sea Rambler to verify her position, and within thirty minutes four other ships made contact with the British freighter. Two of them were too far away to be of any assistance.

The Mosdale, bucking the sea at ten knots, informed the Sea Rambler: "We are proceeding to your assistance as fast as possible."

But the helpless Sea Rambler was forced to appeal again at 6.30 p.m. The message read: "SOS, SOS, SOS, No. 2 hold awash. Port lifeboats carried away. Please hurry."

This message was picked up and answered by the Kaia Knudson. The Kaia Knudson answered: "Expect to reach you at 4 a.m. tomorrow. Let us know of any change and keep smiling. We got experience of this kind."

At 7.15 the big British liner messaged she was making fifteen knots and was on her way to rescue the crew of the Sea Rambler.

That night the engine room and bunkers were flooded in the doomed freighter and all her power was cut off. With the lifeboats swept away, all the crew could do was to man the pumps in the hopeless task of keeping her afloat.

Suddenly there loomed in the darkness the forms of two vessels —the Mosdale and the Kaia Knudson. An oil slick was put down to calm the heaving seas and boats were sent to the Sea Rambler. The Mosdale took eleven of the crew and the other boat took twelve. The British liner arrived in time to see the Sea Rambler's crew being hauled aboard the two Norwegian ships.

Before dawn the Sea Rambler was struck by a huge wave. She never appeared after it rolled on.

COLDS
Don't Upset Stomach By Drastic Dosing

Taking strong medicines into the stomach for colds may add to the misery by upsetting digestion. That's why 1 out of 3 Canadian mothers treat colds externally with Vicks VapoRub.

Just rubbed on throat, chest and back at bedtime, VapoRub acts on the skin like a warming poultice and —at the same time—gives off soothing medicated vapours that are breathed direct into the irritated air passages. Often by morning most of the misery of the cold is gone.

Obituary

ANNIE VICTORIA J. SHIELD.

MOUNT PLEASANT, Feb. 16. — (ENS).— The funeral services for the late Annie Victoria Jean Shield, Reg. N., who passed away in Louisville, Kentucky, on Friday, February 2nd, were held from the home of her sister, Mrs. Hubert Lowes, on Thursday afternoon, February 8th at 3.30 p.m.

The large crowd that gathered during the week and for the funeral services was mute testimony of the gloom cast over the community in the passing of the late Miss Shield in her 27th year.

Deceased was born at Grandview, Manitoba in May 1913, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Shield, her mother being the former Victoria Graham of Mount Pleasant.

She received her public school education at Brickburn school, Gilbert Plains and attended Collegiate at Grandview. She was a member of Grandview church; coming to Ontario she entered Nicholls Hospital in Peterborough in 1934, and graduated in 1937, later receiving her Reg. N. degree.

Following her graduation she nursed for over a year in Toronto, then entered the University of Toronto, where she took a special course for nurses. She was engaged on the staff of Norton Memorial Infirmary, Louisville, Kentucky, as one of the head nurses, where on Thursday she was taken critically ill, passing away on Friday, shortly after her sister, Mrs. Gordon Cummings, of Detroit, arrived at her bedside.

Left to mourn her loss are her sorrowing parents, (who arrived from the West in time for the funeral), two sisters, Mrs. Gordon Cummings of Detroit, Mrs. Hubert Lowes of Mount Pleasant, and one brother, Marklin, at home.

Rev. W. E. Honey, pastor of the Mount Pleasant United church, conducted the services, reading from the 103rd Psalm. Assisting was the Rev. T. Merryweather of Glen Morris, Ont., a former pastor and friend of the family, who had administered the baptismal rites to the deceased and who spoke in compassionate expression for the bereaved family, measuring her life as a child of God who had been given to her friends on earth for only such a short life and in comparison to the flower which flourisheth and the morning it is gone.

Miss June Shield sang softly, "There Is No Night There." Floral tributes were many from friends in Louisville, Kentucky, Grandview, Manitoba, Detroit, Michigan, Toronto and Peterborough, forming a bank of beauty at either side encircling the casket, which was borne by four uncles, Messrs. Garnet Shield, Richard Graham, Thomas Graham, Bert Smith and two cousins, Chester Best and Jim Shield. Interment was in Shield's cemetery, Mount Pleasant.

Among those from a distance were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Shield, Grandview, Manitoba; her sister, Mrs. Gordon Cummings, of Detroit, Michigan; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Shield, Toronto; from Peterborough were several nurses and former members of her graduating class, Mrs. Wesley and Miss Louise Wesley, Mrs. Lorne Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bathgate and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Shield.

LAKEFIELD JUNIORS WIN GAME BUT ARE ELIMINATED ON ROUND

Lindsay Takes Semi-Final Series By 8-6

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 16—(ENS). — In an O.H.A. Junior "C" playoff game here last night Lakefield Juniors defeated Lindsay Midgets 4-2. This was the second in home-and-home games with goals to count and Lakefield lost out by 8-6 on the round. The play was fast throughout on keen ice and quite rough at times.

Stewart was carried off twice, first with a cut on the back of the head then hit under the eye. Calhoun required a stitch in his chin when the tip of a stick clipped him. Elliott of Lindsay was hit on the temple, and Warrian also required first aid when a high puck caught him in the mouth. The homesters were really stepping, scoring three goals in the first and one in the second, while Lindsay tallied once in the second and third heats. The leaders on the attack for Lakefield were Bullock, Jewell and Calhoun, while Brennan, Lindsay ace wingman, played fine hockey throughout.

Fifteen penalties were handed out by Referee Lou LeBarr; eight to Lakefield.

Lakefield led in scoring and also had the best of the play in the first stanza, while the speed began to tell on both in the second. Lindsay counted another in the third, while Lakefield failed in all their attempts to score. The game was well handled.

Lakefield Presses.

The first period opened very fast with Lakefield on the attack trying to cut down the four-goal lead. Jewell scored at the five minute mark when he intercepted Bullock's pass from the corner. Connelly and Logan were given the gate for roughing and while off Bullock tallied again on a neat pass from Jewell. Giardino was penalized for tripping and Lakefield held them scoreless. Brennan went off for tripping and Giardino counted when he banged one in from in front of the nets, Stewart receiving the assist. The score of the end of the first was 3-0 for Lakefield.

The second opened with Birch going off for tripping and while in the box Lindsay tallied their first counter, Owen counting. Birch and Ellis got the gate again for tripping with McDonald, following them right in. Lakefield were robbed many times while the visitors were two short. Stewart had no one to beat and missed the net. When Birch returned, he gave a nice pass to Jewell in front of the net, scoring the last goal for the Juniors. Stewart had to be carried off this period to have his head fixed up; also Elliott.

Trying Hard

The third opened up with Lakefield pressing har dto get that one goal, which would tie it all up. Connelly and Elliott were penalized for roughing ,and while away Logan counted for Lindsay on a neat solo effort. Giardino went off for tripping, and Lindsay poured a steady stream of rubber on the nets, but Morrison turned back all attempts to score. The play became a little ragged, while Lakefield were getting ready for a final drive, then Lindsay took the defensive and held it until the final bell.

Stewart had to be carried off the ice again, also Calhoun and Warrian.

Bullock, Jewell, Calhoun looked good for Lakefield while all the rest played fine hockey also. Brennan, Owen and Ellis carried the attack for the visitors. The teams:

Lindsay.—Goal, Nichols; defence, Warrian, Elliot; centre, Owen; wings, Brennan, Logan; subs., Ellis, McDonald, Bigley, Christie.

Tanners Win 5 to 3

Raybestos Tie Packers In Nifty Tilt

Raybestos surprised the Packers last night at the Brock and held them to a 3-all draw in their smart Industrial Puck Loop encounter. Packers had a 2-0 edge in the first but it was tied in the second and both sides scored once in the third. Csumrik, R. Cournyea, and F. Todd scored for the Packers, with Ouimet, Howden and Lewis bulging the hemp for the Rays. It was fair hockey in the first, but heated up in the second! Packers had the goalie flat-footed once, but Maudsley snaked the puck out, spun down the ice with it, and passed to Howden for the tying goal. Ouimet and F. Todd drew majors for fighting. The third was sizzling, with each team scoring and a bunch of puckists mixing briefly at the finish. The teams:

Raybestos — Goal, Delpellaro; defence, Ouimet, Howden; centre, Maudsley; wings, Lewis, Armstrong; subs., Smith, Bailey, Cunningham.

Packers — Goal, Feeley; defence, Jopling, Farr; centre, F. Todd; wings, R. Cournyea, Csumrik; subs., Hardill, A. Todd, Edmunds, and D. Cournyea.

Referee—T. Miller.

Watercraft Win By 5 to 3 Over Brintons

Watercrafts improved their standing in the Industrial Hockey League in the Brock Street Rink last evening with a 5-3 win over Brintons. It was 2-1 for them in the first and 4-3 to end the second. O'Connor and Willshaw scored two each the first two periods, and O'Connor got another in the third for the victors; Robinson counted in the first for Brintons, and he and Henthorne both tallied in the second. It was fast, clean, and open hockey most of the route. Feeling became warmer in the lively third chukker, but play was kept well under control, and both sides were battling away at a hot and fairly even clip at the last gong. The teams;

Brintons — Goal, Corrigan; defence, Downer, Agnew; centre, Watson; wings, Henthorne, Deadey; subs., Jones, Lackey, Robinson.

Watercraft — Goal, Bullied; defence, Miller, Hunter; centre, O'Connor; wings, Boulter, Willshaw; subs., R. Stenner, McQuarrie, Lowes, Ego, Dinesen.

Referee—T. Miller.

Nelson Favored In Texas Tourney

HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 16.—(AP)—His western open golf crown exposed before one of the stoutest fields in the tournament's history, Byron Nelson went forth complacently today to defend it. The Reading, Pa., professional proved yesterday that he was unruffled.

In the pro-amateur competition, he stripped two strokes from a par made doubly elusive by cold north winds. The performance secured his position as favorite in the $5,000 tourney.

Nelson's 69 left him in a three way tie for second place individual honors in the pro-amateur. Leland Gibson, Kansas City professional, cornered the first prize of $100 with 34-32-66.

With Nelson in second place were Ray Hill, Shreveport, La., and Jimmy McHale of Saranac Inn, N.Y.

Campbellford Entry

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 16. (ENS)—Campbelford is to enter a team in the O.J.H.A. playdowns it was announced here today by Owen Hendy who is sponsoring the team. According to Manager Hendy there is plenty of material here for his squad which will meet a team from the Cobourg Church league for their opener. Joe Kelly, Jim Farrell and O'Rourke have already been drafted for the forward line and it is expected that Stu Donald will play in the net.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC PERDUE

Carson Cooper, travelling scout for Detroit Red Wings in the N.H.L., is liable to be at the Brock St. rink tonight to look over the Oshawa-Colts' junior "B" group playoff at 8.30 o'clock. The Wings' scout will be viewing one of these junior tilts, and it may be here tonight. And we are to blame! A few weeks ago, this writer wrote Jack Adams that he might be interested in some of the junior puck talent up this way—that the boys were greener than shamrocks but young, husky and fast. We knew that these N.H.L.-ers are always on the prowl for husky, fast kids of 17 or 18 years old, to work them up gradually through amachoor, minor pro and possibly big time pro hockey. They ask only that a boy be big, fast, young and clean-living—and the paid coaches will do the rest. So we figured there might be a good bet or two on the Colts' club—or on Oshawa Bees, though the Bees are pretty much under the eye of Conny Smythe.

* * * * * *

This is Adams' answer, received the other day: "Dear Sir,—Many thanks for your letter. Regarding the junior 'B' prospects, I will have our scout look at them as soon as possible. These are the types of boys we are really interested in. Having played in Peterborough one year myself and knowing a lot of the old gang down there, I appreciate your letter a great deal. It is like coming from the old home town. Our team were sailing along fairly well for a month or so, but we have dropped the last few home games, which have hurt very much. However, we will keep punching and try to keep in the race until the last bell. Again thanking you for your kind letter and your interest in our club, yours sincerely, Jack Adams."

* * * * * *

They'll Be Hustling

So the Colts will have added incentive tonight, if they need it. We're not sure Cooper will be here—he may wait until Monday and take in the tilt at Oshawa—but there's a chance he'll be here looking for ambitious young players to build up gradually. Another incentive is the joint promise of Coach Archie Weir, Manager Hap Wilgar and Hughie Davis (who has the transportation contract for the club) to take the Colts to Toronto for an N.H.L. tilt and buy 'em a meal, if they win their group. One guy will supply transportation, another the ducats, and another the meals. There is also the group title at stake, so the Colts should really hustle tonight.

* * * * * *

It's the second game of their O.H.A. junior "B" group playoffs, three out of five, with the brulsing Bees having won the first in Oshawa. It was a fast, rough and exciting fray, and we wouldn't exactly blow a fuse if the scrappy Colts pulled a bit of an upset here and knocked off the cocky Motor City boys. Oshawa Bees started out this year with boys under 18, as a sort of build-up club for the junior "A" Generals. But they've been using four and five 19-year-old stars against the Colts, just in case. Yep, it'll be a swell scrap all the way, and the Friday night puck fans should be out in force for this fixture. It might possibly be the Colts' last home fray this year.

Mike Tells A Story

Mike Rodden, veteran referee who handled the Fliers-Petes' tilt Wednesday, hung around town for a while afterward and had a gabfest with some of his Peterborough friends. The old battler—who never backed down from a player, club or crowd—said he had handled N.H.L. games for 15 years. He recalled one time when Lou Marsh, refereeing in Belleville in a playoff series, was jailed as the crowd hollered for his heart on a platter. Next game it was announced that Marsh would referee, but the Quinte club yelled so much that Sec. Hewitt of the O.H.A. phoned Rodden and said: "Mike, you'd better handle that game in Belleville tonight." So Mike, who looked a bit like Lou (dead now) skated out on the ice, and the crowd nearly mobbed him. But he restored order and the laugh finally was on the hot Quinte fans.

* * * * * *

The Belleville slant: "Whoever sharpened the Fliers' skates the last time their blades were on the grindstone had better make themselves scarce in the Hume Arena the rest of the week. Because Toots Holway's charges are pretty sore about the whole thing. The Fliers took a 4-0 beating during the first period in Peterborough on Wednesday simply because the Airmen couldn't even stand on their skates. At the end of the frame, they sent their skates out to be re-sharpened which held up the pastime fully 30 minutes. But from that point on the birdmen were the leading elements in the picture. The final score of 6-3 does not indicate the play as the Fliers were must the better team even when skating on poorly sharpened blades." Ouch, don't do that, buddy! He says the poor R.C.A.F.-ers couldn't even stand on their skates in the first frame — then winds up saying the Fliers looked better even on the skates ere they were re-touched. Which makes the Petes sound awful, huh?

A Hot Dish O' Hockey

A small crowd saw three exciting Industrial Puck Loop frays at the Brock last gloaming. An O.H.A. playoff the night before probably out down the attendance. Westclox nosed out Quakers 2-1 to go into a first-place tie, Watercrafts climbed out of the cellar nicely with a 5-3 verdict o'er Brintons, and Raybestos broke into the healthy side of the loop standing with a nifty tie game with the strong Packers, 3 to 3. Play continues to improve in this circuit as the schedule draws toward a close. Jim McMartin didn't play for Brintons, the veteran coach having recently fractured his shoulder in a fall. There is still doubt regarding the eligibility of Mike O'Leary to play in this loop, we hear, after seeing O.H.A. action for Lakefield—and the league will check on the matter.

Plenty of lively cage action by the girls is on tap tonight in the Y.W.C.A. when three tilts will be staged. Quaker Aces meet Orfuns at 6.45, the Debs play "Y" Gym at 7.45, and Westclox wind it up with St. John's at 8.45. Three Lindsay hoop squads play our Collegiate crews at P.C.I. tonight in scheduled fixtures, too. And tomorrow e'en at the Y.M.C.A., Quakers clash with Dominions at 7.15 as Bees play Zephyrs at 8.15 in men's City League encounters. Advertising a gals' game in Port Hope between the local Orfuns and the Hopers, the Guide writer said: "Port Hope team put up a stiff battle against Cobourg last week and, with the opposition a little weaker, should pull out a win." Yet, our Orfuns of the Y.W. returned last p.m. with the bulky side of a 65-3 score. Yeah, 65 to 3.

Westclox Beat Quakers In Tight Fray

Westclox climbed into a first-place tie with Quakers in a nifty Industrial Hockey League tilt last night at the Brock, yanking out a 2-1 win . Gilbert tallied in the first for the winners, as O'Leary got their other in the second, Hill scoring the lone Quaker counter in the third. Gilbert and O'Leary combined twice for the scores in speedy going, marked by some rugged checking. Play was rough in the third and exciting with Quakers pressing and both goalies kicking out hot thrusts. The game was played under protest, Quakers claiming O'Leary was not eligible. Of the dozen penalties handed out, the losers drew seven. Teams:

Quakers— Goal, Merritt; defence, Innes, Delpellaro; centre, Hill; wings, Webb, Howland; subs., Caladine, Shine, Kennedy, Scriver, and Kerby.

Westclox — Goal, Currie; defence, White, Edwards; centre, Gilbert; wings, Thirnbeck, O'Leary; subs., Millen, Driscoll, Connelly, Grose.

Referee—T. Miller.

Norwood Boys Win Round

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 16. — (ENS)—Battling hard to overcome an overwhelming 7 to 2 reverse suffered in Norwood last Monday, Campbellford High School made a strong bid for a play-off birth when they outscored the Norwood school 5 to 4 in their Interscholastic T.V.I. playoffs here last night. Norwood earned their right to meet the winners of the Stirling-Tweed group by an 11-7 score on the round and will now go on into the A.O.S.S.A. play downs.

Though the locals had the edge on the play during the evening here it was probably because the smaller ice surface gave them some advantage over the visitors while they were equally handicapped by the Norwood acerage.

It was Puffer, leading playmaker for the visitors who formed the main wedge of their attacking unit and he once again proved that he is one of the standout players in this league. It was O'Sullivan, stalwart member of the Campbellford rear guard who dominated the play for the locals slapping home four of their five counters. He teamed up with Jack Jarvis to thwart many of the visitors power drives.

First Period

1. Norwood—Puffer.
2. Campbellford—Jarvis, (Thompson).
3. Campbellford—O'Sullivan, (Metcalfe).

Second Period

4. Campbellford—O'Sullivan, (Dunk).
5. Norwood—Puffer (Buck).

Third Period

6. Norwood—Morris.
7. Campbellford—O'Sullivan.
8. Campbellford—O'Sullivan.
9. Norwood—Puffer.

Norwood—Goal, Bonegard; defence, Puffer, Gardner; centre, Johnston; wings, Buck, Green; alternates, Nelson, Cole, Morris, Lobb, Lemon.

Campbellford — Goal, Metcalfe; defence, Jarvis, O'Sullivan; centre, Dunk; wings, Curle, H. Metcalfe; alternates, R. Richardson, Maxwell, Thompson, J. Little, McGregor.

Referees—E. Ennis, Art Rowe.

CHARLIE SANDS
Canadiens

(By Central Press Canadian)

Charlie Sands

Just before the present National league season got under way a deal was made between Canadiens and Boston Bruins that saw the former send Herbie Cain to Boston in a straight exchange for Charlie Sands, a trade made in an effort to strengthen right wing, the Montrealers considering themselves fairly well fixed along the other wing. So far the deal, on a goal-scoring basis has been a win for the Bruins, but most players with a team that juggles between first and second places in the standings look better, with the various advantages that are theirs, than players with cellar occupants, as Canadiens have been most of the season. For Sands it is his third N.H.L. team, the first being Toronto Maple Leafs, with whom he signed after a sucessful season with Port William Seniors during 1931-32. The next year he spent mostly at Syracuse, with a few games with the Leafs, and 1933-34 saw him established as a regular. He was not a Leaf regular long, however, as he was sold to the Bruins and served there for five years, part of the time as right wing on what was for a couple of seasons the team's No. 1 line, the Getliffe-Cowley-Sands trio. Three winters ago he scored 18 goals, his high for a season. Totals thus far in his career; 71 goals, 49 assists and only 38 minutes in penalties. Born at Fort William, he'll be 29 next month.

Redhot Playoff Is Listed At Rink Tonight

One of the most exciting and rugged hockey games to be seen here this year is expected tonight (Friday) at 8:30 in the Brock St. rink when Oshawa Bees tackle the local Colts in a group playoff. It is the second game of their O.H.A. junior "B" group finals, a three-in-five series, with Oshawa having a win already on home ice. A loss for the locals will practically eliminate them, so the Weir squad will shoot the works in a desperate attempt to get back in the hunt. They will throw caution to the winds on home ice, ganging up and fighting their heads off—and the scrappy Colts are considered an even bet to tie up the series this game.

Both squads will ice full teams for this important tilt. It will be a streamlined game between two husky junior outfits—both full of fight and ready to drop sticks and trade punches anytime. For continuous action and excitement, this struggle is very liable to surpass any of the intermediate games seen here to date, and the playoff joust rates a huge crowd of Friday night hockey followers.

RANGERS DEFEAT DETROIT 3-1; HAWKS IN TIE WITH CANADIENS

Patrick Team Regains Top Of League

By JACK CALDER
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

From here in the National Hockey League championship race becomes strictly the business of New York Rangers and Boston Bruins, while the other clubs merely take the odd poke at the leaders and struggle for Stanley Cup playoff places.

When Montreal Maroons dropped out and the two old N.H.L. groups were consolidated into one last season, the governors gave the league championship new significance by declaring the top team at the schedule's end winner of the Prince of Wales trophy. This year the fight for first place threatens to steal much of the show from the scramble for positions in the six-team world series.

The Rangers made the picture considerably clearer last night by defeating Detroit Red Wings 3-1 at New York and cutting off the Wings' last mathematical chance for the league title. Detroit joined the Americans and Montreal Canadiens in the list of clubs eliminate from first-place contention with the schedule barely three-quarters over.

By downing Detroit the Rangers went two points up on the Bruins, who, however, have played two games fewer than their rivals. The New York team can go farther ahead at Detroit Sunday, for Boston will be idle all week-end.

Goal Each Period

It was a typical Ranger story against the Red Wings. Methodical passes brought the leaders a goal in each period, by Lynn Patrick in the first, Neil Colville in the second and Phil Watson in the third. That represented a contribution from each forward line, in accordance with the credo of Manager Lester Patrick that the cause and not the individual counts.

The Canadiens, showing new life with the addition of youngsters from the amateur ranks, held Chicago Black Hawks to a 1-1 tie at Montreal and would have come out better but for the continued brilliance of Goalie Paul Goodman of the Hawks. Goodman was scored on after two straight shutouts, but the Canadiens might have grabbed five goals the way they were punching a him.

Armand Mondou scored for the home team after 15 minutes but Bill Carse levelled the count three minutes later.

Bluegrass Bets Go On Bimelech

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 16.—(AP)—In almost any winter bookmaker's spot in the Bluegrass the bets are going down on Bimelech. Colonel E. R. Bradley, four times winner of the Kentucky Derby, has the cold months' favorite to win the May 4 running of the classic.

Colonel Matt Winn, major domo of the Churchill Downs "bowl," said Bimelech was in the list of nominees which closed last night. He added that "every leading thoroughbred in Kentucky" has been entered.

Learning this, the Kentuckians who will bet on a Bradley entry, swamped the bookmakers.

Bimelech set up an impressive record during 1939 as a two-year-old, with six firsts in six starts.

Tweed Terriers Whip Bata 7-5

TWEED, Feb. 16 (ENS)—Tweed Terriers took a well-played game from the Bata Shoe Company at Frankford on Wednesday night by a score of 7-5.

The score at the end of the first period was 2-1 and at the end of the second 6-2 for the Terriers. It was a good clean game, well-handled by Referees Gerald Quinn and H. Finnegah. The locals were without the services of their centre player Joe Courneyea.

Harold Elsbury fatted his scoring average with three goals. Tip Tummon, Joe Marsh, Gerald Wagar and Jack Tummon were responsible for the remaining Terriers' goals. The Tweed team were much improved over their form against Marmora earlier in the week.

Juvenile Standing

In the Tweed Juvenile Hockey League, the Bruins have pulled up into a first place tie with the Rangers, who in their weekly game, dropped their first loss of the series.

31 Scotch Clubs To Compete For Soccer Cup

LONDON, Feb. 16.—(CP Cable)—Added attractions for United Kingdom's soccer fans were announced during the week. Thirty-one clubs in Scotland will compete in a cup competition that will extend the season until early in May and London and other Southern English teams are expected to play for a trophy with final games a month later.

The tournaments, it is hoped, will revive interest in the winter game, kept alive despite war and the most severe weather conditions in half a century. Teams operating in groups "C" and "D" will participate in the English competition unless the football league sees fit to run one on a wider basis.

Games are scheduled for only six of the country's 10 leagues Saturday, but it is probable that many clubs will play off games abandoned during the cold spell last month. Groups "C" and "D" continue the new competitions started last week.

Following its victory over Brentford, Arsenal goes to Portsmouth. The English cup-holders this season have shown little of the form that carried them to victory over Wolverhampton Wanderers at Wembley last year and last week bowed to Fulham.

Queen's Park Rangers, rated one of the country's strongest wartime teams, also makes a long journey. They oppose the strong Bournemouth squad.

The Main Tilt

Most of the interest in Scottish football lies in the duel between Falkirk and Heart of Midlothian, co-leaders in the Eastern division. Falkirk led the race from the start, Oct. 21 until last week when the Edinburgh team drew on level terms.

Each team is credited with 26 points. Hearts have a forward line that packs more scoring power than any other team in Scotland while Falkirk's chief strength is in its defence. Both elevens are favored to capture maximum points at the week-end with Falkirk at home to Stenhousemuir and Hearts visiting Dundee United.

Rangers have established a four-point lead in the west circuit and are picked to finish at the top of the pack. Airdrieonians are due at Ibrox Park for a game with the Light Blues Saturday and after their sensational 4-1 triumph over Queen of the South a week ago may be expected to put up a tough battle.

Capitals Beaten 4-2 By Reds

CLEVELAND, Feb. 16.—(CP)—Indianapolis Capitals, who for a time looked almost unbeatable in International-American Hockey League play now are begining to find the pace is faster than it seemed. What appeared for a while to be a runaway in the circuit's western division promises to develop into a close race.

The Capitals, who still hold a five-point margin over the second-place Cleveland Barons, lost a chance to increase it last night when they dropped a 4-2 decision to Providence Reds, leaders of the eastern division.

The first period was scoreless but in the second Windy Steele scored for the Reds and Bob Gracie for the Capitals. Hal Jackson, Jack Shill and Joffre Desilets increased the Providence margin in the final session before veteran Hec Kilrea banged in the second Indianapolis goal in the last minute of play.

The Finns are fleet-footed Taisto Maki (AT LEFT) currently "greatest" long distance runner and Paavo Nurmi (RIGHT) who had that distinction years ago. They arrived in New York after long trip from their embattled homeland. Maki was serving with a ski "ghost patrol" against the Russians, but it was decided that he and Nurmi could do more good promoting funds on this continent.

Saints Defeat Grove Firsts 6-4 In Overtime

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 16 (ENS). — The Grove first team played an exhibition game with St. Andrew's first losing 6-4 in overtime. The play was very fast and clean, with only one penalty. The score was 3-all at the end of the regular time but in overtime St. Andrew's counted three to the Grove's one.

Grove opened the scoring when Harris counted, his shot glancing in off the goalie's pads. Langmuir made it 2-0 when he intercepted St. Remy's pass from the corner. Butter tallied first for the visitors when Herold did not see his shot from the blue line. Harris teamed with Frewer counted the last goal in the first period on a nice combination play inside the defence.

The second period saw St. Andrew's tie it up and the Grove failed to count. Butler counted again on a long shot from the blue line. Then Shields tore in to score off a rebound in front of the nets. Grove received a penalty for tripping, Carson getting the gate.

No scoring was done by either team during the third heat, with both goalies putting on a fine performance in the nets.

One minute after the start of the overtime Gear broke the tie, putting St. Andrew's in the lead. Roberts came right back for Grove two minutes later. McCeland and Martin broke away and counted again for St. Andrew's, and while the Grove were getting organized on a power play Carson slipped a pass right into Butler's stick at the blue line, and with no one to beat he counted St. Andrew's sixth and last goal.

Butler and Martin looked best for St. Andrew's, while Frewer, Harris, and St. Remy played good hockey for Grove.

Referee—B. Blewett, Lakefield.

The teams:

St. Andrew's — Goal, Bryan; defence, Martin, Allsbach; centre, Shields; wings, McCeland, Gurton; subs., Gear, McPherson, Hampson, Brickendon, Butler, Robinson.

Grove — Goal, Herold; defence, Foster, Carson; centre, Frewer; wings, Roberts, Harris; subs., St. Remy, Langmuir, Potts, Vaughan, Morris.

St. Andrew's Lose 6-3.

In an exhibition game at the rink on Wednesday afternoon, Grove's Lower School team defeated St. Andrew's 6-3. The Grove were a little too fast for the visitors. Tilley II. led in the scoring with three goals, Harris 2 and McLean 1. Abbott, Lowndes, and Franceshini tallied for the losers.

The teams:

St. Andrew's — Goal, O'Brien; defetnce, McCleod, Booth; centre, Francishini; wings, Garrett, Abbott; subs., McKenzie, Clarkson, Lowndes; Medland, sub-goal grant.

Grove—Goal, MacBrien; defence, Dickson, Thompson; centre, Harris II.; wings, McLean, Tilley II.; subs., Herold ,Anovtao, Christie II, Perry II., Langmuir III., Wilkes II.

Referee—B. Blewett, Lakefield.

Grove Wins 3-2.

Grove's 15-year-old boys played an exhibition game here in the rink on Wednesday afternoon with St. Andrew's fourth team winning 3-2. Lots of speed and good hockey was put up by both squads.

The teams:

St. Andrew's — Goal, Augustine; defence, Herreyo, Hendrie; centre, Clarkson; wings, McBrien, Garrat; subs., Meredith, Brooke, Hamilton, Ingraham.

Grove—Goal, Christie I.; defence, Wilkes, Hamsted; centre, Arnoldi; wings. Carr-Harris, Urquhart; subs., Pope, Tilley I., Hague, Perry I., Moore, sub-goal, Agnew.

King Plays Hockey

LONDON, Feb. 16.—(CP Cable) By permission of the censor, the world learned today that the King has played his first game of "ice hockey."

It happened last month near the royal residence at Sandringham, but because of the censor's ban on mention of England's frigid weather it couldn't be revealed until today.

The News Chronicle reports that the King was one of the keenest players among those taking part. What His Majesty lacked in skill he made up in enthusiasm.

The game was somewhat unorthodox, as many as 20 on each side playing at time. The King has a regulation stick but some of his team and opponents used field hockey sticks and walking canes.

Apps Out Of Game

TORONTO, Feb. 16.—(CP)—Sylvanus Apps, star centre with Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, will remain out of the game for an indefinite period.

Manager Conny Smythe of the Leafs said today that he told Apps not to play again until he is pronounced fit. Apps took part in yesterday's practice but was bothered by a sore neck and shoulder which have not returned to normal following a fractured collarbone suffered several weeks ago.

"We have had Apps examined and the doctors don't seem to know just what is the matter with him," Smythe said. "So I have decided the best thing is to give him a complete rest until he is 100 per cent fit. Just when that will be I don't know."

Cattle Advance, Lambs, Hogs Steady On Week

TORONTO, Feb. 16 — (CP). — Cattle trade was active, with prices 25 cents higher on best grades of killers, on the Toronto Livestock Market this week. Lambs sold steady on the liveweight basis, but were a little easier on the dressed-weight basis.

Cattle offerings were practically cleaned up daily. Best grades of killers opened the week 25 cents higher and held steady throughout the week. Plain grades held steady. Weighty steers sold from $6.50 to $7.50, with most sales ranging between $7 to $7.35. Butcher steers and heifers sold at $7.25 to $7.50 for the best quality, with common selling downward to $6. Butcher cows were higher at $3.75 to $5.50. Canners and cutters brought $3.25 to $3.75. Bologna bulls sold at $4.50 to $5, with good butchers up to $5.50.

Fed calves shared in the advance with good to choice making $8 to $9 with medium down to $7.50. The few stockers offered sold from $5.50 to $6.50. Good milkers and springers, tested for T.B. sold at from $75 to $90.

Veal calves opened firm and gained about 50 cents cwt. by the close; good to choice vealers making $10.50 to $11.50 with common down to $5.50.

Hogs Run $12.

Most of the hogs offered sold on the dressedweight, rail grade basis at $12, with a few sales on Monday at $12.10. Hogs sold on the liveweight basis brought $9 for bacons.

The sheep and lamb run included nearly 1,800 Western lambs. The market held steady at $10.25 for good lambs of both Western and local feeding. One load of Westerns sold, sorted, at $10.35 for the tops and $10.15 for the second grade. Common lambs of local origin sold $8 to $9. Sheep were steady at $3 for culls, up to $6 for ewes of good average quality. Some good quality light sheep made $6.75.

say that we are not without some measure of hope in this regard.

"Without such semi-official assistance we will be compelled to send these splendid young Canadian aviators and other volunteers to United States or some commercial training school to complete their final training before going overseas. Every penny subscribed is of vital use.

"On two occasions I have attempted to move in this House a resolution asking this Legislature to put into effect its obvious desire for a vigorous prosecution of the war by granting immediately a generous credit to Finland. Unfortunately Rule 112 prevents a private member from introducing such motions.

"I would therefore request the government notwithstanding deficits or inability to balance budgets —and if Finland is destroyed there may never be another budget in Ontario—to show themselves and their critics that they really mean business by granting forthwith a substantial sum for the purpose of training, equipment and dispatch of aid to Finland.

"I may say as an example, that $1,000,000 will enable us with such other funds as we can obtain elsewhere to dispatch a complete division and the division is ready today to go."

Not Hurting Canadian Army

No man was being accepted for service in Finland who had not previously been refused entry into the Canadian Active Service Force, said Col. Hunter.

Col. Hunter said there was hope the facilities of the Canadian military establishment would be granted for the training of airmen for Finland.

Premier Hepburn took 75 minutes to deliver his budget address, in which an interim deficit of $4,444,929 was reported but a surplus of $356,000 for the coming year was forecast.

The Premier followed his text carefully and made but one important interpolation. He announced that motor vehicles licences, which now expire March 31, would henceforth expire Dec. 31. Licences purchased at the end of March this year, therefore, will be good for only nine months.

The estimates presented along with the budget showed reductions in most departments and ordinary expenditure for the fiscal year to begin April 1 were forecast at $88,694,970. Ordinary revenues were estimate at $89,051,209, the premier budgeting for a surplus of $356,239 on the next fiscal year.

Included in the estimate reductions was a cut of one-half mill in the municipal subsidy which in 1939 was raised to a mill and a half. It now goes back to a mill. This subsidy is paid on the general rateable assessment of every municipality in Ontario. The premier reminded the House that whereas in the last war municipalities were taxed one mill for war purposes, in the present one they were getting a subsidy of one mill to help them over their financial troubles.

Municipal Act Changes.

Hon. Eric Cross, Minister of Municipal Affairs, introduced several amendments to the Municipal Act, one aimed at preventing repetition of a situation which arose at Windsor recently when Mayor David Croll, at odds with a majority of the council, refused to call a special meeting when asked.

The amendment provides that the municipal clerk shall call such a meeting on the petition of a council majority and that, if the Mayor or head of the council should refuse to act at such a meeting, the council may appoint a presiding officer to have all the powers ordinarily exercised by the council head.

A minor amendment would provide that a school trustee may become a candidate for a municipal council if he resigns from the school board on or before nomination day. The present statute requires resignation three days before nomination day.

Allan Lamport (Lib. Toronto-St. Davids) moved to amend the law governing cemeteries to give local councils some control, in conjunction with the Provincial Health Department, over the location and extension of cemeteries.

Compulsory pasteurization of milk in Ontario has been justified by the reduced incidence of typhoid and undulant fever and by reduced infant mortality from diarrhoea and enteritis, it was said in the 1939 report of the Ontario Health Department tabled in the Legislature.

Effective battles were being waged on tuberculosis and on social diseases, the report said. More adequate treatment was being given those suffering from the latter.

Increased care of expectant mothers was showing results. Deaths among pregnant women "were markedly lower than in any previous year."

"We couldn't see it any more because it was snowing so hard. Then 10 minutes later we heard a loud noise that I now think was a crash."

One man living on the outskirts of Brooklyn told of seeing the Stinson flying low, somewhat off its course, and apparently heading for Stillwater Lake, about 35 miles out of Halifax. Lack of communications with the area around the lake made it impossible to check on its whereabouts except by air.

Other lakes dot that section of the country, and it was considered possible Wade might have brought his plane down on one of them and then been unable to take to the air again.

for the increasing activities of women in the societies and attributed to their efforts much of the recent improvements in the workings of the societies.

Wartime problems may necessitate cancellation of school fairs in the province this year, the minister said, and urged that increased attention be paid to junior farmer fairs.

Hon. W. L. Houck, vice-chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, said that the availability of cheap power in Ontario equipped the farmers of the province to play a greater part in the present war than in the first Great War.

"Over a period of almost quarter of a century, the rural system of hydro has developed to such an extent that today over 53,000 of large-size farms of Ontario are supplied by power," he said. "This is practically two-thirds of the total of standard large-sized farms in the province."

As a result of the growth of productive power during the past 20 years, Canadian agriculture is in a position now to develop its vital resources not only for the Dominion but for the Allied nations as a whole.

"It may be expected that the effect of the war on agriculture will be to improve the position of the farmer," he said, "and generally to benefit the rural communities."

"Soviet troops approach the station of Kamara," the Russian communique said. "On February 15 Soviet troops occupied 53 defensive fortifications, including 21 iron and concrete artillery forts."

The Red army also was active in the air.

"Soviet aviation successfully raided enemy troops and military objectives," the communique said. "Six enemy planes were brought down in air combats."

Last night's Finnish communique said 4,000 Russians were killed on the various fronts in one day, 2,500 of them in the Taipale sector. It did not mention Finnish losses.

After an afternoon alarm, Helsingfors residents were routed from their beds last night to shiver in shelters, but the capital was not bombed by Russian planes in either case. One group of raiders bombed Riihimaki, 20 miles to the north. Another, passing over Helsingfors in white moonlight, went on to some undisclosed objective.

Silencing of a big Russian gun which for weeks has shelled Viborg (Viipuri), 20 miles behind the lines, was reported unofficially.

Centreville Societies Hold Day Of Prayer

CENTREVILLE, Feb. 16 (ENS)—The World Day of Prayer was fittingly observed on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Dawson Rutherford, president of Centreville Women's Missionary Society.

The women of the Anglican and the United churches, Bailieboro, accepted our invitation to attend, and the three societies united in the prayer service.

There was a large attendance and a fine spirit of christian fellowship was manifested.

The theme was: "In quietness and confidence shall be your strength."

On Sunday morning Rev. A. H. Gibson conducted an installation service in connection with the Young People's Society. In his sermon he stressed the three departments of the work—worship, fellowship and service.

Following the sermon the officers of the society were called to the front of the pulpit, answered the prescribed questions and were duly installed with prayer, as follows—President, Miss Vera Bradshaw; vice-president, Gerald Anderson; secretary, Miss Robena Tate; treasurer, Arthur Breckenridge; worship convenor, Miss Gwen Hutchinson; service convenor, Miss Iva Campbell; fellowship convenor, Miss Muriel Whittington.

Mr. Ray Rivers has secured a position with a firm in Toronto. He spent the week-end at the home of Mr. O. B. Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Hare of Cobourg were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Cooper on Sunday.

Miss Margaret Breckenridge, teacher at Inniskillen, spent the week-end at the home of her father.

Remanded

TORONTO, Feb. 16 — (CP). — George Precious was remanded until February 21 without bail when he was in court Thursday, charged with attempting armed robbery and shooting with intent to maim. The 32-year-old man, known to the neighbors as a "prosperous importer," was manhandled by employees of a bank which he is charged with attempting to rob yesterday. He was wounded slightly in the arm also.

Mrs. Precious, who appeared in court wearing a brown fur coat with hat to match, told police her husband was an importer with a downtown office.

Liberals Call Convention For February 24

The executive of the Federal Liberal Association in this riding began retracing its convention steps Thursday afternoon after recovering from the surprising but grateful news of the appointment of its candidate, J. J. Duffus, to the Senate.

The members met at the Duffus home. They called to congratulate him, and remained for a business session which is said to have been marked by a keen feeling that the incidental set-back in the campaign time would be promptly caught up as soon as a new candidate enters the field.

It was decided to hold a delegates' convention in the Canadian Legion Hall on Saturday, February 24 at 2.15 p.m. for the sole purpose of choosing a candidate. One of the members of the Cabinet is being invited as a speaker, but further announcement of that detail will be made later.

Senator Duffus told the Examiner that the necessary switch of candidates was not holding up the work of organization throughout the riding, and that preparations were making steady advance.

In regard to the Duffus successor there had been gossip last week that the party was mentioning the names of Colonel John A. Dewart, T. J. Carley, K.C., and R. M. Glover, and that in the present emergency the delegates arriving here Saturday, February 24 will have ample time to think over the situation.

However, on the other hand many Liberals feel that the candidate should be named at the earliest possible moment.

City Budgeting On Mill Subsidy

The Hepburn government's municipal subsidy of one mill, a decrease of half a mill from last year, will not affect preparations for the local budget.

City Treasurer Shaver told the Examiner today that he and Alderman Cotton, chairman of the finance committee, had discussed the expectations of the government's allowance in lieu of income tax formerly collected by the municipalities, and decided to estimate for a mill. Apparently they were anticipating that conditions would force the government to reduce its subsidy. At any rate they called the turn of events correctly, and the official news from Toronto requires no alterations to the present progress of the city's estimates.

Alderman Cotton has called a meeting of the finance committee for Monday night when the estimates will be given a final going-over, and the 1940 tax rate recommended to the council.

The Rambling REPORTERS

YES OFF THE HUSTINGS

"From the Hustings to a Senatorship" was the caption above a picture of J. J. Duffus in last night's Examiner. And today dozens of people are wondering what "Hustings" might mean. Dr. Charles Annandale's Concise English Dictionary defines the word as meaning "The temporary platform on which, previous to the Ballot Act of 1872, parliamentary candidates stood when addressing the electors." The meaning, in this case, is obvious. Senators don't worry about election results.—P.

Tories Organize In Norwood Area

NORWOOD, Feb. 16 (ENS) — A meeting of local representatives of the National Conservative Party for the village of Norwood, the Townships of Asphodel and Dummer was held in Norwood on Monday evening.

Despite unfavorable weather conditions, a splendid number from all parts of the townships and the village were on hand for the occasion.

R. A. Dean president of the Hastings - Peterborough Conservative Association called the meeting to order and proceeded with the several items of business which included the selection of chairman and polling sub-division captains for the municipalities concerned.

The Norwood Association is headed by James R. Baskin, Earl Ivey heads the Dummer group and Norman Andrews for the township of Asphodel.

At the conclusion of business matters, the chairman introduced the standard bearer of the riding, Mr. George S. White of Madoc, who addressed the gathering on general matters, concluding with a clear explanation of the many changes in the Election-Act as amended since 1935.

The meeting was closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

Given One Month On Theft Count

Bruce Bolton, 36, pleaded guilty before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning to stealing $1.89 from a young boy and was sentenced to one month in jail.

Crown Attorney McElderry told the court that Bolton had slept in the same room as the boy and got up before him one morning. Later it was discovered that the money in a purse in the lad's pocket had been stolen.

Chief Newhall said that Bolton had been in trouble before, and the last time he had appeared in court had been given 20 days on a charge of false pretences.

Her many friends will be grieved to learn of the death at her home, 755 George Street, on Thursday of Agnes Jane Steele, widow of Albert Charles Herridge. Mrs. Herridge was a life-long resident of Peterborough and held the regard and affection of a large circle of friends and acquaintances in this city.

She was the daughter of the late James Jeffrey of Lakefield and of Sarah Graham of Smith township. Her husband, the late A. C. Herridge, who died eleven years ago, was for many years foreman of the composing room of the Review, and was widely known to newspaper employees.

Surviving relatives are three daughters: Miss Albertina and Miss Irene of Peterborough, and Mrs. C. Wesley Marshall, Edmonton, and a grand-daughter, Adele Marshall.

Mrs. Herridge was a member of St. John's Anglican Church.

The funeral will take place on Saturday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the family residence, 755 George Street, to Little Lake Cemetery. Rev. Canon W. P. Robertson of St. John's Church will officiate.

As this week has been set apart as a week of mourning for Canada's Governor-General, Lord Tweedsmuir, there will be no rally in the Conservative headquarters on Saturday night. Ward meetings scheduled for next week will go on as usual.

Flowers Lovers Seeking To Aid Council

In its desire to assist the Council in the beautification of the city, the Horticultural Society last night appointed Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt president, John A. Smith, past presidents, and James Matthews a committee to interview the Council at its next meeting.

The Society is suggesting that one of its members be appointed to the Parks Committee of the Council, without voting power, to develop relations between it and the Society, and also as a means of stimulating general interest in the parks and boulevards and the floral improvements in the city. William Gracie was mentioned last night as the Society's representative, if the proposal is acceptable to the Council.

Harry Beal was requested to prepare a historical record of the Society from its beginning many years ago when Peterborough was only in the small town stage. Frank Biddle gave a helpful talk on perennial flowers, with practical hints on such topics as arrangement and grouping, and also spoke of some of the varieties, including the chrysanthemum Maximum, a new variety of Esther Reed, a pure white double, also a new viola for border use.

Two potted flowers were given by Rev. Mr. Zufelt as little attendance prizes. One was drawn by Ernie Watson and the other by Harry Beal. Plans for building up the membership were also considered, and will be discussed further at the next meeting on March 14. The directors will meet on March 4.

Many Young Couples Are Now Purchasing Furniture Prior To Getting Married

Girls and boys contemplating marriage this year are wiser in their generation than their elders according to leading furniture dealers in the city who claim many young couples have selected dining room suites, bedroom suites and living room suites and are paying for the furniture while both are employed. In this way the furniture will be almost paid for when it is delivered to the houses after the young people get married.

This week four leading furniture dealers are offering exceptional values in modern furniture with a great selection ranging from leather hassocks to lovely chesterfield suites. People who feel that their present furniture is outdated and uncomfortable will be amazed at the low replacement cost for furniture that is the last word in comfort and appearance. The style and character of the furniture is in keeping with the times with particular stress on comfort and for a very small sum a modest home may be made into a very pleasant place.

Resort Owners Lack Of Interest In Game And Fish Affairs Criticized By Local Association

Resort owners throughout the Kawartha district were criticized at the annual meeting of the Peterborough Fish and Game Association on Thursday night for their lack of interest in the activities of the organization, and it was pointed out that very few of them even took the trouble to take out a membership.

"Every resort owner in the county should be a member of this association," said Charles Kingan. "They rely on the tourist trade for their living, and unless the waters in the district are constantly restocked the resort owners will soon lose money. We are doing plenty of restocking, and there is not a section of the entire district that is no getting a large quota of fry and fingerling. In other words, the resort owners reap the benefits from the work done by the association, more perhaps than any other group, and yet only two or three of them are members. Max Humphries of Hastings is the only one who attends meetings regularly.

In reviewing the activities of the association for the year 1939, Mr. Kingan said that 10 requisitions for fish had been filed and placed in the waters of the county. He expressed the opinion that great progress was being made in the matter of restocking and pointed out that the Deer River hatchery should produce a quantity of young lunge this year. "It is very gratifing to us to know that the appropriation for the Department of Game and Fisheries has not been reduced by the Government this year, in fact it has been increased a little," said Mr. Kingan.

Trout Fingerling.

A large quantity of trout fingerling is expected this spring, and these will not only be placed in the streams near the city, but a large quantity will be taken by truck into Galway and Cavendish for the streams in that area. These trout are six or seven inches long.

The elk are reported to be doing well in their new home and two trappers, Stan Windsor and Mose Marsden are busy trapping wolves on the game preserve. These two ventures were being fostered by the association.

Mr. Kingan said that during 1939 he had received great co-operation from officials of the Department, and he told the meeting that Eel's Lake, Long Lake chain, Crab Lake, and Wolf Lake had been heavily stocked this year. He paid tribute to Stewart Brown, Apsley merchant, who gave valuable assistance to the association. On several occasions Mr. Brown supplied a truck and men to see that the fry was placed in the lakes which were difficult to reach.

The speaker voiced the hope that something might be done this year to improve the roads leading into Jack's Lake and Eagle Lake.

"It is unfortunate that so little has been done in this district in the matter of reforestation," said Mr. Kingan. He described the section between Burleigh Falls and Katchacoma as an area suitable only for hunting and fishing, but that it may become a desert if the wood cutters and lumbermen continued to cut down every tree both large and small.

Reference was made to the Apsley wolf hunt which failed to gather in any of the wolves, but was quite successful in that it attracted widespread attention. The suggestion was made that deer hunters in this section start a fund to augment the bounty now paid for the killing of wolves. In this way the association might be able to pay five or ten dollars more for each wolf, and this would make it worthwhile for the settlers and trappers.

JOIN DENTAL CORPS.

Keith Braund, well known dental mechanic of this city, and one of his employees, Alf Pink, who is also a dental mechanic, were reported today to have been accepted in the Canadian Dental Corps, Canadian Active Service Forces.

A BUSY MAN.

Senator Duffus has been a busy man answering the telephone since the news of his appointment broke Thursday at noon. He couldn't even find time to answer the door today but stood at the telephone and shouted for any callers to come in, while he took care of the many telephone calls of congratulations.

VACATION EDITION.

Work on the Peterborough Examiner Annual Vacation Number for 1940 is progressing rapidly and according to present plans the number will go to press early in May. The publication this year will be even more attractive than the 1939 issue which was acclaimed as the finest printed so far. Resort owners who have interesting news data such as fish stories which they wish to send in should act at once and the final date for accepting advertising will be announced later.

WINDOW PEEPING.

Antics of a window peeper alarmed residents of a house on Aylmer Street Thursday night. The maid employed in the house was dressing in her bedroom preparatory to going out when she noticed a man looking in the window from a shed outside. She turned out the light in the room and then went downstairs and gave the alarm. Police could find no trace of the Peeping Tom when they arrived on the scene. He had evidently climbed on the roof of the shed to obtain a better post from which to look through the window.

HONORARY MEMBERS.

Four doughty reporters who braved the chill winds of the north country to cover the wolf hunt a short time ago, were made honorary members of the Peterborough Fish and Game Association at the annual meeting Thursday night. The four listed are Jack Peterson, staff reporter and photographer for the Peterborough Examiner, Bruce West, of Toronto, staff reporter for the Globe and Mail, Alf. T. McKee, staff correspondent for the Star and Globe and Mail, and Harold Robson, staff correspondent for the Toronto Evening Telegram.

IMPROVING STEADILY.

G. J. Monahan, 548 Weller street, sales manager of the Raybestos Company, who has spent the past six weeks in the hospital, is now at his home and is reported to be making good progress toward recovery.

WANT DEER HUNTERS.

Max Humphries of Hastings told the annual meeting of the Fish and Game Association on Thursday night that deer hunters had the idea they were not welcome at the meetings and he expressed the hope that in future deer hunters in the district would attend meetings and take an active interest in promoting the affairs of the association.

TWO DAYS EARLIER.

Bass and lunge fishing in this district will start two days earlier this year. A ruling from the Department of Game and Fisheries indicates that June 29 is the starting date. This gives fishermen the privilege of fishing over the July 1 week-end. June 29 falls on Saturday, and Monday is July 1, the holiday.

A REAL MYSTERY.

For fifteen years the Fish and Game Association has been stocking certain waters in this district with brown trout fry and fingerling, but so far as can be learned none of the brown trout have ever been caught. This year Charles Kingan will offer five dollars' worth of fishing tackle to the person catching the largest brown trout in the waters of the county. At the same time an effort will be made to get another species of trout for the lakes, preferably rainbow trout.

NO OVERLAPPING.

Canadian Legion War Services for which money is now being raised does not overlap the work being done by the Canadian Red Cross, Salvation Army, K. of C. or the Y.M.C.A. On the contrary the Red Cross has strongly endorsed the plan to provide funds for carrying on educational, personal and other work with Canadians who have enlisted in the fighting forces. Reports today are very encouraging and a meeting is scheduled for Friday night in the Legion Hall to determine the exact progress.

DESK MATES HONORED

The long arm of coincidence reached out yesterday to select for government preferment two members of the last Parliament who were joint occupants of the same office, J. J. Duffus of Peterborough and Charles A. Cameron of Belleville, representative of South Hastings. Mr. Duffus was appointed to the Senate, and Mr. Cameron becomes Judge of the county court in Hastings County, succeeding Judge Deroche who has been superannuated.

At a Representative Meeting of the C.C.F. Constituency Council (Peterborough West)

After considerable discussion it was decided to refrain from contesting the constituency at this time. We believe that the fundamental economic problems are the same this election, as in the last Federal election, but due to conditions beyond our control it was felt that it would be unwise for the C.C.F. to contest Peterborough West.

S. R. Armstrong Resigns Secretary Post

S. R. Armstrong, city clerk, resigned his post as secretary-treasurer of the Utilities commission yesterday afternoon. He has been secretary-treasurer of the Commission since its formation 38 years ago, and Howard Clegg, accountant, was appointed acting secretary-treasurer and will carry on Mr. Armstrong's work along with Utilities Manager R. L. Dobbin.

At the meeting a letter was read from Mr. Armstrong, in which he resigned his position, to take effect at the adjournment of the meeting. He expressed his "sincere appreciation of the very kind and considerate manner in which he had always been treated by the commission during his 38 years of service."

The commission passed a resolution accepting the resignation with regret. "Not only has he performed the ordinary duties of his office, but his knowledge of legal affairs, and his well balanced judgment have been of inestimable value in the operation of the various utilities under this Commission," the resolution stated. "He was appointed secretary at the formation of the Commission in 1902, when the waterworks system was acquired, and has continued through the successive acquisition of the electric and gas system. During all this time he has been ever ready with wise and timely advice, and the success of the Commission's operations since the beginning has been due in no small degree to his counsel."

Senator Duffus Visits Lakefield

Senator Duffus made his first public appearance at Lakefield last night in the new dignity that came to him at noon Thursday. He attended a re-organization meeting of the Lakefield Young Liberals. Recognition of the honor that had come to Mr. Duffus was recognized in a motion by W. W. Leonard that he be appointed Honorary President of the Young Liberals' Association.

The chairman of the meeting was Ralph Standish of Peterborough, as president of the Peterborough West 20th Century Liberal Association, who was accompanied by the secretary, Elmer Crough.

The new Lakefield officers are as follows:

Honorary Presidents: Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King and Senator Duffus.

President—Stanley Richardson.

Vice-President—Mrs. M. Galvin.

Secretary—Miss Viva Shearer.

Treasurer—Robert Tanner.

Committee—Miss Aileen Young, Miss Bessie Dunn, Miss Comrie, Wilbert Frankish, Bernard Johnston, Alfred Graham, Norman Graham, Harry Sherin, Carman Payne, Ralph Garbutt.

Senator Duffus congratulated the young people on the evidence in their presence of a thoughtful and lively interest in public affairs. As long as the new generation of voters was applying itself to the political business of their country there was no danger of its direction falling into subversive hands. He also mentioned the fact that the young women of today are showing their appreciation of their franchise in the thoroughly practical manner of trying to interest all others in their own localities.

663 Fliers Lost

London, Feb. 16 (CP)

OFFICIAL FIGURES on British Air Force losses were swelled last night to 663, including 534 known dead and 129 missing, as the Air Ministry issued its nineteenth casualty list of the war. No Canadian names were included.

The list, which contained 49 new names, disclosed that a total of 135 men have been killed in action, while 399 have died on active service. The total does not include wounded fliers and those known to be prisoners in Germany.

Of the new losses 9 were listed as killed in action, 3 missing and believed killed in action; 1 dead of wounds, 7 missing, and 29 killed or died on active service.

Campaign Given Good Reception

Lt.-Col. J. A. Dewart, M.C., city campaign chairman in the drive to raise $5,000 for Canadian Legion War Services paid tribute to the fine work being done by the canvassers in the city and also expressed pleasure at the fine reception which is being given the appeal by local citizens.

He said; "The skill with which the opening phases of the drive was planned and executed reflects the greatest credit upon all ranks. The first objective has been quickly reached, and all gains have been consolidated. The capture of the remaining positions and 'mopping-up' operations will be equally successful in view of the determination and fine morale of our forces."

In other words, the drive is going nicely. The leaders and workers are attacking the job in a manner which can not fail to produce results, and it is confidently expected that the final objective of five thousand dollars will be more than attained. The public is with us, knows we have a worthy cause, and is ready to help.

Old-Time Dances Are Valentine Party Feature

Under the auspices of the Caledonian Orchestra, a well-attended and enjoyable Valentine dance was held on Thursday evening in the Moose Hall. A. Jackson acted as master of ceremonies and the company enjoyed many old-tyme dances as well as the modern numbers. A spot dance was won by Mrs. A. H. Radford and Mrs. C. Garside. A door prize went to Miss Susie Cummings. Valentine hats and favors were worn by the entire company, which lent a gay note to the happy gathering. The orchestra consisted of Mrs. J. Harrison (piano), J. Harrison (violin), B. Julian (melodeon), A. Milne (accordion), J. Miller (traps), and provided excellent music. D. Munro played the bagpipes for the reels. Antique furniture, after the polish has been applied on a soft rag, should be rubbed up with a fairly stiff brush, used, of course, in the direction of the grain. This brings up the full effect of the markings on the wood. The same method should be used on oak floors.

St. James Molasses (Steamed)

One cup molasses (light brown sugar will do for those who do not like molasses) ¼ cup butter, 1 cup sweet milk, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon powdered cloves, 1½ cups flour, pinch of salt. Mix butter and molasses, then add milk. Sift together, spice, salt and soda and mould and steam two hours in steamer that is properly covered — steamer covers must not leak steam. Serve with Hard Sauce or Lemon Sauce.

Hard Sauce (for Hot Puddings)

Cream 1-3 cup soft butter, with 1 cup powdered or granulated sugar, add 1 teaspoon vanilla and mix very well. Arrange on small dish, score with fork to make it look attractive, sprinkle with nutmeg and chill before serving. This melts as soon as a spoonful is placed on hot pudding.

For Saturday, February 17.

The prospect for fulfilled ambitions, of a business, financial and personal nature, is presaged by the planetary configurations. Financial promise is encouraged with the support of those in places of influence and prestige. There is a menace of danger of loss with papers, writings or documents. There is a sign of courtship or matrimony for the eligible. Much conviviality, with pleasant friendship, is emphasized.

Those whose birthday it is are assured of a progressive, prosperous and happy year, with probably courtship or marriage. There should be much pleasant friendliness in both home and business relations. Safeguard documents against loss.

A child born on this day may be alert and versatile, and have fine creative talents and originality. But it may be changeable and lacking in steadiness.

Local Council Of Women To Invite Political Candidates To Meeting

A silent tribute was paid to the memory of Lord Tweedsmuir at a largely attended meeting of the Local Council of Women Thursday afternoon, held in the green room of the Y.W.C.A., with Mrs. E. Wand presiding. A reading, "John Buchan, the Peer," was read in honor of the late Governor-General by Mrs. E. W. Ballard, and a letter has been sent to the national office expressing the deep sympathy of the Peterborough Local Council with Lady Tweedsmuir and the members of her family.

Mrs. J. Low, convener of a committee to make arrangements for a public meeting at which each candidate will be given an opportunity to present his platform, reported that the meeting will be held in the Canadian Legion Hall, the date to be announced later. The meeting is sponsored by the Local Council in an effort to create a deeper interest among women in the exercise of their franchise.

Announcement was made of the approaching visit to the city of Mrs. F. G. Miller, president of the Ontario Provincial Council of Women, who will be guest speaker at the March meeting, to be held on the 21st.

Annual Reports Presented

Annual reports left over from the January meeting were heard. Reporting for housing and town planning, Mrs. J. Low, convener, whose committee includes Mr. James Dutton, Mrs. Walter Blackwell and Mrs. J. K. Hughes, stated that plans were being made for a public meeting to interest citizens of Peterborough in housing and town planning. She referred to a letter from the National Council to conveners in which it was suggested that a greater effort be put forth for better housing and town planning, laying special emphasis on slum clearance and the great need for better homes for the average citizen at a moderate cost; for mental hygiene, Miss Zeta Kearney stated that auxiliary class pupils have received their manual training and household science periods with the regular school classes, and that 19 mental health clinics were held in the city during the past year, with 100 patients seen by the clinic staff, and a total of 182 visits made.

The W.C.T.U. convener reported a membership of 60. Education of youth against taking intoxicants of any kind is one of the main objects of this organization; a satisfactory progress report was given by Mrs. A. I. Brown, convener of a committee named to look into the matter of the city's wine shops; a report from the Business and Professional Women's Club indicated an active year. There is a paid up membership of 58, and one associate member. A worthwhile report was presented by Mrs. E. Mills for trades and professions; a report from the Y.W.C.A. contained an account of a year filled with activity, with a membership of 560 girls. To plan and carry on the work of the organization, a staff of five secretaries is maintained, as well as 16 other paid workers; Mrs. M. E. Breckenridge, for laws pertaining to women and children, explained the assistance given to delinquents by the police matron and Children's Aid Society.

Handicrafts Studied

The convener of arts and letters, Mrs. C. S. Thompson, presented an interesting report of this group—the year 1939 has centred around the development of handicrafts in Canada. The Prince of Wales' Home and School convener outlined a busy year—the association has made several purchases of equipment for the school, and supplied cod liver oil to some of the students; the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion has 16 new members, its convener stated. Money has been donated to the Red Cross and a bale sent to soldiers in England. The organization has an active relief and visiting committee. The Elizabeth Parker Auxiliary of Trinity Church has a fine organization, with 48 members, and last year sent $385 to foreign missions. Every woman of the congregation is a member of St. Andrew's W.A., the members divided into groups have worked towards a highly successful year. St. Andrew's W.M.S. has a membership of 50, including 14 life members. $425 was sent to the Presbyterial by this group. George Street Church W. M. S., with a membership of 148, has sent $1,000 to the Presbyterial treasurer for work at home mission stations, and in other lands; a bale of clothing valued at $153 was sent to needy fields.

Peterboro' Presbytery Nominates Rev. Easton For Quinte Presidency

The Presbytery of Peterborough held its inaugural session in St. Andrew's United Church parlors on Thursday. Rev. A. L. Sisco of Millbrook presided, and Rev. J. R. Trumpour of Bridgenorth was secretary.

Rev. George F. Kelly of Lakefield conducted the devotional service and spoke on the work of the ministry during times of apathy and discouragement, yet bringing unexpected and permanent results for good. Newly elected lay delegates answering the roll call were: S. C. Ward, Westwood, for Hastings; Frank Lackey, Fraserville; Henry Jamieson, Cavan; Harry Wellman, Norwood. Messages of sympathy were sent to Rev. M. C. Parr and J. G. Keefer of Norwood, absent through illness.

The Presbytery learned with joy of the recovery of the Rev. Robert Laird, D.D., treasurer, and Rev. Gordon A. Sisco, D.D., general secretary of the United Church of Canada.

Statistical report for the Presbytery was given by Rev. J. R. Trumpour as follows: Pastoral charges, 22; families, 927; members, 7,877; new members received, 504; raised for all purposes, $121,356; Sunday schools, 49; teachers and officers, 721; scholars, 65,445; members of through-the-week groups, 1,858.

Rev. Clarence Ferguson of Bethany directed an hour devoted to study of religious education. Rev. A. L. Sisco defined the "Purpose of the Sunday School," as to lead scholars into the new life with Christ. Rev. C. Ferguson explained the set-up of the Daily Vacation Bible School and urged a trial of this "bit of concentrated Christian education." Rev. Dr. L. W. Young spoke on "The teaching of religion in the public school," reviewing the laws of the various provinces and the rights of the minister in the public schools of Ontario. He claimed that there was a favorable attitude on the part of the Department of Education, the school staffs, parents and scholars. In a later report plans were made for vacation schools, and an attempt initiated to get religious instruction in the schools of Peterborough county. "We believe, the reports read, the public schools of our province present an opportunity for instruction in the Bible," and the Presbytery hereby places itself on record as favoring it. The ministry were asked to take advantage of this form of service and the help of all ministerial associations in the county will be sought. Rev. John E. Glover of Hastings was made counsellor of Presbytery on this particular work. A convention of Young People's Workers will be held on March 29.

Tribute To Tweedsmuir.

Members stood in silent tribute when a resolution was read by Rev. M. I. Robinson, recording the sense of bereavement in the loss of "our beloved Governor-General, Lord Tweedsmuir," who as our Sovereign's representative, man of letters, cultural Christian gentleman, and friend of all has lastingly endeared himself to all Canadians.

Committees met during the noon recess and members were the guests of the St. Andrew's ladies for dinner. Rev. A. F. Malcolm and H. E. Honey expressed the appreciation of the W.A.'s kindness to which Mrs. F. L. Robinson replied.

The afternoon session opened with prayer by Rev. F. W. Craik and A. Stewart, and took up consideration of reports of committees. The committee on Presbytery Visitation reported that delegations had met with the officials of Bethany, Bridgenorth, Cavan and Havelock charges, and found them functioning well according to the "Manual and Constitution" and the friendly visit very helpful and greatly appreciated. Recommendations made to the charges after the visits have already been carried out. The second series of visits will take place forthwith as follows, the first named being the chairman of the delegation: Hiawatha — Rev. George Murray, Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt and John Henderson; Keene—Rev. E. W. Rowland, Rev. M. I. Robinson, O. Stewart; Lakefield — Rev. M. C. Parr, Rev. J. R. Trumpour, and H. S. Walker; Millbrook—Rev. Dr. E. W. Young, Rev. F. W. Craik, and Alpine MacNab; Norwood—Rev. G. S. Easton, Rev. Andrew McLauchlin and R. F. Downey; Peterborough, George Street — Rev. F. W. Craik, Rev. G. F. Kelly and A. E. Prest; Peterborough, Knox—Rev. A. L. Sisco, Rev. George Murray and W. F. Fallis; Peterborough, Mark Street—Rev. M. I. Robinson, Rev. J. F. Everson and W. F. Wildman.

A recommendation was approved asking the Home Missions Committee to investigate the possibilities of securing better pastoral oversight of territory north and east of Havelock.

The Presbytery voted down a suggestion made by the Conference Executive that they concur in a plan to have the president of the Conference assume office only at the conclusion of the conference that elects him, his predecessor presiding at the remaining sessions.

A motion by Rev. E. W. Rowland, seconded by Rev. F. W. Craik, named Rev. George S. Easton, M.A., B.D., of Trinity Church, Peterborough, as the Presbytery's nominee for the presidency of the coming Bay of Quinte Conference to be held in Port Hope. "Mr. Easton," said Mr. Rowland, "has gifts and graces for this office and could give strong leadership as a great preacher, a splendid pastor and highly esteemed among our people." Mr. Easton was given a just ovation and thanked the brethren for their confidence.

Upon motion of Rev. Dr. E. W. Young and Rev. A. McLauchlin, Rev. E. Crossley Hunter of Hamilton was given the nomination of this Presbytery for the Moderatorship of the General Council.

The report on Evangelism and Social Service was presented by Rev. Andrew McLauchlin. The Presbytery will co-operate, he said, in holding preaching missions in the post-Easter season in some of the charges. Ministers were urged to present the ideals and attitudes of the Oxford and Edinburgh Conferences to their people, and co-operation will be sought from the local ministerial associations. The report called upon members of the United Churches to exercise their sacred duty and vote at the coming Federal election.

The Laymen's Share.

Rev. Dr. E. W. Young spoke on "Industrial Relations," and called attention to some statements made by Canon W. W. Judd of the Anglican Church, urging the responsibility of the laymen in our churches for working towards a Christian social order. He also outlined statements in an Encyclical issued by sixteen Roman Catholic priests, showing the pressing need for economic and social reform. Large numbers are still out of work, and no city has an adequate relief scale of living. Security of the worker against unemployment; old age, sickness and death must be favorably accepted as a social responsibility.

In the report on Home Missions presented by Rev. M. I. Robinson, the usual grants were recommended for Apsley, Wesley and Hiawatha.

Rev. G. S. Easton read the Missionary and Maintenance report, the United Church having given for 1939 at the last report, $145,736, or $2.03 per member. The Bay of Quinte Conference showed increased givings in but two of its seven Presbyteries—Oshawa due to large contributions from one man, and Peterborough, through loyal co-operation throughout. Eleven charges showed increases and the Presbytery total is now $17,012, as against $16,971 last year. Mr. Easton was congratulated on his leadership in this committee.

The Pastoral Relations Committee, Rev. J. E. Glover reporting, endorsed the request of Rev. Fred Horton of Fraserville for a change of pastorate and of Rev. H. F. Malcolm to be given a pastorate. The calls of Rev. M. C. Parr to Wesley Church, Galt, and of Rev. H. L. Roberts, M.A., B.D., to George Street, Peterborough, were endorsed and sent on to the Settlement Committee for favorable consideration. Rev. A. C. Huston, principal of Rock Lake Indian School, will be continued on the roll of the Presbytery.

Enthusiastic commendation was sent to Rev. A. Wilson, editor of the United Church "Observer" for the great success of his first year's work, in which the circulation has doubled and the standard of the paper become recognized far and wide.

Rev. F. Horton reported the records examined and found to be well kept.

A call to special prayer was sent out in view of the present world conditions.

Thanks to St. Andrew's Church officials was expressed by Rev. M. I. Robinson and Rev. C. H. Ferguson.

The invitation of Rev. E. W. Rowland to hold the May meeting of the Presbytery in Mark Street United Church was accepted. The sessions closed with benediction by the chairman, Rev. A. L. Sisco.

Canucks Gain Duke

Canucks just managed to edge out a 2-1 nod over King Edward in an excellent Southend Hockey League struggle last evening at All Saints' rink. Connelly counted both for the victors in the first period and Ellis got one for the K. E. crew the same frame. Neither side could notch another in the hot going. Connelly and Smith stood out in this game, but all the puckists turned in a neat performance. The teams:

Canucks — Goal, Depellaro; defence, J. Giardino, Dayman; centre, A. Giardino; wings, LaPlante, Daley; subs, Connelly, Mattucci.

King Edward—Goal, Smith; defence, Harrison, Dugan; centre, Estlick; wings, Ellis, Harrison; subs, Vannest, Aikins.

Ramblers Cop Nod In Girls' Tussle

Southend Ramblers copped a 1-0 nod over Brinton Fliers in an exhibition girls' puck tilt last night at the Sacred Heart rink. It was a good game, rugged in spots. Brinton lasses all went 60 minutes. Betty McAuliffe scored the only tally and quite a few fans enjoyed the interesting joust. One casualty was H. Stazicker. The teams are coached, Brintons by Sam Robertson and Ramblers by Jim Amyotte. Four Brinton girls were sick and did not play, but should be ready for next Tuesday's tilt at seven. The teams:

Ramblers—Goal, M. Aiden; defence, P. Lowe, G. LaPlante; centre, V. Lynch; wings, H. Jones, B. McAuliffe; subs, L. Dionne, H. McGarrity.

Fliers— Goal, H. Suddards; defence, H. Shaugnessy, A. Leether; centre, H. Stazicker; wings, I. Thompson, G. Ritchie.

Referee—R. O'Brien.

Local Girl Cagers Swamp Port Hopers

In a ladies' basketball contest in Port Hope last evening, the Peterborough Orfuns—of the local Y.W. league—rolled up a 65-3 victory over Port Hope Rascals. Showing great superiority in all departments, the Orfuns threw in baskets continuously from all angles, having a 45-0 margin at halftime. A. Craig with 16 points, B. Blade with 11, R. Thompson with 10 and M. Hawthorne with eight were the main snipers for the visitors, the losers' points coming on free throws. Play was clean, fast but one-sided. The teams:

Orfuns: M. Clarke, A. Livingstone, M. Hawthorne, R. Thompson, M. Ferguson, B. Blade, A Craig and D. Ackford.

Port Hope: L. Harding, J. Jamieson, N. Robertson, H. Ferguson, D. Brooks, N. Watson, W. Halford, D. Smith and M. Douglas.

St. Paul's Defeated By Park St., 3 to 2

Park St. Juniors enter the Church Loop semi-finals against All Saints' or George St. as a result of their 3-2 win last night over St. Paul's in a sudden-death tilt. Play was hot and lively with disputed goals and a general melee near the end. Jobe scored early and Cox got a pair in the second to make it 3-0. The Presbyterians ganged in the third and got one when Morrow and J. Easton combined. Campbell, Jobe, J. Easton and McMillan drew major penalties. G. Easton counted a nice one late. Both goalies, the Easton boys, Jobe and Cox were standouts. Teams:

St. Paul's: Goal, McBride; defence, Ferguson, McMillan; centre, A. Lockington; wings, Morrow, J. Easton; subs, G. Easton, S. Lockington, Dunford.

Park St.: Goal, Ainslie; defence, McDermott, Campbell; centre, Hodson; wings, Jobe, Cox; sub, Kidd.

Referees, F. Worsencroft and R. Gordon.

St. Peter's Win 5-0 From The Canucks

St. Peter's copped a 5-0 Southend League puck decision last night over Canucks at the Sacred Heart rink. The winners shoved home two in the first stanza and got two more to end the second. Canucks made it a battle all the way in a classy minor tussle. Murphy and Kennedy each bulged the twine twice for the Saints and Garvey got the other goal. Both net-minders kicked out a bunch. The teams:

Canucks— Goal, Shortt; defence, Healey, Keating; centre, Peters; wings, Jones, Phillips; subs, Dafoe, Ritchie.

St. Peter's.—Goal Parsons; defence, Murphy, Matthews; centre, Garvey; wings, W. Murphy, McLean; subs, Kennedy, J. Murphy, McCartney.

Referee—J. Ainslie.

All Saints' Win First Of Finals

Trinity lacked teamplay to lose the first juvenile Church Loop final game 6-1 last night to All Saints'. The winners clicked well on passes, while the Trinity starting defence was weak in clearing. It was a close enough contest with the score 1-0 in the first and 3-0 going into the third. Blackwell and Carpenter got two each for All Saints' with Saunders and Dyer getting the others. Webster shone for the losers and got their only goal. Besides Webster, Welbourne, Hall and Henry went good for Trinity; with All Saints' starting line and Saunders shining. Maudsley drew a match misconduct for abusing the referee. Teams:

Trinity: Goal, Welbourne; defence, Fowler, McBain; centre, Henry; wings, Harrison, Webster; sub, Hall.

All Saints': Goal, Clapham; defence, Ackford, Saunders; centre, Dyer; wings, Blackwell, Carpenter; subs, Lacey, McAdams, Reid, Burns, Hotrum, Maudsley.

Referee, D. Charlton.

"TELL BILL GOODBYE"

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

By Marie Blizard

CHAPTER FORTY-THREE

Chris clung to Sonny. "You'd better go in and see if it's all right first," she said, trying to peer through the falling snow at the bleak house.

Fabienne had the same thought, along with a good many qualms, now that they had arrived at Bill's place in the country. Fabienne had more than the usual share of courage, but the thought of what the dark house might hold was disquieting.

"All right," Fabienne agreed, getting a flashlight out of the car, showing none of her own reluctance to enter the house alone.

She focused the light on the door lock after flashing it briefly over the windows. At least none of them was broken. The door opened creakily under her touch and she made a circle of light in the room. Nothing came out of the shadows, but there was the sound—loud in the silence—of small feet scurrying in the walls and the room beyond the living room into which she stepped. "Only mice, Fabienne," she told herself reassuringly.

There were candles ranged along the mantle over the hearth. She lit them and went out to the car.

"It's all right," she said, taking the child from its mother's arms.

"We'll starve here," Chris said plaintively, following her through snow that was already four or five inches deep.

"There's food here, and blankets," Fabienne said, hastily closing the door with her foot to keep out the icy draft.

"And its terribly cold," Chris said, shivering.

"Keep your things on until I get a fire going."

Sonny was awake and beginning to whimper. Chris said, "I'll take care of him. I'll put him in bed on one of the cots. You can have the other. I'll sit up."

Fabienne didn't hear her; she'd gone into the kitchen with one of the candles to take a quick inventory. She would need little; they would be there only for the night, until she could get to Bill.

She piled logs and kindling into a wood basket, placed a can of soup and a can of condensed milk in a pan and put them on top of the logs and carried it into the living room.

"I'll give you a hot drink and put you to bed, Chris," she said, kneeling before the hearth in which the remainder of the fire Bill had built still lay.

"All I want is a drink of water. I'm so thirsty!"

WATER. There wasn't any water in the house. They'd brought it with them when they came up for the winter party.

"I'll get you some when the fire gets going," Fabienne said.

It took a long time for the fire to blaze, and when it did the room was filled with smoke and smudges of black were rubbed on Fabienne's weary face. She looked at her wrist watch as she got up. It was a little after half-past two, but it seemed years since she had returned to her apartment and found Chris gone.

She went out to the kitchen and got a large stew pan and went outdoors with it. She filled it with clean snow and brought it back, placing it over the burning logs to melt. "I wish I'd been a girl scout when I was a child," she said grimly.

When the snow melted, she poured a quantity of the water into one small saucepan, the remainder into another. "I'll get more for drinking water," she said.

Chris has found a can opener and sat with it in her hand, a blank, happy expression on her flushed face.

Fabienne took it away from her gently and opened the soup and the milk which she soon had steaming. "You both need something hot," she said, feeding the milk to Sonny from a cup and telling Chris to get a soup bowl for herself.

The hot soup, and the sleeping drug that was still in her system, made Chris sleepy at once. She fell back on the cot with no protests and allowed Fabienne to cover her with the warm blankets. Sonny was long since in a rosy sleep.

Taking only one blanket, Fabienne wrapped herself in it and curled up, as nearly as one could curl up, in a hard wooden rocker.

She awoke at daybreak, believing herself in a dream, only to realize too soon that it was not a dream. She put fresh logs on the dying fire and sank back into uncomfortable slumber.

When she woke again it was broad daylight, nearly nine o'clock, but there was only a grayish light in the room. With foreboding, she shook of her blanket, stretched her aching muscles in a long cat stretch, and went to the window. As she had feared, the snow had not let up. Great flakes as thick as cotton fell from low clouds as if the world were to be buried in snow forever after. It was impossible to see more than four or five feet away, or to pierce that enveloping white with the eye.

Fabienne went out to the kitchen for another load of wood, saw that there was plenty to last through the day, and brought it back to the living room.

Sonny fought off his blankets and sat up, presenting a bright little face to her. "Sonny want his breakfuss," he announced.

"Shh, darling! Don't wake mummie. I'll get your breakfast for you."

"Sonny a good boy," he said.

"Of course you are," she said softly, tiptoeing over to look at Chris, who was sleeping soundly, a flush on her pale cheeks, great dark circles under her eyes. "Poor kid," Fabienne said to herself.

There was a can of oatmeal in the kitchen and three more cans of condensed milk. Fabienne poured some of the cereal into a sauce pan with some water and put it over the logs. "I hope you don't get tired of oatmeal, darling," she said to Sonny, who was contentedly playing with the flashlight. "It looks as if you were going to have nothing else to eat."

While it was cooking, she went out to the car. It was bedded in three feet of snow on the north side. She'd have to start digging out soon. She doubted if she could walk to a place where she could find a telephone and get through to Bill.

She'd remembered that there was a robe under the folded rumble seat and heaved and hauled until she pulled it up. Her robe was there and an old coat. She dragged them out, pulling the latter away from something it was caught on. It came free, and she saw that it had been caught on her portable radio that she had forgotten was in the car. She picked that up and lugged it back.

Chris was awake, sitting up, shivering in her blankets. "I'll get up and help you," she said.

Fabienne was tinkering with the radio. "Stay where you are," she commanded. "How do you feel?"

"Terrible. My bone ache and my chest hurts. I think I've got a cold."

"I'll fix that up. Listen..." The radio emitted a series of squawks and squeals. "It's just ten o'clock. Time for news."

She twirled the dial experimentally and then a voice came over—

Trinity Beats Knox

Trinity will enter Church League bantam finals against All Saints', having disposed of Knox 2-1 last night. Two long shots in the first fooled the Knox goalie, and the winners then stayed off a desperate attack the rest of the route to win. Hall and Beatty scored for the victors and Darling tallied for Knox in the third. It was tight all the way, with both goalies looking good. Hall and Braund went well on defence, with Beatty and the Trinity first trio always dangerous. Batley and Darling were best for Knox. Teams:

Trinity: Goal, Dorset; defence, Beatty, Dinsdale; centre, Fallon; wings, Plunkett, Meredith; subs, Hall, White, Jewell, Beaton.

Knox: Goal, Parnell; defence, Braund, Gertley; centre, Darling; wings, Covert, Slaughter; subs, Haines, Batley.

Referee, R. Gordon.

Royals Edge Eagles

In a midget Southend League fray at the Sacred Heart rink last night Royals took a 4-1 win over Eagles. Play was fast and hot with the referee and a player tangling once to a draw. Cooper, Donnell, White and Harris scored for the winners, who had two each in the first and second frames, as Smith scored the Eagles' counter in the second. The teams:

Eagles — Goal, Shea; defence, Smith, Morrow; centre, Batten; wings, LaPlante, Ralph.

Royals — Goal, Leether; defence, Lawson, McGregor; centre, Anderson; wings, O'Brien, Close; subs, White, Harris, Donnell, Blaby, Cooper.

Referee—V. Neary.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER
By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

PSYCHICS STILL WORK

PLENTY OF fine players have quit making psychic bids, except upon the rarest occasions, because it is pretty well established that psychics do not often pay. But when an ultra-conservative bidder springs one in a well-chosen spot, the results may be startlingly favorable. His opponents are unlikely to suspect him, and so may let him get away with something. Be it emphatically understood that the bridge player without a certain amount of suspicion in his soul at all times is liable to occasional suffering at the hands of a tricky sortie.

	♠ A K 10 7 3 ♥ 8 7 3 ♦ 10 8 4 ♣ K 10

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

In a keen rubber game where this deal bobbed up, North was considered by far the most conservative member of the foursome. Nobody had heard of his making a psychic bid in a year or more. So when he made a dealer bid of 1-Heart, nobody suspected him. Of course, he was taking a risk of finding his partner with a fair hand and a heart fit, but luck was with him.

South answered the psychic with 1-Spade and West doubled. East responded with 2-Clubs. Later he said he did not like to bid 2-Hearts, and thus disclose to North and South how their suit was bunched against them. His club call was due merely to his inability to find any other response, since he didn't suspect North of psyching.

After South rebid at 2-Spades, West bid 3-Clubs. North, to continue the illusion of holding something, made a risky second bid of 3-Spades. West doubled this, then led the club A. As a consequence, South made his contract, losing only one trick in clubs, one in spades and two in diamonds, on a deal which could produce 5-Hearts for the vulnerable opponents.

If North bids 1-Diamond on this deal, South 2-No Trumps and West 3-Hearts, what should North do?

Missionary Playlet Is Staged By Y.P.U.

MILLBROOK, Feb. 16 (ENS). —

A short missionary playet, "Counted Worthy to Suffer," featured the young people's meeting in St. Andrew's Church on Monday evening, those taking part including the president, B. B. Dawson, Earl Edworthy, Jack Kidd, and Teddy Stinson. The convener, Miss Phyllis Kidd, was in charge.

As a fitting prelude to the program, the meeting was opened with soft music with Mary Burnham at the piano, the hymn being "Take up thy cross," and the lesson read in unison from Matthew 10, 5-20. Francis Tickner read "The World's Bible," and prayer was offered by Jean Fisher, Rella Mae Sisco, and Earl Edworthy.

Business items included arrangements for the social evening on Friday of this week, when the Grace Presbyterian Young People will be guests of St. Andrew's Y.P.U.; and also the public gathering on February 26, when a play, "The Second Mile," will be presented. A missionary chart was started, with each member being credited with five cents per month as this sum is regularly paid in on missionary nights.

A study of "Going to Church in India" was covered by the leader, and the meeting closd with a contest which had to do with Indian proverbs and their equivalent in English, followed by a recreational period, and the forming of a large circle, when Bary Burnham read a poem, "Where Love is, God is," and the benediction dismissed the gathering.

"Ontario will be advertised as the province which levies no amusement tax; no tax on meals; no local sales tax; where a policy of fish propagation has been carried to the point of efficiency so that our inland lakes and waters will be most attractive to those who enjoy that particular kind of sport."

Prospective American tourists would be told of the premium value of their money in Canada, Mr. Hepburn added.

Mission Circle Holds Supper Meeting

The girls elected two members as a committee to aid the Misison Band in a skating carnival to be held as soon as arrangements could be made.

Mrs. F. Crate invited the girls to her home on February 27th, for the purpose of sewing for the bale.

After the business was concluded, Miss M. Scriver led the girls in a few games and contests.

A very interesting worship period followed, led by the worship convener, in which she made reference to Lenten season, telling members that the cross that Christ carried was not meant alone for Him, but also for all, and that the cross does not necessarily mean trouble or grief, but something that all can do to help others. Suitable readings and solos interspersed the talk, and the meeting closed with everyone singing a hymn and the benediction.

Norway Sends Protest To Britain

Proposes Indemnity Charging Waters Violated

OSLO, Norway, Feb. 17—(AP).—Norway protested to Great Britain today over the action of a British warship in boarding the German armed prison vessel Altmark and removing captive British merchant seamen after a hand-to-hand battle in Norwegian territorial waters.

Five German seamen were reported killed in the struggle when the German craft took refuge in Gjesingfjord near Stavanger.

Norway was reported to have asked Britain to return the British prisoners, pay compensation and in the future respect Norwegian sovereignty and territorial waters.

The dramatic encounter between a British destroyer and the Altmark was described in a Norwegian communique published here which said:

"The German steamship Altmark yesterday afternoon arrived in Fjessingfjord escorted by a Norwegian torpedo boat. The ships were stopped by two British destroyers giving warning shots.

"Soon after five other British torpedo boats and a British warship arrived. The Norwegian vessel protested twice, and the Altmark and Norwegian torpedo boat entered Gjessingfjord while the British ships disappeared outside territorial waters.

"Later in the evening one of the British destroyers returned using searchlights. About 11 p.m. (5 p.m. EST) a British warship followed and stopped alongside the Altmark, taking on board some of the British citizens who had been on the German ship, whereafter the British warship disappeared."

"The Norwegian Foreign Office protested sharply to Britain over this neutrality violation."

Nazi A Fighter Stanley Warns

WITH THE BRITISH EXPEDITIONARY FORCE IN FRANCE, Feb. 17 — (CP-. — Oliver Stanley, Britain's War Secretary, yesterday warned British troops not to underestimate the German soldier's valor as a "fighting animal."

"The Germans have been preparing for war for over four years and it would be absurd to think they are going to give in easily," said Mr. Stanley, who is on a visit to the Western front.

"It is not going to be an easy job," he said, "but I am far from being a pessimist. All the sacrifices for victory will be made."

Mr. Stanley inspected the varied activities of the B.E.F. on the Maginot Line and praised the "enormous progress" made by the troops during the last six weeks.

The War Secretary said, "Only one man—Adolf Hitler—can decide whether the war will take the form of a blitzkrieg."

British Press Reflects In Hinting Allies May Reconsider On Sending Army

LONDON, Feb. 17. —(CP). — Sweden's barrier against passage of foreign troops to fight for harassed Finland still leaves the way open for private supplies and volunteer fighters, diplomatic sources here said to-day

In some quarters, Sweden's 'no' to Finland's desperate appeal for help against Soviet Russia was considered to have left Great Britain and France as the only possible source of aid. Both already are sending quantities of munitions and planes.

Premier Per Albin Hansson's statement yesterday that Stockholm had declined Finland's request for "transport of Swedish military groups to Finland" evoked warning editorials in the Daily Mail, and Daily Express, both captioned "SOS."

"Sweden knows her own necessities," the Express declared, "but if the day comes when she is confronted by threats, let her remember she turned a deaf ear to her neighbor's claim for aid."

The Daily Mail similarly suggested that "maybe the day will come when she will have cause to rue that decision." The Mail argued that the United States should help Finland by selling her guns, munitions and planes in "her hour of peril."

Although Britain and France were held to regard it virtually impossible to send large numbers of trained men to the Finnish fronts quickly, an informed source said they might consult again within the next few days on the Finns' urgent plight.

The belief wa sexpressed here that direct intervention might lead to closer German-Russian relations and create new fronts in the western war.

British volunteers continued filing their applications for enlistment with the Finnish army. A royal decree permitting British volunteers to serve in the Finnish army was published last night in the London Gazette.

Possibility of Germany violating the neutrality of Holland, Belgium or both in an effort to strike a telling blow at Great Britain and France is one of the major problems facing the Allied command.

Fear of such an invasion has risen and fallen several times in recent months and it is to be expected it will appear again for the so-called low countries are a standing temptation to aggressive Hitlerism. However, such an invasion could have disadvantages as weighty as any advantages to be gained.

For instance, if the Nazis managed to overrun Belgium they would be in position to turn the main Maginot defence and strike at the portion of the French frontier least strongly fortified. But such a move would add more than 1,000,000 men—the fighting forces of the low countries—to the Allies strength and extend the front of operations.

A Nazi attack on the neighborly neutrals probably would cause the Allies to go to their rescue and this would draw a portion of the British and French forces out of their prepared defensive positions. But to the distinct disadvantage of Germany, it would throw open a direct air route from the British Isles to important industrial centres of northwest Germany. These areas are approachable by British bombers only by a

Mannerheim Troops Driven Back To Within 20 Miles

HELSINGFORS, Feb. 17 (AP)—The Finnish high command today balanced an announcement that its forces on the Karelian Isthmus had withdrawn to "new positions" with a victory at Kuhmo, on the eastern front, in which 1,800 Russians were killed.

HELSINGFORS, Feb. 17.—(AP)—The Finnish army ordered removal of the few remaining women and children from Viborg today, it was reported, as the Soviet Russian drive on the Karelian Isthmus entered its 17th day with the Finns losing some positions less than a score of miles from the city.

Posting of notices in Helsingfors for the class of 1898 to come to the colors served at the same time to emphasize the Finnish plight. This call for men 41 and 42 years of age followed calls within the past three days for those of 42 to 44.

As more than 100 Russian bombers were sighted over southern Finland, flying towards the important industrial city of Tammerfors (Tampere), foreign military observers said the big battle of the Karelian Isthmus was nearing the peak of fury.

One observer said the Finnish army should be able to withstand smashes even harder than those for the past 17 days without giving way suddenly. After that, he predicted, there should be a lull in the costly Russian offensive.

This should provide time for consolidating positions before another drive started.

One woman reaching here said she and others who had special permission to remain in Viborg (Vilpuri) after the general removal of several weeks ago had to leave now as a precaution because Viborg was so close to the fighting lines it was subject to frequent air raids.

Only one shop of each sort is to remain open in Viborg, all others being closed.

Several other Russian planes flew over Helsingfors, but no bombs were dropped here, although an alarm at noon lasted 40 minutes.

Only one civilian was reported killed in yesterday's raids, and property damage was said to be small.

French Arm Chest Thrown Open To Finn Cause

PARIS, Feb. 17 — (AP).—Military sources said to-day France has opened her stocks of war material, both old and modern, to help the Finns fight Russia.

Planes, anti-tank guns, heavy artillery, automatic weapons and large quantities of other munitions have arrived in Finland, these sources said.

Among the consignments said to have been put to use already by the Finns at the front was a shipment of hand grenades which left France on January 15.

The statement by military sources was the first comprehensive report of French aid to Finland since the League of Nations approved assistance to the embattled republic.

"Many French planes" have joined the Finnish squadrons, the military spokesmen said.

Many Big Guns Sent.

French officials declined to give exact figures on various types of material because such information would be of use to Russia. They said, however, that at the request of the Finnish Government French heavy artillery of types used in the First Great War and modern anti-tank guns had been despatched.

The Finns were reported to have preferred the old type heavy artillery for certain types of action.

"Finland has an unlimited credit in our old material," a French spokesman said. He added that through a skilfully devised transport system all the aid have arrived safely.

France will continue to send aid, the spokesman declared.

Military despatches from Finland indicated, French sources said, the Finnish situation is serious, but "not critical."

French experts pointed out that although the Russians have a foothold in the first Finnish defence line, there exist "six or seven" additional lines which are fortified strongly.

German Skipper Tries To Scuttle Ship With His Captives

BERLIN, Feb. 17.—(AP)—A Nazi spokesman said today the German minister in Oslo had made a vigorous protest to the Norwegian government because that neutral nation had failed to provide protection for the German prison ship Altmark, seized by British naval units.

"The most serious consequences would ensue" unless Norway met German demands for restitution of the armed prison ship and indemnity for those killed and wounded.

The Altmark, which escorted the now-scuttled pocket-battleship Admiral Graf Spee on its raids on merchant shipping and took merchant seamen prisoners, was pursued by a British destroyer last night. Between 300 and 400 captitve merchant seamen were freed.

Nazi spokesmen described as "one of the most dastardly, swinish actions in history" the capture of the prison ship.

The British action was described as a violation of international law.

Use Norwegians As Shield

Today's German reaction was in contrast with that taken last night, by DNB, Nazi News Agency, in announcing that the Altmark, by skilful manoeuvring and the interposition of two Norwegian gunboats, had eluded a British destroyer.

Spokesman today gave bent to indignation with terms such as "bestial piracy," and "reversion to mediaeval practices." They claimed the Altmark was embedded in ice and was virtually on Norwegian soil when the British sailors attacked.

While a press conference was in session, the report of the Altmark's captain reached Berlin by telephone. According to the captain, he tried to ram the British destroyer, but he found he could not because of her position. He then tried to clear lifeboats and scuttle the Altmark, but the British boarded before he could do so and released the 300 captive British merchant sailors imprisoned below decks.

Stranded

Stavanger, Norway, Feb. 17 (AP) THE German auxiliary vessel Altmark, from which a British warship rescued nearly 300 war captives, was reported late today stranded in the innermost reaches of Josin (Gjessing) Fjord with British warships keeping a close watch outside Norwegian territorial waters.

Indications were that the 12,000-ton vessel would not be able to leave soon regardless of what decision the Norwegian government reaches concerning her disposition.

Destroyers Act After Norwegians Deny Britons On Altmark

LONDON, Feb. 17.—(CP).—H.M.S. Cossack landed British prisoners freed from the German prison ship Altmark at Leith, Scotland, this afternoon.

Ambulances were waiting for the injured.

The vessel docked at 3.40 (10.40 a.m. EST).

Leith is on the south side of the Firth of Forth.

LONDON, Feb. 17—(CP).—Rescue of 300 to 400 British merchant seamen from the German prison ship Altmark by British warships was reported today by the Admiralty.

In a battle in a narrow Norwegian fjord, four Germans were killed and five wounded severely, while the British forces suffered one casualty, it wa areported.

The Altmark, a 12,000-ton specially built vessel, resisted capture with her three six-inch guns, British reports said, but one destroyer got alongside and delivered the prisoners.

At the same time the Altmark battle was in progress, the Admiralty said, the German tanker Baldur, was seen passing outside territorial waters. The Baldur crew scuttled her when the British demanded she halt.

The Admiralty said it had searched for the Altmark since the Battle of Montevideo, which ended in the destruction of the pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee.

Crews Off Seven Sunken Ships

The imprisoned seamen were from seven merchant ships sunk by the Admiral Graf Spee, the Admiralty said.

Two days ago, it reported, it was learned that the Altmark was trying to sneak into a German port by using the peculiar costal formations of the Norwegian fjords.

British planes and destroyers were sent to apprehend her.

Britain Orders Every Ship To Carry Gun

LONDON, Feb. 17. —(CP)— The Admiralty announced today all British ships must provide protection against machine-gun attack from enemy aircraft for their crew before leaving any port in the United Kingdom.

Simultaneously, Great Britain started registering an estimated 250,000 youths of 23 today for war service.

The Admiralty order was effective immediately, and while it was only announced today, it was dated February 14.

Ship owners were told they would be advised from time to time on the kind of protective equipment that would be required.

The mobilization program was stepped up to permit the quick absorption of the new recruits and to place 2,500,000 men under arms before 1941. Youths being registered today are expected to be called to army camp early in March.

A British pilot was reported to have bombed a German submarine in the North Sea yesterday as it submerged. The bomb was said to have struck just ahead of the disappearing periscope, and patches of oil appeared on the surface. The submarine, apparently destroyed or crippled, was not seen again.

Aberhart To Test Fate March 21 In Alberta Vote

EDMONTON, Feb. 17 — (CP).—Albertans will trek to the polls on March 21 to elect their ninth government.

Announcement of the Provincial general election date and dissolution of the Legislature was made by Premier Aberhart last night a few minutes after prorogation of a record-breaking session. At 8.31 p.m. (10.31 p.m. EST) thte Premier announced Lieutenant-Governor had just signed the order dissolving the Legislature.

The world's first Social Credit Government, elected in August, 1935, ended its Legislature life with a long program — various committees and the Assembly sitting almost continuously from 9 a.m. until prorogation at 8.15 p.m.

Choice of March 21 for the general election came as no surprise as predictions had been made the Government would choose that date, five days before the Dominion balloting . Nomination day is March 11, same day fixed for Federal nominations.

The seven-day session saw records smashed from beginning to end. The 3,250-word Throne Speech which took 23 minutes o read was the longest since the province was formed in 1905. Estimates totalling $24,349,715 were approved in record time of 4½ hours and it was the shortest regular session in the history of the Legislature.

In addition, it was the first time the order of dissolution and the election date had been announced from the floor of the Assembly.

So far six Opposition parties have 63 candidates in the field for the 57 seats in 49 ridings. Redistribution at the 1939 session reduced the number of seats from 63 to 57 and

Nazi Press Flails Belgians, Swiss Hinting Their Neutrality A Sham

BERLIN, Feb. 17—(AP).—Adolf Hitler's newspaper declared to-day that "the German people never will forget" any nations refusing a "moderate" Nazi demand that they adhere to the German conception of neutrality.

The Volkischer Beobachter criticized Belgium and Switzerland, particularly, and asserted neutrality means more than "renunciation of direct warlike acts: or "lip service for official usage."

"We believe that neutrals are obliged to record war events and the attitude of belligerent nations at least objectively," the newspaper said in developing a theme first expressed by Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels last week.

"Under the protective cloak of 'democratic freedom of opinion'," the newspaper added, "the views, acts and aims of a German nation of 80,000,000 intentionally are suppressed or misrepresented, but the claims of her opponents are reproduced to the greatest extent and supported."

The newspaper said Belgian citizens are "making propaganda for Belgium's participation in the war." by writing from Brussels for French newspapers. It also criticized the "vulgar scolding" of "foreigners speaking high German" in Berne, Switzerland.

"It is only a step from these symptomic events to actual violation of neutrality," Hitler's organ continued. 'Here lies the danger which forces us to the most careful watchfulness."

Call On British Premier To Net Canadians Chamberlain Umbrella For Colonel

LONDON, Feb. 17. —(CP)— Prime Minister Chamberlain's umbrella—or one of his famous umbrellas—may yet be the proud possession of a colonel in the Canadian Active Service Force.

A group of Canadian soldiers on leave, walking through Whitehall yesterday, wandered up narrow Downing street and entered the portal of No. 10, historic residence of the Prime Minister.

To one of Mr. Chamberlain's secretaries who received them they said they would like nothing better than to take back to their colonel at Aldershot a Chamberlain umbrella.

The secretary promised an umbrella would be forwarded to them.

Later the Canadians went to the Guildhall. As they were being shown through the building they noticed a quill pen lying near the Lord Mayor's chair and there was a wild scramble for a souvenir.

When the scramble subsided the soldiers took turns sitting in the historic civic seat of London's chief magistrate.

BRANDON, Man., Feb. 17—(CP).—An effort to make a deal with the British Government for a better share of the United Kingdom wheat market was pledged here last night by Conservative Leader R. J. Manion, making his first general election campaign speech in Western Canada.

In the first of two major addresses here, Dr. Manion charged the Liberal administration of Prime Minister Mackenzie King with failing to negotiate a wheat agreement with Great Britain recently because of lack of vision and initiative.

The Conservative leader discussed his wheat policy in a speech at the City Hall and said he would define it further in his address at Regina to-night.

After the City Hall address last night, Dr. Manion spoke for half an hour over a national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, discussing his proposal for a national government.

Finn Air Raids Set Russian Stations Afire

MOSCOW, Feb. 17 (AP)—Russian troops chopped away steadily at Finnish defences along the Leningrad-Viborg railroad today as the Red army reported capturing two towns and 22 more "of the enemy's defensive fortifications."

A Soviet communique said the advancing Russians on the Karelian Isthmus had taken Leipasuo and Kamara, two towns along the railway about 15 miles from Viborg (Vilpuri).

(Reuters news agency reported in London the Finns launched an air offensive and bombed the Leningrad railroad which supplies Russia's Karelian Isthmus troops. Several stations were reported set on fire.

(The Finns admitted the loss of some advance fortifications but said the Mannerheim line was intact.)

The reported capture of 22 more fortifications brought to 175 the number of such Finnish positions the Russians assert they have taken on the isthmus.

"In the seven-days' offensive of the Soviet troops, the enemy's losses in fortifications occupied by the Soviet troops constituted 420 machine guns and 170 guns," the communique said.

Two of the 22 defensive positions were described as iron and concrete artillery forts.

Quebec To Entice Men Back To Land By Making Farming Pay Profits

QUEBEC, Feb. 17—(CP).—Steps to draw Quebecers back to the land by making farming a paying business, and measures to attract capital to the fast-growing mining industry are forecast by government spokesmen for the Quebec Legislature session opening February 20.

Indications are that the session will see discussion of questions all the way from votes for women to whether farmers' buggies and carts should carry lights at night.

Quebec's anti-Communist padlock law may get attention. Repeal or modification has been suggested but there has been no official indication of just what will be done.

The unique Provincial Legislature, with Upper and Lower Houses, meets with a Liberal government picking up the reins which Liberals held for almost 40 years until 1936, when the Union Nationale Party, led by Maurice Duplessis, won a landslide election victory.

Premier Adelard Godbout, government leader for a few weeks in 1936, who reversed the tables on the Union Nationale in last October's general election, will lead a party of 68 in the Assembly of 86 members. Mr. Duplessis' group of 15 forms the Opposition. There is one Independent, one Nationalist, and one seat is vacant.

Half Revenue To Relief.

Premier Godbout has declared his intention of making farming and colonization the chief weapons in an attack on unemployment whose costs absorb almost half the province's revenue.

The plan envisions re-settlement of vacant land in well-established communities rather than colonization of remote areas where farm must be hacked out of the wilderness. Hope is expressed that farmers who gave up agriculture in hard times will trek back in answer to the plea that it will mean dollars in their pockets.

Among other things proposed as an apprenticeship system to ensure that all persons who turn to farming can make a go of it, increased food productiton for war purposes and development of such industries as maple sugar production and preserving are expected.

24th Week Sees Lull Hold In France With Finns Fighting A 2nd Verdun

The precarious position of the Finnish forces defending the Mannerheim Line against the onslaughts of the Red army with its seemingly inexhaustable reserve of manpower held the anxious attention of the sympathetic nations in the 24th week of the war between the Allied powers and Germany.

After 16 days of fighting in battle likened to the French army's great stand before Verdun a generation ago, the Finns yielded ground in the vicinity of Summa, 20 miles southeast of Viborg (Vilpuri), Finland's second city, but insisted that otherwise the system of fortifications across the Karelian Isthmus remained intact.

Military opinion was not inclined to believe that the Finns would collapse suddenly, but nevertheless the turn of events prompted a hurried visit to Stockholm by a delegation of Finnish Cabinet Ministers to urge that the Swedish Government provide regular military forces for service against the Russians. The Swedes, adhering to their position of firm neutrality, refused.

Great Britain recognized the seriousness of the Finnish position by legalizing enlistment of volunteers and thousands of men and women offered their services to the Finnish Legation in London. The flow of British arms and munitions to Finland steadily increased in volume while France announced she was sending large quantities of anti-tank guns, aircraft and field artillery.

With the approach of spring bringing nearer the inevitable test of strength between the opposing forces in the major theatre of war, Australian and New Zealand expeditionary troops were landed in Egypt and Palestine, adding to the formidable concentration of Allied power in the Near East.

Germany sought to counteract the Allies' favorable military and diplomatic position in southeastern Europe and the Near East, by drawing closer to Red Russia. A new trade treaty between Berlin and Moscow was signed and German engineers were reported at work building fortifications on Russian supply lines over which the Nazis hope a steady stream of Russian oil, metals and foodstuffs will move to Germany.

Poisoner Cleans Leskard Out Of Dogs

LESKARD, Feb. 17.—This little Durham County village, four miles north of Orono, is basking in the limelight these days as the only one-dog town in Ontario.

It is basking, too, in an unaccustomed glare of publicity following a series of strange occurrences which culminated only two days ago with receipts of an anonymous letter.

It's a strange situation and it has the natives gathering in the friendly warmth of Earl Duval's general store these winter nights long after they should be in bed to discuss a problem as fraught with mystery as the most fantastic detective thriller.

In the month that elapsed between the first week in December Leskard's canine population was completely wiped out at the hands of a ruthless dog-poisoner who carried out his task with methodical relentlessness until the town was dogless. Why he did it, or who he is, nobody knows.

Red Drive Continues

On the Karelian Isthmus the Russians continued to hammer at the Mannerheim Line for the 17th successive day.

The savage Red Army thrust that began on February 1 was exerting severest pressure at Taipale, on the shore of Lake Ladoga, and between Hatjalahdenjaervi and the Vuoksi River, a meandering water system that links Lake Ladoga with the Finnish chain of Saimaa Lakes.

At a defile between this river and Lake Muolo, "the enemy succeeded in penetrating to our positions," a Finnish communique said. A similar acknowledgment came from east of the Summa sector, but the Finns said Russian losses were "heavy," and that attacks elsewhere were repelled.

The village of Summa, wrecked by more than two weeks of artillery bombardment, was admitted to be held at least partly by the Russians.

(A Red Army communique reported capture of 2 more Finnish positions, bringing to 175 the number claimed in the current drive.)

Exact location of the fighting lines is a military secret, but the gravity with which the Finns regard the Isthmus struggle is more evident than at any time since the Russian invasion began Nov. 30.

Summa is only a score of miles from Viborg (Viipuri), Finland's second largest city, which apparently is the immediate Soviet objective.

(Danish newspaper reports said Premier Risto Ryti and Foreign Minister Vaino Tanner of Finland might fly to London to seek further aid, but the British Foreign Office today had no confirmation of such a move.

(Reliable Danish sources also said the foreign ministers of Denmark, Norway and Sweden would discuss wartime questions in Copenhagen next week.

commander that the ship had been examined in Bergen the day before and that no prisoners were aboard, the British withdrew.

Last night, on new orders from the Admiralty, H.M.S. Cossack reentered the fjord. The Altmark manoeuvred to try to ram the Cossack, the Admiralty related, but instead ran aground stern-first.

The British seamen boarded the stranded ship, a fight ensued, and all the imprisoned merchant sailors were saved.

Part Of Crew Escapes.

"The Altmark was overpowered," the Admiralty statement said. "Part of her crew fled ashore and the rest submitted.

"Between three and four hundred British prisoners who had been battened down below were taken on board the Cossack, which with other British vessels in company is now approaching British shores."

The freed men will reach a Scottish port later today, it was said.

"The liberated prisoners state that during the Norwegian examination at Bergen, of the Altmark," said the Admiralty, "their efforts to make their presence known to the searching party were unheeded."

The Admiralty's statement ended with the story of the Baldur's scuttling.

"Summoned to stop by the destroyer Ivanhoe," it said, "she thereupon scuttled herself in German fashion."

LONDON, Feb. 17 — (CP). — Following is the text of the Admiralty communique to-day describing the rlease of 300 to 400 captive British merchant seamen from the German "prison ship" Altmark by British destroyers:

It will be remembered that the Graf Spee sank seven British merchant ships in the South Atlantic before Christmas. The officers were made prisoners on board the pocket battelship and were tolerably treated.

The seamen, on the other hand, were confined in the Altmark, an auxiliary of the German fleet, which according to reports of the British prisoners liberated from the Graf Spee was armed with concealed guns.

Between 300 and 400 British merchant seamen were held prisoners in this vessel and, upon evidence of those of them who were transferred to the Graf Spee and later rescued, grieyous hardships and severities were inflicted upon them.

Since then the Altmark vanished from the seas and no trace of her could be found until it appeared on the 15th (of February) that she was moving down the Norwegian coast, taking advantage of its peculiar configuration and endeavoring to convey these three or four hundred British merchant seamen captives through Norwegian territorial waters to confinement in Germany.

Prison Ship Spotted

Accordingly, certain of His Majesty's ships, which were conveniently disposed were set in motion and certain aircraft reconnaissance were made, as a result of which a vessel bearing the name of Altmark and conforming in every respect to her description, yesterday afternoon took refuge in the Norwegian Fjord of Josing after having been sighted by coastal reconnaissance aircraft and intercepted by His Majesty's ship Intrepid, commander R. C. Gordon, Royal Navy.

Orders were given by the Admiralty with full authority of His Majesty's government to enter neutral waters, search the Altmark and rescue any prisoners if found on board.

Josing Fjord has a dead end, and two Norwegian gun boats appeared at its mouth. The British commander Captain P. L. Vian, Royal Navy, of His Majesty's ship Cossack, was instructed to offer to place a joint British and Norwegian guard upon the ship and to escort it with British and Norwegian warships to Bergen, where a search could be conducted and the whole matter investigated according to international law. This offer was not accepted.

The captain of the Norwegian gunboat stated that the ship was unarmed, that he knew nothing about any prisoners on board, and that she had been examined at Bergen the day before and had received permission to use Norwegian territorial waters on her passage to Germany.

Upon these assurances, the British destroyer force withdrew from territorial waters but after dark, on receipt of Admiralty orders, the destroyer Cossack, with the British commander on board, reentered the Fjord.

The Norwegian gunboats refused cooperation in a search but remained passive. The Altmark was manoeuvred so as to try to sink the Cossack as she prepared to board.

In doing so the Altmark ran aground stern first and the Cossack came alongside and boarded her.

Fighting followed in which, according to a wireless message from the Altmark, four Germans were killed and five seriously wounded. One British casualty was sustained.

The Altmark was overpowered, part of her crew fled to shore, and the rest submitted. Between three and four hundred British prisoners who had been battened down below were now found, rescued and taken on board the Cossack, which with other British vessels in company is now approaching British shores.

Prisoners' Signals Ignored.

The liberated prisoners state that during the Norwegian examination at Bergen of the Altmark, their efforts to make their presence known to the searching party were unheeded.

A full report has been called for both from Captain Vian, whose conduct has been highly commended, and from the freed prisoners upon all circumstances.

In the early part of these proceedings, the German tanker Baldur, passing by outside territorial waters, was summoned to stop by the destroyer Ivanhoe, Commander P. H. Hadow, Royal Navy, and thereupon scuttled herself in German fashion.

Answering questions concerning the Altmark an authoritative spokesman declared that if the Royal Navy had not intervened Norwegian territorial waters would have been made a channel for the unneutral act of conveying prisoners of war to Germany.

He asserted that the British government is confident the Norwegian government would not have permitted such prisoners to be taken over Norwegian territory.

The British action thus was said to follow the failure of the Norwegian government to secure the neutrality of its own waters. The spokesman said there had been continued use of Norwegian waters by Germany in order to escape British naval pursuit and to perform acts of war against Great Britain and other states.

Three examples of alleged neutrality violation were cited by the spokesman:

1. The British steamship Thomas Walton torpedoed off Narvik with the los sof 16 lives December 7.

2. The Greek steamship Caroufalia torpedoed off Folden with the loss of four live December 11.

3. The British steamship Deptford torpedoed only one mile off the Norwegian shore near Honningsvaag Stadt, Dec. 13 with 25 missing.

No Warnings Given

In each case torpedoes were fired without warning, the spokesman said.

Although the Admiralty communique announced that "between 300 and 400 prisoners" had been rescued, other British sources put the number at 55 officers and 220 crewmen of whom 56 were British Indians.

The captains of the British steamships Huntaman and Tairoa, both sunk by the Admiral Graf Spee, were reported among those taken off the Altmark.

An official welcome for the rescued awaits them in port. John Colville, secretary of state for Scotland, will extend the welcome for the government.

Canadian Active Service Force Goes To School

Major-General A. J. Gunn and Dr. S. A. Corbett head organization to look after educational and personal problems of members of the Canadian Active Service Force.

4,000 Men Taking Special Educational Courses

Classrooms in Canadian schools and lecture halls in Canadian universities are echoing these days to the thud of army boots as more than 4,000 members of the Canadian Active Service Forces go back to school to prepare themselves for a return to civil life.

Under the facilities of a vast educational program, provided by the joint co-operation of the Canadian Legion and the Canadian Association for Adult Education, the men of the forces are studying academic, manual and social studies. Their instructors are the best educationists in the country, volunteers who give their time to the job of helping men prepare themselves for peace and learn, at the same time, how to be better soldiers.

Men Learn Vocations

Part of a big job given it by the government, education is regarded by the Legion War Services as the most important undertaking it has faced, with its power to help the men learn vocations which will benefit them on their return, and at the same time provide them with a realization that they are citizens in uniform now who will some day become citizens in civilian life, with an important stake in maintaining in peacetime the principles for which they are willing to fight. Other phases of the work are personal services to the men, and provision of recreation, entertainment and hut facilities.

Formation of the program was achieved shortly after the outbreak of war, when the government created the separate organization of Canadian Legion War Services and assigned it the task. The belief was that men who served during the last war were best equipped to know the problems of men now in the services, and how best to solve those problems. Typical of such problems, handled by the personal services volunteers, are financial matters in which the men want advice in budgeting to pay debts contracted during peacetime and advice on how to arrange for allowances for dependents.

To head the big organization, Major-General J. A. Gunn was appointed president. To head the educational work, Dr. E. A. Corbett, national director of the Canadian Association for Adult Education, was chosen. Dr. Corbett, a war veteran, was formerly director of extension at the University of Alberta, and is recognized as one of Canada's greatest educational authorities. The full-time facilities of every university in Canada, every department of education, and 47 other institutions have been given to the work.

figure of $76,500,000 in 1939. According to Mines Minister Edgar Rochette, new capital can be attracted by removing "all hampering and restricting legislation."

It is planned to repeal a two-year-old enactment known as "Bill 5" on the grounds that it blocks the flow of investment capital to mining by requiring the incorporation in Quebec of all outside companies seeking to exploit natural resources.

Other proposals call for consultations between government and mining men on any legislation, and the opening of new mineral fields.

Women hope the session will bring victory in their long fight for a vote in provincial elections. Fifteen times a special bill to give them votes has been introduced and 15 times it has been defeated.

Ancient County Assessment Plan On Way Out

TORONTO, Feb. 17—(CP)— Ontario's 90-year-old county assessment system may be on its way out. The legislature took a step yesterday toward reaching more uniformity in it when it approved a bill giving county councils the right to appoint supervising assessors.

Hon. Eric Cross, Minister of Municipal Affairs, said he did not think public opinion was ready yet for a system whereby all assessments in county municipalities would be made by a county-appointed assessor, instead of the present method whereby each municipality in a county appoints its own assessor.

"This bill provides an intermediate step to educate local assessors to standards and then to apply these standards within a county," said Mr. Cross.

In brief, the bill provides for county assessors who, to make uniform the method of preparing as-

Contract Abuses Known To King, Drew's Charge

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 17 (CP)— Prime Minister Mackenzie King has "good reason" for knowing the Dominion Government's war effort has not received "general commendation," Lieut.-Col. George A. Drew said last night in an address to a Conservative nominating convention.

Col. Drew, Ontario Conservative Leader, spoke at a meeting which gave the unanimous nomination of the party in London riding to T. F. Kingsmill, former mayor of the city.

Recalling a conference with Mr. Mackenzie King Oct. 3, a month after the outbreak of war, Col. Drew said the prime minister "made the surprising statement that our preparations was further advanced at that date than at a corresponding date during the Great War."

"I immediately took issue with him," Col. Drew said, "and expressed hope that such a statement would not be repeated publicly because it was not correct. I pointed out that at a corresponding date during the last war 35,000 men were in training at Valcartier, and that they had their uniforms, vehicles and animals as well as the weapons with which to train.

"I expressed the hope that the

Perhaps the most important gain the Nazis could achieve by violating the low countries is that it would provide advanced bases for air attacks on Britain and sea bases for submarines operating in the North Sea and the channel.

However, if the Nazis were unable to thrust through to the seaboard then the advantage likely would be with the Allies. The Nazis then would be more vulnerable to sea and air attacks launched from Britain.

24th Week

An indication that Soviet-Nazi cooperation is not confined to trade and military matters was seen in a speech by Dr. Robert Ley, leader of the German Labor front. Like the comintern in its manifestos from Moscow, Dr. Ley called upon "workers of all lands" to "unite to smash the rule of English capitalism."

Testifying to the effectiveness of the Allied blockade, and the paucity of butter-fat in the Reich, the Nazi economic dictator, Field Marshal Goering, announced increased milk and butter prices. Official reason given was that the increases were designed to ease the lot of the farmers.

In its campaign to destroy Allied shipping carrying food and raw materials to the British Isles, the German navy sank three large British freighters during the week and altogether sent to the bottom about 65,000 tons of Allied and neutral shipping. On the other side of the ledger, the Royal Navy destroyed at least four German U-boats while the 3,771-ton German freighter Wakama was scuttled in the South Atlantic by her own crew.

Glancing back 25 years, in the week of February 11-17, 1915, the First Division of the Canadian Expeditionary Force landed in France after a stormy passage from Avonmouth, Bristol Channel port. Fighting was severe on the eastern and western fronts. The Russians withdrew before strong German attacks in East Prussia and Bukovina, but in France and Belgium the Allies made successful thrusts on several sectors.

There are 32 Independent candidates, the majority supported by the Unity movement. There are 28 Co-operative Commonwealth Federation candidates, five Liberals, five Independent Progressives, two Laborites, and one Communist.

Social Creditors have chosen their slates of candidates in nearly all ridings and final choices of the Advisory Board are expected to be announced soon.

In the 1935 general election, there were 378,249 names on the voters' list and 309,120 votes were polled. Both totals are expected to be exceded this election.

In 1935, 56 Social Creditors were elected along with five Liberals and two Conservatives. At the dissolution the standing was Social Credit 47, Liberal five, Independent Progressive four, Independent three, Conservative two, Unity one, and one vacancy.

Most important of the 35 bills passed at the session and given assent last night was an act authorizing the government to obtain from parliament a charter for a provincial bank, described as a step toward establishment of Social Credit.

Major Action

Highlights of the Social Credit regime were:

The party insurgency of the spring of 1937 that resulted in Major C. H. Douglas, "father" of Social Credit, sending two technical advisers to Alberta;

Jail sentences in 1937 to one of the technicians, G. F. Powell, and J. H. Unwin, Social Credit member for Edson, in connection with publication of a pamphlet entitled "bankers' toadies" and ruled libelous;

Abortive legislation to establish Social Credit and provide public and private debt protection—seven acts were disallowed by the federal government and 11 were ruled unconstitutional by the courts, royal assent also being withheld on three. This legislation included acts to tax banks and control publication of news;

The 1936 experiment with scrip, unsuccessful because the "prosperity certificates" failed to circulate; and establishment of treasury branches in 1938 under an "interim program" and use of treasury branch non-negotiable vouchers.

Biblical Thoughts For The Shut-Ins By Rev. E. R. James

A PROPHET'S WORK

Behold, I send unto you prophets; O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, thou that killest the prophets and stonest them that are sent unto thee, how often would I have gathered thy children together, even as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings, and ye would not.—St. Matthew 23; 34,. .37.

St. Matthew's Gospel is noted for its Beatitudes and the Sermon on the Mount. Much emphasis is laid upon this side of the Christian Faith. But the same Gospel contains another side. The same Christ Who uttered the Beatitudes, spoke fearful woes against the religious heads of His people. Just read this chapter. The Master recognized the spiritual dangers of ecclesiastical teachers—their pride and self assurance. At the same time He endorses and enforces their spiritual office. "The Scribes and Pharisees sit in Moses' seat; all therefore whatsoever they bid you observe, that observe and do."

Our Lord's earthly ministry is drawing to a close. He has gone up and down the land preaching the coming of the Kingdom of God and received bitter opposition from the religious leaders. "He came unto His own and His own received Him not." This is the tragedy of His earthly ministry that He should be rejected by the most religious people of His Day.

So Our Lord reminds them and us that the horror of judgment comes if they would not receive Him or His ministers. We are facing dark days. It is fitting that we should look back and see in what we have fallen short. "We and our fathers have sinned." Let us, therefore, quietly ponder upon the privilege of having a prophet sent to us.

"Behold, I send." It is the Lord Who speaks, the incarnate Son of God. His Holy Spirit has touched some son of man. He has heard the cry: Whom shall I send, and who will go for us?" The beauty and attractiveness of self-sacrifice impels the young man to say: "Lord, here am I send me." He has had a vision; he has heard a voice. In due time, after long training, he goes forth with authority to preach the Word of God. He is prophet, commonly called a preacher.

What is a prophet? The popular idea of a prophet is one who foretells the future. This is but a part of his work. His important duty was and is to "forth tell" the mind of God to his generation. God has spoken and he must speak. He is a man with a message from God for his people. He realizes something of the meaning of the prophet's cry: "The burden of the Lord is upon me."

The work of Christ and His ministers is two-fold. The Lord uses a very homely illustration: "How often would I have gathered thy children together, even as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings, and ye would not." It is a two-fold gathering. A fellowship with God and a fellowship with one another. The chickens run to the mother hen and under her wings they touch each other and receive warmth and comfort from each other.

Christ's prophets call men to the Church and to one another. Through the Church they have fellowship with God and with one another. It is only under the wings of God that there can be a true brotherhood and fellowship. The centre of human fellowship is God in Christ and the place of human fellowship is the Church. "That which we have seen and heard declare we unto you that ye may have fellowship with us."

How have you received God's prophets and ministers? Have you stoned and killed them? Not literally. But have you stoned them with a bitter criticism and hard words? Many a young man, filled with zeal and desire to proclaim the message from God has been killed spiritually and intellectually by his congregations. He may still be serving a congregation but now his message does not receive criticism. He is "prophesying smooth things." Very probably his message is like the bread of the Gibeonits "dry and mouldy." Jos. 9; 5. There is no such terrible famine as "the famine of the hearing of the words of the Lord." Amos 8; 11.

Surely the same spiritual law holds that judgment will follow. It is a terrible thought. It is the compassionate Saviour Who says: "Your house is left unto you desolate."

He that receiveth you receiveth Me, and he that receiveth Me receiveth Him that sent Me.

The Golden Text

Tribute to Caesar

"Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."—Matt. 22:39.

Highlights Of S.S. Lesson

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic is Mat. 22:15-23:39, the Golden Text being Matt 22:39, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.")

ONE THING in particular must strike readers of today's lesson, and that is the cleverness of Jesus' replies to His enemies. These enemies, Pharisees or priests, Sadducees, the religious political party, and the Herodians or followers of Herod, all refused to consider the idea of Jesus as the Messiah, and considered Him as a dangerous man and a heretic. They felt they must get rid of Him as quickly as possible. But they were afraid of the common people, whom they knew thought of Him as the Master and a prophet.

So these men tried to trap Him so that by His replies to their questions the people should lose faith in Him. They doubtless reasoned that He was an ignorant countryman who could easily be made to say just what they wanted Him to, and so give them an excuse for taking Him prisoner.

But no matter what questions these highly educated men put to Him, His answers always left them speechless and in the wrong. It was customary in those days for anyone who wished to question a rabbi to do so in public, no matter what he might be doing at the time. So the Pharisees and the Herodians banded together to decide on some question that He would not be able to answer satisfactorily, and which would offend the people. The Pharisees were a religious party, fanatical, and most of the rabbis and scribes came from that party. The Herodians were, as the name implies, follows of Herod.

Ask Concerning Tax

The question that they decided to ask Jesus concerned the tribute or poll tax which the Romans levied upon the Jews and which they hated. The Pharisees and Herodians addressed Jesus in most flattering terms, calling Him Teacher and saying they knew He was true and taught the way of God, etc.—a most hypocrital attitude for them to take who only wished Him ill. "Is it lawful to give tribute unto Caesar or is it not?" Jesus called for a Roman coin, and when it was brought He said, "Whose is this image and superscription?" "Caesar's," they answered. Then Jesus said, "Render therefore unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and unto God the things that are God's." His enemies had nothing to say to that answer, but slunk away.

Then the Sadducees came to Him. They, too, were an influential religious party, and they did not believe in the resurrection. The question they put was an absurd one, but they thought to trap Him, nevertheless. If the oldest of seven brothers married a woman and he died, leaving no children, it would be lawful for the brother next in age to marry the woman. If he did this, but he, too, died and she married each of the brothers in turn and all died and she herself finally passed away, in the resurrection, whose wife would she be? "Ye do err," said Jesus, "not knowing the scriptures, nor the power of God. For in the resurrection they neither marry nor are given in marriage, but are as the angels of God in heaven." The Sadducees also went away marveling.

Lawyer Questions Him

Next a lawyer, a Pharisee, went to Him and asked Him what is the great commandment? And Jesus answered the man:

"Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind. This is the first and great commandment. And a second like unto it is this, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."

These men drew Christ's anger because He knew, oh so well, that they were not sincere in apparently seeking knowledge. He saw through them and that they were trying to trap and mock Him, and he denounced them, calling them hypocrites. Insincerity always aroused the Lord's contempt.

These questions were asked our Lord during the last week of His life on earth. He realized that the people as a whole would not take His message and His warning, and He looked at the beautiful city of Jerusalem, and mourned over it in the touching words:

"O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, thou that killest the prophets and stoneth them which are sent unto thee, how often would I have gathered thy children together, even as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings, and ye would not!

"Behold, your house is left unto you desolate.

"For I say unto you, Ye shall not see Me henceforth, till ye shall say, Blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord."

Jesus never taught again. The scribes and Pharisees — hypocrites, He called them — had no more chance to receive Him and His message, and His Jerusalem was truly left desolate and the Jewish people were scattered.

Lord Tweedsmuir Memorial Service

A memorial service for the late Governor General of Canada, Lord Tweedsmuir, will be held in St. Andrew's church on Sunday morning, and a tribute paid to this great Scottish gentleman. St. Andrew's church was formerly a kirk of the church of Scotland and was founded by Scottish emigrants over 100 years ago. In the evening the Lenten series will be continued and the subject will be "The Trial Before the Sanhedim."

HASTINGS

Valentine Party Is Given 35 Children

HASTINGS, Feb. 17 — (ENS). — Thirty-four children were afforded a real treat on St. Valentine's Day when the W.M.S. of Trinity church held a Valentine Party for the Willing Worker's Mission Band.

The children who came after school hours enjoyed a short work period in which they made picture books and things for the bale under the guidance of the leaders, Mrs. J. E. Glover and Mrs. C. Lockhart. At the close of the period, the ladies who had quilted two quilts during the afternoon served a delightful Valentine supper to the children.

Millbrook W.M.S. Talks Temperance

MILLBROOK, Feb. 17—(ENS). — In pursuance of the general theme for the year covering the missionary purpose of God, the worship for February centered round "Beginning from Jerusalem," taken up on Wednesday at the W.M.S. meeting of St. Andrew's Church by the convener of Group A, Mrs. Irwin Hatherly, those assisting being Mrs. Leslie Unitt, Mrs. J. H. George, and Mrs. L. W. Smith.

Mrs. Hatherly also covered the chapter from the study book, Moving Millions," dealing with the program of the Christian Church in India. The message on Christian Stewardship was given by Mrs. J. McKnight, the thought emphasized being "Not how much of my money must I give to God, but how much of God's money may I keep for myself?"

Mrs. J. Rowland took the temperance study on the harmful influence of cocktail drinking, particularly for the young, and Mrs. J. H. George advanced interesting information on "Peace and Prayer." The prayer cards were given out at the close, with the explanation that the daily prayer thereon be used by each member regularly, either at nine in the morning, or at twelve noon.

Miss E. L. Hetherington gave a comprehensive report of the recent Presbyterial meeting at Peterborough, and the president, Mrs. A. L. Sisco announced an executive meeting at the parsonage on Wednesday, February 21, at 3 p.m., urging a full attendance. The planning of the year's budget will be one item of importance. Linings and filling for two quilts were asked to be donated and Mrs. I. Hatherly and Mrs. Ross Edmunds were appointed to write the monthly letter to the Auxiliary's prayer partner, Miss F. Murray, missionary in Korea.

Group B, Mrs. M. McDowell, convener, will be in charge of the March meeting. The gathering was dismissed with prayer by the president.

4 Missionaries Being Sent Out

TORONTO, Feb. 17—The United Church of Canada will this month send four missionaries to foreign mission fields. They are Rev. Roger C. Nunn and Mrs Nunn, and Rev. Moir A. J. Waters and Mrs. Waters.

Mr. and Mrs. Nunn have been residents of Hamilton, Ontario. Mr. Nunn's father is a business man resident in Hamilton, and Mrs. Nunn's father is Rev. R. M. Dickey, who will be recalled as the hero of Ralph Connor's "The Sky Pilot." The Nunns will go to Korea, and the Waters to India.

Mr. Waters was born in India where his father, Dr. J. M. Waters and his mother were medical missionaries for 20 years. He has been one of two ministers of First-St. Andrew's Church, London, for the past two years, and previous to that was five years minister of First Church, London. Mrs. Waters comes from London also her father being in business there. Her mother was for some years president of the Women's Missionary Society of the congregation of First-St. Andrew's church.

The Nunns will be the missionaries assigned to Ryerson United church, Hamilton, where they were designated by the Presbytery of Hamilton. The Waters will be assigned to First-St. Andrew's church, London, where Mr. Waters was designated by the Presbytery of Middlesex.

Good Citizens and Good Neighbors — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON — By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Matt. 22:15-23:39

Trying to trap Jesus, the Pharisees and followers of Herod gathered together to talk over and decide what questions they should ask Him that would make the people hate Him.

These men went to Jesus and asked Him concerning the hated poll-tax that the Romans levied on the Jews. His answer was: "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's."

The Sadducees then had their turn, asking the Lord a question concerning marriage laws in heaven, but Jesus told them in heaven there was neither marriage nor giving in marriage.

Having silenced his enemies, Jesus looked mournfully toward Jerusalem, foreseeing its downfall because the people would not listen to Him.

Plenty Of Evidence

Toronto has a place known as the Parkdale Club, and a raiding squad of morality officers had occasion to enter. They did so because they had reason to believe that gambling was going on inside.

If a policeman desired to enter any premises in this city we can think of no good reason why he would be refused admission. And that is the way it ought to be. But it was not that way in that club at Toronto.

The officers had to hammer down four doors, one of steel and the others of heavy wood reinforced by steel bands. When they finally got in one of the rooms was filled with smoke where papers and slips had been burned in a coal scuttle. Three men were arrested on the charge of obstructing the police.

Nor is such a case entirely unusual; there have been many of them. When doors of that sort are placed in buildings the meaning is plain as a pikestaff. There is going to be something carried on inside which is known in advance to be against the law. When the doors are set and locked then it will be safe to do things which are prohibited. And likely those steel doors and those wooden doors with bands of steel have been on their hinges for a long time, and they have been there for the express purpose of obstructing the police. Just as definitely so as though the men inside the building had gone down the street and jumped on a policeman answering a call.

It seems rather a clumsy arrangement which makes it necessary for police to go armed with sledge hammers and axes and smash their way through such doors looking for evidence in the form of slips of paper showing that betting had been going on inside. Those doors ought to provide all the evidence needed, and a good stiff penalty for a man who puts such contraptions on his premises would put a stop to it.

One Way Of Financing

There was a difference of opinion as to how much the debt of Alberta had been increased by the Aberhart Government. E. L. Gray, Liberal leader, said the increase of funded and unfunded debt amounted to $25,000,000, and Conservative Leader Duggan said the net general debt had increased by $800,000. So it seems that it all depends on who is doing the figuring.

Provincial Treasurer Low made the admission that if full interest rates had been paid on the debt it would have shown an increase of $4,000,000. But full interest rate had not been paid. Alberta merely cut interest rates in two. There were people in a good many sections of the Dominion who were ready to loan money to Alberta when the province called for it, and many of them were depending on the interest they received for part of their living. The rate was plainly printed on the bond, and it was as solemn an agreement as could have been made. But Alberta wiped that out and paid only 50 per cent. of the interest rate. Just about the same as a man working for $30 a week who is visited by the boss on pay day and handed $15 with the explanation that such amount is all he can afford to pay.

At Best It's a Loose Way

Ontario municipalities will have to adjust their 1940 estimates to suit the change announced by Premier Hepburn. From the province the municipalities will receive a payment equal to one mill of the tax rate, while formerly the amount had been one and a-half mills.

The Government gave one mill when it took over the collection of income tax; the half-mill came as the municipalities' share of the two-cent increase in the gasoline tax. At best it was a loose-jointed way of arriving at a subsidy. It was just as loose as the manner in which the average town and city collected its income tax. In some places the tax was not collected at all, and probably the province has taken in a good deal more than the combined municipalities ever did.

The Government still receives the revenue from income tax, and it still receives the additional revenue from the increased tax on the sale of gasoline, but the municipalities have had their share of this cut by one-third. So the precedent has been established that some years the municipalities may get it and other years they may get it in part, depending on how things are going financially with the Government. In Peterborough the half-mill means about $11,000, and unless our finance ministers can do that much cutting it means the people will have to pay it. It is not the sort of system which financiers like to depend on because the extent of this income is entirely in the hands of the Provincial Government, and it can be squeezed or expanded according as that body feels about it.

Helping Young Farmers

The intimation from Hon. P. M. Dewan, Ontario minister of agriculture, that as an economy move school fairs may be dispensed with for this year at least should not be lost sight of by agricultural societies.

It will be the responsibility of the fall fairs throughout the province to take up the slack by giving more importance to junior farmer activities, affording more encouragement to that side of fair programs and in general stressing the fact that upon the young farmers of the province depends Ontario's agricultural future.

The Ontario department of agriculture sponsored 509 school fairs last year at a cost of $25,000 and there is no doubt that valuable work was done. If it has to be suspended as a sort of war casualty now this form of training for school children will be missed and it will be up to the regular fall exhibitions to make up for the disappearance of the school fairs by staging classes for children as part of the fair prize lists.

The Peterborough Industrial Exhibition has, of course, long since recognized the importance of junior farmer work and has developed and encouraged it until it has become one of the biggest features of the local exhibition. The junior members are given adequate representation on the fair board and are among the most enthusiastic workers in the organization. In other words the young farmers are repaying the Industrial Exhibition for the interest and encouragement they have been given by throwing their vigor and enthusiasm into the work of the Exhibition.

Treat Them Courteously

Douglas R. Oliver, newly appointed head of the Ontario Travel and Publicity Bureau, calls attention to a new and high angle of the tourist question. That is the exchange feature. Mr. Oliver has learned that in some places in Canada visitors from the United States are not being paid the premium on their money to which they are entitled.

That, he points out, is something that might quite easily harm the tourist trade. "Every cent our American friends can spend here is to be appreciated," says Mr. Oliver. "With a potentially long war staring us in the face we should encourage rather than discourage that spending."

The truth of that statement is self-evident. The exchange situation at the present time is not such as to cause much satisfaction in this country but in our dealings with visitors from the United States we should be fair enough to recognize that they are not to blame for the vagaries of currency and that they are entitled to benefit by a situation that just now is in their favor. The surest way to injure tourist traffic is to find fault with visitors and to show reluctance about paying what they are legally entitled to; they will react to that kind of treatment by going back home and telling all their friends to stay away from Canada.

Most assuredly we want nothing at this time that will interfere with tourist trade. The more American money spent here the quicker will the exchange situation get somewhere near its normal level again. So that Canadians everywhere should do everything in their power to bring our American friends here and to treat them hospitably and courteously when they come.

The Loan Was Popular

When Canada's first war loan of the present conflict was offered to the public, the government's desire that smaller investors should be given every opportunity to subscribe was made clear. Returns now given out in regard to the success of the loan show how fully this aim was achieved.

These figures show that almost two-thirds of the subscriptions came from private subscribers as distinguished from corporations and dealers. Altogether there were no fewer than 178,363 subscribers which is in somewhat startling contrast to the 24,862 subscribers to the first issue during the last great war. Of course it was that first war that really made Canada bond-conscious; thousands of Canadians who had never made such an investment before became interested and the habit has remained active ever since.

Breaking down the figures for the recent loan a little further it is seen that of the total subscriptions 96.6 per cent. were for amounts varying from $50 to $5,000 with an average of $664 and no fewer than 121,407 were for $500 and under, the average in that group being $235.

Those are striking figures and they quite justify the statement from Finance Minister Ralston to the effect that "the response of smaller investors and the widespread distribution of the loan among private individuals constitutes a remarkable testimony to the strength of Canada's economy and to the unity of the Canadian people behind the prosecution of the war."

NOTE AND COMMENT

At all events the Byrd expedition ought to be fairly safe from submarine attacks.

Conservative candidate in Russell is 80 years old. He evidently has answered Mr. King's call for experience.

Probably Syl Apps is hoping that the pain in his neck will shortly be transferred to that of his political opponent.

Alberta defaults again, we are told. Perhaps "yet" would be a more appropriate word than "again."

It should be easy to get a line on the thieves who stole nearly a mile of Hydro cabling.

Perhaps we had better not do too much boasting but have you noticed how many of those bad storms seem to steer away from this district?

Letter says Magna Carta has been abrogated by Mr. Hepburn. That sounds almost bad enough to precipitate another election.

Europe is shivering under a record cord spell. There have been times this winter when we have not been any too warm ourselves.

English farmer has been fined $100 for refusing to plow up a field of grass when ordered to do so by the authorities. It is just another proof of how seriously the war is being taken in Britain.

"Bennett sure right to win" says a news head. The former prime minister was talking about the war, however, and not the election.

Clement R. Attlee, British Labor leader, says the motto of the allies should be "Hope for the best but prepare for the worst." That's worth marking down.

Prince Edward Island has gone over the top in the Canadian Legion drive, already exceeding its objective. Ontario cannot take a challenge like that complacently.

American basketball coach explains his team is in last place because eight of his players are in love. They should change to tennis where a love game is quite common.

American papers point out that the net result of the Canadian election will be a definite intensification of Canada's war effort. That is not cheerful news for Herr Hitler.

It is not surprising to find Canadian veterans of the last war anxious to get into action with the Finnish army. They haven't had much luck in trying to hook up with the new Canadian army.

If there were a provincial election in sight just now we imagine a lot of folk would be looking up some of the election speeches of Mr. Hepburn a few years back.

The German radio lie factory probably conveniently overlooked the fact that the Exeter which it had once reported sunk has had a tremendous welcome home to England.

British captain says his torpedoed ship sank like a perfect lady. We understand, however, he does not describe the captain of the German submarine as a perfect gentleman.

REPUTATION!

(By A.R.K.)

¶ The greatest man the village had, thus they described Johannus Shad, his wisdom was profound; he knew so much he seldom spoke, nor came from him the slightest joke, he thought too deep for sound.

¶ All by himself he walked aloof, as though he trod upon the roof, superior in thought; I guess it's right to tell the truth, no person knew about his youth, or all the brains he'd got.

¶ He had a library 'tis true and stories went of how it grew, substantial was its size; if any contest had been staged, I know good betting would be waged, that Shad would take the prize.

¶ I much admired Johannus Shad, and envied him the brains he had, wished mine might be the same; if I read books like what he owned, and had my mind well filled and toned, then I might share his fame.

¶ And so I asked of him one day, when I had chanced to walk his way, if I could read his stuff; admitted too I realized, my brain was rather under-sized and I knew not enough.

¶ Johannus picked me out a score, and bade me to come back for more, I trembled as I read; detectives scrambled through each page, and villians swore in violent rage — while heroes shot them dead.

Sorry Reading For German Story Factory

(Montreal Star)

THE ARRIVAL at Plymouth today of H.M.S. Exeter, which led the now historic sea-fight with the Graf Spee until she was forced out of action, was most opportune. It came the very day after the Admiralty had announced the sinking of two more German U-boats; also the day after H.M.S. Repulse, which the German Admiralty have reported as having been torpedoed and sunk on three separate occasions, arrived after a hundred and thirty days at sea to give her crew a well earned holiday. It may be recalled that the Germans also announced the sinking of the Exeter, but both these ships have, it seems, most miraculously arisen from Davy Jones's locker to confound Germany's greatest fiction writers.

As the war drags on its largely inactive record by land, the results of activities on sea and in the air make it increasingly clear that the Allies are doing far more than holding their own. The British claim that their airplanes are superior to the German is more than borne out by the fact that since the war began the R.A.F. has shot down fifty-nine German planes over the North Sea and coastal areas and has damaged twenty others so that they were probable losses. The enemy's loss is estimated at 200 flyers and $4,000,000 worth of planes.

As against this, the British have lost eighteen bombers and one coastal reconnaissance plane, but not a single pursuit plane. When it is borne in mind that the British Air Force has to guard nine hundred miles of coastline, while Germany's North Sea coast is only a little over a hundred miles, and much of this is guarded by sea-plane bases on islands situated some distance from the land, the ascendancy of the British Air Force seems to have been established beyond reasonable doubt.

At sea, while losses naturally continue to pile up and will do so as long as a single German submarine remains at large or German bombers can attack defenceless ships from the air, Great Britain has made an average weekly gain since the war began of 20,000 tons of merchant shipping through the new construction, by the capture of German ships and by purchase of foreign vessels.

The claims of the German Admiral-in-Chief that his submarines have discovered a way to outwit convoys and that the latter make no difference to the success of the U-boat campaign is proved to be ridiculous boasting by the British Admiralty's official return that, up to date, out of 8,264 ships escorted by convoy, only eighteen have been lost, and of these only two were neutrals. The sinking of one of the latter was swiftly avenged by the destruction of the submarine which attacked it.

So far, the Empire has abundant cause to retain its faith in Mr. Churchill's word. The First Lord of the Admiralty struck a very happy note in his address of welcome to the officers and men of the Exeter this morning when he said:

"When you came up the river this morning, when you entered the harbour, there were crowds cheering on the banks. One might almost have thought that there were other spectators, great shades of the past carrying us back to Drake and Raleigh, to the great sea-dogs of old times.

"If their spirits brooded on this scene you would be entitled to tell them: 'We, your descendants, still make war, and we have not forgotten the lesson you taught us. Many months, perhaps some years, of long and anxious struggle lie before us, and we face the future in a spirit of serious resolve'."

The spirit of Drake and Nelson lives on in the heart of every British sea-dog, and will endure, an ever potent force for the preservation of human liberty and the protection of the oppressed, when Hitler and his associate sea-murderers "long since are dust and wraith."

PLACE OF EXECUTION

TWO PERSONS are to be hanged for murder, later this month, in a little Quebec town, St. Joseph de Beauce, because the law says that executions shall be performed in the local jail of the judicial district in which conviction is registered. Residents of the community are petitioning the authorities to ask that the sentences of the court shall be carried out in some other place, and not unnaturally.

There is no justification at all for the present practice. Executions should be performed in the federal penitentiaries, where permanent and suitable facilities for this dreadful but necessary business could be maintained. County jails do not and cannot possess such facilities. Very often the county jail is in the heart of the town, and a certain amount of unwholesome publicity and curiosity cannot be avoided.

The anomalies of the present situation are obvious. A murderer is convicted under Dominion law, but remains in the custody of the local jail until his execution, for which responsibility rests upon the sheriff, a provincial officer. If he were convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to life imprisonment he would be removed at once to a federal penitentiary. Obviously the procedure should be the same when capital punishment is imposed.

• Ersatz Trousers For Germans

ONE of the prize take-offs on the German idea of substitute materials in the manufacture of necessaries of life, comes from the pen of L. R. Tobey of Hamilton, a former Chatham businessman. It is described in the following editorial from the Winnipeg Free Press.

"When the psychologists get around to analyzing that imponderable war factor called morale they will probably come to the conclusion that its chief ingredient is the ability to see the funny side of things. The Canadian character possesses it. Witness the sense of humor possessed by a tailor of Hamilton, Ontario.

"The news has told of attempts in Germany to get along on substitute, or ersatz, materials, and a report that the Nazis are manufacturing cloth out of wood drew the special interest of one who is cutting his clothes out of the usual materials for Canadians.

"So Tobey the Hamilton tailor, has distributed a card of greeting to his friends seting out a bill for a suit of clothes as it might be drawn up in Germany, were the pants made from poplar for everyday wear and from oak for Sunday. Tobey's cards have circulated even as far as Winnipeg, and here is the bill worked out in Reichmarks:

One suit; latest ayle woodcut model	65
To planing the suit	10
To sawing 14 pockets	8
To nailing on 42 buttons	4.50
To drilling and sandpapering 40 buttonholes	8.50
To glueing creases and cuffs	2
To veneering B lapels and adjusting hinges	2
To carving F belt loops	2.25
To Stopping knothole in right sleeve	1.50

• The Relation Of Beards To Brains

SOME YEARS AGO an English newspaper conducted, through its columns, an interesting and obviously popular controversy, says the Brantford Expositor. Somebody started it by asserting that the brainy persons of today were but pigmies compared to the intellectual giants of yesteryear. Nobody won, of course. But we recall, among other things the pro-Victorians presented, by way of proof of their contentions, an imposing series of photographs of top-notchers of their choice. The striking thing about them was the number of lush beards in whiskery evidence. There were, for instance, Charles Darwin, Charles Dickens, Lord Salisbury, and many others.

This array may have led some readers to make some connection between beards and brains. Anyway it resulted in a supplementary agrument on that particular phase of the subject. Then Mussolini, of all people, came into the picture, quite coincidentally, by issuing what almost amounted to an edict against beards. This had little effect. Balbo, for instance, continued to wear one as proudly as before. And George Bernard Shaw merely snorted into his.

The other day, the question of "to beard or not to beard" was raised again in the United States, whereupon one clean-shaver, with devastating effect, pointed out that the most distinguished beards on this continent were now found—on the Hollywood extras!

To such low degree has the once-proud facial adornment fallen! The real answer, of course, is that, while Samson's failure to patronize the barber is reputed to have accounted for his strength, beards on the chin do not necessarily indicate brains in the cranal cavity. Fashions in the former come and go, but in the case of the latter you either have them to begin with—or you don't.

• The Use Of Wood As Fuel

CANADIANS use a great quantity of wood annually as fuel for heating our homes in the winter months. Our bill for wood as fuel is reckoned at about forty million dollars annually. It is therefore very timely, says the Oshawa Times, to receive from the Department of Mines and Resources a few pointers on the most efficient methods of burning wood.

Tests made by the Department show that if a wood-fired stove is of inferior construction or is in poor condition it may not deliver more than half the heat it should. In other words as much as one dollar out of every two spent on fuel may be needlessly wasted. A leaky stove which admits air through a dozen places besides the regular draught openings is a bad offender and in a very short time may waste more dollars up the chimney than would be required to correct the fault. The amount of air admitted to a stove or furnace should be completely under control particularly when burning wood because this fuel requires very little air for satisfactory combustion in comparison with the requirement for other fuels.

Hard maple, yellow birch, beech, oak and hickory are among the best Canadian woods for fuel, a cord and one-quarter of any one of them being approximately equal in heating value to one ton of anthracite coal, regardless of what wood is used, it should be as dry as possible for not only does wet wood give out less heat than dry wood but it is also apt to cause fouling of the pipes. For this reason firewood seasoned for less than one year should not be used and to achieve the best results wood should be cut into suitable lengths for the stove or furnace as soon as possible so as to permit the most thorough seasoning.

THE FARMER'S LOT

THE DEPRESSION years have meant bad times for the Ontario farmers, as well as the urban resident. That conditions already have improved, and that the future is one of promise, can be safely admitted, even by the most confirmed pessimist.

Last year net revenue for farmers was eight per cent higher than 1938 and was the best year since 1930. That in itself does not mean a great deal, because even with this increase it still may not be very profitable.

However, in the last few months of 1939 there has been a definite upswing. Since the declaration of war the official index of prices of agricultural products advanced by 14 per cent; and even higher are wheat, butter and cheese. That is a substantial increase in four months and there is every prospect that much higher prospects are ahead.

The farmers have had a long, hard pull. Here's hoping they'll receive proper reward for their work from now on.—Owen Sound Sun-Times.

THRIFTY

HERE'S a challenge to all women, a test of their fitness as cutters and seamstresses which we came across in The Dundalk Herald—how many pairs of pajamas are there in a web of flannelette?

A few words recently in The Globe & Mail lauding the thriftiness of the Finnish women doing war work in Ontario was taken as a challenge by two local Red Cross workers. The article stated Finnish women could cut a pair more pajamas from a web of flannelette than anyone else. The local women (needless to say they were Scotch) rose immediately to defend a title long reputed to be their forefather's and cut 12 pairs of full size 40 pajamas out of a 57½-yard web of flannelette, at the same time keeping in mind the Red Cross desire for accuracy. Can any woman beat that?

$62 Millions Been Spent In New Homes

More than $100,000,000 has been made available for home construction and renovation under the National Housing Act and the Home Improvement Plan, F. W. Nicolls, director, National Housing Administration, Ottawa, revealed yesterday at the 15th anniversary convention of Building Products Limited in the Mount Royal Hotel. Approximately $62,000,000 of this total has gone into new home construction, Mr. Nicolls added, with the balance being used for home improvement.

In spite of this vast expenditure, the housing director continued, a definite housing shortage still exists in Canada. "Based on the lowest housing mortality rate, two per cent, and an approximate 2,200,000 habitable housing units, about 44,000 new units per year are required to take care of destruction and obsolesence," he said.

"This figure does not take marriages. Actually we have produced an average of less than 20,000 units per year for the past five years."

Four local High School graduates, Misses Dorothy Curle, Helen Davey and Art Rowe and Earl Johnston are among the visiting instructors. The other two are Miss Olive Richardson of Plainfield and Ralph Richardson of Stirling.

May 30 Is Set As Last Date Under Loan Plan

The fact that construction of houses to be built this year under the National Housing Act must be begun not later than May 30 is emphasized in notices that are being sent out by the Federal Department of Finance.

And by "commencement of construction" is meant the laying of footings, and that construction must be reasonably continuous thereafter.

All persons planning to avail themselves of the loan feature this year should make their applications sufficiently early to allow for final approval.

Total loans at January 31 exceeded $50,000,000, according to the announcement of Hon. J. L. Ralston, Minister of Finance. Loans approved in January numbered 251, providing for 681 family housing units and amounting to $2,192,645.

Comparative figures for the corresponding month last year were 123 loans, 187 units, and $645,864. The large increase over January 1939 is accounted for by the approval of a number of loans for apartments and more expensive homes.

Red Cross Branch Strikes Its Budget

HASTINGS, Feb. 17—(ENS). —"The people of this community join with the English-speaking peoples throughout the world in mourning the loss of Lord Tweedsmuir, late Governor-General of Canada." Such was the expression of sympathy read the monthly meeting of the Hastings Branch of the Red Cross Society on Wednesday night in the council chambers.

Although the date for the meetings was previously set for the second Wednesday evening of each month, this particular day of the week did not seem to meet with the approval of all members of the executive, and on a motion of Mrs. T. A. Walsh, seconded by Miss Della Plant, the meeting night was changed to the third Monday evening of the month.

Committee Reports.

Reports of the sewing, knitting and shipping committees revealed twelve suits of pyjamas were shipped on January 18; 18 pairs of socks and five pairs of wristlets were shipped on January 18; 18 pairs of socks, 2 pairs of seamen's socks, 12 pairs of wristlets and 10 sailors' scarfs were shipped on February 14. On a motion of Miss D. Plant, seconded by Mrs. T. A. Walsh, the reports were accepted.

Estimated expenditures of the Hastings branch for the first six months of 1940 were set as follows: Wool, $180; material for hospital supplies, $125; comforts for soldiers in training, $25; administration, $5.

Small Homes In Biggest Demand Under N. H. A.

With all indications pointing to low-cost housing as the highlight of Canadian house construction during 1940 there are a number of interesting small home developments under way in various parts of Canada which illustrate the building trend. While some of these developments originated last year, they are closely in line with the policy of the Dominion Housing Administration at Ottawa which favors national encouragement of small home construction during the war period.

The trend of loans approved by the housing administration, it is noted, has been consistently downward in individual loan value. When the Dominion Housing Act was first introduced many of the loans made to Canadians were for construction of homes costing $10,000 and upwards. Gradually, however, the size of individual loans decreased until last fall the average loan was below $4,000. That decision was designed to continue encouragement to Canadian wage earners to build their own homes, to help the construction industry which is one of the nation's largest employers of labor and, at the same time, to permit builders of more costly residences, duplexes and apartment houses to secure their financing through normal channels.

House Under $4,000 Practical

The effectiveness of a plan under which loans are kept under the $4,000 figure might have been doubted a few years ago, but with the development of modern building materials and improved building design, a practical, modern house at a cost far below that figure is now possible. One of the outstanding illustrations of modern low-cost building, for instance, is to be found in the East York development just outside Toronto, where Cornelius Droog, Toronto builder, has completed construction and sale of a large number of houses costing, complete with land, $2,500 each. Houses are approximately 20 feet six inches by 33 feet, self contained, each one on its own lot. Construction consists of full-size concrete basement, concrete floor over six inch sinder fill, steel beam, seven-eighth inch tongue and groove outside wall covered with seven ounce tarred sheathing over which B.H. insul-brick siding was applied with new armoured corners, and asphalt standard thick butt shingles on the roof. On inside walls and ceilings insulating lath was used and on partitions ordinary plaster lath. The living room, trimmed with gumwood, includes an electric fireplace, floors are hardwood throughout with the exception of the bathroom and kitchen, and the dinette, kitchen, bathroom, two bedrooms and hall have painted wood trim. The bathroom has three pieces including built-in bath-tub; the basement is equipped with laundry tub. Heating is by hot air with individual outlets to each room. On completion the lawn was sodded and landscaped and service walks of cement were laid. The rear lot is wire fenced.

Cost of Upkeep

Before commencing construction of these new homes the builder gave particular consideration to upkeep costs. By the use of insul-brick sidings, for instance, the need for painting at least every two years was eliminated and a saving of approximately 20 per cent, or another $15 per year and by the use of siding and asphalt roof the building was raised from a fourth class to second class risk, meaning an additional saving in insurance cost.

Houses in the East York development were sold for a down payment of $340 and monthly payments of $16.96 including interest and principal to amortize in 15 years. Taxes on the properties are approximately $60 per year, or an additional $5 per month.

Each of the homes in the development was different in color and design, a variation that was made possible through the use of insulated sidings and asphalt shingles which are available in a wide assortment of colors.

Woman Shoots Slayer On His Order After He Murders Her Husband

WASHINGTON, Pa., Feb. 17 (AP)—A 26-year-old mother fought for her life today after horror-filled hours in a snowbound farmhouse where she was forced to kill a disgruntled farmhand who had slain her husband.

Both Mrs. Ralph Caldwell's arms were torn by shot gun slugs when she sought to protect her husband. Police 11 hours later broke through snowdrifts six feet deep and brought her out on a horsedrawn sled. Hospital attaches said her condition was serious.

Police reported Glenn Plant, 28, bought a new shotun and went to the Caldwell farm Wednesday night to claim revenge for his dismissal 10 days ago. A charge fired through a window fatally wounded the 35-year-old Caldwell in the back and also struck Mrs. Caldwell as she threw her arms around him.

Forcing his way into the house, Plant set an alarm clock for 4 a.m., and told Mrs. Caldwell he intended to kill her then. He sat down and wrote notes to his mother, wife and Caldwell's relatives, asserting he "got even with Ralph for the trick he played on me and my family."

Apparently he changed his mind while Mrs. Caldwell begged: "Shoot now, don't wait." Lester Phillips, 16, another farmhand who was forced to go upstairs when Plant entered, was summoned, and watched Plant get Caldwell's old shotgun from a corner and place it against his chest. Plant then ordered Mrs Caldwell to pull the trigger and she complied, explaining later she thought it was "him or me."

Tobacco shipped from Cuba to the United States last year was valued at more than $8,500,000.

Prospective Home Owners Contemplating Building Under The National Housing Act

Re. municipal taxes paid by the Minister of Finance in accordance with Part III of the National Housing Act; the Order-in-Council reads as follows:

"No municipal taxes shall be paid by the Minister of Finance to a municipality in respect of any house, the construction of which is commenced after May 30, 1940.

"Applications for loans to construct houses under Part I of the National Housing Act may require from two weeks to two months to obtain final approval, depending upon location, plans, specifications and credit of the borrower and builder. Since no payment of taxes will be made by the Dominion in respect of any house, the construction of which is commenced after May 30th, 1940, prospective home owners should act at once in order to benefit by Government assistance.

"The Start of Construction means the laying of the footings and reasonably continuous construction thereafter."

Jolly Leap Year Party Sponsored By Knox W.A.

A jolly Leap Year party, sponsored by the Women's Association of Knox Church, was held on Thursday evening in the lecture hall. Numerous games and amusing contests were enjoyed by the large crowd present and were directed by Mrs. R. Hanscom, Mrs. H. Clegg, Mrs. R. Laing, Mrs. V. Zufelt, Mrs. E. Huffman, assisted by Miss Loretta McDougall. A number of artists were discovered when paper bags were placed over the heads of a chosen number and they were instructed to sketch a picture of their own faces on the bags with a piece of charcoal, and several startling results. A bevy of fair maidens took advantage of Leap Year's privilege and "popped the question" to the objects of their affection. Some of them being venturesome enough to exert their charms on men who were already "on durance vile."

At the conclusion of the program of Leap Year activities Mr. Reuben McDonald called Mr. and Mrs. Zufelt to come to the platform where he expressed to them the appreciation of the members of the Sunday School for their interest and untiring efforts in the work of the Sunday School and Church and especially their deep interest in the young people. Mr. McDonald then called on Miss Gertrude Lancashire, who on behalf of the Sunday School presented Mrs. Zufelt with a gift of English crystal. Mr. Zufelt expressed the thanks of Mrs. Zufelt and himself for the gift and spoke of the pleasure they both felt in their work among the young people.

The social committee in charge of Mrs. George Davis served a delicious lunch which brought to a close an evening of happy friendship.

Dr. A. J. Brace Tells Of Chinese Leaders

A personal friend of the two great Chinese leaders, Generalissimo and Madam Chiang Kai-Shek, Dr. A. J. Brace of Toronto, World Service Secretary of the National Council, gave a vivid and enlightening picture of their work on Friday afternoon at a meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Y.M.C.A. "Those who have known Generalissimo and his fine Christian wife, and the depth of their Christian principles, testify to their fine spirit of self-sacrifice and their ability to associate themselves with the most creative minds in China," he said. Dr. Brace confirms this Christian leadership from his own intimate and personal knowledge of the Generalissimo and his wife.

Dr. Brace, whose father was at one time pastor of Park Street Church in Peterborough, is a native Canadian. His career as soldier, lecturer and Y.M.C.A. secretary has been very colorful and interesting. In June, 1936, he completed 25 years of Y.M.C.A. work in Chengton, China. In that period he has served as a Boys' Work secretary; general secretary; a professor of Modern History in Szechuan University; a researcher into the life and history of Tibet, and as a translator of some of China's wealth and literature.

His studies at the University of Toronto were interrupted by the Boer war, which forces he joined. It was during his career as a soldier that Dr. Brace first became interested in Y.M.C.A. work. Mr. Brace has a son who has worked for a number of years with Chiang Kai-Shek's staff as an electrical engineer, and is now back in this country after five years in China.

Mr. Hamilton Gosse, Boys' Secretary, introduced the speaker, who was welcomed by the Auxiliary president, Mrs. F. L. Robinson.

It was decided during a brief business meeting that a seamstress be secured to help in the sewing room. Reports were given by the Housing and Flower Committee, and letters from boys to whom the Auxiliary had supplied 'Y' memberships, expressing their appreciation, were read by the secretary, Mrs. W. Breyfogle. A moment of silent prayer in memory to the late Lord Tweedsmuir was followed by an impressive worship service conducted by Mrs. S. D. Carver.

Delightful Tea Is Held By W.A.

A delightful Valentine tea was held by Group One of the Women's Association of St. Andrew's United Church on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. Moir, 196 Brock Street.

Receiving with the hostess were the president, Mrs. Paige Howell, and the conveners, Mrs. L. M. Brooks and Mrs. Ford Turner.

Presiding at the tea table, attractive with red tulips and other spring flowers in a scarlet basket, and lit by matching tapers in silver candelabra, were Mrs. E. W. Young, Mrs. A. Porteous, Mrs. G. Mulligan, Miss J. R. Ferguson. Mrs. R. S. Cotton was in charge of tea-room arrangements and assisting to serve were Miss Ethel Richardson, Miss T. Hall, Mrs. James Heffernan, Mrs. E. C. Manning.

A home-cooking table was in charge of Miss Brown, Miss Hall and Miss McCormack. Mrs. Victor Hamilton was treasurer.

Women Entertain Kiwanis Members

It took a Leap Year for wives of Kiwanians to show their husbands just what a party should be. For last night the wives put on the entire show, from beginning to end, at the Kawartha Golf and Country club, and there wasn't a dull moment in the evening.

It was a Valentine party the women arranged and decorations carried out the thought in elaborate fashion. It was the club's annual ladies' night, only this time the ladies took complete charge, even to paying for their partners' dinner check.

After an enjoyable dinner, a series of elaborate, fun-provoking games followed and then dancing.

Chief organizer of all the evening's fun was Mrs. Bill English, wife of the president and Mrs. John Troke, both of whom received. Secretary J. A. McKone ably voiced the club's appreciation to all the ladies.

DOROTHY DIX

If You Want To Keep Your Husband After the Baby Comes, Don't Shunt Him Into the Background, but Try More Than Ever to Keep Him Interested in You as His Wife.

Dear Miss Dix—I am expecting my first baby soon, and my joy over the coming of my "little bundle from heaven' is turned into apprehension by the many warnings I get that a woman pays for her children by losing her husband. Now my husband and I have been married two years and have been ideally happy. We love each other very much and are looking forward to the baby's coming, and I don't want the youngster to come between us. Isn't it still possible to keep a happy home life and the love of your husband when there are babies? What are the mistakes that young mothers make that drive their husbands from them and away from the baby who, it seems to me, should draw them even closer together?

FEARFUL

ANSWER:

The old sayings that "a baby in the house is a wellspring of joy" and "that children are the tie that bind husbands and wives together" are true.

No home is a home in the fullest sense of the word unless there is the patter of little feet on the floor and the sound of childish laughter in the rooms. Many husbands and wives who are disillusioned and disenchanted with each other and who would gladly be free are still held together by little hands that make a bond so strong that they do not even attempt to break it. They may not love each other, but both of them love their children, and to give these children the security of a home and the rearing by both a mother and a father, they endure marriages in which they find no individual happiness and that is often a martyrdom.

But it is also true that very frequently the coming of the first baby is the end of the passionate, devoted, romantic love between a husband and wife and the beginning of a cleavage between them. For it is notable that many a man who before the arrival of Junior has been as domestic as the house cat and never went out of an evening without his wife, after the advent of the youngster begins stepping out alone and drifting back into his bachelor ways.

I believe that women are themselves to blame for this state of affairs, and that when one loses her husband when her baby comes it is because of her carelessness. She is so wrapped up in Sweetums that she forgets that she has a husband who needs looking after far more than the baby. For she can hire a nurse to take care of the baby, but there is no safe lady she can employ to take care of hubby while she is doing her infant-worshipping.

Of course, there are many women who can take motherhood in ther stride, and you never hear of them complaining about the baby robbing them of their husbands. But a vast number of women can't be mothers in moderation. They are obsessed with it. They give all of their time and thought and attention to the baby. The house is run for the baby. The husband exists merely to provide for the baby. And it is no wonder that men resent it. For, after all, it isn't very flattering to a man's ego to find that his nose has been put completely out of joint by a puling, squalling baby whose conversational abilities are limited to yaw-yaw.

The general run of men are husbands first, then fathers. They want their wives to continue to dress themselves up and look pretty in the evening when they come home from work. They want their wives to go out with them to places of amusement. They want their wives to be gay and entertaining companions, even if there is a baby on the premises. When their wives make the baby an excuse for going slouchy, and staying at home, and talking about nothing except baby-food formulas, and giving to the baby all the caresses and petting that husband once got, why it isn't very surprising that he steps out to find a more interesting companion.

Any woman can keep her husband and have her baby, too, if she will only put her husband first and not make him run a poor second to a toothless infant.

Education Better Than Early Marriage

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am a freshman in college. I like school very much, but I love a girl better. If I marry the girl, her father will give me a fine position with his firm. Is it not true that one can become educated in meeting the happenings of everyday life? Shall I marry this girl or go on to college? R.E.M.

ANSWER:

I am not in favor of young marriages because boys and girls in their teens are not sufficiently mature to know what kind of life partners they are going to need when they are grown. Neither at that age are capable of a deep and abiding love.

So my advice to you is to wait until your tastes are formed and you have tested out the strength of your affection for this girl. Don't marry her because her father can give you a good position with his firm. If you are a smart young fellow, you will be able to get yourself a job that will give you independence. Sometimes the son-in-law job puts a chap in a hot spot.

ON WITH THE DANCE!

By ALICE ALDEN

SCATTER-BRAIN by day but beautiful young lady by night! For her no prettier evening style has been introduced than the tight bodice and bouffant skirt, which comes out slightly changed each season. This dress is pink net with an opalescent sequin top, and please keep in mind that it looks its best over a little corset of one kind or another. A pantie girdle may be sufficient, or a glorified ferris waist, new this season. Pink camellias might nestle in your hair, and you may want to keep long pink doeskin gloves on until the last waltz is over.

Gaiety Is Keynote Of Annual "Y" Friday Night Club At Home

With gaiety as the keynote, and romance as its background, the annual At Home of the Y.M.C.A. Friday Night Club last evening was one of the season's most outstanding parties. Old-fashioned lacy Valentines inscribed with sentimental lines, and scarlet hearts printed with subtle and amusing references to club members adorned the gymnasium walls. From the centre of an arch of red and white streamers a huge cluster of scarlet balloons was suspended, causing much merriment when it was released later and balloons came showering down among the whirling dancers.

Excellent dance music was played by Jimmie Duffus' band, and novelty dances included a birthday dance, won by Miss Phyllis Coleman and Mr. Harry Marsh, and a spot dance, won by Miss Julia Rowe and Mr. Fred Trotter. Supper was served at midnight in the banquet hall. Alex Runnett, chairman of the dance committee, was assisted by Cliff. Vincent, Marlow Banks, Jack Sullivan, Douglas Grant, Bob Garner, Don Weese.

Patrons and patronesses were Mayor James Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Garner, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Vincent, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Roper, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Cummer, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lacheur.

We Noticed

....Whether it's because there are rumors of spring in the air; because it was a Valentine party and they seemed unusually appropriate, or simply because the young ladies themselves were particularly lovely and their escorts couldn't resist sending them flowers, beautiful corsages were worn by almost every girl at the Friday Night Club dance last night.

....Old-fashioned nosegays of roses were carried by several and gave a quaint air to the dainty bouffant frocks. Rather unusual and very smart, we thought, was a striped blouse and a stiff full skirt of black net—a large cameo brooch was fastened at the throat of the pretty brunette who wore the costume, which had all the charm of our grandmother's day, but was definitely 1940 nevertheless.

Do You Know?

Peanut butter, thinned with honey, makes an interesting filling for Graham bread sandwiches for school luncheons. The combination is a health fact worth remembering.

If potatoes turn dark while boiling, add a teaspoon of vinegar to the cooking water.

A lumpy sauce is no compliment to a luscious dessert, nor thick, uneven gravy to the piece de resistance. Lumps will more often than not yield to a lusty workout with a rotary beater.

Do Routine Duties Get on Your Nerves?

Control Energies, Keep Serene

"I'm so overworked, no wonder I'm a nervous wreck!"

A frequent complaint from the high-strung woman—and often a true one. For, though her more placid sister may do as many tasks, she doesn't go at them nearly so intensely.

The nervous woman is apt to turn every little molehill chore into a mountainous one. She fritters away the dynamic energy, the natural high spirits which, if properly controlled, would make her charming. Uncontrolled, these priceless gifts of the nervous type turn into jitters, insomnia, indigestion.

If you are nervous, keep a sense of proportion. Huge as the darning basket may look, it won't take forever. Helpful, too, if you limit the time for each task. Then you won't get into a prolonged frenzy over a tiny detail. And keep a period for YOU every day — when you do as you please.

Watch your physical health, your diet. Important to the nervous to have foods with vitamin B.

In our 32-page booklet, a well-known physician gives advice on proper diet, body care, discusses psychological causes of nervous symptoms such as indigestion, fatigue. Tells how to regain vitality, health.

Send 15c in coins or stamps for your copy of OVERCOMING "NERVES" AND EVERY - DAY HEALTH PROBLEMS to Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

Branch Notes

ALL SAINTS' BRANCH

All Saints' A.Y.P.A. held its regular weekly meeting in the chapel on Monday. The feature of the evening was a talk by Canon J. D. Paterson on the "Feasts and Fasts of the Church," a subject that was interesting and particularly appropriate during the Lenten season. In his own inimitable style Canon Paterson brought to his audience a more clear and enlightening conception of the real meaning of many of the festive dates on the church calendar.

The members were entertained by a vocal duet with D. Weir and Les Cavalier offering a fine interpretation of an old favorite hymn, "Softly and Tenderly," which was greatly appreciated. Miss W. Lord accompanied at the piano.

In last week's branch notes it was announced that the members were preparing a play entitled 'Aunt Susie Goes to Town." This has been drawn to the writer's attention as an error. The correct title of the play is "Aunt Susie Shoots the Works" and this play has never been performed locally before. For the above error we offer our humble apologies.

ST. GEORGE'S BRANCH

Thirty-two members attended the meeting Thursday evening which opened with hymns and prayers. The program was under the leadership of Mrs. Heap, the worship convener. The lesson was read by B. Anderson about which Mr. Heap afterwards read a very interesting story.

Two minutes of silence was observed in memory of Lord Tweedsmuir.

A corporate communion was planned for March 3 at 11 o'clock. All members, communicants or non-communicants, are invited to attend this service.

ST. LUKE'S BRANCH

The branch held a sleigh drive Thursday night and while the crowd was not very large those who were there enjoyed it very much. After returning all went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Pammett where delicious refreshments of hot meat pies and tea were served.

Next week's meeting will be along education lines when Mr. Brock of the Brinton Carpet Co. will show colored moving pictures of the manufacture of rugs. This will be an open night so any who care to come will be welcome. There will be no charge of any kind.

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, February 18.

Sunday's horoscope is an interesting one. There is likely to be much mirth and frivolity among the young, with happy romances among the prospects, and much stirring around. But there is danger of fraud or duplicity.

Those whose birthday it is have promise of a progressive and prosperous year, with interest centered on the pursuit of pleasure; there may be much gay companionship. Be careful of all forms of fraud, trickery and schemes.

A child born on this day may be gay, vivacious, and romantic, although being studious, original and ambitious. It should have a happy and successful career.

For Monday, February 19.

Monday's astrological forecast is for much activity at a lively and harmonious pace. It is an auspicious time for approaching employers and those in power for favors and advancement. It would be well to curb tendencies to over-enthusiasm, extravagance and generosity.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a prosperous, progressive, and happy year, with encouragement for approaching influential persons for tokens of preferment and honors. There are tendencies to over-generosity and expenditures.

A child born on this day may expect to enjoy a happy, successful, and generally prosperous life. It may be companionable and have a generous disposition.

It's no trouble at all. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments until dissolved. No cooking is needed—a child could do it.

Now put 2½ ounces of Pinex into a 16 oz. bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you 16 ounces of really splendid cough remedy—more than you could buy for four times the money. It keeps perfectly, tastes fine, and lasts a family a long time.

This splendid home mixture has a three-fold action. You can feel it take hold at once. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. This explains why it gives such prompt, pleasing results.

Frontiersmen Plan To Form Squadron

The Legion of Frontiersmen, the colorfully garbed patriotic band of men who have served their King and Empire in far-flung outposts of the world, are forming a squadron of 120 men in Peterborough. Already more than a dozen are enrolled and soon applications from hundreds will be received, it is expected.

Little heard of in this city, the Frontiersmen are well known in many sections of the country where they have maintained a high standard. Throughout the land at this very time, they are busy co-operating with His Majesty's civil forces in guarding life and property against enemy agents.

Two squadrons, totalling 240 men, are active in Toronto and two more squadrons are planned for that centre. When needed, the Frontiersmen work in close cooperation with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, the Provincial Police and local authorities.

Their picturesque uniforms are the envy of many another unit. They wear Stetson hats, blue patrol jackets with chain epaulettes, khaki riding breeches, riding boots, Sam Brown belts and gauntlets. The uniforms are modelled somewhat after those of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, for whom Frontiersmen are sometimes mistaken.

Service Without Reward

These men serve without reward and most of the time without public recognition of any kind. Their proclaimed motto is, "Service Without Reward." In private life they are responsible business men who have given notice to their country that they may be called upon during any emergency.

The organization was formed originally in 1904 by ex-members of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police. Now its membership is restricted to those who have served in the army, navy, air force, or in some other capacity outside the land of their birth. At the present time an exception is being made in favour of those men who have tried to enlist in Canada's army for service in World War II, but who have been turned down for slight physical handicaps. Each member must submit to the discipline which the force exacts from its membership and must provide himself with the uniform of the service. No public subsidy of any description is provided the Frontiersmen.

The Frontiersmen do not know precisely what work lies ahead of them in this war, but they are willing and ready to do it without pay. However, in the eventuality that they should be called away from their places of employment for service, it is anticipated they will be placed on salaries.

The Peterborough squadron will be known as G Squadron, and Captain Fred Hills is said slated as commanding officer. Applications for membership are being received by Lieut. E. Preston at his home at 138 Rubidge street. Lieut. Preston is a member of the Toronto unit, and is responsible for the organization's start in this city.

Peterborough residents will get their first glimpse of the smartly garbed Frontiersmen on the 30th of this month when A and B squadrons of Toronto will be in Peterborough in full uniform. They will parade on the following day to All Saints' Anglican church, behind their 42-piece brass band which will arrive that morning.

Two Old Parties Ready To Go Central Ontario

The week's political truce out of respect to the memory of Lord Tweedsmuir is ending to-day with political lines almost complete in the Central Ontario ridings

Extraordinary circumstances have forced the Liberals of Peterborough to call a second convention next Saturday afternoon, and in the meantime the Liberals of Durham are meeting at Orono on Wednesday afternoon They are expected to nominate W Frank Rickard, Liberal member in last House, to oppose J. Ross Strike, Conservative nominee.

Victoria County is ready for action with Bruce McNevin, Liberal member in the last Parliament, opposed by Colonel McAlpin of Toronto, who has a summer residence at Sturgeon Point, and is considered sufficiently local in his political connection with the riding

The Liberals of Northumberland again nominated W A Fraser of Trenton last Wednesday It was Mr Fraser who sparked the Liberal cause back to life in that constituency when he first led a winning attack against the late E Gus Porter of Belleville in a by-election, when the late Charlie Hanna won a seat that seemed impregnable Mr Fraser picked a battling ground for himself in Northumberland where he is a property owner, and won the seat from Milton E. Maybee.

The Conservatives of Northumberland have accepted as their leader Jamieson Bone, Mayor of Belleville, and those who are sensitive to political strains and stresses are predicting that Northumberland is likely to be the hot spot of the district They can't imagine Mr. Bone sticking to the music as it is written They are waiting for him to "get hot" before long and swing it, and that possible deviation will be the signal for hostilities without quarter.

In Hastings - Peterborough, Rork Ferguson, Liberal, is opposed by George White, Conservative, Madoc lawyer This is one of the biggest and most scattered ridings in the east, and presents both candidates with a strenuous travelling job for the next month.

In Ontario County, W H. Moore will likely be retained by the Liberals, with opposition from H. A. Newman, Conservative, and F. M. Dafoe, C.C.F.

Returning officers in the district include: Vincent Eastwood in Peterborough; Thomas F. Hall, K.C., Cobourg; H. W Sabine, newspaper publisher, Marmora, for Hastings-Peterborough; Joseph P. Mangan, Oshawa, for Ontario; Sheriff J. E. Armstrong, Parry Sound; W. R. Rierdon, Belleville, for South Hastings; Lawrence C. Mason, Bowmanville barrister, for Durham County; A. J. Campbell, Lindsay, for Victoria.

In Prince Edward-Lennox the returning officer is William Spencer of Napanee, and in Kingston City D. G. Cunningham, lawyer.

Red Unwanted

Bombay, Feb. 17 (CP)

FINAL RETURNS today in the all-India congress party's presidential election showed that the Indian Communist leader, Mahendranath Roy, the left-wing candidate, was overwhelmingly defeated.

Maulana Abul Kalam Azad, a leader of Mohandas K. Gandhi's right wing, was elected with 1,861 votes against Roy's 183. Azad received heavy support even from the leftist faction.

The defeated Roy is a widely known Communist figure, having been active in China during the period of Communist influence there in 1927. He was arrested by the British authorities in India in 1932 and was ordered deported for 12 years.

The sentence was rescinded, however, and he became active again.

Committed For Trial

COBOURG, Ont., Feb. 17.—(CP)—Hugh Cameron, former Cobourg assessor, was committed for trial by Judge when he pleaded not guilty yesterday to a charge of converting funds from the McArthur estate to his own use.

Walter Johnson, executor of the estate, testified that Cameron collected estate accounts on a commission basis. He alleged that only $1,107 or $1,857 collected was turned in by Cameron.

Dranoel Named After J. W. Leonard, Canadian Railroader Who Was An Early Associate Of Alfred Tate

The Victoria Railway, extending from Lindsay to Kinmount, was a training school for a group of young men who rose to high positions in Canada as builders of railways and empire.

Among them were Sir William Mackenzie, James Ross and J. W. Leonard, friends of Alfred O. Tate, author of "Edison's Open Door" who includes in his introductory chapters brief sketches of them when they were associates of his at Lindsay in its expansive days as a railway centre more than sixty years ago.

Continuing the reminiscences of Mr. Tate in the introductory chapters of his book, the Examiner presents glimpses of this group of young railroad men as they remain in his memories in those youthful years of his at Lindsay, where he had secured for himself his first position as despatcher with the Victoria Railway.

"The general manager of the railroad was a Scotsman, James Ross, a civil engineer, son of a sea captain and father of Captain Jack Ross (Ed.—Commander J. K. L. Ross), who in later years became well-known in America as a horse-racing and yachting enthusiast. I recall Jack as an infant in the arms of his mother, a woman distinguished among all women for beauty of face and form. One of my duties was making up the payroll, where the name of James Ross headed the list and was entered at one hundred and fifty dollars a month. One day late in that autumn (1878) he handed me a telegram addressed to William Laidlaw, a leading barrister and the president of a railroad running out of Toronto. It read, 'Can I ask five thousand dollars a year?' In a few hours a reply came clicking over the wire, 'Ask twenty thousand or they won't think you are worth anything.' Shortly thereafter James Ross left the Victoria Railroad. He had stepped forward.

Basis Of Fortune.

"His subsequent career as one of the builders of the Canadian Pacific Railway is well-known. It was there that he laid the foundation of his great fortune. Just twenty years after our association in the little town of Lindsay, I sat with him after dinner in the library of his palatial home in Montreal discussing old times. Among other enterprises, he had promoted the development of several electric street railways. Incidentally, he reached across his desk and handed me a typewritten paper. It was a record of his income from these sources and amounted to about eight hundred thousand dollars per year. 'A bit higher than the eighteen hundred of twenty years ago,' he remarked with one of his rare wry smiles.

"It might be inferred that I am interpreting and evaluating success in terms of money, but that would not be accurate. Money frequently is incidental to success and it is not wholly to be despised, but the terms 'success' and 'money' are not exclusive symbols representing cause and effect. The term 'success' covers the whole field of human endeavor, without any special relations to money. When Faraday, the great scientist of the early nineteenth century, the father of electro-dynamics and a relatively poor man, was asked why he did not use his knowledge and opportunities to make money, he replied that he could not afford the time.

"The engineering feat which James Ross performed in thrusting a line of rails through the forbidding canyon of the Kicking Horse Pass in the Rocky Mountains was a greater achievement than the accumulation of all his millions. It remains as a permanent monument to his skill and memory. His millions do not...

"And so the face of James Ross fades from the surface of the mirror."

It may be interpolated that the name Ross remains associated with the every-day affairs of Lindsay and its community life in the fact that the Ross Memorial Hospital was generously endowed by the son of the old president of the Victoria Railway.

A Bethany Man.

"The next face in the mirror is that of Jimmy Leonard, the station agent. He came from the little village of Bethany, near Lindsay, and was taught the art of telegraphy by my brother. He was a gangling youth of delicate constitution whose energy and devotion to long hours of work severely taxed his physical strength. Always when my day's work ended at nine o'clock or later in the evening, depending upon the hour when 'No. 2' arrived at Kinmount, I saw his lamp burning in his office in the freight shed across the tracks. When James Ross undertook the building of a section of the Canadian Pacific Railway he engaged Leonard to manage his construction trains. After the completion of this work Leonard was appointed superintendent of a western division and at the time of his death, only a few years ago, had risen to the position of vice-president of this great transcontinental system."

Mr. Tate's reference to James W. Leonard, former vice-president of the C.P.R., is of local interest, not only in this reminder of his early days in railroading in this district, but also from the fact that the station "Dranoel," on the C.P.R. west of Peterborough, between Cavan and Manvers, is actually the name "Leonard" spelled backwards. The road from Drahoel passes through Bethany, the home of the boy Jimmy Leonard to Lindsay.

William Mackenzie.

"And now appears the face of William Mackenzie, born in the hamlet of Kirkfield, also near Lindsay. His earlier occupation was school teaching, but when I first saw him he was the contractor who recently had completed the erection of our freight sheds and previously had installed the culverts on the line (from Lindsay to Kinmount). But I shall let his picture fade for a moment while I dispose of the others in the group.

"Frank Polson comes next. He was foreman in our roundhouse, where he groomed and coaxed the three little impatient, over-burdened locomotives which puffed and strained at their job of hauling the traffic of the line. Eventually he went to Toronto and established a modest machine shop on the water front, which under his guidance expanded and became known as the Polson Iron Works, one of that ambitious city's most important industries, and which, coincidentally, elevated its founder to the position of one of Canada's most eminent industrial pioneers.

"Jack Brady, whose shrewd face next appears, was our passenger-train conductor who, when not punching tickets, spent most of his time denouncing those suspicious, low-minded individuals who could descend to the vile depths of doubt concerning the unimpeachable honesty of all train conductors. He went eventually to Toronto, bought a hotel and became its prosperous and genial host."

Mr. Tate also mentions Ned Harkness, baggageman on the Victoria Railway, "who went to Hamilton eventually as superintendent of an insane asylum. Just why, I don't know, but I infer that having been so long accustomed to revel in the frenzies of temporarily insane drummers, he found in the society of the inmates of that institution an atmosphere pleasantly reminiscent of the happy days of his youth."

Mr. Tate concludes these personal recollections of men with whom he was associated in his youth with a farewell to their shades and then refers to the fact that Thomas Edison's family was of western Ontario origin.

"Edison's grandfather lived there and died there at the remarkable age of one hundred and four, as attested by the inscription on the tombstone under which he rests in a graveyard in the little town of Vienna in western Ontario.

"His father spent half his life there, engaged in farming, but Edison was born in Milan, Ohio, a few months after the family migrated to the United States. Canada missed the fame attaching to his birthplace by a narrow margin.

"Edison once told me that his father participated in the historic Mackenzie Rebellion in 1937. His description of this hazardous moment in the life of his parent was concise but graphic. 'The old man got mixed up in that scrap,' he said, 'and they chased him clean across Canada. He got off at Detroit.' I wish he had known more about this accelerated trek across the Dominion. It would be an interesting contribution to the saga of the leader of that historic revolt, William Lyon Mackenzie, grandfather of the present Premier of the Dominion, William Lyon Mackenzie King."

HAVELOCK

Valentine Tea Cheery Affair

HAVELOCK, Feb. 17 (ENS). — A Valentine Tea was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Andrew McLauchlin, under the auspices of the central group of the United Church Women's Association of which Mrs. Gordon Denike is the leader. The event proved a decided success, with over sixty ladies attending

The guests were received by the hostess, assisted by Mrs T Easterbrook, persident of the W.A. Tea was poured by Mrs Charles Roberts, and those who assisted in the tea-room were Mrs Jack Davidson, Mrs Ross Brown, and Mrs Ross Pollock. The table was attractively laid with lace table cloth and streamers of hearts and arrows extending from the chandelier and caught at the four corners by roses, the latter also forming a pretty centrepiece. Dainty refreshments heart-shaped and with red the predominant color were served.

Schools Pay Tribute.

A personal acquaintance of the late Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of this Dominion, Rev. Andrew McLauchlin of the Havelock United Church visited the local school on Wednesday afternoon and led the students in a service of tribute to the man whose passing has meant so much to Canadians. Prayers were offered for the bereaved family and two minutes' silence observed, after which both Public and High Schools were dismissed for the remainder of the afternoon in order to listen to the radio description of the funeral ceremony.

W.M.S. Session.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Havelock United Church held its February meeting at the home of Mrs. Harrison Wing, with a good attendance, and the president, Mrs. A. McLauchlin in charge

The devotional program was a most helpful one, when some fine thoughts were expressed by the president, and the Scripture lesson read by Mrs. J. Cochrane. The lesson study was a review of the third chapter of the study book on Rural Life in India This was taken by Miss M Seeney, and proved very interesting

Mrs. S. J. Clarke sang "Come Unto Me," after which the meeting concluded with a hymn and the benediction.

Walking home from work about 2 o'clock this morning, three North Monaghan youths put to shame, Ivan Fletcher when they killed a giant jack rabbit that charged them from ambush. They put him to shame because he had a screwdriver and they used only bare hands.

It was a Bird's-Eye Centre jack that awaited the three C.G.E. workers, Bill Joiner, boxer of local note, Claude Millard, and Jack McManus. Maybe he didn't know that one of their number was a pugilist, or maybe he just didn't care. Anyway, out of the field beside south Park street he charged, straight for his victims. Barehanded, the three tired workers decided they would have to fight. When they finally vanquished the giant jack, they found it weighed 44 pounds

Engine Ditched Near Marmora

MARMORA, Feb. 16 (ENS)—Ice on the rails is believed responsible for the derailment of a switching engine on the C.N.R. track at the southern outskirts of the village on Wednesday. The C.N.R. locomotive ran into the ditch about three miles north of Bonarlaw station. Little damage resulted as the engine remained upright and no person was injured. He Went Back

London, Ont., Feb. 17 (CP)

A BOLD STROKE on the part of Harry Plunkett, 27 year old barber from Grand Pre, N.S., misfired, it was revealed in city court today.

Arrested recently for drunkenness, Plunkett was found to be carrying three cameras. Plunkett was charged with being drunk, and sentenced to 10 days in jail.

Released yesterday, he went to police headquarters and asked that his cameras be returned to him. He didn't know that 10 minutes previously, the cameras had been listed as stolen.

In court today, Plunkett admitting stealing the cameras from a downtown store, was sentenced to a term of six months determinate and three months indeterminate in Ontario Reformatory.

Dr. Murray Fraser At Aldershot With Canadians

ALDERSHOT, Eng., Feb. 17. — (CP Cable).—Some of the most eminent doctors of the Dominion who in peacetime enjoyed highly remunerative practices are waging a winning battle to keep Canada's overseas forces physically fit despite the health-sapping vagaries of the English winter.

Since the first contingent of the Canadian First Division arrived Dec. 17 there have been mild outbreaks of colds, bronchitis, influenza and more recently a non-virulent type of measles. These ailments, however, have been equally rampant among the civilian population and day-to-day records show the number of soldiers afflicted is exceedingly low, considering the size of the force quartered in the Aldershot area.

Percentage Kept Low.

The actual percentage of daily illness is less than two. Medical officers also point with pride to the fact there have been only two deaths in the division directly attributable to sickness. The others were due to accidents.

For the fifth successive day the division medical chart showed a drop in the number parading sick notwithstanding the heavy influx of men from Canada last week. The majority of these newcomers reached camp in excellent health and now are being granted a five-day leave prior to settling down to the serious business of training.

On the other hand, earlier arrivals are rapidly becoming acclimatized, although all agree that if they never see another winter like this one it will be soon enough.

Under the direction of Colonel J. A. Linton, Ottawa, Assistant Director of Medical Services, and Lieut.-Colonel E. A. McCusker, Regina, Deputy A.D.M.S., the medical organization of the division now has been placed on a self-sustaining basis. Supplies have been pouring into the camp daily and as quickly distributed among the units scattered throughout the area.

Within the past month battalion sick bays have been set up where men suffering from minor ailments are segregated and treated. A convalescent hospital also is operating and more recently a samp isolation ward was opened. Cases requiring special treatment are being admitted to the two principal military hospitals in Aldershot—Connaught and Cambridge.

Specialists on Staff

Canadian specialists are being assigned to the staffs of these hospitals pending the opening of an all-Canadian general hospital.

A visit to the camp medical centres today disclosed many phases of the work which are the doctor's regular lot.

There was Major Kelsey Conover of Montreal and Major G. Murray Fraser of Peterborough checking 600 men for their reactions to recent vaccination.

Captain J. Gilhooly of Ottawa, still limping from a recent ankle injury, moved among the sick wielding a stethoscope and examining throats and prescribing treatment.

Captain N. McGillivray, Toronto, was making his rounds of the Second Infantry Brigade sick bays, while Captain J. T. McInerney, Saint John, was busy arranging for the transfer of several cases from his observation room to the convalescent hospital.

It was much the same at the other units. The number of men on sick parade was small and all were receiving speedy personal attention. Colonel Linton gives most of the credit to his doctors for the sound health of the troops generally. He believes the chief reason there has not been more sickness is the high standard of efficiency of his battalion and unit medical officers.

War Services Campaign Check-up Made

A feeling of optimism prevailed Friday night at the Legion Hall when team captains in the campaign to raise $5,000 for Canadian Legion War Services reported returns for the first time.

Several team captains were unable to report because of illness and the press of business, and C. H. Ackerman had not prepared a report from the factories as he was out of town, but even without these, a cash total of $1,051.20 was turned in. This in view of the foregoing and the fact that the special names committee has only covered a portion of their list makes the leaders confident that the drive will top the objective by next Tuesday.

Jim Turnbull's team stood in first place with the most money turned in while E. L. Sackville and Paige Rowell took second and third places respectively. Al Sharpe's team was fourth.

Jim Wharry complimented Sid Goldstone, manager of the Centre Theatre who volunteered his services, taking all cards to members of the Jewish Community. "We of the Hebrew faith wish to do our share in raising this money and I believe that one of us can do the canvassing quite conveniently and perhaps with better results." Mr. Goldstone said when he was called on to say a few words. The response from the Jews in Peterborough has been splendid.

On Tuesday night of next week a final meeting will be held in the Canadian Legion Hall, at 8 o'clock at which all team captains and workers will report and the final summing up done. Col. Dewart, city campaign manager, expressed confidence that the campaign would go over the top, but he added that every worker must exert all efforts over the week-end to cover all cards in his possession.

Mrs. R. M. Houston, will be in the office at the Legion Hall, telephone number 6203 if any of the canvassers needs advice or wishes to make returns of cash and stubs during the day.

Cobourg Has a Reputation For Organizing Famous Canadian Artillery Units

The 14th (Midland) Field Battery, R.C.A., C.A.S.F., famous for years as Cobourg Heavy Battery, one of Canada's top ranking artillery units, is now engaged in wartime training preparatory to taking its place in the Empire's far flung battle ranks. Recruits from the entire district anxious to get into the show and attracted by the fine record of this unit have applied for enlistment at Cobourg and many have been accepted. The personnel includes men from Cobourg, Peterborough, Hastings, Norwood, Campbellford, Port Hope and from practically every rural section and hamlet in the district. Year after year this unit has gained recognition in Dominion-wide field gun competitions and the high standard reached by it in peace time is being maintained and its efficiency brought to a wartime peak. The ABOVE picture of the unit was taken in November at the Armouries in Cobourg.

Fewer Young People Filling Gaps Millbrook Church Rally Is Told

MILLBROOK, Feb. 17—(ENS).—Encouraging reports and attendance were features of the annual meeting of St. Andrew's United Church, held on Wednesday at 8 p.m., with the pastor, Rev. A. L. Sisco, B.D., presiding, taking the opening worship period, and looking after the business items P. I. Bentley acted as recording secretary.

The chairman gave his report, telling of ten baptisms, five marriages, and nine deaths during 1939, all present standing while the list of departed members was read, and remaining one minute in silent prayer when the list had been completed. One member, Mrs. E. C. Thornton, who passed away on Wednesday, marks the first loss through death in the current year.

In the entire charge there are 344 members enrolled, an increase of two from the preceding year.

The report of the session was presented by the Clerk, Dr. A. Jemison, outstanding items including services, uniting the three churches of the village, held in January, and during Passion Week; the church anniversary, in October, when Rev. Dr. Watts of Queen's University, Kingston, was the guest speaker; in the evening of that date; the Junior Salvation Army Band of Toronto had given a sacred concert after the regular service; the anniversary of the Men's Bible Class in May.

Congratulations were extended to the pastor on his having obtained the degree of B.D. from the Auburn Theological Seminary, N.Y., last summer, and the fine work of the junior and senior choirs was mentioned with deep appreciation.

Dr. Jemison passed on the recommendation from the session that P. Stinson and W. H. Coombe be re-elected members of that body for a period of five years, and this was later unanimously ratified.

G. E. Burnham gave the treasurer's report, total receipts being $2,400.38; this included givings by envelope, $1,396.68; $241.30 to the Missions and Maintenance; thankoffering of $426.17; a donation of $100 from the Woman's Association which also had given $100 to the thankoffering, and had paid the taxes on parsonage of $82.45. Disbursements amounted to $2,467.40, leaving a debit balance of $67.02; it was explained, however, that when all moneys promised have been paid in, this balance will be practically wiped out.

Few Filling Old Places

The chairman of the finance committee, P. Stinson, mentioned particularly the fact "that so many of the faithful supporters of the church are passing on, and neither their children, nor others, are apparently taking their places. The church can ill afford this loss.

Mr. J. McKnight reported for the Woman's Association, which held ten regular, and five special meetings; average attendance 13; number enrolled 58. Nine baskets of friuts and 40 cards were sent out at Christmas; total receipts $620.41; expenditures, $596.80; balance of $21.60.

W. F. Fallis, superintendent, gave the year's work for the Sunday School, which has 218 on the roll, with 23 teachers and officers. Average attendance 130; verses, 6,821; five awards were given for reciting verses, and 7 for regular attendance. Supplies ordered for 1940 amount to over $200. The treasurer, E. J. Powell, followed, telling of total receipts, $318.70; disbursements, $307.49; balance by December 31, $18.22;" this has been materially increased already in the new year.

The Y.P.U. also had a prosperous year, with all departments functioning faithfully, according to the report presented by past president, Earl Edworthy, the enrollment being 62; 24 metings held, with an average attendance of 27. $17.67 had been given the M. and M. fund of the church, 12 credits obtained in the leadership training course; a delegate had been sent the Winter school, and six members had been at the Oak Lake School in the summer. Receipts, $98.19; expenditures $97.79; balance 40 cents.

Miss E. L. Hetherington told of increased interest and study in the leadership training classes, and the W.M.S. report showed 29 annual, and 22 life members; an average of 26 at the monthly meetings; two bales shipped, one to the West, and the other for the Presbytery an annually required. Total raised $207; sent Presbyterial treasurer, $200.

The Mission Band reported being reorganized under Mary Burnham and Bea McDowell, and the Mission Circle could tell of reaching its full allocation, $52, with a small balance to begin the new year.

The following were elected to the Board of Stewards: W. F. Fallis, F. L. Edworthy, B. B. Dawson, P. Stinson, G. E. Burnham, A. J. Henderson, P. I. Bentley, T. Douglas, W. A. O'Brian and W. Elson.

W. Fred Fallis was elected Presbyterial representative, and also delegate to the Ontario Temperance Federation convention at Toronto. Mr. Fallis took occasion to point out that regular missionary and temperance instruction is given in the Sunday School under Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Hatherly, respectively, and for the study on the evil effects of alcohol, a special slide is used each time; the expense for this being borne "by a good friend of the school."

Following the benediction, a social hour was enjoyed with refreshment sserved by the Woman's Association.

Mrs. Nelson Hostess To Ladies' Club

KEENE, Feb. 17—(ENS). — The Ladies' Club held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. R. Nelson on Wednesday. Miss M. Bryce and Mrs. G. Bolin had charge of the meeting, which took the form of a Valentine party. Rosetta Frankish answered the roll call by giving a reading on the Personality of L. M. Montgomery.

President Mrs. A. Doris paid a tribute to Lord Tweedsmuir, which was followed by all singing the National Anthem.

Miss Jennie Plunket was in charge of current events.

Miss Margaret Bryce read a poem written by Lord Tweedsmuir, the Nicest Valentine and St. Valentine. Mrs. Bolin read the story 'Once Upon a Time,' and Mrs. H. Knox of Vancouver gave a talk on St. Valentine. Miss Bruce and Mrs. Bolin conducted interesting games and contest.

The meeting was concluded by the serving o frefreshments by the hostess.

O.Y.P.A. Meets.

The regular meeting of the O.Y.P.A was held on Thursday night in the town hall The meeting opened with the singing of the Maple Leaf, followed by business discussion. A social committee was appointed and the entertainment committee will remain in office for the remainder of the year.

The sing-song was conducted by Ruth Brown, followed by the reading of current events.

A short skit entitled 'A Practical Joke,' was presented and caused much laughter. Joe Bernard conducted contests and the meeting concluded with dancing.

Institute Forwards Bale To Red Cross

MOUNT PLEASANT, Feb. 17 (ENS). — Mrs. W. H. Lowes was hostess to the members of the Mount Pleasant branch of the Women's Institute for their February meeting at her home on Tuesday afternoon. The president, Mrs. Ira Lowe, presided for the meeting, which opened with the W.I. Ode, followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison. Eight members responded to the roll-call, with suggestions "How to retain your vigor and your figure," some quite humorous and others very practical.

The president asked the meeting to pay tribute of respect to the late Governor-General, Lord Tweedsmuir, and with the members stood with bowed heads for a period of silence.

A letter was read from the Department stating the advisability of the family listening in to certain radio programs.

A letter re the War Charities Fund of the Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario was received, and on motion it was decided that the branch would not contribute to this fund at present.

The president reported having received $5.00 rent for the W.I. Hall, and that $16.00 had been paid on the wiring contract for Hydro for the W.I. Hall. She also complimented the group for their splendid response in giving aid to replenish the treasury. The secretary reported having received the Government grant.

At this point the meeting was left open to the Red Cross unit.

Mrs. Graham, the president, stated she had given out a quantity of yarn and that she still had some at the meeting to be given out.

Mrs. T. C. Morden, secretary, reported that the following list of sewing had been finshed, packed, and returned to the Millbrook Red Cross Society during the month of January: Eighteen pneumonia jackets, ten Hampton bed pads, four suits of pyjamas, two pairs of socks.

Mrs. T. C. Morden and Mrs. E. Lawson were in charge of the program which followed. Mrs. W. H. Lowes contributed a poem, "Calendar for the Year"; Mrs. Breton, a monologue entitled "George Washington White." Mrs. Norman Fee gave a talk on "Canada and How We Should Serve Her," stressing the important part that the women of the Dominion must play in these unsettled times. Mrs. Tully gave a humorous reading, "A Small Boy's Opinion of Soap." Mrs. Morden, in concluding the program, spoke a few words, using a portion of His Majesty King George's message to the people on Christmas Day.

Following the program Mrs. Thomas Graham gave a demonstration 'An Ironing Hint," using a man's shirt for an example. This created a lively discussion.

The meeting closed with "God Save the King." The hostess served a cup of tea and dainty refreshments, being assisted by Mrs. Morden.

Military Business

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 17 — (CP). City police shouldn't arrest soldiers on minor charges, but should turn them over to military authorities, City Magistrate D. B. Menzies said to-day in the case of a soldier hailed before the court for disorderly conduct. The charge was withdrawn by the magistrate and the man was handed to military police for discipline by his commanding officers.

War Price Of 86 Cents For Wheat Below Cost, Prairie Men Protest

WINNIPEG, Feb. 17—(CP). — A wartime wheat price of 86 cents is probably far below expectations but even 86 cents has meant a certain definite to Canada—shared by the government and the grower.

Because of the war the value of the 1939 crop in Canada is estimated now at roughly $125,000,000 more than it would have been under continuing peace conditions. The farmers themselves will receive at present levels at least $50,000,000 additional and the government will be saved at least $75,000,000 which it would have had to pay out under its guaranteed initial price of 70 cents a bushel, basis No. 1 Northern at Fort William.

The saving to the government may be greater than $75,000,000 as it is felt in many quarters that the price would have fallen even lower than 50 cents if peace had continued, because the visible surplus increased strongly with the harvesting of the 1939 crop.

The course of the wheat price since just before the outbreak of the war has fluctuated widely. First there was a vigorous upswing, then a decline as anticipated demand failed to develop but even then the low substantially higher than before the war. Reports of crop deterioration in both the United States and South America brought another sharp rise, the price gradually settling back to the present quiet range.

Still Too Low

At 86 cents, however, there is much continuing dissatisfaction among growers and considerable concern in the trade itself. Paul Bredt, president of the Central Wheat Pool organization as well as of the Manitoba Pool, warns against any impression that everything is fine with agriculture because prices have gone up slightly. They were "extremely low" before and still are far too low, he says.

The picture is this: Usual farm income on the prairie from 1930 to 1937 was about one-third of what it was in 1926, a fairly normal year. At the same time the price of things the farmer had to buy went up 25 per cent from the 1926 level.

"It doesn't 'make sense,'" Mr. Bredt says. "I n Canada we are holding security wheat stocks for Britain. We are expected to carry on production at the same rate or better and increase the existing surplus—to our own detriment, as prices go down."

Since wheat is of first importance in the carrying on of a war, its producers should at least be paid the cost of production, as manufacturers are being paid, he contends.

Mr. Bredt and H. G. L. Strange, Research Director of the Searle Grain Company, both feel the British and French Governments should voluntarily agree to pay Canadian farmers their costs of production.

Major Strange notes that Britain is setting forth its domestic prices and has raised wages to ensure a fair cost of living while in buying Canadian wheat they are asking Canadian farmers to sacrifice more than their fair share in carrying on the war.

we wanted to settle our tax rate within the next two weeks."

It was suggested that the Council and Commission arrange for a joint meeting to discuss the matter further and the Mayor declared he would try to arrange the matter with Council.

On motion of the Mayor the manager was authorized to purchase two suitable flags for use at the Fire Hall and Front Street office.

Magnifying Those War Orders

Friends of the King Government, trying to bolster up a very feeble case, have been claiming that more than 50 per cent of the available capacity of Canadian manufacturing plants is working for the War Supply Board.

That is sheer bunk, and will deceive only those who will not take a moment to consider the absurdity of the claim.

War orders, it is stated, have totalled $61,000,000 so far. That includes $25,000,000 spent on railway rolling stock which is very doubtfully classed as war material. Let that pass, however, and take the figure as named.

The total value of Canadian manufactured goods in 1937, according to the Department of Trade and Commerce, was $3,623,159,500. That being so it does not take much arithmetic to arrive at the fact that instead of 50 per cent, the King government's war orders amount to only 1.6 per cent of the yearly output.

To assert that half of the available capacity of Canadian factories is being used for war purposes is nothing short of nonsense.

Half the available capacity, unfortunately is not being employed. There are hundreds of millions of square feet of factory space waiting to be put to use and thousands of workers only too anxious to get on with the work.

Some of our own manufacturers have been ready and anxious to do their part in turning out war materials but they have come back from Ottawa, not only disappointed but puzzled at their inability to get any definite information as to future needs. Meanwhile workers here are idle who might be usefully employed in war work.

The truth is that the King government has been more or less shadow-boxing and the sixth month of the conflict finds Canada far short of being geared up for an effective war effort.

It is time to substitute a government of action for the half-hearted administration that is satisfied with an "in between" war program, as one of its ministers, Hon. J. G. Gardiner, admitted the other day.

The program opened with the student chorus singing "O Canada," followed by three more numbers, the French National Anthem (sung in French), the Finnish National Anthem (sung in English), and "We'll Never Let the Old Flag Fall."

An expert display of pyramid building and tumbling by the members of the boys' gym class was presented under the direction of D. C. Drinkwalter. Some pyramid building and stunts were contributed by some of the High School girls, under the direction of Mrs. Smyth, assisted by Miss Thomson.

A novelty musical number was given by Marion Forsythe and Edward Fleming, who, attired as an old-fashioned couple, cut some comical capers to the accompaniment of recorded music.

"Whiskers" was the title of the one-act comedy which provided a mirthful conclusion to a fine entertainment. The play concerned a certain young gentleman Chester Phelps (Robert Cross) who had not seen his millionaire uncle since babyhood. On the day Chester was to marry Mabel Adams (Jean Rogers), Uncle John (Wallace Buchanan) came to the bride's house disguised in black whiskers and asked to see the ceremony. Mabel's Aunt Sara (Joan Scott) hid him in a closet. Chester who was evading jury duty, feared the sheriff, "a fat man with black whiskers," would find him. The bridesmaids, thought that Uncle John was a burglar, and Chester and the Best Man (James Watson) thought he was the sheriff, so they gagged and bound him to prevent interference with the wedding. All this and other funny situations came about before the truth finally came out.

Other characters in the play were taken as follows: Inez, maid-of-ho... Retta Southward; Frances Page, bridesmaid, by Ena Revoy; Evelyn Birch, bridesmaid, by Betty McLauchlin; Ethel Ross, bridesmaid, Hildred Akins; Anna, the colormaid, Lois Thompson.

Ladies' Aid Sponsors Old Tea Meeting

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 17 (ENS)—A large crowd attended the old-fashioned tea meeting held under auspices of St. Andrew's Ladies' Aid on Wednesday evening. Close to two hundred guests were seated at tables gaily decorated with red hearts and candles to honor St. Valentine, and all enjoyed a splendid supper which was later followed by a well-balanced musical program. Declaring the proceeds to be in the neighborhood of $57.00 Mrs. J. C. Anderson announced that the attendance had been far greater than anything they had expected. Conveners for the supper were Mrs. J. R. Battisby, Mrs. Albert Hazel, Mrs. I. B. Hutcheon, Mrs. J. F. MacGregor, and Mrs. Ray Phillips. The program, arranged by Mrs. Ben Frederick, included a guitar duet by Misses Josephine and Doris Locke, a vocal solo by Miss Doris Locke, vocal solos by Raymond Wragg, Miss Dorothy Reynolds, and Mrs. Cliff Vessey. Rev. B. Simpson Black, who was chairman of the evening, addressed the gathering, paying high tribute to Lord Tweedsmuir, and this was followed by singing the National Anthem.

Others who assisted in the program were Mrs. Jack Clarke, who led in community singing, and Albert Hazel, who provided the piano accompaniments.

North China Masses Reported Starving

TIENTSIN, China, Feb. 17—(AP)—Foreign merchants planned to-day to appeal to the western nations for help in supplying necessities to impoverished, near-starving masses in North China.

Conditions in cities already are critical and reports from rural areas describe the population as close to famine without hope of relief, except from outside sources, until the harvest next summer.

Foreigners fear that unless prompt relief measures are taken thousands of rural Chinese may force their way into foreign concessions to demand food. These fears are increased by renewed, Japanese-sponsored agitation against the concessions.

The shortage of essential foodstuffs such as flour, a staple of the North China diet, with consequent high prices, is ascribed partly to the floods of last summer and partly to the war, including devastation of farming areas and Japanese confiscation of resources.

Flour in North China now is five times the pre-war price and the cost of coal has risen tenfold.

ROSENEATH

Bale Shower Is Held By W.M.S.

ROSENEATH, Feb. 17—(ENS)—Two minutes of silence were observed by the members of the W.M.S. in their regular meeting on Tuesday afternoon, in respect to the memory of the late Lord Tweedsmuir.

The meeting, planned as a bale shower, was held in the town hall. The response to the call for articles for the bale was gratifying, a number of guests responding to the invitation to attend the meeting and bringing their offerings also.

There were many articles of clothing, towels, wash cloths, baby blankets, Christmas presents, books, games, puzzles, ornaments, and many other articles in addition to the bale quilt on display. Displayed also was the layette prepared by the Mission Circle members.

Mrs. Eugene Beech, president, presided over the opening exercises, and the business period, and Mrs. D. Brisbin first vice-president, was in charge of the worship service and the study period.

Mrs. R. Crego, supply secretary, read a letter of thanks from Miss Edna B. Brown, matron of Mathewson hospital, for the knitted quilt forwarded to the hospital by the society.

The study period, "The Christian Church in India," was introduced by Mrs. D. Brisbin, and giving impressions on the study were Mrs. C. W. Varcoe, Mrs. A. J. Campbell, Mrs. Andrew Brown, Mrs. J. A. Nichol, Mrs. A. Halstead, Mrs. E. Beech, Mrs. R. Crego, Mrs. M. Davey and Mrs. A. Nill.

In addition to the regular program, Miss Ruby Blodgett gave a reading, "The Village Oracle," and Mrs. M. Davey arranged a contest.

Refreshments were served by society members and all enjoyed the social hour which followed.

Campbellford Utilities Robbed To Help Out Town, Benor Claims

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 16.—(ENS).—Though the chance of the Utilities Commission being able to give the corporation a grant of $10,000.00 again this year was not entirely out of the question, Chairman J. O. Benor gave Mayor Long little encouragement. Mayor Long tried hard to persuade the commission that the $10,000.00 was needed by the council and even went so far as to hint that an increased tax levy might be necessary without it.

Justifying the commission's desire to carry an adequate reserve, Mr. Benor told the Mayor they would be in a very serious position should a new industry come to town and so increase the load as to necessitate the purchase of new transformers and other equipment. "It wouldn't be fair to turn down any industry in order to give the town the full grant and this is just what we would have to do if an adequate surplus is not carried. We have let our distribution system go for so long that something will definitely have to be done in some sections this year."

"Don't you think the grant could be made and the necessary work done too?" asked the Mayor.

Utilities Robbed.

"No, it could not," replied Mr. Benor, who claimed that $7,000.00 had been put into the distribution system in 1939 and more would be required for the current year. "We have been robbing the Utilities for years to help out the town and now it is time for the town to help us out. In my opinion it is a great mistake for the Commission to give your council so much as to rob the Utilities and prevent them from giving the people the service they are entitled to. I was placed here by the people to look after their interest in the Utilities and that's what I intend to do and there's no reason why I should have to continually listen to complaints from citizens who are not getting adequate voltage." Mr. Benor explained that in some sections where the load had grown tremendously in recent years customers were unable to run their radio and electric stove at same time.

Commissioner Charles Davidson made a motion that the corporation be given a grant of $3,000.00 to start with, but upheld the view of Chairman Benor that nothing further could be promised at the present though the Commission might be able to give a further grant later in the year.

Mayor Long replied: "This is not very satisfactory to the council as

British Wings Over Suez

A British scouting plane is pictured flying over the strategic Suez Canal, where a huge army of Anzacs are reported to have landed to reinforce the Allied army in the Near East. The Anzac army, reported to number 30,000 troops, was transported on the 10,000-mile journey with the greatest of secrecy and without the loss of a single ship. The troops were landed at Suez, shown on map. Below the plane may be seen a section of the canal. The monument is the Gebel-Mariam memorial, commemorating the successful defence of the canal against Turkish attacks in 1915.

PETES MAKE IT TWO IN A ROW OVER THE AIR FORCE PUCKISTS

Locals Cop Nod By 4 to 1 In Group Finals

Outskating and out-bumping the Trenton Fliers on the big Belleville ice surface last night, the Petes made it two in a row with a 4-1 win. It was their second in as many starts in the three-in-five O.H.A. intermediate "A" group playoffs, third game being here on Monday night.

Over a thousand fans saw another rousing struggle between the bitter puck rivals, with the speedier Buckland bunch earning the nod with some fine hockey. They had a 2-0 edge in the first period, were held to a 1-1 tie through the second but notched the only counter of a hard-fought third frame. Of the six penalties handed out in a fairly clean tilt, the locals drew three.

Play was slow for half the first period, both sides playing careful hockey, but they opened up before the end and smacked each other around hard while travelling at top speed the rest of the route. First-class defensive work by the Petes—both in hard-hitting defencemen and back-checking forwards—made the difference, as the locals also showed form on the attack. They looked several goals better than the battling R.C.A.F. crew (who were minus Legris) on the night's play.

In On A Pair

Starr and Heal were each in on two goals, both playing good hockey throughout the episode. All the other forwards were equally good in this tilt and gave Gibson a busy night in goal. The locals' defence looked especially effective, turning in a rugged bumping game to slow up the Fliers and warm up their tempers. Harding again was tough to beat in goal. McNab, Baldwin and Gibson were probably the pick of the losers, though the whole club tried hard enough.

It started off fairly fast and when Lemieux went off early for tripping, the Petes tore in hard and soon scored. Blewett banged one home on Starr's pass, with F. Jopling and Crowe more or less setting up the play for them inside the enemy zone. With Lemieux back, a Starr-Coughlin thrust made Gibson dive to save and later a Heal-Tompkins try was close. The Petes had an edge this frame with some fine work on the attack and fast back-checking to halt the R.C.A.F.ers' thrusts. McNab tested Harding, and the Petes' first line fired several hot shots in close at the goalie. Play slowed up for a spell until Heal rapped home a passout from Kingdon on a corner faceoff to make it 2-0. Then the Airmen opened it up and both sides were tearing up and down fast, slashing and bumping to keep the crowd roaring the rest of the period.

Each Score One

Kingdon got the air for tripping to open the second and the Fliers pressed briefly. However, Starr broke away from a power play and skated right in on Gibson to slap the puck between his legs on a nice effort, making it 3-0. Crowe went off for boarding and the Airmen tore up again. Tompkins nearly tallying on a breakaway, Harding kicked them out till all were back and play was hot and even. Baldwin slithered through defence on a good play to go in on Harding and blast the rubber home for the Fliers' lone count. Coughlin came back for a neat try but missed the net. It roughened up for a time with Gardner finally getting the finger for boarding. Cameron followed for hooking and the Petes pressed hard but to no avail. With all back, Coughlin nearly counted one in close and Crowe got a cut over the eye in a tangle in one corner. It slowed up a bit near the finish.

Tompkins pulled a fine rush to open the third and, when Gathercol was waved away for boarding, the Petes gave Gibson a busy two minutes. A Blewett-Coughlin try nearly rang the bell but all were back with no damage done. Starr tore in fast to test the goalie as the Petes showed a margin on play. Gathercol made Harding jump to save and a rush by Coughlin and Starr was close. The Fliers sent four up for a time and finally five to make Harding hop all over the place to save, but the Petes kept threatening on breakaways. Coughlin again made a nice try, and then Heal wormed his way through defence fast to blaze the disc into the twine for the final score. He almost did it again a minute later on a clean breakaway, and play was red-hot and speedy at the gong.

KILBY MACDONALD
N.Y. Rangers

(By Central Press Canadian)

Without saying that he's a copper-riveted cinch it can be safely mentioned that James Allan Kilby Macdonald is one of the favorites to win this winter's Calder trophy, the award made annually to the outstanding rookie in the N.H.L. Kilby (that's the part of his name that's generally used) comes from Ottawa and plays right wing on the Ranger forward line that has Clint Smith at centre and Lynn Patrick on left wing. His scoring record looks even better (not that it needs to) when it is considered that another rookie, Alf Pike, shares the chores on the Patrick-Smith line with him. This is not his first season of play at Madison Square Garden, as he put in one year with New York Rovers, moving up to Philadelphia Ramblers for the two seasons previous to the present one. With the Ramblers he finished third in the Int.-Am. league individual scoring race last season, and was leading the league when he was forced out with illness. The same jinx marred his N.H.L. debut this year. He missed four early season games, but after getting back he went to town and has since been getting goals singly and in pairs with great frequency. His amateur days were spent with Ottawa Montagnard juniors and Kirkland Lake and Noranda seniors, as well as N.Y. Rovers. He'll be 25 this September.

Hon. Matthews Gives Picture To Cricket Club

The Hon. R. C. Matthews, brother of Mr. Albert Matthews, Ontario's Lieut.-Governor, and former Minister of Inland Revenue in the Federal government, has sent to the local cricket club an interesting picture. It is a reproduction of an oil painting of St. John Chandos Reade, Bart., as a boy in the cricket costume of a century and a half ago. He was born in 1755 and died 1861. The original picture was painted by William Redmore Bigg, R.A., and hangs in the famous Long Room in the Pavilion at Lords and the landscape shows Harrows Church in the background. On a paper at the back of the canvas is written: "John Chandos Reade, my picture painted by Bigg about 1791 when I was about 6 years old and first entered a little boy at Harrow School."

The picture looks strange to modern eyes, both as to costume and bat as the latter looks like a cross between a golf club and a hockey stick but is doubtless accurate as to conditions of that time.

Mr. Matthews' well-known and generous support of juvenile cricket doubtless inspired his selection which is entitled:

"Sir John Chandos Reade as a Boy by William Redmore Bigg, R.A. From the painting in the Long Room in the Pavilion of Lords, reproduced by permission of the M.C.C."

St. John's Win As 'Y' Gym, Orfuns Cop Nod

Orfuns ran up another high score to cop an easy win from Quaker Aces 46-12, Y Gym trounced Quaker Debs 19-7 to make the night a complete loss for the 'Q' maidens and St. John's chalked up another win, scoring all their points in the last half to edge Westclox 12-9, in a trio of Ladies' League basketball games at the Y.W.C.A. last night.

Y Gym	12	9	3
Quaker Aces	12	6	6
St. John's	12	6	6
Westclox	12	4	8
Quaker Debs	12	1	11

Orfuns were hitting their top stride to enable them to run their victory streak to 9 games. The winners ran wild on the offensive and held the Aces powerless on the defensive, especially in the final half when Aces counted but two points. It was 9-6 at the quarter for Orfuns, 20-10 at the half and 30-12 going into the final quarter. Orfuns made 2 of their 4 free throws and the Aces counted but 2 of their 11 tries. B. Blade turned in a neat exhibition of shooting and starred on the attack to score 23 points, a season's high, along with A. Craig and M. Clarke. D. Weese and P. Lawless were best for the losing Aces. The teams:

Orfuns (46).—B. Blade 23, M. Ferguson, D. Ackford 4, M. Hawthorne, A. Livingstone 1, M. Clarke 6, A. Craig 12.

Quaker Aces—D. Weese 4, P. Lawless 5, O. Grady, J. Fowler 2, V. Wood 1, M. Hooten, S. Alexander, E. Kirn, M. Duncan, H. Rutter, M. Sullivan.

Referee—W. Thirnbeck; Umpire, J. Cooper.

Early Margin.

Although held on even terms in the last period, Y Gym were able to run up a 16-4 lead at the half to take Quaker Debs 19-7, it being the losers' 11th consecutive defeat. Y Gym were hard pressed in the final half as the Cereal lasses pressed, and forced the winners. The winners had a slight offensive edge all the way but only erratic shooting prevented the Debs from cutting into their lead near the end. R. Farr and H. White sparked the Debs, with R. Dalliday and B. Flynn tops for the winners. The teams:

Quaker Debs (7).—H. White 1, R. Farr 4, B. Frizzelle, H. Tighe, B. Fermer 2, J. Metcalfe, A. Laing, D. Grills, H. Grant, G. Allen, O. Smith.

Y Gym (14)—B. Flynn 5, I. Young 2, R. Sullivan, R. Dalliday 8, S. Florence, F. Craig, S. Zacks 2, B. Pomeroy, S. Zacks 1.

Referee— B. Dyer. Umpire—W. Thirnbeck.

Westclox performed the unusual feat of holding St. John's off the score sheet through the first half and looked to be going away, but the ultimate winners rallied to win out in an exciting game. The winners were slow in starting and poor shooting and Westclox' close checking kept them from scoring a single point. However in the last period they came on strong. It was Westclox 2-0 at the quarter, 7-0 at the rest period and 8-7 for St. John's going into the last quarter. Westclox made 1 free throw in 3 chances and St. John's failed in their 3 efforts. E. Clark and H. Harte Maxwell led the winners and A. Flynn and J. Hair were prominent for Westclox. The teams:

Westclox (9)—A. Flynn 4, C. Metcalf, J. Hair 2, M. Goldie, C. Crowe, M. McFadden 1, J. Vivash 2, P. Wolstenholme, V. Britnell.

St. John's (12)—H. Harte-Maxwell 2, T. Lows, E. Clarke 4, A. Bowler 2, E. Foster, H. Douglas 2, E. Harte-Maxwell, F. Gynane, E. Gynane 2, D. Groombridge.

Referee—H. Smith. Umpire—J. Cooper.

Lindsay Rinks Defeat Granites

LINDSAY, Feb. 17 (Special). — Lindsay Curling Club played hosts to five rinks from the Toronto Granite Club here last night at a dinner and curling bonspiel an occasion, which has become an annual event and to which both clubs look forward with great anticipation, the Toronto curlers returning the compliment later in the season. Following dinner two rinks journeyed to Bobcaygeon and two other Granite Club rinks west to Fenelon Falls, where interclub games were played.

The Lindsay bonspiel resulted in a victory for local curlers, who gained a majority of 29 over the visitors.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC PERDUE

Two senior men's City Basketball League games are billed for tonight in the Y.M.C.A. gym, and they rate quite a gallery of cage followers. Quakers tangle at 7:15 with the Dominions, while the Bees and Zephyrs mix it up at 8.15. (POME: Noah Webster says that zephyr is another word for breeze, but the Bees won't find a breeze in this game which ought to please!) Oh, well. Schedule hasn't far to go now and the teams are dishing up hotcha hoop numbers. Lots of basketball locally now around these parts. Cage results of P.C.I. games and of Girls' League tilts last e'en are in elsewhere tonight.

* * * * * *

While basketball is right at its zenith—better look up Noah on that one, too—hockey will soon be hitting the skids. Around Peterborough, anyway. The minor leagues are all into their playoffs or finishing up their schedules now, and the O.H.A.-ers are in group finals. While the puck will still be banging around on the frozen water for a few more weeks in the Brock arena, there are teams falling regularly by the wayside right at present. Yep, the end of the ice season locally is not very far off, mes amis.

Eagles And Hawks

Lock Co. Eagles trek to Omemee on Wednesday e'en. In the first of their three-in-five district group final serial with the Black Hawks. After rubbing out the Lindsay Battery bunch, the Prete puckists feel they have a Chinese chance of making the feathers fly in the finals. Second tilt may be arranged for Peterborough later in the week, if possible. The loop winner has a bye into O.H.A. intermediate "B" playdowns. Eagles' lineup last game was: Goal, McNabb; defence, Cournyea and Prete; centre, Gilbert; wings, Burke and White; alternates, Pryde, Wildman, Johnson, West and Mortimer.

* * * * * *

The mysterious case of Mike O'Leary of Westclox in the Industrial Hockey League has caused a few headaches. Mike himself is a fine fellow and a good hockeyist, but may yet be the centre of a storm. We're brought into it by queries from the Quakers' team and the loop officials, so feel a personal interest. Mike played for Lakefield's O.H.A. team. Now he's with Westclox in the Industrial Loop. The latter league says an O.H.A.-er must have had his release by Jan. 25th to play in the Industrial Circuit. Mike apparently got his release in time, but then went ahead and played again after that date for Lakefield. Quakers protested him and a new problem has been born into the world! It seems to us it rather depends on the wording of that Industrial Loop rule.

Petes Trim Fliers

It was two in a row for the Petes over the Fliers down in Bella Villa last night by a 4-1 score. Yassuh, the bustling Buckland buckaroos are out to make it three in a row if possible, next joust being here Monday eve. Come on out, folks, if ya want to see group champions in the making—or are we too confident? Well, the local lads outstepped the battling R.C.A.F.-ers all the way, kept Goalie Gibson jitterbugging before the twine tepee and bounced Flier forwards around like pins in an alley. Or the King's English in a sports column. Our defence—the best we've had in years—was rattling the Airmen's molars all eve with tough torso tossing, every one of 'em. Even with Jim Ellis (also a bouncer) out for a week or more with the shoulder injury. Harding was fine again, and the forwards played swell hockey on the go and came back like greased lightning to back-check. Yeh, the team went good.

* * * * * *

While it was a fast game nearly all the way, and rough in spots, there were no fights or outstanding features—and the Petes always seemed a few goals better. Though the Fliers, after being pushed around for two frames like a baby carriage Saturday night on George St., finally decided to gang up. Then the lid was off and the fans really jerked loose with a large piece of pandemonium. But Harding managed to get a piece of the streaking puck each time. No doubt, the Fliers will gang up Monday here continuously as it's do or die for 'em this time. All our gang sparkled, and we wouldn't like to pick an outstanding puckist. Nor was there one who didn't tote his weight. Art Heal, who bounces off the boards like a billiard ball and doesn't even chip, might rate a mention for consistently fine work. He and Starr were in on two each.

Bees Lose Stingers

We had to pass up the junior joust here, and missed a honey. The scrappy young Colts sewed up their playoff series with Oshawa Bees by beating the Bees and the clock for a 5-4 count. Two late tallies on Wade-Rochetta thrusts drew the sting out of the buzzing Bees and gave a crowd—hardly a record one—a heart full of glee and a mouth full of noise. A swingtime session, we're told, with both squads fairly flying all p.m. The hockey may not have been of N.H.L. calibre but 'twas more exciting than many a pro struggle—and maybe now the customers will come out in force for the next junior playoff. Colts trek to Oshawa Monday and are back here next Wednesday night.

It was a case of getting back into the playoff hunt right here last night or be smack in the dog-house, back of the 8-ball, and practically washed up. But now, the Weir crew have a fighting chance of eliminating the speedy Bees, and they realize that the Motor Citizens can be beaten. It was Oshawa's first loss of the year and will shake their confidence a bit. Fast, heady hockey, the will to win, and brains enough to stay on the ice instead of in the crime coop, all combined for the local nod. Or so we're told. Wade and Rochetta sparked the Colts to the victory with three scoring points apiece. All the gang shone.

Up and Down Sports' Rialto: Two Peterborough puck playoff wins in one night isn't so hard to take....Norwood's intermediate "B" team defaulted in playdowns to Gananoque and will not continue....They had 1,185 paid fans at the Haliburton hockey tourney, last night—460 going up on the Omemee-Lindsay special; Omemee won the tournament and arrived home at seven this morn...."There's a war on now and we can't go transferring Air Force hockey players back and forth at will," a Flier official told us last p.m.....Drake Jopling was doing some bumping last night, too, while Crowe and Gardner bashed 'em all over the place; Burton did some neat blocking on defence....Not much boxing chatter locally these days....It is possible that the O.H.A. will stage an intermediate 'A' round-robin series of group winners in another week or so....Colts know how to get Fraser's goat now—and his third-period penalty here last eve was most expensive to Oshawa....Bill Jackson last night in Belleville met a chap from Trenton Airport whom he hadn't seen since they were both guests in a German prison camp at the end of the last war!....We heard that Anse Henry busted his leg in a fall enroute to the game at the Brock yester eve....We're too darned tired to write a pome; the tale is told and we're headin' home.

Joe Laflamme Has Two Full-Grown Moose At Annual Sportsman's Show In New York

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—(CP)—The attractions of the wild outdoors are brought indoors at the annual sportsman's show which open in Grand Central Palace here today.

Exhibits from several Canadian provinces make up a major part of the show and husky Canadian guides are on hand to display their talents and answer the sport lover's questions on every phase of outdoor life.

George Allen, an outstanding woodsman, erected a typical hunter's cabin for New Brunswick's exhibit.

Joe St. Marie, the French Canadian who usually is deep in the Laurentides Park during the winter, will be at the province of Quebec exhibit. His journey to New York included a 60-mile trip on snowshoes.

Joe Laflamme of Gogoma, Ont., whose team of trained wolves was an attraction last year, will be on hand again. This time he features two full-grown moose.

Tweed Terriers Beaten 11-3 By Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 17. — (ENS).—Campbellford clinched second place in the T.V.L. when they trounced the Tweed Terriers 11 to 3 in a wide open game of hockey here Friday.

Owen Hendy, starry play-maker for homesters paced his team in the opening stanza, collecting two goals and an assist and playing brilliant hockey till he began exchanging punches with Wager halfway through the second. The trouble started when the local centre got the finger for boarding Wager. The Tweed player apparently didn't like the kind of punishment Referee Panye handed out so he took matters into his own hands and followed Hendy across the ice to get a poke at him. This was the spark which threw nearly every player into the melee and with players sprawled all over the ice and fists flying in all directions, the referee had to summon the provincial police to aid in getting things back to normal. Strangely enough the customers remained on the side lines, apparently content to let the players do the fighting or it may have been the early appearance of the police squad which resulted in their good manners.

Player Injured.

It took eight stitches to close Turner's head when he successfully if not intentionally intercepted one of Ellsbury's hard drives at the close of the second canto. The plucky Sunoco net minder folded up on the ice as a result of the blow. His sensational work in the net earned him a shutout which ebbed away only after 8 minutes of the final stanza when he was still a bit groggy. It was Ellsbury who succeeded in bulging the net when he picked up a loose puck just outside the goal crease and batted it home. The Terriers' remaining tallies were notched while Sunocos were short handed.

Don Free, aggressive forward on Sunocos' second line, helped himself to three markers during the contest and did fine work in the way of back-checking for the home crew. He teamed up well with Wib Blake, who was a constant threat to Reeves and Ernie Godden, who bagged the final counter with less than a minute to go in the final stanza.

Ellsbury and Tummon played standout hockey for the losers, figuring on all three of their goals, but it was Leal who missed one of his best chances when Turner lost his stick during a Tweed power drive. He was skating out towards the blue line in Sunoco territory when the disc was centred and shot while slightly off balance only to have the winners' net-minder cup it in his hands.

Sunocos, who dominated the play through most of the contest, and were leading 7 to 0 at the end of the second frame, should have little trouble in establishing themselves at the top of the T.V.L. heap if they continue to play in their present form. They opened the scoring half way through the first when Robinson skated from behind the net and widened their lead less than a minute later when Hendy lifted one into the rigging on a difficult angle shot. McIlrath and Hendy, who worked well together, combined on two more, making the score 4 to 0 at the end of the opener.

During the second frame Free, Blake and Wilkes each bagged one as the homesters stretched their lead, continuing to force the pace while the visitors battled gamely.

P.C.I. Cagers Win Three From Lindsay

P.C.I.'s lone surviving hope for a lakeshore basketball crown, H. A. Craig's junior boys, stayed on top of their loop by setting back Lindsay 30-14, while the senior boys and senior girls, who have only a mathematical chance for a title, also won by big margins over the Scugog squads, in three C.O.S.S.A. games at P.C.I. last night.

The junior boys kept up their undefeated record, wining handily, while the senior girls pulled out a 39-10 victory and the senior boys romped through L.C.I. to the tune of 57-13.

The juniors carried an edge all through their game, to take the lead early and win in stride 30-14. They passed the ball well and had fairly accurate shooting under the L.C.I. basket to prove full value for their win.

Lindsay had a good share of the play but spoiled a lot of good chances with bad shooting and loose ball handling. Gillespie, Moorhead and Rogow paced the winners, with Bate top for Lindsay's losing forces. The teams:

L.C.I. (14)— Bate 12, Brown 0, Lees 0, Green 0, Hamilton 1, Whitney 0, Stuart 1, Anderson 0.

P.C.I. (30)—Gillespie 10, Moorhead 12, Hall 0, Rogow 2, Gardner 0, Richardson 6, Saunders 0, Smith 0, Routley 0.

Got Early Lead

The Garnet and Gray senior girls' squad racked up an 18-10 victory after leading 10-7 at the half and having a slight margin in the play at all times. They took a 4-0 lead in the opening minutes, which they never relinquished, having better passing and more effective checking all the way. P.C.I. made but 3 of their 13 free throws and L.C.I. was not much better, making but 3 of their 12 chances. E. Saunders and B. Cooper were most effective for P.C.I. and N. Webb and C. McNevan were best for Lindsay. The teams:

P.C.I. (18)—B. Cooper 2, J. Castle, J. Johnston 1, E. Saunders 10, H. Beatty, E. Craig, F. Merrett, D. Bateson, D. Glover, S. Richardson, A. Richardson.

L.C.I. (10)—G. McNevan 1, N. Webb 5, E. Bette, G. Routley 3, M. Hamilton 1, H. Algar, R. Massales, O. James, G. Pogue.

Referee—C. Krug, Peterborough.

The Garnet and Grey senior boys, after losing two recent decisions, came back to run up a top-heavy score. P.C.I. passed the ball like a hot potato and shot well around the basket. It was 26-8 at the half and the homesters ran it up from then on, breaking away time and again for soft basketh. Lindsay tried hard and had a fair percentage of the play but couldn't score.

P.C.I. made 5 of their 7 free shot, and L.C.I. counted only 1 of their 11 tries. Moorhead, Johnston and Scott were impressive for the winers and Richards and McArthur were best for L.C.I. The teams:

P.C.I. (57)—Centre, Moorhead 22; forwards, Taylor 14, Marshall 13; guards, Johnston 3, Scott; subs., Harle 3, McPherson 2.

L.C.I. (13)—Centre, Richards 3; forwards, Watson 2, McArthur 8; guards, Graham 1, Karrys; subs, Joyce, Nugent.

Referees — Dr. Worton, G. H. Trill.

COLTS DEFEAT OSHAWA BEES HERE TO SEW UP PLAYOFF SERIES

Two Goals Late In Third Period Give Local Juniors Nod And Bees First Defeat Of Year

Two smart goals by Julian Wade on plays perfectly set up by Joe Rochetta in the closing stages of Friday night's junior "B" playoff game at Brock Street Rink enabled Archie Weir's Colts to come from behind and defeat the Oshawa "Bees" 5 goals to 4, sewing up the best three-out-of-five series at one game each. It was the first defeat of the year for the Motor City crew.

The Peterbrough victory materialized just at a time when it looked as if they were going to be outlucked, rather than outplayed. All through the engagement the Colts had had a distinct edge in the play and only the toughest kind of luck around the nets prevented them from winding up with a comfortable margin. On several occasions on ganging plays it was hard to explain how the puck kept out of the cage.

The winners led 2 to 1 at the close of the first period and earned that margin. Oshawa came back with two goals in the second session, although again the territorial play favored the Colts and when the visitors added another counter early in the third to build up a two-goal lead it looked to be all over. The local entry however refused to be beaten. A long shot by Duce Vitarelli cut the margin against them down to one goal but the equalizer was tough to get and with the period rapidly drifting into history the fans had about given up hope when a penalty to Fritz Fraser, big Oshawa defence man, supplied the break that spelled victory for the Colts. Twice in rapid succession while Fraser watched from the penalty box a Rochetta to Wade play earned a goal, the winner coming with three minutes left to play.

All Had A Share

All the Colts had a hand in the win with Rochetta and Wade, the two centre ice players, standing out with smart plays in close. Cournyea handled himself nicely in the nets and the whole squad checked effectively, outskating the visitors and hustling all the way in spite of a spell of bad luck that was enough to break their hearts.

The Oshawa crew showed some clever passing but the persistent back checking of the Petes took a lot of sting out of their attack. Peters was perhaps their most dangerous forward with Hewson and Reid also turning in neat cards and Phillips making a flock of stops in the nets.

Early Scoring

All the scoring in the first period was done in the opening five minutes. The game had just nicely gotten under way when Peters took advantage of a momentary lapse on the part of the Colts to pick up a loose puck behind the Petes' nets and bring the rubber around in front to score. Rochetta got that one back in a hurry when he grabbed the disc inside the Oshawa blue line and went in close to beat Phillips. At the five-minute mark Pammett put the Colts in front when he took a pass back from Wade and fired one that had Phillips beaten all the way. There was no further scoring in the session although the Colts put on the pressure and had tough luck when a Rochetta shot hit the post from close-in and another one soon after struck Phillips on the head when a goal seemed certain.

Oshawa Take Lead

At the seven-minute mark in the second session with the teams each a man short, Raike for interference and Strickland for tripping Reid, Morris tied up the game with a shot from just inside the blue line with Reid camped in front of Cournyea and blocking his view. Soon after Wade got a penalty and as Raike returned almost immediately the Colts had to battle the enemy with four men against six, holding the fort successfully. A little later Peters scored on a pass from Reid to put Oshawa in front. From then on the Colts stormed around the visitors' net for the rest of the period but they could not score, in spite of penalties to Jackson and Fraser in succession.

Jackson got a soft goal for Oshawa early in the period to put the visitors two up. He picked up a loose puck and went in close to register. Cournyea partially blocked the shot but it had just enough momentum left to slide in. The Petes fought back but blew a number of chances. Craig and Morris got in a fistic encounter in the corner and were benched for five minutes. A little later Vitarelli put the Colts back into the hunt when he drilled a shot from the blue line on a pass from Craig to fool Phillips.

Cash In On Break

The tieing marker was slow in coming however and it was not until Fraser was chased for roughing that the Petes finally went to town. Rochetta shot a pass from the side to Wade who scored at close range and less than a minute later on another ganging attack the little centre slid a forward pass to Wade and again he made no mistake. Oshawa threw all hands up on the attack for the last three minutes but the Petes held them off effectively and skated off winners of a hard-fought and exciting battle.

Teams and summary:

Oshawa: Goal, Phillips; defence, Morris, Fraser; centre, Hewson; wings, Reid, Peters; alternates, Raike, Barber, Jackson, McBrien, G. Wilson.

Ports Defeat Niagara Falls Saints Win 5-2

By the Canadian Press

Port Colborne and St. Catharines apparently are determined to carry on their feud for second place in the senior "A" series of the Ontario Hockey Association right up to the eve of the play-offs.

Each won last night, the Ports defeating Niagara Falls 8-1 and the Saints downing Hamilton 5-2. This left them even with 38 points each, 12 behind the parading Toronto Goodyears.

Unwittingly the schedule makers provided Niagara peninsula fans with a rare treat for the final brace of games involving these clubs brings them together, Monday at Port Colborne and Wednesday at St. Catharines. Loser in the series will not only drop to third but will have to oppose Toronto in the first round of the playoffs opening Friday.

After a shaky start in the first period which saw them tied 1-1 with Niagara at the end of the first period Port Colborne turned on the power in the second frame, Runions, Thompson and McKelvie scoring. Upper, Runiors, Thompson, Fitzgerald completed the route in the final session. Begin scored for Niagara in the opening 20 minutes and Upper got the first of his hat-trick contribution for the Ports. Niagara pressed into service Pug Harrington, 49-year-old veteran. The former Niagara ace found the modern pace too hot, however, and he failed to rally his team from its losing habits.

Hamilton threatened for more than half the game to halt St. Catharines. Reynolds scored first for the Saints but Barlow levelled the count shortly after. Robertson shot Hamilton ahead with the only marker of the second chapter. Then the Saints came to life with Reynolds, Boyd, Backor and Pinder zipping the puck into the losing side's goal during the last session.

Norwood's Bees Whip Grads 5-2 In Opener

NORWOOD, Feb. 17 (ENS).— In a spirited contest marked by a couple of outbreaks of hostilities, the Norwood Bees won a 5-2 decision over the Peterborough Grads in their first encounter of the district round-robin O.J.H.A. series last evening at Norwood Arena. These two squads will play a second match in Peterborough next wek.

The Bees held a decided edge over their opponents but came near losing the game on different occasions through penalties. A major to Brown for disputing a penalty handed him by Referee Leggitt in the last minute of the initial period almost had disastrous results as Gill of the homesters was already serving a minor sentence. It was while Norwood were short two men at the start of the middle frame that the visitors scored their opening goal.

It was during the final canto that the fighting began in earnest, Puffer starting it off by tossing a hook at Patterson, a Grad defenceman. This was a signal for a general melee, with mostly every player on both sides participating, and Puffer given a major for his part in the affair, was lost to his team for just about the remainder of the game. In the last minute of play Gill and Goalie Leether of the visitors continued the feud, when the former ended up in the visitors' net following a rush.

In the opening session the homesters dominated the play pretty well and Puffer placed them one up on a pass from Brown, at the five minute mark. This was the only goal of the initial stanza.

In the secosd, Ainsley counted for the Grads while the Bees were two short-handed, to deadlock the score. Further penalties to Gill and Brown in this period gave the visitors the advantage, but they failed to click for further goals. Cournyea and Ainsley of the Grads also drew penalties this sessioan. A solo effort by Puffer at the fourteen-minute mark put the Bees in the lead again, and Webb combined with Brown to make the count 3-1 before the end of this period.

Going into the last stanza play roughened considerably, and penalties went to Green of the Bees and Patterson of the Grads. Norwood added another pair of goals, Puffer batting home Buck's pass, and Green tallying from Gill and Pollock for the other. At this point Puffer drew his major, and Brown and Ainsley went off together right after this. While enjoying the odd-man advantage the Grads again scored, Robinson being the goal-getter.

Puffer with three goals and Brown with three assists were chief point-getters for the winners. They, along with Hill in goal were outstanding for the Bees, although every member of the lineup turned in a nice game. For the Grads, the Robinson, Anderson, Hallihan line and Dundas, Ainsley, and Goalie Leether were especially good.

The teams:

Peterboorugh — Goal, Leether; defence, Patterson, Dundas; centre, Anderson; wings, Robinson, Hallihan; alternates, Agnew, Ainsley, Woodgate, Roberts, O'Donnell, and Cournyea.

Norwood — Goal, Hill; defence, Puffer, Brown; centre, Buck; wings, Green, Gill; alternates, Yeo, Webb, Thompson.

Referee — W. Leggitt, Peterborough.

Trenton Fliers Here On Monday

The third game of the O.H.A. intermediate "A" group final series will be played here Monday night at 8:30 o'clock in the Brock St. rink. Both the Trenton Fliers and the Petes will be trying desperately to grab off this important decision on Peterborough ice, and it should be another redhot, rousing tussle. With the weather likely to be cool enough for fast ice by the first of the week, a full house is expected as these bitter puck rivals swing into action again. There is no love lost between the fast-stepping clubs as their season's rivalry rapidly nears the finish and they'll be really playing for keeps in the Monday night melee in the Brock arena.

Marmora Fills Gap In Norwood Tilt As Stirling Quits At Last Minute

HAVELOCK, Feb. 17.—(ENS)—The Marmora Hockey club were praised for their good sportsmanship by officials of the Norwood "Hornets" when they accepted an invitation, on rather short notice, to participate in an exhibition tilt at the Norwood arena last evening.

A gap was left on the local hockey bill when the scheduled T.V.I. fixture with the Stirling "Shells" was automatically cancelled, last minute word being received from the latter team that they wished to default. With the advertising and other arrangements already completed, Norwood was in a rather awkward situation before Marmora generously agreed to fill in for the occasion. Recalling the harsh treatment the Hornets received on their last visit to Stirling, the Shells were probably a trifle worried over the reception awaiting them here last night. Stirling is occupying the lower rung on the T.V.I. ladder.

The Norwood-Marmora clash was "exhibition" in name only, for the two squads battled in earnest from start to finish to give the large crowd of fans their money's worth of good, clean hockey. The visitors drew the only penalty in the middle frame of this game which they dropped by a 7-3 count to the top-notch "Hornets."

Norwood spotted Marmora a couple of goals before they entered the scoring column themselves halfway through the second period. From this point on they held the edge on their opponents and steadfastly added to their total.

Sniping honors were centered around single players on either teams, Finnegan Hill tallying four of the winner's goals, while Reynolds, starry right-winger for the visitors, notched all three of their counters. McMaster came through with a fine performance in the Norwood cage to aid greatly in their victory. Hill, Puffer, Brady, W. Rogers, and Davis were particularly effective for the Hornets. Reynolds was the standout member of the Marmora squad, the O'Neill brothers, Leonard and Shannon also showing up well.

The teams:

Marmora. — Goal, Callery; defense, C. O'Neill, T. Shannon; centre, N. O'Neill; wings, Reynolds, E. Leonard; alternates, Buskard, Kerr, Johnson.

Norwood—Goal, McMaster; defence, Rothwell, R. Webb; centre, G. Puffer; wings, N. Rogers, Hill; alternates, Brady, Aboud, O'Leary, Davis, W. Rogers.

Referee—R. Ennis, Norwood.

Remember When—

Natie Brown, who had previously stayed 10 rounds with Joe Louis before losing the decision, was knocked out in the fourth round of their second encounter at Kansas City three years ago tonight. Louis became the world's second negro heavyweight boxing champion when he defeated James J. Braddock in June, 1937.

Two Fancy All-Star Teams Could Be Lined Up By Holdouts In Two Big Leagues

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 — (AP). — A couple of fancy all-star teams could be selected from among baseball's holdouts, in case the all-star team selectors desire to branch out.

The holdout gag isn't what it used to be, and little attention has been given recently to the plight of the underpaid baseball performer.

There are several prominent major leaguers not yet under contract for 1940, and it seems like a lot of fun to team them up this way:

National League—Catcher, Ernie Lombardi, Cincinnati; first base, Dolph Camilli, Brooklyn; second base, Burgess Whitehead, New York; shortstop, Arky Vaughan, Pittsburg; third base, Stanley Hack, Chicago; outfield, Joe Medwick, St. Louis, Mel Ott, New York, and Ival Goodman, Cincinnati; pitchers, Luke Hamlin, Brooklyn, Bob Klinger, Pittsburg, Dizzy Dean and Clay Bryant, Chicago, and Bill Posedel, Boston.

American League—Catcher, Frank Hayes, Philadelphia; first base, George McQuinn, St. Louis; second base, Joe Gordon, New York; shortstop, Jim Pofahl, Washington; third base, Red Rolfe, New York; outfield, Joe DiMaggio, New York, Dominick DiMaggio, Boston, and Gee Walker, Washington; pitchers, Red Ruffing, New York, Willis Hudlin and Johnny Allen, Cleveland, Dutch Leonard, Washington, and Thornton Lee, Chicago.

BORN

WHITE.—On February 17, 1940, at Nicholls Hospital, to Mr. and Mrs. Leonard White (nee Helen Bateson), the gift of a daughter.

ENGAGEMENT

The engagement is announced of Violet Luella Dunlop, second eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Dunlop of Omemee, to William Nelson Atwell, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Atwell of Omemee. The wedding to take place in March.

DIED

GENGE, Mrs. Charles. — Early on Friday, February 16, at St. Joseph's Hospital, Ida Mary Holt, wife of Charles Genge, 459 Donegal street, in her 67th year (not 87th as published previously). Funeral on Monday, February 19, from Salvation Army Chapel 1.30 p.m. Adjutant Buckley officating. Interment, Lakehurst Cemetery.

IN MEMORIAM

PETERS.—In loving memory of our dear little daughter, June Eileen Peters, who passed away February 18, 1935.
God knew that she was suffering,
That the hills were hard to climb.
So He closed her weary eyelids
And whispered: Peace be thine.
Away in the beautiful hills of God,
By the valley of rest so fair;
Some time, some day, we know not when,
We will meet our loved one there.
—Sadly missed by Mother, Daddie, Sisters and Brother and Grandparents.

RUTHERFORD.—In memory of our father, James Alexander Rutherford, who departed this life two years ago, February 17, 1938.
The flowers we place upon his grave
May wither and decay,
But the love for him who sleeps beneath
Shall never fade away.
—Ever remembered by his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. Pringle, also granddaughter Dorothy and grandson Everett.

GROTTICK.—In fond and loving memory of dear daughter and sister, Gladys Whitworth, who passed away ten years ago, February 18, 1930.
We do not forget her, we love her too dearly
For her memory to fade from our lives like a dream.
Our lips need not speak, our hearts mourn sincerely,
For grief often dwells where it is seldom seen.
In our homes she is fondly remembered,
Sweet memories cling to her name.
Those who loved her in life sincerely
Still love her in death the same.
—Fondly remembered by Father, Mother, and Sisters.

"TELL BILL GOODBYE"

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

CHAPTER FORTY-FOUR

Chris had fallen back on her pillows. In a thin voice she said, "Have you got a hot water bag? My feet are terribly cold."

Fabienne went over to the cot and put her hand on Chris' brow. It was burning to touch and Chris' eyes, turned to her with helpless pleading, were alarmingly bright. Fabienne pulled the blankets closer about her throat and told her to be patient.

In the kitchen, she found a large dishpan and a can of mustard. It would take a long time to melt snow and heat it, but a mustard foot bath was the only remedy Fabienne could think of in her desperate necessity.

It took nearly an hour to heat the water to the right temperature over the grate Fabienne had made out of some strips of pipe, which fortunately did not melt as she feared they would, and which rested on a structure of bricks.

Chris had fallen asleep during the process, and when Fabienne wakened her to put her feet in the steaming bath, she leaned her weight against Fabienne, too ill to know what she was doing.

When Fabienne would have her take a little hot soup, she turned her head away like a petulant child and closed her eyes, falling back into feverish sleep.

When she'd bathed Chris' face with snow and disposed of the footbath, she turned to Sonny. "Now then, my good little angel, we have to do something about you."

Children had to be bathed, fed and given something to amuse themselves. Fabienne knew how to read to children and play their little games, but that was very different from finding herself in full charge of a kidnaped four-year-old convalescent whose mother was unable to offer so much as a suggestion about the necessary procedure.

Fabienne washed Sonny's face and hands and gave him an old magazine and some chunks of wood to play with. She had not called him an angel for no good reason. He WAS an angel.

All that endless, miserable day when Fabienne spent the hours alternating between a worried watch beside Chris' bed and the radio, which she had placed in the kitchen so as not to disturb the sick girl, Sonny played by himself and went off to a nap as easily as if he had been in his little hospital cot. Oh, how Fabienne wished he were still there.

At noon she ate half a box of stale crackers and a bowl of soup and, feeling heartened by the food, and seeing Christine asleep, she put on her coat and hat and went out into the road to take her bearings.

The state road was only half a mile to the east and in that direction she started walking over the deep snow. Time and time again she sank into ruts, feeling the cold wet as high as her knees. She couldn't see far enough ahead of her to know if there was a house anywhere about. No vehicle had passed Bill's house all that day.

At last, realizing the further dangers of their preplacement if she should get a chill like Chris, she turned back.

She looked up at the sky and felt that she could touch it. Surely it must be just beyond her head. The white blanket was so thick. It was warm on her face and she put out her tongue to feel it. The taste was salt. Fabienne was crying helplessly. It was her tears she tasted.

Hastily, she wipe away the tears and straightened her shoulders as if by that gesture she could give their frail structure strength to bear the weight of her responsibilities. She blamed herself for this foolhardy venture. She should have let Chris persuade her to drive to Boston. They'd have been stopped, of course, but Chris and the child would have gone to a hospital where they both belonged. She'd get out of it somehow. Larry would surely not let any punishment be meted out to them.

But then, she though reasonably, she hadn't known that the storm would keep them prisoners out here in the last forsaken corner of the earth. She'd intended to telephone Bill as soon as it was light enough to find a telephone.

If anything happened to Chris now, it would be her fault. It would be on her conscience forever. She MUST do something.

Dusk was falling rapidly when she pushed her way through the snowy path to the house, giving a quick glance at her car, which was nearly obscured by the snow piled over the wheels, on the running board, half way up the door and on the roof.

The wind howled dismally and some of the snow blew into the room as she closed the door back of her with a bang.

Chris was sitting up, with her coat around her shoulders, smiling bravely. "I was worried about you," she said. "Where did you go?"

"Out to take bearings," Fabienne said, advancing to lay her hand on Chris' forehead. It was cooler. Fabienne felt a prayer come into her throat.

"I'm much better, but I feel weak. Awfully weak."

"Of course you do, darling. But your fever has abated. Now you must have some food. We'll have to get out of here soon and you must be able to travel."

The old stubborn look came back into Chris' face. "Not until Larry gets here."

"All right," Fabienne said soothingly, knowing the futility of arguing with a sick girl at that point. "Then you may do whatever you want. Fabienne, do you know that when I had a fever I dreamed I heard a radio announcer talking about it?"

"That was no dream,' she answered grimly. "I found my portable radio in the car when I went out for robes."

"Where is it?" Chris demanded, excitedly.

"In the kitchen. It isn't working very satisfactorily because of the storm. I've only been able to get snatches of things."

Before Fabienne was aware of what she was going to do, Chris had thrown off her covers and was speeding across the floor toward the kitchen.

Fabienne rose from before the fire which burned an astonishing amount of wood, and went after her.

Chris' piercing scream rent the air!

Fabienne felt her heart leap into her throat.

"What is it ' she cried, bounding across the room after Chris.

"A mouse!" Chris said, standing there on the cold floor in her stocking feet.

Fabienne felt anger spread through her tired body like a quick fire. "Get back into ber, Christine, at once!" she said, taking the radio away from her.

She set it on the floor and almost immediately it functioned clearly, as if the bump had been good for it.

They listened to it for nearly an hour, and then the news flash came:

"There is no trace yet of the missing Parsons child who was kidnapped at midnight last night from the Park-Plaza hotel. A nation-wide search is being made for the child's mother, Mrs. Christine Mayhew Parsons, and for Fabienne Seymour, society social worker, who are believed to have taken the child. Lawrence Parsons, third, father of the child, arrived today from Europe on the Clipper plane and is aiding the police. . . ."

Chris snapped off the radio. "Go! Go now, Fabienne," she said, with the spots of fever showing again in her face. "Find Larry at once!"

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER
By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

THE MAN OF ALL WORK

HOW OFTEN we see partnerships in business, sport, bridge and everything else which feature one titanic worker and one virtual drone or dead weight. The heavy toiler has to carry the other member of the pair. Sometimes one-half of a bridge partnership will fumble the main opportunity of the bidding, and thus put it up to the player across the table to try to save the situation by superlative play. If you find yourself having to play such a part, here's hoping you will go to work without complaint, not just because that is the sporting thing to do, but because it is the profitable thing as well.

North began this duplicate deal with 1-Diamond. South showed his balanced strength and stoppers with 2-No Trumps, and West had the temerity to overcall with 3-Hearts, a terrible bid. North should have doubled and set him all over the place, but preferred to say 3-No Trumps.

South, who was unlucky to have such a partner, was fortunate in seeing West lead the heart Q. He won with dummy's K, took three high diamonds and led a fourth to East, who returned the spade 3. South took with the A, then led two hearts, West using his A on the second one and returning another to South. Next went a spade to the K, and the last diamond, which squeezed East.

As that card was played, dummy also held its two clubs and South two clubs plus the spade 8. If East discarded a club on the diamond, South would toss his spade and finish with club tricks. But East threw his spade J, so South shed the club 6 and finished the hand with the club A and spade 8, making five-odd for a clear top on a deal which produced no more than 4-No Trumps for others, only a bare three for some.

LAKEFIELD

Tribute Is Paid Late Governor

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 17—(ENS). — A special memorial service as a tribute to the late Lord Tweedsmuir was observed by the congregation of St. John's Anglican Church, Lakefield, at the weekly Lenton service conducted by the rector, Rev. H. R. Howden, on Wednesday evening.

In his address, Mr. Howden said: "Today we pay tribute to a great and good man, whom the people of this country knew not only as their Governor-General, but also as their personal friend. The people of this village will remember his visit here two years ago, when in the space of a few hours, he won not only the admiration but the affection of all by his kindly and gracious acts of thoughtful courtesy.

"From the very first he showed a keen determination to develop and use the great gifts of mind and intellect which he had inherited from his father. Undoubtedly the tremendous capacity for study which he acquired in his youth, laid the foundation of his future success."

Overcame Obstacles.

"There were financial obstacles in the way, but he overcome them and assisted himself through Glasgow University and Oxford by means of scholarships.

"On his return from the Boer War in South Africa in 1901 he threw himself whole-heartedly into his life-work and soon biographies and novels as well as histories poured from his tireless pen.

"Always the thoughtfulness that characterized his every act revealed itself. His famous novel 'The Thirty-Nine Steps,' was written on a bed of sickness during the first Great War in the hope that it might amuse the soldiers. But he was more than an author of great distinction, he was a man who loved adventure and excitement.

"Lord Tweedsmuir came to us in 1935 as our Governor-General, known in the world of letters as John Buchan; he was raised to the peerage by the late King George V. His tremendous vitality soon became evident as he initiated a program which enabled him to visit all parts of the Dominion.

"But it was not just a love of adventure and an intense vitality that led him to do this. It was his great love of people. Not satisfied with paying extended visits to the more settled parts of Canada, he went to the drought-affected West, to the barren north. He won his way into the hearts of all of us and gave his office a much more personal meaning for Canadians than it has ever held before.

Stood On Firm Foundation.

"Above all this was a man whose life had been built on the foundation of an unshakable faith in God. During his stay in Canada there was evidence of this in the fact that each Sunday he read the lesson in St. Andrew's Church, Ottawa.

"But the best evidence of this was to be found in the gentle courtesy and humility which radiated in his life. Here was one who in his family relationship, in his business and social contacts in the public service of his nation and Empire endeavored truly to walk in the footsteps of Him who went about doing good. Here was one who like St. Paul fought a good fight and kept the faith.

"His name will be forever engraved on the Book of Life. By his writings, by his unselfish and painstaking service, by his life he has erected for himself an imperishable monument in the hearts of us all. His is an example we shall do well to emulate."

During the service suitable hymns were sung and prayers offered.

sessment rolls in municipalities and to ascertain whether valuations made in each municipality bear a just relation one to another, shall supervise and advise the assessors of each municipality.

Former Premier George Henry (Con. York East) urged there should be some study of equalized assessments as between counties as government subsidies were based on them.

Check On Salaries

An amendment to the Municipal Act, sponsored by Mr. Cross also, and which was given second reading, would make decisions of municipal councils in fixing salaries of their own members and of utilities commissions, subject to the approval of the Ontario Municipal Board.

The house also approved second reading a bill amending the unwrought metal sales act. The amendment would place on the purchasing of unwrought precious metaals the onus of proving that he purchased from a licensed vendor.

High-grading was a serious problem in Ontario's mining areas, Hon. Paul Leduc, Minister of Mines, said in moving the amendment to the Unwrought Metal Sales Act. It was difficult to prove that a person in possession of ore had knowingly purchased it from a person who had no right to sell it and the amendment would remove the word knowingly.

Mr. Conant said there was tremendous difficulty in convicting high-graders. They had "devious and sinister" ways of circumventing the law. They not only robbed mine owners. They robbed the government of taxes rightfully due.

"A whole network of people may be involved before stolen ores reach the market," said Mr. Conant. "The amendment would impose an obligation on the purchaser of unwrought metal to make sure of the source from which it is being purchased."

Making A New Crime

J. J. Glass (Lib. Toronto-St. Andrews) said he had general objections to legislation placing the onus of proof on an accused persons. In effect the Legislature was making a new crime. At Winnipeg next month, Provincial Mines Ministers will discuss the whole question of uniformity of laws affecting mining, said Mr. Leduc.

Attorney-General Conant promised the Legislature he would inquire into an allegation made in the Financial Post that Judge J. Ambrose Shea of the York county court had while a magistrate at Kingston acted as an official of the Frontenac Company which had contracts with the government.

Conservative Leader George Drew brought the Shea matter to the House's attention. He said the Post charged that the Frontenac Company had contracts totalling $408,000 with the Ontario Highways Department from 1937 to 1939. Judge Shea was then magistrate at Kingston and acted variously as secretary and treasurer of the Frontenac Company.

Mr. Conant said that Col. Drew's statement was the first time the matter had come to his attention. The situation was perhaps made a little delicate by the recent appointment of Magistrate Shea to the York County bench.

Manion Pledges

Dr. Manion charged in his City Hall address that a deal could have been reached with Great Britain under which $1.50 a bushel would have been paid for Canadian wheat for duration of the war. This price would have been fair to both the Canadian farmer and British buyer.

"Canada probably lacks that deal because of the unfair deal Mackenzie King gave Britain in the Empire air training scheme."

Dr. Manion proposed a wheat policy involving restoration of the 1935 wheat board legislation, and parity prices for farm commodities in general. He also proposed to restore the wheat advisory committee.

Want 1926 Level.

"Subsistence is not enough," for the agricultural industry, he declared, advocating that prices of farm produce be raised generally to their 1926 levels, provided other prices remain stationary. The farmer was entitled to receive enough to pay his costs, meet his debts and have enough left to live decently on.

A world wheat conference which would solve the problems of both importing and exporting countries and result in some agreement between them was proposed. Wheat producers should be able to store their own grain and be paid a cent a month on it. Wheat relief and wheat marketing should be treated as entirely different problems.

Dr. Manion promised to "consult the farmers" regarding their difficulties.

"I will visit the West, which Mackenzie King has never done. If it hadn't been for the King and Queen coming out here, he wouldn't have seen Western Canada yet since the 1935 election."

Turning to the war in Europe, Dr. Manion appealed to the "new Canadians" of Western Canada, who left Europe to escape oppression, to support Canada's fight to maintain its democratic liberties. These citizens now enjoyed such liberties and opportunities which have been denied under Hitler and Stalin.

In his broadcast address, Dr. Manion declared "No one party, be it Liberal or Conservative, can satisfy the Canadian people by giving them the united, enthusiastic, wholehearted effort that is needed."

May Include Woman

A national government such as he proposed would be composed of "some of the best minds in the country" and it was "quite possible" it would include a capable woman specially qualified in some social or other problem.

He appealed "to all Canadians, regardless of party—friends of the Conservative party and its peacetime critics and opponents—to forget the things which once divided us and to unite behind an effective prosecution of the war until victory is achieved and, as well, to assist us in preparing for the serious problems of the after-war."

Parliament was the chief protection of the people against autocratic government. He criticized the prime minister for his "tricky and despotic act" in dissolving parliament just after it had been assembled.

"If Mr. King is permitted to close parliament today to suit his political purposes, then tomorrow, he or someone else may close parliament for another purpose such as destroying the rights of a minority—or imposing further autocratic measures—or suppressing parliament altogether," he said.

Some Interesting Debate

If the session had been allowed to continue, parliament would have discussed the $188,000,000 defence expenditures of the past four years which left the country "practically defenseless." It would have discussed wastage, favoritism, profiteering in war contracts let to friends of the government, he said.

The government had further proved its incompetence in its failure to look after soldiers' dependents promptly. Some had gone four months before getting their just allowance. Twice he had had to protest personally against laxness in this regard until finally the regulations were changed, apparently to stop criticism.

Dr. Manion told how the Conservative party had tried to co-operate with the government, withholding criticism and offering assistance. Despite that attempt to be helpful, the prime minister had not called in the leaders of any other party for consultation on war problems as Prime Minister Chamberlain did in Britain.

Enterprise Hotel Swept By Fire

TWEED, Feb. 17—(ENS)—Early on Wednesday morning the Bell Hotel, Enterprise, was damaged to the extent of four or five hundred dollars by fire which was caused, it is believed, from an overheated pipe in the sitting room of the building.

A general alarm brought help and only the splendid work of the volunteer firemen and the use of fire equipment, saved the hotel from complete destruction.

Damage to the Welsh car was in the neighborhood of $350, while that to the Herity vehicle was about $40. The matter was amicably settled and after an investigation by Chief of Police J. Clair Hayes, Tweed, no charges were laid.

absence of public criticism on the part of the press or on our own part would not be taken as commendation of what had taken place. I said, however, that nothing was to be gained at the moment by discussing the failure to prepare for war so long as steps were taken to remedy the situation which existed."

On Nov. 3, Col. Drew said, he wrote to the prime minister describing alleged abuses in the issuance of war contracts. He read excerpts from the letter, citing particularly a contract let for bombs for the Royal Canadian Air Force, the leasing of a Montreal building to the Department of National Defence and the purchase of a home at Vancouver to serve as an officers' mess for the R.C.A.F.

"I gave Mr. King detailed information in regard to other improper contracts dealing with matters of much greater national concern than those which I have quoted," Col. Drew declared. "In those cases the situation is so serious that I do not propose to discuss them publicly. Mr. King has detailed information and I can only urge that his associates force him to deal with the abuses which exist."

Dealing with Mr. Mackenzie King's first speech of the federal election campaign, Col. Drew said: "The suggestion that national government might deprive Canadians of their freedom is perhaps the most amazing of all Mr. King's arguments in view of what has happened elsewhere.

of the Martin dog was examined.

His Second Dog

Duval, first to taunt the poisoner, now has a new dog, Peter II, only one in the village.

The day before yesterday Martin received an anonymous letter, written on a piece of brown wrapping paper, two feet by three feet in size, and postmarked from Oshawa. It is believed, however, that it was sent from here to Oshawa and then sent back.

The letter expressed sorrow over the death of Martin's dog and refererd to an outbreak of poisonings in Oshawa some time ago. A man suspected of those deeds, the letter says, is now living in Leskard. The residents here suspect they know who the man is, and are inclined to think he wrote the letter himself during a period of mental aberration.

Attached to the letter is a clipping from the Oshawa Times, written by John Noble, and telling of a cache of 100,000 English sovereigns supposed to have been buried here by officers of a British sloop-of-war during the War of 1812. A map to the treasure, the story says, is enclosed in the keystone of the former Methodist Church here, which was constructed in 1885.

The letter suggested that the clipping might be published in the Orono Times, for which Martin is the local correspondent. "It might be the means of a lot of farms around there being sold at a good price," the letter added.

Sweden Seeking Fast U.S. Planes

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 — (AP). — The government of Sweden has begun conversations with the United States War and State Departments in an effort to obtain the release for export of a late-type, high-speed fighting plane "in considerable number."

The advanced design warplanes, not yet in production for the Army Air Corps, would be in addition to the more than 300 fighter planes which the Swedes have ordered from aircraft plants in the United States since last April.

Their orders have been accelerated since the conflict between Russia and Finland began on November 30. On Wednesday the Government proposed to Parliament the appropriation of $22,600,000 for additional airplane purchases.

Japan is to have "no smoking" days.

Robust Health For Young People

What a common sight it is to see a young person whose bloodless face and feeble frame are evidence of poor circulation and weakness where bounding health and rosy cheeks should reign.

Young people in such a condition are generally of an anaemic nature and require a preparation containing iron to help improve the blood content.

Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills meet this requirement, as they contain three concentrated forms of iron of an easily assimilated nature together with other valuable ingredients indicated for building up the system, strengthening the nerves, and adding to your physical attraction.

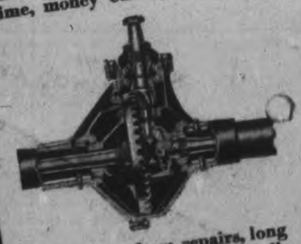
COMPARE FORD TRUCK FEATURES

• Ford Trucks move heavy loads faster, more economically, because their V-8 engines develop high torque over a wide range of engine speeds—speeds at which truck engines operate most of the time. • Tungsten steel inserts on both intake and exhaust valve seats practically eliminate need for valve grinding. • Engine and Parts Exchange Plans save time, money on replacements.



• Freedom from repairs, long life, reliability, because of full-floating rear axles with straddle-mounted pinions. • Axle shafts support no weight, take no end thrust. Yet they have ample reserve strength—being forged from special alloy steels, with tremendous tensile strengths. • 3-Ton Trucks have two speed axles, providing gear ratios which closely fit various load and road conditions, resulting in greater economy.

Ford Trucks sales leadership means just one thing—Ford Trucks have "What it takes". Power, ruggedness, reliability and economy in abundance. Compare Ford Truck features with features offered in other trucks—at any price. You'll agree Ford has the edge, a wide edge.

Refinements for '40 include greater engine and chassis accessibility, easier servicing for clutch, transmission and rear axle, improved regular cab construction, new Sealed-Beam Headlamps, shiftoguide speedometer on one-and-a-half to three-ton Trucks. Arrange with your Ford Dealer for an on-the-job test, before you spend another truck dollar!

NAZIS TORPEDO FIRST BRITISH DESTROYER OF WAR

Swede Press Admits Future May Justify Nation Aboutfacing To Aid Finns

London Hints Swedish Decision Not Final; Paris Expert Sees Scandinavia In War, Cutting Nazi, Red Iron Supply Off

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 19 — (CP-Havas). — The newspaper Social Demokraten, organ of Premier Per Albin Hanssoan's Social Democratic Party, said to-day that future events may justify a revision of Sweden's announced decision not to send direct aid to Finland.

Repling to cirticism which met the Premier announcement that a Finnish request for aid had been rejected, the Social Demokraten reminded critics that all the arrangements made by the Swedish Government for limited aid to the Finns still stood.

The movement for recruiting volunteers will be intensified, the paper said, and the government is still every bit as desirous of lending all aid possible to the Finns consonant with Swedish neutrality.

Opposition papers continued to attack this policy as short-sighted, arguing that Sweden would be imperilled by Finland's defeat.

LONDON, Feb. 19 — (CP). — Possible revision of Sweden's announced decision to refuse direct aid to Finland was predicted to-day by the Manchester Guardian.

"According to latest reports from Sweden, it is felt here that the Swedish attitude may not be final," the newspaper said. "There has even been some inclination to assume that Sweden might be willing to show great friendliness on the question of volunteers and not make any further difficulties or at least not to forestall, as was indicated in the Swedish declaration of last Friday, possible decisions which may be taken by the Western Powers in regard to Finland in the near future."

PARIS, Feb. 19 — (CP-Havas).— Genevieve Tabouis, writing in the newspaper L'Oeuvre, predicted to-day that the Swedish and Norwegian governments will shortly be forced by public opinion in those countries not only to extend direct military aid to Finland in collaboration with the Allies, but to cut Germany and Russia off from Scandinavian iron supplies.

King Gustaf Explains

STOKHOLM, Feb. 19 (AP) — King Gustaf of Sweden today issues a statement endorsing the Swedish government's refusal to give military aid to Finland. The government announced Friday it had turned down a request for such aid.

Speaking before a meeting of the Swedish cabinet, King Gustaf said: "On my own initiative I called

Fate Of Altmark Headache For Norwegians

GJESSINGFJORD, Norway, Feb. 19 —(AP)— Whether the German prison ship Altmark may become a prisoner herself apparently depends upon Norway's answer to the question whether the vessel came within the category of an armed auxiliary.

Great Britain has demanded internment of the ship from which a British destroyer freed some 300 British merchant seamen Friday in Norwegian waters.

Germany has protested and is expected to ask the Altmark's return.

And Norway, centre of the diplomatic tug-of-war over a maze of legal technicalities, must decide.

So far, she has not commented officially on the German contention that the Altmark was unarmed, or Britain's that she mounted two pom-poms (multi-barrelled anti-aircraft guns) and four machine-guns.

The Altmark, meanwhile, lay aground here so close to shore today that sightseers could see blood staining the ice of the fjord, memento of the brief battle when the British destroyer Cossack manoeuvred the Altmark into the shallow water and sent a raiding party aboard to rescue the prisoners.

The Nazi swastika flew at half-mast for the seven or more members of the German crew who died in the fight. Five who were killed and two who died later of injuries were to be buried today in a churchyard here with services conducted by a German pastor from Oslo.

How many died was not known definitely, however, as searching parties still dragged the fjord for some believed to have drowned.

While the legal battle raged over the Altmark's fate, she remained in possession of her German crew. Some members who fled ashore over

Finns Annihilate Russian 18th Division Kill, Capture 18,000 North Of Ladoga, Down 20 Planes—Hold Reds Along Isthmus

HELSINKI, Feb. 19.—(AP). — "Annihilation" of the Russian 18th division with 18,000 Russians killed and taken prisoner was reported to-day by the Finnish High Command.

Soviet attacks Sunday on new Finnish positions along the Isthmus front, scene of the war's bitterest fighting, were said to have been repulsed with Russian losses equal to about one battalion.

Twenty Russian warplanes were said to have been shot down.

(A battalion usually numbers 500 to 600 men.)

"A great victory" for Finnish forces north-east of Lake Ladoga was reported with capture of a strongly defended Russian position and large quantities of war materials. Twenty tanks, 36 guns of various types, 17 tractors, 32 field kitchens, 25 automobiles, and 200 other vehicles were listed as booty.

"After tenacious fighting our troops have thus piece by piece completely annihilated the enemy's 18th division which they had surrounded after it had advanced via Uoma to Syskyjaervi," the communique said.

Syskyjaervi is 15 miles from the Russian frontier!

The Russian division had been strongly reinforced, the Finns declared.

Today's Finnish army communique follows:

"Army:

"On the Isthmus (of Karelia) the enemy launched local attacks on Feb. 18 against our new positions between the Gulf of Finland and the Vuoksi (river). The attacks were repelled with losses to the enemy corresponding to about the strength of a battalion, in addition to which six tanks were destroyed.

"Southeast of Salfalmenkai our troops dispersed an enemy column taking three guns, machine guns and ammunition as booty. At Taipale an enemy attack began at mid-day. The battle continues.

"Northeast of (Lake) Ladoga our troops achieved a great victory by capturing an important strong point held by the enemy in great force in which connection 20 tanks, 36 guns of various type, 17 tractors, 32 field kitchens, 25 automobiles, 200 vehicles, et cetera.

Two U.K. Merchantmen 4 Neutral Craft Sunk Over Weekend

LONDON, Feb. 19.—(PC.) —The Admiralty announced to-day that the destroyer Daring had been torpedoed and sunk, the sole naval British loss in a week-end of sea warfare which brought a spectacular series of victories to the Royal Navy.

Sinking of the Daring, with 157 men feared lost, was announced as Britons were cheering the exploits of their navy's week-end exploits which left the Nazi prison ship Altmark grounded on the Norwegian coast and her 300 or more seamen captives liberated, two German merchantmen captured by the blockade patrol and one German merchantman scuttled.

One officer and four seamen of the Daring were picked up, but nine other officers and 148 seamen were lost from the seven-year-old "Defender" class destroyer.

The normal complement of the 1,375-ton warship was 145.

The Admiralty declined to give any information disclosing where or when the Daring was sunk.

Fear Skipper Lost

Commander S. A. Cooper was among the missing.

The Admiralty communique said: "The Secretary of the Admiralty regrets to announce that His Majesty's destroyer Daring, Commander S. A. Cooper, has been torpedoed and sunk.

"One officer and four ratings have been picked up. Nine officers and 148 ratings are missing, and it is feared they have been lost. The next of kin have been notified."

The Daring was the sixth destroyer lost by Britain since the start of the war and the first known to have been torpedoed. Two were victims of mines, one of a collision and two others of undisclosed causes. They were the Blanche, Gipsy, Duchess, Exmouth and Grenville.

The Daring was built under the 1930 naval construction program, and was of the same type as the

One Year Of War

Toronto, Feb. 19 (CP)

CANADA'S war efforts will call for expenditure of at least $500,000,000 during the fiscal year ending March 31, 1941, Hon. J. L. Ralston, Dominion Minister of Finance, said today. He was addressing the Canadian Club here.

Col. Ralston said commitments for the first year of war ending Sept. 1 totalled roughly $375,000,000. Of this $197,000,000 was for the army, $40,000,000 for the navy, about $88,000,000 for the Royal Canadian Air Force and about $50,000,000 for the air training plan. "And," he added, "the requirements for what we are now committed to will, I think, be at least $600 millions for the fiscal year ending March 31."

Ralston Defends Dictation; Essential In War

TORONTO, Feb. 19—(CP).—Finance Minister J. L. Ralston replied today to critics of Canada's war effort who, he said, claim to find in the nation's wartime measures the dictation and abritrary control of the Nazi system of government.

He unveiled in an address at a joint luncheon of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce and the Canadian Club what he labelled "this ghost of regimentation and control." His audience included some of Canada's leading business men, here as delegates to the Chamber of Commerce convention.

Viipuri City In Sight Says Moscow

Claim Fort Kiovisto Isolated, 3 Towns Captured

MOSCOW, Feb. 19—(AP). — Red army troops hammered to-day almost at the doors of Viipuri, Finland's second largest city, after isolating Fort Koivisto, western anchor of the Mannerheim Line, a Soviet communique said.

Viipuri (Viborg) centre of Karelia christianity for 700 years and a prime objective of Russian troops since the start of the war, appeared hard pressed as the Soviet reported capture of Johannes, Maksalahti and Somme on the Finnish coastal railway.

Somme is only about six miles from Viipuri, and a Russian communique Saturday reported the Red army had reached a point about four miles from Viipuri in another sector to the east.

"Our troops reached Salmenkaita between Lake Vuoksi and Jaurapaan, and occupied the fortified area and village of Muola, the station of Somme on the maritime railway, 10 kilometers (six miles) south of Viipuri, the town of Johannes, and the station of Maksalahti on the maritime railway, thus reaching the western coast of the Gulf of Finland, north of Bjorke Island," the communique said.

Toronto Coalmen Go On Strike; 50 Firms Sign Up

TORONTO, Feb. 19.—(CP)—Members of the Toronto Local of Coal Drivers, Helpers and Truckers Union went on strike today with the object of obtaining a closed shop covering each coal company in the city.

Union officials claimed 800 men, or 98 per cent of its membership, answered the strike call. Coal companies admitted the industry was without proper delivery facilities due to the strike.

William Haysey, union secretary, contended that one of the factors bringing about the dispute was that city dealers were employing non-union help and paying wages below the union scale of from $35 to $45 a week.

Several coal companies, anxious to have as many deliveries as possible before start of the strike, obtained permission from the police commission to deliver from last midnight until the strike opened at seven a.m.

Add Toronto coal men

Except on orders from hospitals and war supplies factories, no coal will be delivered by union members. The suburban districts of New Toronto, Leaside, Mount Denis, Long Branch and other points also are affected by the strike.

Haysey claimed that before noon, 50 coal companies had signed an agreement for a closed shop. A meeting between union officials and coal company representatives has been arranged for late to-day at the Ontario government buildings. Officials of the Department of Labor will preside at the conference.

In bona fide cases or sickness coal also will be furnished, the strikers said. Fuel oil deliveries were not affected by the strike.

R.A.F. Flier Spots Altmark; Tips Off Navy

LONDON, Feb. 19 (CP)—The pilot of one of the three Royal Air Force planes which spotted the German prison ship Altmark for the navy today told of how he had hunted out the vessel with only a "verbal description" to guide him.

He said that for this "very special job" he was given "a verbal picture" of the Altmark and told to hunt the ship off the coast of Norway.

He sighted the ship at a distance of about 15 miles, he said. He approached and dived for a better view.

"My eyes were riveted on the stern searching for the name. I saw letters about a foot high which because of our speed seemed to dance in a jumble.

"I could not suppress a whoop of joy when I saw that they read, 'Altmark'."

The flier reported his find and returned to his base without incident.

The Spirit of Drake

From the press association came a tribute to the leader of the party which boarded the Altmark Friday night from the destroyer Cossack in Gjessingfjord, Norwegian territorial waters, and delivered more than 300 British seamen enroute to Germany as prisoners of war.

"The man who in the spirit of Drake led his men in their daring exploit of boarding the Altmark, Nazi prison ship, was Lieutenant-Commander Bradwell Talbot Turner, second in command of H.M.S. Cossack," the association said.

"Waving his revolver as he leaped eight feet from the Cossack onto the Altmark, he shouted to his men, 'Come on, follow me.'

"As they swarmed aboard after him, about 30 Graf Spee sailors who had been acting as guards of the British prisoners took to their heels like frightened rabbits."

Rumania Allows Nazis To Store Oil From Russia

BUCHAREST, Feb. 19.—(AP)— Germany was reported today to be storing large quantities of Soviet oil in Rumanian reservoirs for trans-shipment up the Danube when the spring thaw comes.

Three more Soviet tankers docked last night at Constanta. The Bucharest government is said to have turned over to German use huge storage tanks there in hope of mollifying Berlin over the lag in Rumanian oil production available for Germany under an agreement of December 21.

The first of these heavily laden tankers from Batum, Russian Black Sea port, arrived Saturday.

Allied trade agents last week expressed satisfaction that Rumanian oil fields, mostly controlled by Brit-

Girl Races Mile In Bare Feet To Sound Alarm

COLLINGWOOD, Ont., Feb. 19. —(CP).— May Martin, 13, ran nearly a mile in zero weather in her bare feet, scantily clothed, to spread the alarm when fire destroyed her parents' home near here last night.

Together with his wife and five children, Robert Martin was forced out of his house when the first started shortly before midnight.

When mounting flames threatened to destroy the barn, May ran to Alfred Smith's telephone.

"The little girl was so excited she could hardly speak, but the operator at Creemore succeeded in calling all available help to the scene," Mr. Smith said.

The roads were not open to traffic, and assistance was rushed by sleigh.

Hamilton, Ont., Feb. 19 (CP)

WALKING in the path of a switch engine as it was backing up, John G. Ford, 56, employed by the Canadian National Railways was killed in the roundhouse yards today. Ford had been hired only a few days ago. In the blizzard this morning he apparently did not see the approaching engine and was crushed beneath it.

Traffic Hard Hit In Western Ontario Storm

TORONTO, Feb. 19 — (CP). — Blocking roads and making for the heaviest fall of the winter in some districts, a snowstorm struck Western Ontario, Georgian Bay and Niagara Peninsula today. Strong northeast winds accompanied the fall and weather officials estimated the storm would reach the Ottawa Valley and Upper St. Lawrence River by late afternoon or night.

The forecast generally was for continued snow or part-rain tonight with slightly lower temperatures tomorrow. A light drizzle of rain fell in the Windsor district today following more than three inches of snow yesterday.

In the Aneaster Mountain district of Hamilton, where the Brantford-London highway climbs a long grade, a complete traffic tie-up occurred this morning. Scores of cars and trucks became stuck in deep, wet snow and highway crews began the long task of dragging the vehicles from the drifts and slippery ruts.

The Hamilton-area snow piled up to a depth of a foot. City streets were piled high and street car service was interrupted.

Brant Road Blocked.

Snow, which fell throughout the night, blocked many Brantford district roads and the city's bus service was hit so badly that few people reached their work on time. More than a foot of snow had fallen at noon and continued to fall. Indications were that township roads would be blocked for some time.

The snow turned early to rain in the St. Catharines sector but failed to impede traffic and little difficulty was expected unless the mild weather turned to freezing temperatures.

In contrast, temperatures hovered

Parish's Refusal Of Pastor Brings Down Ban

CLEVELAND, Feb. 91—(AP).—An ecclesiastical interdict today banned approximately 1,000 members of a Cleveland Roman Catholic parish from all sacraments of the church, except when in danger of death, after they prevented for the third time installation of a new pastor.

In a demonstration of near-riot proportions, a crowd of 1,500 men, women and children yesterday barred Mgr. Floyd Begin, officials of the Cleveland Diocese, and Rev. Vincent Caruso, newly appointed pastor, from property of Holy Redeemer Church.

Sixty policemen and an escort of uniformed Knight of Columbus and Knights of St. John were unable to clear a path through the crowd to the church entrance. Seven men were arrested and released on waivers pending court appearance.

During the disturbance Mgr. Begin announced "by authority of the Archbishop you can not receive the sacraments of the church until the parish has done penance."

Later he explained members of the parish may not be married validly in the eyes of the church, nor receive sacraments of confirmation, baptism and penance while the interdict is an force. "It will not be lifted," he asserted, "until the parish receives without qualification the priest whom the Archbishop sends as pastor. That priest is Father Caruso."

Some members of the parish have expressed a desire for appointment of the Rev. Louis Loi Zedda, assistant for seven years to the late Rev. Martin Compagno, pastor.

'Churchill Touch' In Altmark Coup Hailed By U. K. Press Fitting Finale In Spee Case—Lay Blunder To Norway

LONDON, Feb. 19—(CP Cable). — All British newspapers were crammed today with stories covering every angle of the rescue of from 300 to 400 British seamen from the German prison ship Altmark. Pictures of the rescued men were sprinkled liberally through the papers.

The headlines were exultant about the work of the destroyer Cossack, expressed indignation about Norway's "oversight" in allowing the Altmark to sail through territorial waters with captives aboard, and were angry about the treatment accorded the captured seamen. The headlines were supported by leading articles agreeing unanimously on the moral issue.

The Daily Herald bannerline made up this quote from the official British note to Norway :"Norwegian Government has failed in its duty as a neutral." Another headline in the same paper said "Black hole terror on Altmark."

The London Times said: "Just such a sequel was required to complete the national pride and satisfaction in the victory of the River Plata (when three British cruisers defeated the German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee for which the Altmark acted as auxiliary). "For something would clearly have been lacking if, after the lion had been destroyed, the jackal escaped with the prey."

The Mail referred to the Altmark throughout its news columns as "slave ship."

The Herald's front page article from its Oslo correspondent quoted unnamed Norwegian eyewitnesses as declaring the German sailors, while fleeing over the ice from the Altmark, were fired on by their own officers.

The Herald said editorially: "Three hundred men in a ship bulk larger than a needle in a haystack. Whoever overlooked those men at Bergen either were wilfully blind or were fantastically negligent."

The Mirror asked, in an exultant tone, of Germany's well-known English-language broadcaster, "Lord haw haw": "German people: What was the big, invincible German navy doing when the armed cruiser Altmark was overpowered? 'The navy is here' shouted our boarding party as they released the British prisoners on board. The British navy.

"The German navy was—where?"

The News Chronicle: "We believe the great majority of Norwegians will applaud our action and be glad in their hearts that the bullying methods and illegal activities of the Nazis have in this case been dealt with in a vigorous and effective manner."

The Manchester Guardian: "If a vessel can act along with a battleship while it is destroying commerce, can receive its prisoners from sunken ships, can keep them in confinement for many weeks and can convoy them to enemy country and still be regarded as peaceful, innocent merchantmen to be assisted through a neutral's territorial waters with a kindly escort of the neutral's warships, there is an end of international law and also of common-sense."

Last Minute News Flashes

PARIS (AP)—Military dispatches today reported that French artillery had heavily bombarded the German town of Perl near the Luxembourg frontier, destroying a courthouse where German troops were quartered. The shelling, it was said, was in retaliation for the bombardment of Apach behind the French lines by German batteries during the last few days.

OSLO (AP) — Foreign Minister Halvdan Koht today indicated Norway might appeal to the League of Nations over Britain's seizure of prisoners from the German prison ship Altmark in Norwegian waters.

LONDON, Feb. 19 (CP Cable) — The Morning Advertiser, paying tribute to Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, said today it thought it recognized "the Winston touch" in the Altmark incident.

"While we are grateful to our navy for the workmanlike way in which they performed a very tickjlish job," the newspaper said, "we hope we may be forgiven if we say we recognize behind the whole incident several bits of evidence pointing to 'the Winston touch.'"

The Daily Mail said: "Two Great Britain qualities combined to produce the rescue of the Altmark prisoners; the courageous efficiency with which the Royal Navy carried out its difficult operation and the boldness shown by Mr. Winston Churchill in ordering it."

Parliament Called

OSLO, Feb. 19 (AP)—The Norwegian parliament was called to meet today to hear an official statement on the Altmark incident.

Announcement that a statement would be read was made after a meeting of the foreign affairs committee of parliament with Foreign Minister Halvdan Koht, other members of the cabinet and experts on international law.

LONDON, Feb. 19 (CP) — The Press Association predicted today that Prime Minister Chamberlain would make a statement on the Altmark incident in the House of Commons tomorrow.

"Mr. Chamberlain is expected to content himself with a recapitulation of what has occurred," the association said. It added that because of the diplomatic exchanges over the incident the question was one for the prime minister to discuss rather than the First Lord of the Admiralty, Winston Churchill.

Holland Mans Water Line, Keeps Powder Dry Confident She Can Repel Any Invasion

WITH THE NETHERLANDS ARMY IN THE FIELD, Feb. 19 — (AP) — The Netherlands counts on staying out of the war, but is keeping her powder dry and her traditional inundation defence lines treacherously wet.

The high command, which has been building rapidly since war broke out next door to Holland, declared confidently today this little lowland country, 40 per cent of whose soil is below sea level, is ready to fight back any invasion — and succeed.

On a three-day tour of frontier defences, the general staff gave an impressive demonstration of the country's land and sea defences.

Standing in a lookout tower "somewhere in Holland" and surveying defence lines for populous cities and industrial and commercial shipping centres in the west, General Baron Jan Joseph Godfried van Voorst Tot Voorst declared:

"This is an example of how a nation without great stocks of military material can make its country impregnable by utilizing its natural resources and the genius of its people."

Stretched out before him was the Netherlands' famed "water line," backed up by weapons and fortifications of modern war.

The tour showed first-line defences stretching back from the German-Netherlands frontier, the main "water line" defences through Central Holland, incuding the centuries-old "fortress of Holland" and coastal defences along the North Sea.

Advancement Of Canada's Farm Welfare Key To Economic Ills Says Packer Head

TORONTO, Feb. 19 — (CP). — President J. S. McLean of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce suggested to-day the key to Canada's economic difficulties day in the advancement of agricultural welfare.

Mr. McLean, Toronto business man who is president of Canada Packers, Limited, said the chief handicap in Canada's economic development has been the lack of understanding between its two major elements, industry and agriculture.

"No one will deny the existence or the extent of such misunderstanding," he said. "But it is high time that an institution like the Chamber of Commerce set itself, as one of its major objectives, to the clearing away of these suspicious and misunderstandings, which admittedly are the chief obstacles in the path of our economic progress."

Mr. McLean spoke after W. McL. Clarke of Montreal, the Chamber secretary, urged in his report the drafting of a sound national economic program for the present and for the post-war period.

The president emphasized that the interests of industry and agriculture are one and the same. He said it was the clear duty of each citizen, in the national interest and in his own interest, to seek by every means to bring about genuine and confident co-operation between industry and agriculture.

"I judge that no one would claim that, in the past, this (advancement of agricultural welfare) has been the chief objective of the Chamber of Commerce," Mr. McLean said. "This has not been due to indifference to agriculture, but rather to concentration on subjects

ManionProposes Round-Table All-Party Parley

REGINA, Feb. 19 — (CP). — A round-table conference of Federal and Provincial leaders of all parties to discuss any substantial constitutional changes recommended by the report of the Royal Commission on Dominion-Provincial relations was pledged here on Saturday by Conservative Leader Manion as he continued his Western campaign. Dr. Manion will speak in Victoria and Vancouver tomorrow.

Such a conference would be held in the family spirit which inspired the Fathers of Confederation, but the outcome of the proposed conference would not be allowed to encroach on "minority rights which constituted the basis of Confederation," Dr. Manion told a City Hall auditorium audience of 1,000.

Prior to his City Hall address, the Conservative leader discussed problems regarding prices of farm produce, in a broadcast to Saskatchewan. During the afternoon, he spoke at Moose Jaw.

The Conservative chief was introduced to his auditorium listeners by M. A. McPherson, who Dr. Manion defeated in July, 1938, for the leadership of the National Conservative Party.

The heavy snowfall also was felt in Toronto and surrounding area. City traffic proceeded slowly but no tie-ups were reported as the fall continued throughout the day in the 34-above-zero temperature.

Eastern Ontario, in early reports, had mild weather although overcast skies and a northeast wind presaged a storm.

"After tenacious fighting our troops have thus, piece by piece, completely annihilated the enemy's 18th division, which they had surrounded after it had advanced by way of Uoma to Syskyjaervi.

"The division, which received large reinforcements of auxiliary forces and base drafts before being surrounded, lost about 18,000 killed and taken prisoner in this fighting, and the whole of its war materials.

"Elsewhere on the land front there was nothing to report.

"Air force: On February 18 our aircraft carried out several reconnaissance and bombing flights over fighting lands and in the enemy's rear.

"Numerous aid battles attended with success for us took place. In the war zone enemy air activity was especially lively, both in the day and during the night.

"The towns of Kakisalmi (Kexholm), Lappeenranta (Villmanstrand), and Viipuri (Viborg) were bombed; in the bombing of the last-mentioned town several successive air formations took part. In the home area the enemy bomber the Kotka, Kouvola, Iisalmi, and Pori (Bjorneborg) districts.

"According to information available so far a number of civilians were wounded in these raids and several dwelling houses were destroyed by fire.

"The number of enemy aircraft over Finland during the day was believed to be bigger than on any previous day. According to confirmed reports received, 20 enemy planes were shot down, in addition to which the fate of four others lacks confirmation. Of the cases reported on February 17 as uncertain, one now has been confirmed."

my government together today to make the following statement: My desire is to inform the Swedish people of the difficult position and heavy responsibilities in which we find ourselves involved at the present time.

"I have deemed it my imperative duty to keep our country as long as possible out of the awful conflict which is spreading through the world. That is why, with the full support of the government and parliament, our neutrality declaration was made.

"I have followed constantly and with the greatest admiration the heroic fight of our sister country, Finland, against superior forces. Sweden has tried from the beginning, through sending volunteers and in many other ways, to help that country.

"But at the very outset I informed Finland that, unfortunately, it should not count on Swedish military intervention.

Fears Wider War

"With a heavy heart I arrived after mature study at the conclusion that we must in the present situation maintain this point of view. I firmly believe that if Sweden intervened in Finland today, we should run the greatest risk of being drawn not only into war with Russia, but also into the war between the great powers, and such a responsibility I could not take upon myself.

"In such an eventuality, moreover, it would probably become impossible to give Finland as great assistance as it is receiving today from Sweden, which it needs so much and which we are wholeheartedly ready to give it in the future.

"Sweden's vital interests, its honor and its peace are ends I have always before my eyes. With God's help I hope we can avoid, along the path we have chosen, all the sorrows of war.

"The country has always given me many evidences of confidence and devotion. That is why I fervently hope that in this difficult situation also my people will understand and approve my course of action."

Seventy-year-old Fyodor Tokarev, inventor of the Russian automatic rifle, ran for office in the last election in Russia.

CCF Chief Urges Defence Rules Revamped

WINNIPEG, Feb. 19 — (CP). — Imediate revision of the Defence of Canada regulations was demanded by J. S. Woodsworth, Co-operative Commonwealth Federation Leader, in his first address of the current election campaign.

Speaking on Saturday before a C.C.F. convention of Selkirk constituents, he said the regulations did away with the Magna Charta and claimed that Prime Minister Mackenzie King had said he was willing to have their revision considered at the next session of Paarliament.

Why had the Prime Minister found it necessaray to wait for a session of Parliament since the regulations were not enacted by Parliament, but proclaimed by the Liberal Government? Mr. Woodsworth asked. The same Government could revise them by proclamation to-morrow and should revise them before the coming election.

Mr. Woodsworth quoted Abraham Lincoln's definition of democracy as "Government of the people, by the people, for the people," and said Canadians are a "long way from that to-day."

"Although we say Canada is a free country, there are a lot of Canadians who don't feel altogether free to say what they think. It is not altogether a free country and it will not be free for our children unless we stand up and say that it of more immediate interest to its members.

"But if, as I maintain, the chief objective of this and every other similar body should be to enlarge the purchasing power of the farmer, it follows that a wise step would to enlarge the membership of the Chamber to include a representation of agriculture commensurate with that of secondary industries."

Mr. McLean said there is really no nationa lorganization which represents agriculture at large. He added that even if it were desired, therefore, to broaden the membership of the Chamber to include agriculture on even terms with industry, the method of doing so would bno means be simple.

"Nevertheless, I feel a start should be made toward this objective, and to this end I suggest a committee be appointed at this conference to consider ways and means of working out such a plan.

"A Chamber of of Commerce so broadened as to membership would become a kind of economic Parliament of Canada. Its obvious function would be to promote national, as opposed to sectional policies. One of its chief duties would be to consult with and advise governments on matters affecting the business of the country. I hold the view strongly that one of the chief duties of the Chamber should be to set up each year a small committee of its ablest and most representative members, who would be available for consultation at the call of the government.

'Such a committee would be composed of adherents of all political parties. It would visit Ottawa, not with axes to grind (or swing) but for the sole purpose of placing at the service of the government the widest possible cross-section of Canadian opinion and experience.

"Such conference would, of course, be unofficial and private. In such an atmosphere it would be possible to discuss even contentious subjects in a non-contentious spirit. And, if the group contained a balanced representation of agriculture and industry, there could be no suspicion that sectional views were being pressed."

Mr. McLean said the comments of business men on public problems are the best evidence of their limitations for such a role. But business men have knowledge and experience, he continued, and if, to the best experience available from business were added the best advice available from agriculture, such conference might become a fruitful instrument for interpreting public opinion and promoting sound policies.

"Not the least benefit would be that it might bring home to business men the fact that many of the problems which they seek to lay at the doorstep of government, must be solved, at least in part, by themselves," the chamber president said. "Such a problem for instance is that of unemployment. During the last 10 years this problem has at times assumed proportions such as to threaten the very existence of our economic and social structure."

Mr. McLean said no perfect political or economic system ever will be devised, because system are the creations of fallible human beings.

Censor at Work

LONDON, Feb. 19.—(CP)—Forty-four lines were deleted by the censor yesterday from an article by former War Secretary Leslie Hore-Belisha published in a Sunday newspaper and entitled "Shall we fight for Finland now?" The censor ruled the passage was "contrary to public policy."

Two opposition members of parliament announced last night they would raise the issue in the House of Commons at the earliest opportunity.

At two points in the article, published in the "News of the World," which appealed for immediate and substantial armed support for Finland, were the insertions, "Here 24 lines have been omitted," and "here 20 lines have been omitted."

It was the first time since censorship was set up that a British newspaper indicated deletions by the censor.

set that there is a decided difference in the relations between government and business in wartime and in any other time, a difference due to the fact peacetime and wartime objectives are not the same.

"In peacetime the objective we seek in our system of government and economics is primarily the well-being of each individual as an individual," he said. "What is done by the government is, or ought to be, to ensure to all individual citizens an opportunity to use their abilities and enterprise in order to win prosperity and security for themselves, and in doing so to contribute to the well-being of the whole community.

Order and Justice.

"The function of the Government is, by using the power of the state, to preserve order and justice, to assist the weak and unfortunate and to provide those four essential collective services which enable individual efforts and enterprises to flourish."

But in wartime the objective is changed," the Finance Minister continued. It is the welfare and the very existence of the nation, as a nation, which is in danger. He said it was collective and united national effort which must be made, with the welfare of the individual merged in the welfare of the state.

"The Government, automatically and inexorably, with the safety and security of the state in view, must, in the interests of all, so direct individual efforts are put aside in order to see to it that each citizen in his particular sphere works and sacrifices, if necessary, for the common cause."

Mr. Ralston said that on the military front, the individual in a battalion becomes subject to the discipline of the staff, in a football game the individual on the team voluntarily surrenders his liberty of action to gain the objective of winning the game.

Must Work Together.

"In war, it is necessary that all of us work together and the responsibility of direction falls on the government, imperfect though it may be, that is set up by the people themselves.

"So, there is a real difference in the relations between Government and business in wartime and in peacetime, and I stres sthis because I hear every once in a while—and perhaps oftener—of somebody who is restive and even irritated at what he calls 'unwarranted intreference with private business.'

"'Why,' he says, 'dictation and arbitrary control are the very things in the Nazi system of government which we are fighting to defeat.' He ought to remember, I think, that these controls exist, not as part of our peacetime government, but only because the dominant concern is at this time shifted from the individual to the nation and that such restrictions are for the one purpose of strengthening and integrating and uniting the whole fabric of our citizenship for the supreme task of helping to win the war."

Holland

—surprises even those who have seen service with Holland's army.

Unlike other western European nations with their heavy and tremendously expensive fortified lines, the Netherlands relies on light fortifications, many concealed pill boxes and artillery positions to bolster the water defences.

The Netherlands theory is that no enemy can penetrate the inundation areas, even when they are frozen. The main arteries through them—highways and dykes — are defended on each flank by machine-gun nests, anti-tank and anti-aircraft positions, hidden trenches and artillery.

Barbed wire entanglements stretch grimly at intervals, and pointed steel beams —"asparagus" — angle menacingly out of the ground at roadsides to stop tanks. Huge concrete blocks, with similar beams and movable barbed wire barricades, are at hand to close roads completely.

On both sides are tank traps — many water-filled—and roads and bridges are mined ready to be blown up in an emergency.

The general said all of the hundreds of dykes and sluices could be repaired easily, and that both soldiers and civilians were expert at the job.

Most spectacular sight of the army's demonstration of how it copes with ice was the setting off of explosives which ripped an opening six to eighty yards wide and 500 yards long in the foot-thick ice.

Corporation Tax Up Today For 2nd Reading

TORONTO, Feb. 19—(CP)—Only revenue raising measure presented to the Ontario Legislature this session, the bill increasing taxes on corporations, was scheduled for second reading debate in the Legislature to-day.

Conservatives are expected to oppose the bill, but the government can hardly yield on it as the added revenue expected to accrue from it has been taken into the budgetary figures presented last week by Premier Mitchell Hepburn.

It was generally agreed the budget contained no surprises. The budget debate will probably wind up Thursday night.

Should the business of the House be speeded up by night sessions this week, as seems probable, it is likely that prorogation will be reached by Friday. The members then will be free to take what part they in the Federal election campaign.

The number of Ontario Liberal ministers who voted to censure the war effort of the Federal government, but who have since lined up in support of Federal Liberal candidates was increased Friday night when Attorney-General Conant spoke at Whitby.

40 Nazi Sailors To Try Dash On Jap Liner

SAN PEDRO, Calif., Feb. 19—(AP)—Forty German seamen, from vessels seld in Mexican and South American ports, were scheduled to sail today aboard the Japanese liner Heiyo Maru, in an attempt to reach their homes.

Among the group were seven officers and 21 seamen from the Harry G. Seidel, a Standard Oil Company of New York tanker. Captain Rudolf Dahn said he and his crew were removed from their ship at Buenos Aires shortly after outbreak of the war and made their way to Valparaiso, Chile.

Removal of German seamen from another Japanese vessel by a British warship precipitated protests from the Japanese Government last months. At that time, it was announced in Tokyo that Japanese steamship lines had been instructed to refuse passage to belligerent nationals who are "enlisted in military services and those who may possibly be enlisted."

Fraserville YPU Holds Supper

FRASERVILLE, Feb. 19—(ENS)—The Fraserville Y.P.U. held a very successful chicken supper in the hall on Wednesday night. Being St. Valentine's day the tables were attractively decorated in red and white with her candles and valentines. Waitresses looked very smart in red valentine hats and little white aprons. The tables were under the capable direction of Mrs. F. Horton and Mrs. K. Larmer and at six-thirty everyone sat down to a delicious meal.

The people later assembled in the church for a short program, with Rev. F. Horton chairman. Mr. H. Oullette led in a hearty sing-song. Ed Hogg gave an amusing recitation. A quizz contest under the direction of Jean Holden and Kenneth Pinington, proved both humorous and very entertaining. A pie stunt with Eleanor Pue and Thelma Yelland, George Brock and Bill Porter brought down the house with laughter.

Doris Horton gave a splendid reading. A song 'South of the Border,' was sung by a number of girls. Rev. F. Horton gave a reading; duet, Mr. and Mrs. Finlay; reading, 'Before the Milliner's Mirror,' by Jean Holden; piano solo, Homer Ouellette. The proceeds of the evening amounted to $23.

English Red Cross Unit Needs Assistance

"Since I have been in Canada I have been so touched by the eagerness of Canadians to help England," writes a war worker now in Toronto to a member of the Peter Robinson Chapter, I.O.D.E., here. Messages of this spirit of helpfulness and the war service which Canadian women are carrying on are sent home by this writer, who says English women find them most heartening.

The Toronto worker says that England is "cleaned out of old gloves," which have been collected and used to make windproof waistcoats for the mine-sweepers and men of the Dover Patrol. Old kid gloves and pieces of kid and chamois are being sent from Canada, and anyone who wishes to contribute towards the bundle which is going forward from the Peter Robinson Chapter is asked to 'phone 4577, or leave at Belleghem's Store, Hunter Street.

Because she feels it is more stimulating to know just what happens to one's contributions, the Toronto correspondent has quoted the following excerpts from a letter written her by Dame Beatrix Lydall, D.S.E. of 19 Queen's Gate Gardens, London, S.W. 7, a woman who has spent a lifetime in national and educational work. The letter tells of the difficulty she has had in organizing a Red Cross unit. "I am an all-time worker now at Lambeth's, where I have organized hospital supplies (under the Red Cross), for a huge area of South London. It is very interesting, but hard work, especially when starting, as it was a case of making bricks without straw —finding workers, money, etc. For more than a month I never had an inch of material sent, but I did not want to dampen enthusiasm, so I just bought the materials on faith, collecting money to help me from friends. I have more Red Cross stuff now, but not enough. There are still many expenses, so if you have any Canadian friends who want to help, please encourage them to come to our aid—it will be money well spent and badly needed.

"Everyone is desperately short of money here," the writer continues. "I have cut down in every way I can at my depot (for an area of 2,000,000, mostly very poor), we have made 4000 articles, including dressing gowns which I am very proud of, 50 of them, my own idea. They are made of warm, dull pink blankets, and so successful are they that the Archbishop bought one for his own use."

STYLE HARMONY

By ALICE ALDEN

MADE-FOR-EACH-OTHER is a catch phrase we've been using frequently to describe the color and fabric tie-ups in new fashions. A tailored suit has its matching sailor, a soft wool frock is shown with hat, gloves, bag and shoes all in one shade. It isn't necessary, these days, to depend on a made-to-order source to look well turned out, so exacting are the matches in the shops. Evening will bring forth as many harmonizing accessories, including the glamorous gloves shown today, of electra-metallic kidskin exactly like the trimming on the slippers. Absinthe green is the shade of the stiff, jewel-like kid, with fourchettes and palm of black suede. Petals on the black satin shoe are vari-colored.

"Wizard Of Oz" Is To Be Pageant Theme

Plans for the Y.W.C.A. annual Gymnasium Pageant were outlined at the February meeting of the Y.W.C.A. Board by Mrs. R. E. Cutting, convener of the Physical Committee. Miss C. Littlefield, physicial director, has adopted the story of the "Wizard of Oz" for this year's presentation. Already a group of cutters are busy at the Y.W.C.A. getting materials ready for the various sewing groups. The Pageant will be presented two evenings at the Y.W.C.A. gymnasium and tentative dates are April 25 and 26, or May 2 or 3.

Mrs. F. M. Somerville presented the Local Council report and Mrs. H. M. Yelland outlined plans of the Camp Committee for this summer.

Activities reported included the gymnasium membership campaign won by the Babies' classes, who were guests at the Junior Valentine party Saturday morning. The basket ball games are keenly contested each Friday evening and the finals will be played early in March.

The club activities have included knitting for the Red Cross, a series of educational lectures, handcraft, personality and hostess courses, social evenings and service work, membership banquet.

The Bible Study class continues each Tuesday evening and Sunday Vesper Hour and tea the first Sundayof each month.

Mrs. H. Paige Rowell presented the financial statement and reported that the committee planned to have all the subscriptions from the campaign in by the first of March.

FASHIONS

A bolero dress has so many uses that you will hardly need another frock until much later in the season. You can wear this model now under coat at home, or in the south, and later on right here at home with your new Spring bonnet. Try the gay formula of navy with a snowy white or bright print blouse. The high square neckline is just right for clips, the becoming length bolero does much for your figure, and the tie around belt adds a new touch. Heavy silk or rayon crepe makes the dress you will want to wear right now and the one that you will wear all Spring with your furs.

Style No. 3152 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 36 requires 3⅝ yards of 39 inch material for bolero and skirt; 1¾ yards of contrasting for blouse.

Following the supper hour a hearty vote of thanks was extended the host and hostess for their kind hospitality.

Do You Know?

The waxed paper from bread and cereal packets is very useful for putting the polish on the floor. It doesn't absorb — and consequently waste—so much polish as a cloth, and the floor shines far better. After use, the dirty paper can be used for lighting a fire with most excellent and quick-burning results.

To avoid unpleasant odors and possible mold when a refrigerator is not to be in use for some time, remove all food and clean the icebox thoroughly. Wash the food compartments with a mild soda solution to remove lingering odors. Dry thoroughly with a soft absorbent cloth and leave the door ajar so that air may circulate freely.

Loyalty To Government Leaders Is Urged As Duty of Canadians

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 19 — (ENS).—That the Canadian people should be loyal to all their government leaders was the plea made by Mrs. Allan Lewis in an address before members of the Seymour West Women's Institute. The speaker who had been chosen to deliver the topic of the afternoon based much of her remarks on Beverley Nichols' book, "Cry Havoc," and told of how government leaders in this and other democratic countries had turned a deaf ear to the warnings sounded by this and other writers who gave warnings of the pending armament race which was to result in the present war. "We aren't having conscription in this country now because your sons and mine are enlisting as fast as the government can handle them," she said.

The meeting took place at the home of Mrs. John Locke and during the business period it was decided to postpone indefinitely the Valentine social that had previously been planned. A committee, comprising Mrs. Frank McKelvie, Mrs. Harry Hoard, Mrs. Reg. McCulloch, Mrs. Fred McCulloch and Mrs. Ernest Fairman, was appointed to go into the matter of arranging programs for the year. Though the branch has not yet definitely decided to take part in the Northumberland Music Festival, a motion was passed instructing the secretary to write for copies of the music to be used.

The program of the afternoon was in charge of Mrs. Harry Hoard and included a period of community singing for which Mrs. Ward Archer, Mrs. Fred McCulloch and Mrs. Raymond Free assisted. Miss Beatrice Rutherford offered a reading, "For He Was Scotch and So Was She," and Mrs. Hoard who also contributed a reading, gave "A Millionaire." Miss Jean Lewis offered a guitar solo. The committee in charge of the refreshments which were served at the close of the meeting included Mrs. R. McKelvie, Mrs. Frank McKelvie, Mrs. Harry Waters and Mrs. G. G. Stephens. The meeting next month will be held at the home of Mrs. Allan Curle and the roll call will be "An Irish Joke."

DOROTHY DIX

Women of Today May Not Have to Do the Hard Manual Labor Their Grandmothers Did in Keeping House, but Other Conditions Make Her Life a Tough One.

Every now and then I meet up with a man who discourses long and bitterly about the triflingness of the modern woman. "The matter with women," he declares, "is that they haven't enough to do, and that is why they are restless and dissatisfied. They have too much idle time on their hands and that is why they get into mischief." What's housework nowadays, with all these new-fangled electrical devices for doing work? Nothing but child's play. Now if women had to pack in their own coal or wood for the stove, draw their own water, bend over a washtub and scrub out the clothes with their own hands, as our grandmothers did, and if they had to make all of their husband's and children's clothes, they would be a lot healthier and happier, and so would be the remainder of the world. Women have it too easy nowadays —that's what is the matter with them.'

Whereat I wondered: Has the modern woman more cakes and ale than the Victorian lady had? Is life easier for women today than it was in their grandmothers' time? Life is pleasanter for them. They have more fun, more interests, more excitement, but don't they have heavier burdens to bear, more responsibility, more things to worry over than the women of the past had?

In great grandmamma's time no woman worked outside of her own home. "When a man married he brought home the bacon and thought his wife did her part by frying it. No matter how many daughters a man had, he expected to support them until they acquired meal tickets by marrying them. But nowadays the daughters in a family are expected to get jobs as soon as they are out of school, and often Father knocks off work and lets the girls take care of him. Nor does the modern girl cease from labor when she marries. Mostly she only adds on cooking and sweeping and dishwashing and housecleaning to the typing or clerking or bookkeeping she was already doing.

Of course, marriage has always taken a bit of doing, as the English say, in every age, but it is a far more difficult proposition for the women of today than it was for the women of yesterday. Husbands are harder to get, harder to keep and harder to please. Parents no longer arrange marriages for their daughters. They throw the poor souls on their own, and if a girl wants a husband she has to go out and get him herself.

Nor did grandma have to worry about holding grandpa, for when a man married in those days he married for keeps and he never dreamed of chucking out a perfectly good wife because she had got fat and lost her oomph. Nor did grandpa expect grandma to be a combined cook and a child-rearer and a penny-pincher and a siren and a press agent, a fashion model and an entertainer who would always keep him interested and amused.

Nor were children such a problem in Grandma's time as they are now. Grandma took them in her stride.

A Word Of Warning

The word "racket" is at times used without much meaning, but no doubt it comes to the front when people cannot think of a better or stronger word to express what they desire to say. We are making use of it now in connection with schemes to interest people in advertising in tourist venture publications. It happens about this time each year, and there is so much being said this year about seeking to keep the tourist business alive that the number of unproved appeals will be greater than usual.

Within recent days some police publication has announced it is going to issue a tourist edition. Worthy publication no doubt, but what appeal has it for tourists? How will it reach them? The Examiner can speak candidly on this question because this paper has gone through all the experimental stages and can speak from experience, from the spending of good money and a deal of it, and then finally arriving at the point where it knows beyond doubt it has produced something which actually brings tourists into the district.

The Examiner, through its experience with the annual Mail-It-Away Tourist Edition, has found out a number of things which advertisers ought to know. We have covered this district rather thoroughly for material which has an appeal to tourists both in picture and story. We have found the relative value of rotogravure, of maps, of informative articles and so on. This year will mark the fifth edition of this special issue and it is being built on the combined experience of four preceding numbers.

It was found that the paper could not depend entirely on people mailing the paper to friends and relatives. That service is good as far as it goes, but it does not enable the paper to penetrate far enough into regions where the prospective tourists are located. That is why the building of a mailing list was found to be so all-important, and without that steadily growing mailing list to points in Ohio, New York, Michigan, etc., the publication would lack in value to those who use it to seek tourist business. The Examiner can now combine those two important features, (1) a well-illustrated tourist edition and (2) an adequate mailing list reaching people who are most likely to respond to tourist and vacation advertising.

For all these reasons the Examiner considers it is quite right in stating that business people should investigate all appeals made to them for support of so-called tourist editions. It has become a popular appeal and yet it is in the racket class for those who have not gone deeply into the business. To-merit attention in such an appeal a paper has to issue a mighty fine number, and then it has to back that with an equally good mailing list, much of which is entirely separate and apart from the day-to-day run of the paper.

Calling a Man Disloyal

If this election campaign on which we are entering calls for plain speaking then Mayor William Morrison of Hamilton probably considers himself capable of providing it. He was delivering an address in Toronto the other day, and he is reported as saying this:

"Mackenzie King went to the people because he was afraid to get up and show what he'd been guilty of. He never wanted to go into this war because he wasn't loyal enough. He never was loyal to the British Empire... He temporized. He's been temporizing ever since and he always will because he's not in this war."

One cannot but wonder if the Mayor of Hamilton had a positive and certain knowledge of what he said. Our Prime Minister is not loyal to the British Empire; he did not want to go into the war and he's not in this war. Those are indeed remarkable statements. Mr. King has been criticized freely, and he will face a good deal more of it in days to come, but the plain unvarnished charge that he is not loyal to the British Empire and wants nothing to do with the war sinks deep.

We hope the campaign now getting under way is going to be framed in better language and better conduct. Starting around the country putting the finger on this one and that one and uttering the charge "You are not loyal" is getting down to a basis lower than that on which we desire to do business.

As we understand it the business of this campaign is to give the people plain facts which can be investigated and found to be accurate in order that they may vote intelligently about forming a government for war time. We doubt very much whether the question of loyalty in Canada is something which is taken for granted. It is the property of the people and not of any particular party or section of our population. It is not likely that Mr. King will lose votes because the Mayor of Hamilton say he is not loyal, and it may be a fact that the Mayor does not realize he is doing his party no good at all by injecting the loyalty issue into the campaign.

When Taxes Are Hidden

Toronto Board of Control is talking about collecting a $10 poll tax for 1940 in order to keep the tax rate from going beyond 34.75 mills. It would apply to every man, married or single, between 21 and 60 who is not a property owner, employed for less than six months in the year, and not dependent upon others on account of mental or physical infirmities.

This new sort of a tax gun is being held at the head of the men because the city is not going to get its full mill and a-half from the provincial government, and if the people actually have to whack up this $10 item they will feel it. They will know to whom they pay it; they will be able to take part in the whole transaction and look at the receipt afterward. Therefore they will know they have been paying taxes.

If we had that same awareness of all our tax payments we might have a clearer idea of how much we do pay. It is not an admission of ignorance, but rather a plain statement of truth to say that under our system of taxation, some of it direct and much of it indirect, we do not know how much we are paying in taxation. The man who pays income and municipal taxation is more out in the open and knows to the last red cent what he has to pay to the city, the provincial and federal governments. He may be systematic to the point of knowing how much he pays in gas tax during the year; he may have a fair idea of what it costs him to stick revenue stamps on cheques and pay the tax on his telephone bill and the sales tax on his public utilities account.

But at best his knowledge is limited. In a good deal of his buying he will be paying for duty, dumping tax, sales tax, etc., and of its extent he will know nothing at all. If all his taxation were as plain as that proposed $10 jolt in Toronto then he would be a wiser tax payer and probably more inclined to do something about it.

A Memorable Horse Race

From Norman E. Mitchell of Port Hope the Examiner received particulars of a horse race 59 years ago today, and the course was from Port Hope to Peterborough and return. Although no details are given, we take it the horses were drawing cutters of the usual variety. They made the trip to Peterborough readily enough, remained in this place not much over ten minutes and started for home. One horse was all in at Bewdley on the return trip. "Grey Tom," owned and driven by Dr. Scott, was the first to return and made the 60-mile journey in exactly five hours; 12 miles an hour, or an average of five minutes for each mile of the total distance. And it is well to remember there are a number of fairly formidable hills on the road, and they would be worse in 1881 than they are today.

There are few available records showing the staying power of a horse at long distances. There is one record of an American horse, Tom Thumb, being taken to England in 1829, and on Sudbury Common he trotted 100 miles in 10 hours and 7 minutes, and was pulling a sulky weighing 160 pounds, the first ever built. The distance was greater than the mileage between Port Hope and Peterborough, but Tom Thumb was not making the time of Grey Tom, the Port Hope horse of 1881.

The days of such races are past, and it is well for the horses in general that they are. A horse which would make the round trip of 60 miles between Port Hope and Peterborough in five hours and apparently show no ill effects must have been a remarkable animal. The Marathon of 26 miles and 385 yards is the longest course set for human competition, and the number who start is great when compared with the few who finish. The best time is about 2½ hours, which is slower than the Port Hope horse.

As It Was On The Tenth

We noticed at an annual church meeting in a rural district there was some discussion regarding an allowance for the minister's car. It was one of those places where the minister had to attend to two churches, and apparently he had to drive quite a bit.

It was so even on the Tenth Concession, and the minister of the church on the corner of the Tenth and the Broken Front Road had another charge some eight miles distant. He lived near the church on the Tenth, and there was a small barn on the premises where he kept his horse.

When it came time to have the annual meeting of the church grandfather was busy for several nights in advance. Carefully he wrote at the kitchen table, and no person was allowed to see the writing. He and McGregor had pretty much to do with the financing of the church, but grandfather wrote and McGregor approved. The secrecy was as profound as though the book of Genesis was being revised to make more clear just what did take place at the time of creation.

Always was there the unsettled point regarding the provision made for the minister's horse. There was about two acres of land attached to the minister's house, but he grew little which could be termed horse fodder, apart from the pasture in the orchard. It was the custom for the people to drive in now and then and deposit a jag of hay or a couple of bags of oats, and it used to be said if any person found they had oats on hand which had pretty much grown to hulls during the season the minister's horse got more than his share of such.

But never was there any hard and fast method adopted telling from which congregation should come the keep for the minister's horse. Grandfather used to contend that the horse lived close to the people along the Tenth and therefore got most of his provisions there, but had to travel farther to the flock in the other congregation eight miles away, and used up most of his strength on them. It was one of those delicate problems which could not be worked out with mathematical precision, but it was much discussed by grandfather and McGregor when they went into a huddle before the annual church meeting.

It was also concluded — unanimously we believe—that it was a matter which could not well be brought before the congregation at the annual meeting. There the financial report generally wound up by saying that the excellent services of the Willing Workers and the receipts from the strawberry festival and the annual fowl supper over which they presided enabled them to report a slight balance on the right side of the books. Then some one would move a vote of thanks to the Willing Workers and those who looked the other way when the collection plate had been passed during the year felt relieved and began to enjoy the rest of the evening.

But they never did get around to an equalized assessment as between the two churches on providing for the minister's horse. It was something about which the men could talk a spell when they were putting the horses into the church drive shed or when the minister found it necessary to drop a hint that his horse lacked the stamina and speed of the ones which Jehu drove and the reason was that the hay was getting down so low that the horse was eating a good deal of dust and might get the heaves.

We did not notice just how the folk in the rural church settled about the minister having an allowance for using his car this year, but on the Tenth the providing for the minister's horse never was reduced to the state of efficiency over which the experts of today would grow enthusiastic. When the minister pulled up at Lot 4 and was going to stay for supper the horse was put in the box stall and got his evening meal right there. In that way we suppose he got a good many of his meals away from his own stall.

NOTE AND COMMENT

King Boris of Bulgaria has undoubtedly been given a high ranking in the list of German enemies.

A torpedo such as a submarine uses costs $11,825. And if the gunner's aim is good, a great deal more than that.

They are taking the kilts away from Scots soldiers. If they have to take something why couldn't it be the bagpipes?

Premier Aberhart announces that a provincial general election will be held on March 21, and from this distance it looks as though he would go back to power without much difficulty.

WELCOME?

¶ Joe Spinach he is due for home, he's been away three weeks or more, I fear his wife she'll wait for him and crash him when he hits the door.

¶ Joe's been recoverin' of his health and spendin' ducats from his purse, and then it looks like what he'd been attentive to a dainty nurse.

¶ I met Joe's wife just yesterday and she was sour as she could be, and she was askin' lot of things and firing questions after me.

¶ He only wrote just once to her, she got the letter yesterday, and he was tryin' to tell her how he missed her since he'd been away.

¶ She says the paper smelled too sweet like perfume comin' on the air, no hospital she'd heard about had whiffs like that, so she would swear.

¶ She wanted me to tell her what Joe wrote in letters sent to me, and so I told her Joe was sad and lonely as a man could be.

¶ Joe's comin' home, of that I'm sure, I'd like to warn him if I could, for I am certain how this wife she won't be treatin' him too good.

What Chance Has Finland To Save Herself

READING between the lines of today's official communiques from Moscow and Helsingfors, it seems clear that the Russians are making some headway at Summa. The Finns admit that the Red Army has seized a part of the village, and it is probable that Russian claims that they are driving on towards Kamara four miles to the north have some basis in fact. The Finnish headquarters, however, claim that, although the Mannerheim Line has been dinted at various points,—by which is meant that advance posts have been abandoned to the enemy,—the security of the line is not yet affected. East of Summa the Russians retain some of the first-line positions which the Finns admitted that they captured on Tuesday last.

But it is impossible for the Finns to continue to hold the Mannerheim Line indefinitely, says Montreal Star, in view of the enormous and continuous pressure which the Russians are continuing to bring to bear upon it, unless they receive immediate assistance in man-power and in airplanes, as well as munitions. Webb Miller, the most experienced war correspondent assigned to the Finnish campaign, who is now in London, expresses the conviction that the present Russian advance does not foreshadow the collapse of Finnish resistance or a Finnish debacle, so long as both ends of the Mannerheim Line remain firmly anchored by the big gun batteries which are at present preventing the Russians from executing the flanking movements by which they hope to turn the line. He goes on to say that even if the line is broken, there are many additional lines behind it which have been prepared for defence.

He points out, however, that if the line were smashed through, the Finns would have a far greater frontage to defend, and this would require more men, which they have not got. The Summa front favours the Russians more than any other point, because there are more open spaces there; it is the closest to Leningrad, and has two railroads and a number of roads for transport. Mr. Miller asserts that substantial foreign aid in airplanes, heavy guns and munitions will commence being effective from now on. Even so, the Finns must have more men as well. The Russians are pouring men into the Front absolutely regardless of loss of life. They have, of course, well-nigh inexhaustive numbers at their command, whereas the Finns so far have had to rely almost entirely on their own population, which is only four million men, women and children all told.

A SIGNIFICANT indication of the urgency of Finland's needs comes from Stockholm, where it is officially stated that the Swedish Government, in reply to a person request from members of the Finnish Cabinet headed by Premier Risto Ryti for immediate direct military help or an increase in the Swedish volunteer corps, decided that it could not give direct aid. The reason given by spokesmen is that Sweden might need all her men to defend her own soil if Russia attacks.

The Finns, it is further reported from the Swedish capital, intend to make an immediate appeal to the Allies for direct military aid. Apparently the Finns have all their young men under arms and are now calling up the classes of 1896-97, men of, forty-two to forty-four years of age, to help stem the Russian steamroller. It appears to be a question whether the Allies will be able to get the requisite help to Finland in time. Mr. Chamberlain last week declared that substantial aid was being sent, but it is believed that this was confined to planes and supplies. British spokesmen today, however, do not encourage the idea of Britain sending regular troops to Finland, suggesting that they would require a period of seasoning and acclimatization which would take too long for them to be of any aid in the present Mannerheim Line crisis. It is added: "It would seem as if the present is either too late or too soon, if all aspects are considered, for the Allies formally to send active service units to Finland's aid."

Even if troops could be sent, moreover, it is debatable whether, in the event of Sweden and Norway permitting the passage of Allied forces across their territory to Finland,—in itself a very unlikely thing,—Germany might not retaliate on the ground that this is a violation of neutrality, although so far as is known Germany has not done anything whatever to help the Russians in their Finnish campaign, which, it has frequently been suggested, she is by no means anxious to succeed, since it would give Russian virtual domination of the Baltic—a sea she has always regarded hitherto as exclusively her own.

The Scandinavian press, which, it is indicated, clearly reflects national opinion, is urging that the Scandinavian Powers should unite either with each other or with the Allies to save themselves. There is a growing conviction that unless some such concentrated action is taken, before long they will find themselves facing attack from Russia on the West, with probable co-operation by way of Nazi attack on the South.

Whatever the outcome of the present situation, it cannot be long delayed; and it may prove to be one turning-point of a general European war. In the meantime, there is something horribly ironic in the Moscow broadcast today which declares: "The Finnish people know and love the Red Army, and are awaiting its arrival."

• Horse Race Port Hope-Peterboro 1881

From Port Hope to Peterborough and Back in Five Hours — Dr. Scott's Grey Tom The Winner—Port Hope Streets Were Black With Spectators —Great Excitement.

THE "go-as-you-please" horse race between William Mackie's "Dolly Varden," James E. Eakins' "Cattle Hunter," and David Scott's "Grey Tom," from Port Hope to Peterborough and back came off on February 19th, 1881, each party driving his own horse. The start was made at nine o'clock sharp from the foot of Walton street in front of the Royal Hotel.

The trio stayed well together on the outward trip and reached Peterborough in a bunch at 11.11 a.m., with Scott leading and Eakins second having made the journey in two hours and eleven minutes. As will be seen by the following figures a remarkably brief stay was made, they leaving in the order named—Mackie at 11.20 a.m., Scott at 11.21 a.m. and Eakins at 11.21½. Shortly after starting on the home stretch, "Grey Tom" took the lead and held it to the end, reaching town at 2.00 p.m.; Eakins' "Cattle Hunter" twenty-five minutes later, while Mackie did not show up till 4.20; two hours and twenty minutes behind the winner. He was obliged to leave his "Dolly Varden" at Bewdley, the horse was tired out, and then he hired a cutter to drive him to town. The time for the round trip was exactly five hours, the distance was 60 miles.

Very little signs of fatigue were shown by either of the animals until, to speak in aquatic parlance the "turning buoy" was passed when "Grey Tom" began to exhibit his staying powers by coming nobly to the front and keeping his place, as was learned by telegraph from different villages on the route previous to the arrival at the winning post. "Cattle Hunter" cast two shoes going out and one coming back.

The excitement over the event among country friends, a large number of whom were in town, was intense and large sums of money exchanged hands. Such was the excitement in the race that when the first horse arrived in Port Hope there would not have been less than three thousand people on Walton and Ontario streets.—Port Hope Evening Guide, February 19th, 1881.

• Not Much Afraid of Russia

JOHN K. CALDER, Detroit Engineer, believes that Russia will be "all washed up by Spring." This opinion cannot be laid at the door of wishful thinking, for Mr. Calder has spent years in Russia as Stalin's right hand man in the attempt to consummate the Five-Year-Plan. He built most of Russia's big industries, explains the Chatham News, and he knows Russian conditions as few men do.

This engineer's opinion is based upon certain factors with which he is acquainted through personal experience, namely:

1.—The inadequacy of the Russian transportation system. He points out that if the Finns could blow out a few bridges, the Leningrad-Murmanek railway line, which supplies the Finnish front, would be closed indefinitely.

2.—Russia cannot produce sufficient steel and other necessary materials. She can produce only 15½ per cent of her necessary steel supplies, Russia has to import steel.

3.—Russians do not know how to work—and they won't fight any better than they work. Russian masses will rebel if they are compelled to fight after being starved ten years.

4.—The Russian leaders do not know what they are doing or where they are going. They have simply been stumbling along.

5.—There are only 175,000 Communist party members in Russia out of a total of 180,000,000 people. While rebellion would be difficult, because of the activities of the secret police, overwhelming numbers are bound to rise up and win, if Stalin presses them too far.

6.—The Russian army is poorly equipped. Red soldiers are compelled to go into battle with burlap wrapped around their feet. Many have leather shoes—but not all of them. They complain that their rifles are no good.

7.—Russians cannot possibly move large numbers of troops—and even if they could, they wouldn't be able to keep them supplied.

8.—It is absolutely impossible for the Russians to organize an army to attack Persian oil fields or invade India. Neither could they supply such an army.

Undoubtedly Mr. Calder builds up a strong case to support his contention that Russia will not last many months under the heavy stress of war. Much of what he says may account in some measure for the successful defence which Finland has been able to present against Russian attack. If Mr. Calder is correct—and he speaks as a man of unusual knowledge—it will be a relief to realize that the Russian menace is not as hideous as it has appeared to be. However, it is not likely to cause the allies to lessen their effort to curb once and forever the European Dictators who have thrown this world into its present state of anxiety and fear. Dictatorship must disappear at the end of this war; and democratic ideals must be the controlling influence in the ruling of all nations.

To The Editor

KINDNESS

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—I have often wished to put some hints before the public if they would be beneficial. If families who are snug and comfortable in their own homes could make up their minds to be more kind and considerate to the less fortunate human beings who happen to come their way there would be more happiness.

I do not mean giving a meal or a night's lodging to a transient who may happen to come their way, but the more common every-day happenings like listening patiently to the woes of a neighbor or the report that some person's hen scratched up the flower bed, or if the cat makes tracks on the verandah. Some of us strain to work for the missionary society, but the trouble is we feel more concerned for one another than we do for each other.

I fear one of our troubles in our grand Christian land is that we work too hard for a name on the year's books without caring much what God thinks about it. Then again it is a fact that we find it hard to pay any attention to an old person. We find it easy enough to talk to Johnny about his kite or Bernice about her doll, while the old man stands there trying to tell us how his life was blighted when his son fell in the war. Most times we are not even kind or considerate to these old people and it is time we started paying some heed to them. I recommend people to read the editorial page of The Examiner and they will find lots of good information and advice. It has been a sort of education for me for the last 30 years.

JUST A TENANT.

NEWSPAPER STOCK

SOCIAL CREDITORS in Alberta were encouraged by Premier Aberhart and other leaders to buy stock in the Calgary Albertan, which was to be the Social Credit organ. Some estimate their purchases as high as $80,000, but whatever the sum was it did not give them control, and the Albertan, from being a Social Credit paper, became independent. Now these minority stockholders want the attorney-general (Mr. Aberhart, it happens) to inquire into the matter and see whether they can get rid of their stock at par. It is a curious situation.—Toronto Star.

LIKE MAD DOG

THE DESTRUCTION of the liner Dunbar Castle may be no more than the latest example of the result of a policy of indiscriminate and unnotified strewing of mines on the high seas, careless of the consequences to the non-combatant passengers and crews of ships using them. But the enormity even of that method of warfare, long familiar to the enemies of Germany, pales before the calculated brutality of the recent air attacks upon helpless fishermen, and now even upon the Trinity House lightship tender, engaged upon the wholly humanitarian task of relieving the crews whose sole function is to mitigate for their fellow-seamen the natural dangers of the sea.

This is not the conduct of the civilized man, fighting his enemy for command of the sea. It is rather the blind and vindictive barbarism of the savage determined, like a mad dog, to rend whatever is within his reach.—London Times.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.

He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: he leadeth me beside the still waters.

He restoreth my soul: he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake.

Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.

Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over.

Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever.—Ps. xxiii, 1-6.

WITHOUT FEAR

AN Ottawa judge gets a word of commendation from a local paper which we think is well deserved. He had what he rightly described as the painful duty of sentencing a citizen of Ottawa for driving his car when drunk. He did sentence him. He gave him a sentence that will stick in the minds of a lot of drivers. He sent him to jail for thirty days and took away his driving licence for two years. The man so roundly punished was a very well known citizen. He had been city solicitor, mayor and representative of Ottawa in the Ontario Legislature. Yet none of these things sufficed to "fix it." The police did their duty, and the judge did his. And it is a safe assumption that there will be at least a certain decrease in the amount of driving while drunk in Ottawa in consequence.—Montreal Star.

With The Boy Scouts

Notice to Group Committees.

A special talk to group committeemen will be held in the Paragon Hall at 7.15 p.m. on Wednesday.

Complaints have often been voiced by the members of various group committees, that they don't know what they have to do. This meeting is just to tell committeemen what is expected of them, and it is up to you to be there. Your special duty is to attend this meeting and learn from those who have been through the mill just how you can help toward the success of the group for whom you are personally responsible to the sponsoring body and to the scout movement.

At Sacred Heart.

This is Scout Week at the Sacred Heart. All parents and friends of scouting are invited to attend all the functions carried out. Tuesday night the troop meets at 7 p.m. Thursday night the cubs meet at 6.30 p.m. Friday night and Saturday morning the scouts and cubs join in a group scoutcraft display and would like to see members of other groups on hand to see what the Sacred Heart boys can do.

From 7 to 8 p.m. on Friday the troop challenge any other scout team to floor hockey on ice.

First Aid was the main instruction at the last meeting. Two minutes of silence were given to memory of Lord Tweedsmuir, the Chief Scout of Canada, after which Akela Pete Dominick spoke on the work of the late Governor General.

At a recent skate meet the troop divided into two teams, the Aces and Bees. The game ended in a 4-all tie.

Sunday morning cubs and scouts will attend 9.30 Mass.

At St. John's

The rover crew had two impressive talks, one by Ken Brown on hiking, giving many descriptive records of his early walks, right along the trail and finishing up with a hike with Scouter F. Ford. The second speaker was Warren Gamble, who gave an interesting lecture on first aid. This is the first of a series we hope to receive from Squire Gamble.

The Cubs

At the last pack meeting Over and Under Relay was taken by Ramsha, Horse and Rider led by Baloo.

Instruction in cleanliness, first aid, knotting, flags, time, somersault, skipping and tenderpad resulted in several cubs passing tests. Baloo read the story of "Keeper of the Light."

Special visitors to the pack were Akela Langhorne and Baloo Ron Gynane of the 10th, St. James', pack.

At the closing, cub silence was held for memory of Lord Tweedsmuir. Announcements were made regarding the coming scoutcraft show.

AT CAMPBELLFORD

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 19 —(ENS)—A splendid audience nearly filled the Parish Hall for the program arranged by the local boy scouts and wolf cubs. Held as a means of raising funds to assist the boys in their work, the affair was termed a real success. It gave many an opportunity to see for the first time what a splendid training this organization is affording the boys and some of the prictical demonstrations given by various groups were themselves well worth the price of admission. One of the features of the program was the presentation of registration cards by Hilton Beatty. Dr. O. C. Watson was the chairman, but the boys actually did their own welcoming and chose a very novel way of doing it. It was done first in semaphore by Jack Connor and then in Morse by Earl Seguire, following which Jack Bellingham explained just what the signals meant.

Where Altmark Chase Ended

Obtaining false clearance papers at Bergen, the Graf Spee's supply ship Altmark was spotted by two British patrol planes as it attempted to dodge along the Norwegian coast in a dash for Germany with hundreds of captive British seamen in its hold. British naval vessels, swiftly summoned to the scene by the patrol planes, overhauled the Altmark and forced it aground, rescuing the captive Britishers.

Obituary

MRS. C. E. THORNTON

MILLBROOK, Feb. 17.—(ENS)—The community was shocked to learn of the sudden passing of Iva Reid Bryson, beloved wife of Charles Edgar Thornton, which occurred on Wednesday, following a stroke suffered during the morning hours after she had come downstairs for the day.

Mrs. Thornton was a daughter of the late William Bryson, and his wife, Elizabeth Lowery, well-known citizens of Kendal, and was in her fifty-fourth year. Although Mrs. Thornton had not been in good health for some time, yet she had cared for her home and her family, and no immediate anxiety had been felt.

A member of St. Andrew's United church, and a faithful worker in the Woman's Association and the Women's Missionary Auxiliary, and also enrolled in the Boneka Class of the Sunday School, she was known as a good neighbor, and a willing helper in her church affiliations, so long as health would permit.

Besides the bereaved husband, the immediate surviving relatives include three daughters, Mrs. E. L. Burnham (Bernice), of Peterborough; Velma and Betty, at home; a son, twin brother to Mrs. Burnham, passed away in early infancy.

A private funeral was conducted by Rev. A. L. Sisco, B.D., at the homestead, Tupper street, on Friday at 2 p.m., and interment took place in the family burial plot at the Orono cemetery, the pall-bearers being Percy Stinson, Weston C. Fallis and Jeffrey Powell, of Millbrook; Arthur Robins, H. Lowery, and Albert Morton, of Orono. By special request, there were no flowers, except from the immediate relatives.

MRS. W. W. REDDEN

TRENT RIVER, Feb. 19 (ENS).—The funeral of the late Mrs. W. W. Redden took place on Friday afternoon. A short service was held at the family residence at half-past one, after which the remains were taken to Trent River United Church where the service was in charge of Rev. Andrew McLauchlin, pastor, assisted by Rev. Mr. Holmes of the Pentecostal Church, Havelock.

The church was filled to capacity, a fitting tribute to the memory of the late Mrs. Redden, who was a life-long member of the church and a valued member of the Ladies' Aid when health permitted. Mr. Holmes read the opening Scripture lesson, afterwards leading in prayer. Hymns chosen were two favorites, "All the way my Saviour leads me" and "Rock of Ages." Mrs. Bert Robson sang "Sleep on, Beloved, Goodnight"

Rev. A. McLauchlin chose his text from Hebrews 2, and in opening his remarks on the text referred to the Book of Hebrews as worth reading to enrich our lives and bring us nearer the Master.

In conclusion, Mr. McLauchlin emphasized the fact, Oh that God would give us the faith of the departed, "Asleep in Jesus, blessed sleep, from which none ever wake to weep." The service was concluded by prayer by Rev. A. McLauchlin.

Beautiful floral tributes covered the casket. The pall-bearers were, Carl Nixon, John Ruttan, Bert Robson, Thomas Cowell, Donald Ellis, Lloyd Van Volkenburg. The flower-bearers were five nephews of the deceased: Wesley Collins, Toronto, Charlie Collins, Fort William, Arthur Redden, Harry Redden of Campbellford, Carmen Redden of Stanwood.

Interment was made at Stanwood Cemetery.

Among relatives from outside points attending the funeral were: Charlie Collins, Fort William; Wesley Collins, W. E. Collins, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. W. Shannon and son Melville, Mrs. Bruce Aikin, Mr. and Mrs. E. Hill, Mrs. W. J. Collins, Lewis Parks of Peterborough, Mrs. Carl Nixon, daughter Lois and son George of Selwyn, Mrs. A. Owen, Mrs. George Couch, Arthur Redden, Harry Redden of Campbellford, Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Redden of Stanwood, and Mrs. Harry Revoir of Havelock.

so to speak. She loved them and fed them and washed them and rocked them to sleep and taught them their prayers and trusted the remainder to the Lord. She had never heard of vitamins, nor child psychology, nor the danger of developing an inferiority complex in a little brat by making him behave.

And if they sickened and died, she never dreamed that she had any responsibility in the matter. She laid that on Providence. Thus she escaped the fears that hag-ride the modern mother and that take most of the joy out of her motherhood, and that makes the raising of one small measly infant more trouble and more anxiety than bringing up a dozen lusty kids used to be. And in spite of all the new-fangled gadgets that have turned the kitchen into a laboratory instead of a place to concoct toothsome dishes, cooking is harder on the modern woman than it was on her grandmother, because she has been taught to believe that everything that tastes good is bad for our stomachs. Lucky grandma didn't know about balanced rations. She had never heard of H-2 and Q-7, and so she just went along and laid a heavy hand on the seasoning, and if people didn't live as long then as they do now, they had a better time while they were doing it. She didn't have to acquire gray hairs and crow's feet counting her calories and trying to balance he proteins and carbohydrates.

These things being true, we can only say that the men who think that the modern woman has nothing to do do not speak from experience. They have never been women.

How To Cure a Slouchy Man

Dear Dorothy Dix—My husband is a college graduate, comes from good people and in manners and morals a above reproach, but I feel that he handicaps himself by being unforgivably slouchy about his appearance. He does bathe, but that is about all. He would as soon wear a dirty collar as a clean one, and his clothes always look as if he had slept in them. I have argued, begged and pleaded with him about his carelessness, but it does no good. He still goes his own sloppy way. He is energetic and anxious to succeed, but his ambitions are certainly not helped by his appearance.

A DISCOURAGED WIFE

ANSWER:

It is only laziness and a disinclination to do anything that it takes a little trouble to do that makes people careless about their personal appearance. This being true, you will have to pinch-hit for your band sartorially. You will have to supply his deficiencies and, masmuch as he is not willing to make the effort himself to be well-dressed you will have to dress him.

I knew a woman who had a husband like yours who did this: Every night when he went to bed she took away all the clothes he had worn that day and replaced them with clean linen and a fresh suit and polished shoes. It wasn't any more trouble to put on the clean clothes than it was the soiled ones, so he did it, and went forth a well-groomed man.

Certainly a man knows little of human psychology who doesn't appreciate the importance of presenting a good front to the world. We judge people by how they look because that is the most obvious thing about them.

Hitch-Hiking Woman Strips Driver Slays Him For $15 And His Car

LAKE CHARLES, La., Feb. 19.—(AP)—J. C. Calloway, Houston, Tex., salesman, knelt nude in a rice field near here, a coroner's jury heard today, and pleaded in vain with a woman hitch-hiker not to kill him.

The jury decided, the woman, booked as Mrs. Claude D. Henry of Beaumont, Tex., ignored the entreaties of Calloway, shot him dead and left his body concealed under rice straw.

The bizarre story of Calloway's death which, the woman told police, netted her $15, a watch and the salesman's automobile, was related at the inquest by Sheriff Henry A. Reed, who said he had taken her statement because she refused to "talk before so many people."

The sheriff told the jurors that: Mrs. Henry and a man she had refused to identify, both armed, were picked up by Calloway last Wednesday near Vinton, La. After passing through here they forced Calloway at gunpoint into the rumble seat and slammed the door down on him, badly tearing one of his hands.

Seven miles south of here the pair stopped, took the salesman into a deserted rice field. There, Mrs. Henry's statement read, "I made him take off all his clothes and then I shot him."

Mrs. Henry led police to Calloways body, the sheriff said, after she had been arrested in connection with a robbery and a chance remark aroused suspicion.

Coroner E. L. Clement's verdict was that she be held to the Grand Jury on a charge that Calloway died from a pistol in her hands.

The best laugh of the present campaign has been furnished by Col. W. P. Mulock, Liberal member for North York, when he said "The Mackenzie King administration is the best possible government obtainable to-day."

If the present collection at Ottawa, headed by a political Nero who fiddled while the war fires were smouldering, and who in his war policy is like a wheelbarrow, only moving when he is pushed, is the best government that this country can produce in a time of crisis, then in all reverence God save Canada and God save the Empire, too, if the full measure of Canada's war effort is necessary to its preservation.

Fortunately there is a chance now to substitute a government of action for the sleepers in power.

Bethany Ladies Enjoy Fine W.I. Program

BETHANY, Feb. 19 (ENS). — Mrs. H. H. Ryley and Mrs. Bruce Ryley were joint hostesses to the Woman's Institute for the regular monthly meeting. There were 22 members present, including five visitors. The president, Mrs. Price, was in charge. One minute's silence was observed as a tribute to the passing of Lord Tweedsmuir.

The roll-call was responded to by naming a Canadian industry. A donation for Red Cross work was received from Mrs. L. Challice.

The finished quilt was brought in by Mrs. E. Smith for the Red Cross, and the ladies decided to make another one, blacks to be left with Mrs. Thorndyke. Mrs. Roy Jarvis invited the society to meet at her home for the March meeting, roll-call to be Housecleaning Hints.

Mrs. W. A. Thorndyke, convener of Group I, then took charge of the program, which opened with community singing after which a splendid paper was given by Mrs. H. H. Ryley, convener, on Agriculture and Industry. She chose for her subject "The Soy Bean." There are more than 100 different kinds of the soy bean and over 400 different uses being made of it. World imports amount to more than 70,000,000 bushels of seed and 200,000 tons of soy bean oil. Mrs. Ryley showed samples of the plant and seed grown on the farm of Robert Morton.

The second part of the program was made up entirely of the life and works of Robert Burns. An interesting paper on his life was given by Mrs. Ross Carr, interspersed with readings by Mrs. Ferguson, Mrs. K. Thorndyke, Mrs. Clara Armstrong, and Mrs. W. A. Thorndyke. A pleasant duet was given by Mrs. Jean Bigelow and Mrs. K. Thorndyke.

A contest, "Grandmother's Vegetable Garden," was then sponsored, with Mrs. W. Rowland the winner. The program concluded with community singing of Scottish airs, after which lunch was served by the hostesses, assisted by Mesdames Clara Armstrong, H. Ginn, Ross Carr, Earnest Fallis and Mrs. Thorndyke. The meeting closed by singing the National Anthem.

Pilot Snares Rabbit For Breakfast After Crack-up In Scotia Wilds

HALIFAX, Feb. 19—Jimmie Wade didn't have his roasted rabbit for his breakfast today.

Instead, he had bacon and eggs, toast, coffee and any of the trimmings he wanted. Which, if you ask the genial Canadian Airways pilot, may not be as good as the roasted rabbit at that.

That rabbit was Jimmy's own handiwork. Here's the story:

With Wade at the controls, a Canadian Airways cabin plane lofted away from Moncton airport at dawn Wednesday. Visibility was good and everything went well until the plane passed over Bedford, N.S., about nine miles from Halifax.

Then a blinding snowstorm descended on the plane. Without warning visibility dropped to zero.

Wade turned reassuringly to his only passenger, James Noonan of Halifax. "I'm going to try and go around it," he said. He was afraid that if he kept flying straight ahead he would overshoot the city and be out over the Atlantic.

Ice Formed on Wings

Wade flew for about twenty minutes to the southwest. All the time ice was forming on the wings and the windshield was covered with snow.

Finally, the weight of the ice gave the pilot no alternative but to bring the ship down.

Noonan had been riding in the front seat of the five-passenger ship, up beside the pilot.

"Get in back and fasten your safety belt," Wade told him. Noonan got in back, but he couldn't get the belt fastened.

"Just hang on, then," Wade shouted, "here we go!"

Through the side windows he sighted one of the many lakes which dot the Halifax area.

Wade couldn't tell which way the wind was blowing, and he found out later that he had tried to land with a thirty-mile-an-hour gale pushing him from behind.

He overshot the lake, scraped a clump of trees on the shore, and finally the plane came to rest, upside down, in a patch of tall bushes. Several stumps were pushed up into the fuslage.

Passenger Injured.

Wade was pushed forward on the wheel, and his chest didn't feel any too good. Noonan, with his safety belt unfastened, was thrown forward in the crash. His leg was broken, and one of his wrists was fractured.

Wade made his injured passenger as comfortable as possible in the inverted cabin, and then made a fire.

For this purpose he tore strips of fabric from the plane, and ripped up some brush which appeared to be dry enough to burn.

During the night, the men huddled in the cabin. Wade covered his passenger with a heavy engine cover, and spent the night caring for Noonan, turning him over periodically to keep him warm. Wade didn't get any sleep.

Thursday, after the storm cleared, Wade saw several planes passing over the area, but had no means of attracting their attention. Friday morning, planes started passing over again.

Set Rabbit Snare.

During the morning Wade found some wire in the plane and set a snare. This afternoon he visited the snare and found he had caught a rabbit. The two men decided to save it and roast it tomorrow.

During the afternoon, however, a Royal Canadian Air Force plane passing overhead sighted the smoke from Wade's fire.

The Air Force plane winged back to Halifax airport ,and five minutes later a ski-equipped rescue plane was on the way. Another followed almost immediately.

The rescue planes landed on a lake about a mile from the tiny one on which Wade had attempted a landing. Two pilots and three engineers battled a mile to the wrecked plane, trudging through snow that was four feet deep in places.

They rigged up a stretcher, and took turns carrying the 195-pound Noonan back to the planes. Wade walked the distance to the rescue planes.

By the time they were ready to leave it was dark and both ships took off with the aid of landing lights. About 15 minutes later, they were over Halifax airport.

Noonan and Wade were taken to hospital, but Jimmy was released after a check-up. Noonan couldn't find words to praise the pilot.

As for Jimmy, he said Noonan was a "brick" through it all. But he spoke rather longingly about that roasted rabbit. . . .

other social services, Dr. Manion charged.

General Co-operation.

He believed a vigorous, aggressive government, prepared to give national leadership, could obtain the co-operation of the provinces to introduce needed social legislation. This could be done without waiting to iron out all the constitutional obstacles in the B.N.A. Act.

Dr. Manion accused Prime Minister Mackenzie King of fleeing from consideration of the report of the Dominion-Provincial Relations Commission.

"Their report should have been presented to parliament so that people might have had an opportunity to pass upon its recommendations," he said. "Why was it not released?"

"It is either because the report contains recommendations for the encroachment upon fundamental provincial or minority rights, encroachments which Mr. King knows would not meet with the approval of the Canadian people, or it is simply because, as in other matters, Mr. King finds it completely impossible to take a decisive stand.

"National understanding must, if we are to continue as a nation, replace the disharmony which has existed since the King government came into power in 1935.

"The National Government can and will obtain that co-operation with the provinces which is so urgently required, through annual Dominion-Provincial conferences."

Fair Wheat Deal

One of the first steps in the practical marketing policy of his proposed National Government would be an effort to arrange a wheat deal with Great Britain at a price fair to both parties.

"During the last war the price of wheat went to $3 a bushel," Dr. Manion said. "For less than half of that price, an agreement for the duration of the war might have been made, satisfactory to the farmer and very profitable in the long run to Great Britain."

(In Brandon, Man., Friday night, Dr. Manion also suggested such a deal at "less than half" the $3 price of the last war. He did not name a specific figure).

Dr. Manion told his Moose Jaw audience the first session of a national parliament would "appoint a committee of the House of Commons to investigate thoroughly practical means by which the farmer may be protected from crop failure, and particularly the feasibility of establishing a system of crop insurance."

Dr. Manion said the first issue before Canada at the moment was the conduct of the war. In five years the government had spent $188,000,000 on defence but had not enough equipment for one division when war broke out, although that equipment cost only $1,000,000.

Wool Warning Unheeded.

Typical was the government's handling of the wool situation. Four times during the September war session Karl Homuth, Conservative member for Waterloo South, who is in the wool business, warned a Cabinet Minister that an embargo should be placed on Canada's wool supply, which was only 2,000,000 or 3,000,000 pounds then.

Instead of having the gumption to act, the government allowed American buyers to take 2,250,000 or 2,500,000 pounds off this country and when wool was needed for socks and uniforms it was lacking.

In December David Dick, a wool administrator, stated Canada was 8,000,000 pounds short of its requirements. He said the government had made no effort to control wool until September 18, although control plans had been made a year before in Britain.

"I'm sure he would have been fired for such an admission, if he had not been a dollar-a-year man," Dr. Manion said.

At the close of his Moose Jaw address, Dr. Manion invited questions from the floor of the meeting.

Asked if he believed in "conscription of wealth," he said, "If we ever get to the stage where we conscript men, though I am opposed to it as I have made clear, we should conscript everybody."

the ice wedging in their ship and reached a farmhouse eight miles inland exhausted after their all-night wandering have been sent back.

The Altmark apparently is being watched closely by four British warships which cruised throughout yesterday just beyond territorial waters while three small Norwegian naval vessels guarded the neck of the five-mile-long fjord.

Beside the issue of armaments on which Norway is expected to intern or free the Altmark, the question also arose of her status when she entered Norwegian waters. She was rumored to have flown the German service flag when she called last week at Bergen, thus being exempt from customs examination and, possibly, keeping her prisoners hidden from Norwegian inspectors boarding her only briefly.

One official indication of Norway's attitude was the speech Saturday night of Foreign Undersecretary Jens Bull, who said foreign commercial vessels, and even warships, have the right "to innocent passage in neutral waters when they submit to certain rules," and "there are no reports that the Altmark acted against these rules."

shall be free."

Gag By Censors

"Under the Liberal Government's censorship regulations we have hardly a right to open our mouths," the C.C.F. leader declared in urging the people of Canada to insist that the country should be run by parliament and not by orders-in-council.

"The Defence of Canada Regulations do away with the Magna Charta. Just think, here in Canada it is necessary to form Civil Liberties unions to defend the rights of free citizenship."

As a result of development of big banks, insurance companies and industrial companies, a comparatively few people had a stranglehold on the economic life of the Dominion.

"We can very easily let this country become enslaved with a very few people at the top in control of it. While not every Liberal and every Conservative is corrupt, the people who are getting big favors from the Government are quite willing to pay more than a few dollars to keep things going their way."

The C.C.F. leader urged the Government to provide insurance for all Canadian soldiers on active service. This insurance should be made as legally binding on the government as the payment of interest to bond-holders.

Care for Dependents

If soldiers died their dependents would be ensured care by such a scheme. If they lived, it would provide sufficient money to maintain them until they found places in civil life.

Canadian manufacturers were charged with staging a strike by refusing to co-operate under the Dominion Government's Act which limited their profits to five per cent on war contracts. After this refusal of co-operation, the Act was abandoned by the government.

"If there had been a strike of workers trying to get 25 cents an hour instead of 20 cents an hour in wages, a cry of sabotage would have been raised from one end of the country to the other." Mr. Woodsworth declared.

"But those manufacturers would not play ball until they got more than five per cent clear profit. If men are asked to give their lives in the war, the least that can be done is to see that no one profits out of it."

Mr. Woodsworth advocated a pay-as-you-go policy to finance Canada's war effort, instead of mortgaging future generations. He urged immediate economic planning to prepare for the big slump which would follow the war.

He expressed hope the Prime Minister would keep his pledge not to introduce conscription "better than he kept his pledge about not calling a general election until after a session of parliament."

"We have already economic conscription because a large number of men who have gone have been compelled to go because of the necessity of satisfying their stomachs."

destroyer Duchess, which went down at sea on December 13 last as a result of a collision.

The destroyer was armed with four 4.7 inch guns and eight 21-inch tubes. It was 317 feet long and 33 feet in the beam.

Two of six German ships reported to have gambled against the British naval cordon in a dash from Vigo, Spain, were brought into a British West Coast port—the 3,000-ton Morea, loaded with manganese ore, and the 2,542-ton Rostock.

The Morea's crew of 23 men and seven officers were British prisoners. Theer was no word on the Rostock's crew or cargo and no explanation of the capture of either ship.

6 Merchantmen Sunk.

Meanwhile, two British merchant ships and four neutral commercial vessels were reported sunk— weekend casualties of the war or regular maritime hazards.

Britain's pressure on Norway for internment of the Altmark and Germany's demands for Norwegian action against the British placed the neutral state in a difficult position.

Germany has protested over ineffective protection afforded by the Norwegian navy for the Altmark in Norwegian territorial waters, where British tars boarded the Altmark on Friday night and released more than 300 captive British seamen from the prison ship.

One the other side was the British demand that the 12,000-ton Altmark be interned for the duration of the war on the grounds that she served as a German navy auxiliary by taking aboard, for transport to Germany, crewmen of seven British merchant ships sunk by the now-scuttled pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee.

Germany had demanded that the Oslo government take "all possible measures" against "the perpetrators" of the attack on the Altmark, and Norway Saturday formally called upon the British to return the prisoners of war, although they already had been landed in Scotland by the rescuing destroyer Cossack.

Britain Asks Explanation

Britain, however, demanded an explanation why Norwegian inspectors failed to discover that the British prisoners were aboard the Altmark while the German ship was being accorded the privileges of a belligerent's merchant ship—that is, right-of-way through Norwegian territorial waters.

The British answer and counter-demand were made Saturday, but disclosed only yesterday.

The Foreign Office criticized Oslo officials for "failing in their duty as neutrals."

Viscount Halifax, the Foreign Secretary, called in Erik Colban, Norwegian minister to Britain, and handed him a series of questions.

Some Questions

An authoritative version of these questions follows:

1. "In view of the known character of the Altmark," was she searched and, if so, what was found?

2. If Norwegian authorities had found prisoners aboard, what action would they have taken?

3. Why did Norway apparently consider the Altmark an innocent merchantman when she had been used as a prison ship for some time?

4. If she were considered a merchantman, why were Norwegian warships with her?

It was only after the British case was presented that the Norwegian minister delivered his government's note saying that Norway expected Britain to "hand over the prisoners, pay damage and give satisfaction."

Commenting on the failure of Norwegian authorities to discover the prisoners when they inspected the Altmark at Bergen early Friday, a British source said, "all the world had been talking for weeks about the large number of prisoners who were held on the German ship."

Moreover, the British contention is that the Altmark was armed, carrying two pom-pom guns (multi-barreled anti-aircraft weapons) and four machine-guns. The British thus regard the Altmark as an "armed auxiliary of the German fleet."

Cossack Crew Lauded,

The song of British praise for the crew of the Cossack when the delivery of the prisoners first became known increased in volume in today's newspaper.

Along with this, the newspapers gave prominent display to Berlin's wrath— "Murderers, pirates, gangsters, swine, cheats, gunmen, brutes," were words used by Nazi journalists to describe the British attackers. At least seven Germans were killed in the engagement and there was one British casualty.

Some of the rescued British seamen, reaching London yesterday, were showered with cigarettes and money. At Liverpool, home town of others, cheering thousands escorted the men to their bunting-draped homes.

At the Liverpool station, a crowd had gathered to sing sea chanties, and when the train arrived the welcoming delegation sang out, "There'll Always Be An England."

Three hundred and 14 of the rescued seamen were admitted to two Edinburgh hospitals after Saturday's landing at Leith, Scotland, but about half have since been released. They were said to be "in pretty fair shape," despite the rigors of life in the Altmark's hold.

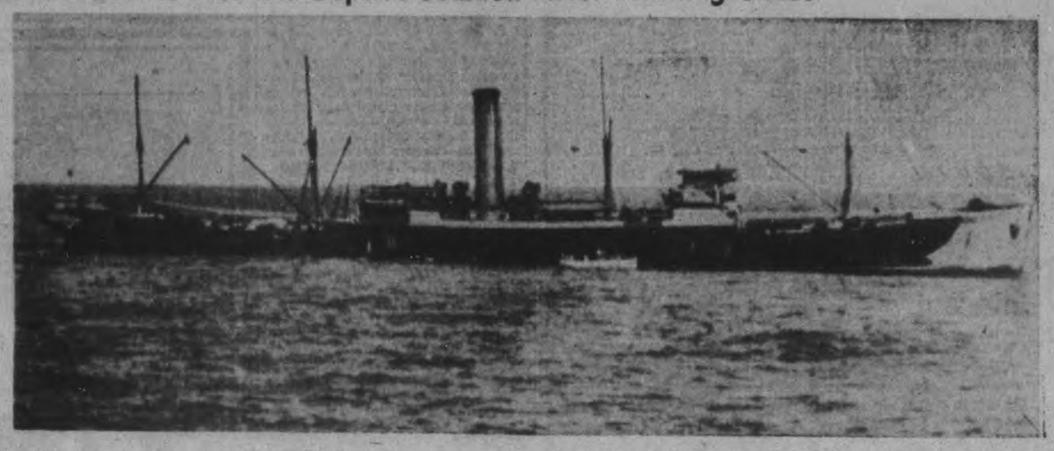
British Sailors Liberate Captive Seamen After Thrilling Chase



Following a dramatic chase and battle in Norwegian coastal waters British destroyers drove the German auxiliary ship Altmark, ABOVE, ashore and rescued between 300 and 400 British seamen whom they found battered down under its decks. The Altmark had acted as a tender for the scuttled Graf Spee and was carrying a large number of British seamen as captives under what has been described as terrible conditions.

W. Cunningham Passed Away Early On Sunday

William Henry Cunningham, one of Peterborough's best known musicians, a man who has been known and loved in this city for sixty years ,died from pneumonia Sunday morning. Death came at his residence at 560 Weller street, after six weeks' illness.

One of the most widely known men in this city, he was also one of the most beloved. At George Street United Church he was among the oldest members, and certainly one of the hardest working in its interest, right to the time of his last illness. Two generations of youngsters have passed through its Sunday School and have known intimately his essential goodness.

It was more than 40 years ago that Mr. Cunningham first took charge of the Sunday School's orchestra and he held the post continuously until his death. And he brought it from a tiny, amateur affair into a large and masterly organization, an organization that has been a credit to the church for many years now, one of its proudest groups. This year Mr. Cunningham was elected the Sunday School's representative on the Quarterly Official Board of the church. He was also a member of the church choir.

Church Funeral

A mark of the esteem in which he was held by his church will be seen when officials of the Sunday school form a guard of honor around his body in the two hours that precede his funeral on Tuesday afternoon. For his remains are to be removed from his home at noon and will be taken to the church, there to lie until the service at 2 o'clock. During those two hours the men who knew him best, the men of his church, will stand guard.

But it was not only among the people of George Street Church Mr. Cunningham was known and loved. Music lovers throughout this entire city and district knew him and respected his ability. They knew him a long time ago as a member of the old Grand Opera House orchestra. And then, when that House practically closed, he was in the orchestra of the Capitol Theatre for a number of years. And for more than a quarter of a century he was a well known member of the band of the 57th Regiment here.

Many other groups knew Mr. Cunningham, who in later years was a piano tuner. Among them were the Woodmen of the World and the Canadian Order of Foresters, in both of which he was a member.

Born in Pakenham, Ontario, he was a son of the late John Cunningham and Ann Dunnigan, and he moved to this city with them 60 years ago as a child. A memorable incident of his bodyhood was the time he rescued from drowning the present Archbishop of Kingston, Most Rev. M. J. O'Brien, D.D.

Mr. Cunningham, his brother J. J. Cunningham, and the now Archbishop were playing on the booms at McDonald's Point on Little Lake when O'Brien tumbled into the water. J. J. Cunningham went to his rescue and both the youngsters became helpless. W. H. Cuningham jumped in and brought both safely to shore.

Surviving Mr. Cunningham are his wife, formerly Lucy Edmondson; two daughter, Mrs. C. F. Rathbone (Marjorie) of Montreal, and Mrs. W. E. Costello (Mazie) of Toronto; and one grandson, Billy Costello; also two brothers, J. J. Cunningham of Peterborough and R. A. Cunningham of Hamilton.

The funeral will be on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from George Street United Church, Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe of Murray Street Baptist Church officiating in the absence, through illness, of Rev. M. C. Parr. The remains will lie at the church from noon until after the funeral. Interment will be at Little Lake Cemetery.

Car And Sand Truck Meet In Lakefield

Drumhead Service Held In Armory In Memory Of Lord Tweedsmuir

One unforgettable moment was witnessed by a large crowd yesterday afternoon when the band of the Prince of Wales Rangers played Veterans of World War I out of the Armouries at the end of a stirring memorial service to the late Commander-in-Chief of the Canadian Forces, Lord Tweedsmuir.

Soldiers of this generation—men of the Prince of Wales Rangers—stood at attention as the veterans marched out of the building, berets on their heads, armbands swinging. If any were ready to criticize, their voices were stilled; for the vets showed the new crop of soldiers that they had not forgoten, in the passing of more than two decades, the art of the drill floor. They showed they could still march with the best of them and their little show sent a chill of pride through every spectator. For in their proud march there was more than just precision—there was a challenge to these new men of King and Country, a challenge to them to try to equal the record that these very marching men and their dead comrades had set for Canadians in World War I. It wasn't just imagination: that challenge on the drill floor of the Armouries yesterday in as sharp definition as though it had been written in chalk. And every soldier there saw it.

The Prince of Wales Rangers were hosts to the veterans, the Boy Scouts, the Girl Guides, members on leave from several active service units, and a large section of the public at their Regimental Drumhead service. Drums were piled in traditional fashion on the drill floor to form a pulpit and the service was taken by the unit's chaplains, Rev. Canon J. D. Paterson and Rev. R. T. F. Brain.

"He Was One of Us"

Rev. Canon Paterson spoke in high praise of Lord Tweedsmuir and of the esteem in which he was held by Canadians. "He was just one of us," he said. He pointed out that the Boy Scouts knew him as the Chief Scout in Canada; the Girl Guides as their honorary president; the veterans as a veteran; the soldiers of today as their Commander-in-chief. To all, he said, Lord Tweedsmuir was "one of us."

John Buchan had risen from obscurity in a tiny Scottish hamlet to greatness in many fields. Born in humble circumstances, at the end of his life he had attained such honours as come to few men, Canon Paterson said. "He leaves behind the lesson in practise that daily application leads to attainment."

To his country in time of war he brought extraordinary talents, and he brought to her equally great talents in time of peace, he said. Then, with the coming of another war, he went on active service again, in one of the Empire's loftiest posts.

First Canadian Casualty

Canon Paterson claimed Lord Tweedsmuir as the first Canadian casualty of World War II. His premature death was brought on by the strain to which he subjected himself, in poor health, in his King's service. "He offered more than he had to give," he declared. "I claim him as the first casualty of the Canadian forces."

He recalled the far-flung expeditions His Excellency had undertaken during his stay in Canada, and said that the airmen of the far north, the trappers of the Arctic, knew him as one of themselves, as did the French-Canadian and the Anglo-Saxon populations of the south. "In every department of our life, he was the man who fitted in."

It was his genius for friendship that made him so beloved by Canadians everywhere, Canon Paterson said. "He showed us not only a man in high office who could uphold the dignity of his position, but who could be one of us. And it was because he showed himself a man that he became the friend of the Canadian people."

He referred to Lord Tweedsmuir as a man of God, a devout member of the Presbyterian church and one of its elders, whose last public appearance in Canada had been when he read the scripture lesson in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church in Ottawa. "He coveted every opportunity of showing his devotion to his Lord," said Canon Paterson.

Cadi Not Taking Any Chances On Adjourning Domestic Relations Case Until April Fool Day

Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., decided this morning in Police Court that April 1 would be a very unappropriate day to which to adjourn a domestic relations case.

A local man, charged with non-support of his wife and three small children who live in Dummer Township was arraigned to-day and Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., informed the court that an arrangement had been entered into between the husband and wife by which the former promised to pay $5.00 a week toward the support of the latter and the three children.

He suggested that the case should be adjourned for a month or six weeks to see how the arrangement worked out.

It was at this stage that the Magistrate discovered that a six-week adjournment would bring the matter back before the court on April 1. "That's April Fool's Day," he said. "We had not better bring it up then."

Accordingly April 2 was decided upon as the date, and by consent the case was adjourned until then without the accused being called upon to plead.

Herb. Hendrie Hurt In Crash

TORONTO, Feb. 19—Motorcyclist Herb. Hendrie, former Balmy Beach and Peterborough rugby star, who played with the Orfuns in the campaign of 1938, suffered facial injuries Friday when his machine crashed into a tree off Riverside Drive. At St. Joseph's Hospital, Saturday, it was stated that the constable was suffering from severe gashes on his face, although his condition was regarded as satisfactory.

Hendrie was returning from funeral escort duty when the accident occurred. His motorcycle went out of control as he passed a car driven by Magistrate W. E. McIlveen of Mimico. It is believed the front wheel struck a soft spot in the road.

The machine skidded, plunged along the road for 100 yards with the constable frantically trying to regain control, plunged down a steep embankment and struck a tree. Swansea police found him lying beside his twisted motorcycle, bleedings profusely but still conscious.

Motorcycle Officer Davidson reached the Lake Shore Boulevard before he realized that Hendrie was no longer with him. The two officers had been returning together from duty at the funeral of David Spence.

Neither Magistrate McIlveen nor Davidson could give any explanation of the accident. The former estimated that Hendrie was travelling at about 35 or 40 miles an hour.

Worst Winter In 60 Years In Great Britain

Best word picture of the disaster that befell England when the worst winter in 60 years landed on that country recently, has been given in a letter from Ross Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Allen, 215 Reid street, who is a student pilot with the Royal Air Force. The letter was written on the 29th of January.

"We are in the throes of what is very like a Canadian winter," he wrote. "On Friday last it was quite mild, and thawing. On Saturday it was raining but, having the afternoon free, a bunch of us went into Chelenham in the bus intending to come back on the 11 p.m. one in the evening.

"We started back shortly after 11 o'clock and it was raining hard and freezing as it came down. As a consequence the roads become very icy. We became stuck on a long hill just outside Cheltenham but we had lots of company because there were six bus loads of people (30 to 35 to a bus., three lorries, and about eight cars, all stuck there with us. We waited around until about half past twelve and when we saw that we would probably have to stay there until about three o'clock, another chap and I hitch-hiked a lift back into town and put up at a hotel.

Round About Way

"Starting Sunday morning at 8.30, we tried by all manner of means to get transportation back into camp. There were no busses running, no trains, and we couldn't persuade any taxis to venture out. We finally found out that there was a train going by a very round-about way to within ten miles of the camp. It was raining, snowing, and freezing during all this time! We decided to take the train and after a trip of about two hours we arrived at our little out of the way station at ten in the evening.

"We corralled a taxi and the driver said he'd take us the ten miles out to the 'drome. About half way he stopped, at a little village, and said he'd go no further. We couldn't do anything about it and so had to put up at a little inn for the night.

"This morning we hapened to see the Adjutant. He said he had been stranded too and was trying to get transport back. About ten o'clock we had a car and at eleven were back.

"There has been no mail service at all in this district. The telephone lines are down. Trains are not running, trees are broken down, and there are hundreds of poles down all over.

"On a little tree outside my room there is an even coating of at least three inches of ice on all its branches. It's no wonder that big trees are broken! If the sun or moon would come out the country would be a fairy land. It will take about three weeks for the damage to be cleared up. There are 1,500 telephones in the district alone that are out of commission. If there is a sudden thaw much of the lowlying district will be flooded."

Junior Ski Champions Declared At School Children Outing Under Ideal Conditions At Bethany

One hundred and seventy-five skiers took off on the junior Bethany special Saturday morning to enjoy one of the best excursions the Peterboro club has ever had. The weather was made to order, with a clear, crisp sunny day from sunrise to sunset, so much so that there were a good many sun-tanned faces on the train on the way home.

Tickets for free soft drinks were distributed on the train and the canteen did a roaring 'business' from the minute the first of the thirty youngsters arrived until the last lusty shout echoed in the hills. Between twelve and one the tow was open to all and many enjoyed their first ride on a real ski tow with varying degrees of success. The majority took to the tow like a fish to water and unanimously agreed that it was 'great,' 'O.K.', 'wonderful,' 'swell.'

Big Lunches.

One o'clock was the signal for lunch and the bell didn't have to ring twice. The gang really started eating and they had enormous lunches, to say the least, packed by optimistic mothers, enough in a good many cases for a snack on the train as well, both going out and returning. Following the lunch hour it settled down to the serious business of deciding who the champion skiers were for this year.

Six races in all were run off in good order with a large list of entries in each event. The competition was keen from the first to the last man, each being all set to do or die for good old alma mater. Bob White had charge of the junior affair.

Courses for the various races were set on the hill facing the chalet, which is certainly tough enough for junior skiers. However, they certainly proved equal to the occasion, giving a splendid display of competitive skiing ability to the delight of the many spectators. Results of the races follow:

Boys' Downhill—Club Championship—1 Jack Matthews, 2 Bill Shadgett, 3 Jim Monahan. Time 19.4.

Boys' Slalom — Club Championship—1 Bill Shadgett, 2 Jack Matthews, 3 Jim Managhan. Time 27.1.

Girls' Slalom — Club Championship—1 Jane Gillespie, 2 Helen Chartren, 3 A. Camparano. Time 35.2.

Boys' Open Downhill — 1 Jack Frank, 2 Vern Simpson, 3 Jack Matthews. Time 19.1.

Girls' Open Downhill— 1 Helen Chartren, 2 Jane Hall, 3 Agnes Strickland. Time 22.4.

Combined Downhill Slalom — Club Championship—Bill Shadgett.

Congratulations to all the winners.

Prizes for all events will be presented at the annual ski club banquet some time in March.

A large number of proud parents were to be seen on the hill yesterday to witness the championship events. Among those on the train were Mrs. E. Jellon, Mr. A. Seidel, Mr. Jerry Wood, later joined by Mrs. Wood and Mrs. E. Howson, all of whom were seen having a wonderful time skiing and even managing a few rides on the tow. Also on the hill were Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Ackerman, Mr. and Mrs. Hicks-Lyne, Mr. and Mrs. J. Gillespie, Mr. D. B. Falconer. Mr. H. L. Garner and many others

A Mad Scramble.

Four o'clock was the time of the general round-up, with a mad scramble for skis, poles, pack sacks and one last hurried ride down the hill. Everyone managed to make the train and after a quick roll call we found there were twenty missing. However the anxious twenty were waiting at the station at Bethany and all fears of search parties and such were put aside.

One couldn't help but notice some of the ingenious ski bindings that were in use Saturday, utilizing everything from safety pins and valve springs down to inner tubes and binder twine. However, necessity is the mother of invention so they say, which is more truth than poetry and some of those youngsters handled their skis amazingly well considering threir equipment.

At six o'clock exactly on schedule, the junior special roared into the station to unload a gang of very tired but ever so happy skiers from every school and from all walks of life. Passengers on a ski train are about the most sociable bunch you will ever run across anywhere and this case was no exception. Come along on the next one and find out for yourself.

Yours for bigger and better junior jamborees.

Some Notes.

Senior and junior jumping at Nassau next Saturday. Club championships, junior cross country also.

How about a Wednesday night bean feed at Bethany this week? A lot of members are planning to leave about six o'clock. The moon is grand just now and night skiing is perfect. Club house will be open. Get up a car and come along.

Tow runs Wednesday, same rates as Saturday. Chalet open also.

Senior downhill and slalom Feb. 25th. Get those entries in now. No post entries.

Seabiscuit And Kayak Are Among Also Rans In San Carlos Race

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Leaving the highly favored entry of Seabiscuit and Kayak II to trail in dismal defeat, A. A. Baroni's Specify triumphed in the $10,000 added San Carlos Handicap Saturday.

Completing the picture of striking upset in the form for the edification of 33,000 turf fans, two dark horse contenders, Walter G. McCarthy's Lassator and the Valdina Farm's Viscounty roared in for second and third place money.

Charles S. Howard's Seabiscuit trailed in sixth and his stablemate Kayak II, ran eighth out of the money for the first time in his career.

Heelfly, George W. Stratton's original contender, was declared out of the seven-furlong race, as was Daybreak, leaving eleven horses, all eligibles for the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap, to go to the post under clear skies and on a fast track.

Specify won by 1¼ lengths in the time of 1:23 2-5. Lassator won second in a photo finish with Viscounty.

Specify paid $17.60, $12.80 and $9.60. Lassator paid $18.20 and $9.20, and Viscounty $13.00.

Santa Anita had its first $1,000,000 betting "handle" this season as $1,009,957 passed through the parimutuel windows in wagers on the days eight races.

The double defeat was a big blow to Owner Howard, who had hopes of getting Seabiscuit in top condition for the Santa Anita Handicap, and of saddling Kayak II for what might be his second successive victory in the rich race March 2.

Jockey Red Pollard of Edmonton, Alta., Seabiscuit's regular rider, said later he did not know what happened to his mount.

"He ran like his old self for a while, but when I called on him, there didn't seem to be anything there," Pollard said.

"BACHELOR of war"

In ancient days, "baccalarius" signified a soldier not old or rich enough to lead his retainers into battle with a banner. Today a man does not have to be either old or rich to enjoy the rich, mellow flavour and aroma of the famous Bachelor Cigars with their 100% pure Havana filler at only 10c.

Detroit Youth Noses Out Larry O'Connor

By BILL BONI
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Competitors in next Saturday night's National Indoor Championships at Madison Square Garden should create considerable havoc in the track and field record book. There's a fine chance of new meet marks in a dozen of the 17 events.

Not that the 1940 performers are supermen, though Chuck Fenske, John Woodruff, Greg Rice and Al Blozis rank with the best. It's chiefly that the meet goes back on a yardage basis for the first time in eight years, and in the interim a lot of standards have become outdated.

A new indoor record for the 50 yards hurdles was set in Saturday's New York A.C. meet when Allan Tomlich of Detroit was clocked in 7.1 seconds as he nosed out Larry O'Connor of University of Toronto.

Fritz Ran Fourth

The other Canadian entry in the meet was Bill Fritz of Queens University who failed in an attempt to retire the Buermeyer Cup for the 500 yards event. He ran fourth behind Jim Herbert of New York University who ran it in 58 seconds flat, Johnny Quigley of Manhattan and Charley Belcher of Atlanta, Ga. In the sprint medley, mile and a half mile relays, records are a cinch next Saturday because these races will be on the program for the first time. But it's almost as much a sure thing that the "Big Four" of Fenske, Lou Zamperini, Glenn Cunningham and Gene Venzke will run a new mile mark onto the books.

Each of the six banked-track miles so far has been run under 4 minutes 15 seconds, the record Venzke set in 1932. Ranging from Fenske's twin 4:07.4 performances, first in the Millrose and then in last Saturday's New York A.C. meet, to the Wisconsin lad's 4:13.5 on a 12-lap Philadelphia track, they have seen Fenske, with his 4:07.4; Zamperini, with a second-place 4:07.9 in the New York A.C. and Venzke, with a third place 4:08.2 in the Millrose, run the fastest miles of their careers.

Reds Increase League Lead

Providence Reds took a long time to catch New Haven Eagles in the International - American Hockey League race, but now that they have overhauled them they have shown no indication of giving up first place.

Despite a New Haven victory over the week-end, the Reds increased their first place margin in the eastern division to six points as they scored a pair of vicotries, beating Indianapolis Capitols 3-0 last night and Philadelphia Ramblers 7-2 the night before.

The Eagles, meantime, blanked Cleveland Barons 2-0 last night in their only week-end game. Syracuse Stars kept alive their play-off hopes by lacing Hershey Bears 7-5 Sunday and edging out Springfield Indians 3-2 Saturday.

In other Saturday games Pittsburg and Indianapolis tied 2-2 and Cleveland beat Hershey 5-2.

The Providence goals were spread among three players last night, Wilf Starr, Hub Wilson and Art Giroux getting one apiece, but on Saturday Joffre Desilets tallied three times to lead the attack. The victory over Philadelphia ended Ramblers' chances of gaining a play-off spot. Last season Ramblers were in the league final.

Bert Gardiner's good goal-tending and goals by Earl Roche and Tony Hemmerling gave the Eagles their victory. Gardiner was replacing Bourque in the New Haven nets.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

As Java Joe would put it, the Fliers are on the "brink of an abscess" here tonight. The R.C.A.F.-ers must win over the Petes in the Brock St. palais d'ice or hang up their sticks for the year and go back to air camp drills. In the three-in-five group playoffs, the speedy Petes have won the first two in a row and are out to make it three straight here, if possible. If the locals lose, fourth fray is back in Bella Villa on Wednesday—and the gang waved good-bye to the Hume Arena when they left last Friday. So they don't expect to return this semester. Though, of course, one never knows. After all, the Airmen did cop a 2-1 win o'er them this season most unexpectedly—and they might do it again here tonight.

* * * * * * *

Without packing up a bunch of adjectives in our sample case and going out trying to sell this game, we expect there will be a big crowd on deck this e'en. It will be another nifty number between smart O.H.A. intermediate "A" clubs—of senior "B" calibre. With lots of hard feelings betwixt the puckists and some fast, rugged and exciting hockey sure. No more nonsense of sending out skates to be sharpened between periods, and hence no unnecessary delays. Yeah, it ought to be a pip of a puck battle, and perhaps the last here for some time. Seeing as the Buckland bunch—if they should win the group tonight — may have to sit around a spell awaiting further opposition in provincial playdowns. Though we hope not, as the ice may partially play out in another two weeks.

* * * * * * *

A Title Tonight?

Peterborough fans have not seen the Petes win a group championship since Hitler was a paper-hanger, or so it seems. True, the local hockeyists won the group title the last two years but the titular tilt took place on Belleville ice each time, with only a few hundred local fans on hand. In 1937, the Fliers won out and copped the Ontario title. In '38, the Petes won over the Airmen but the fifth and deciding game was in the Quinte arena—and what a night that was! And last year, the Petes won in three straight, the third joust again being on the Fliers' stamping ground. Maybe loyal local fans will see a group championship in the making here this evening. We hope.

* * * * * * *

Dunno how the Fliers will lineup this eve, likely just as strong as possible. Petes will have 'em all on deck except Jim Ellis—out with an injured shoulder. Ray Harding, with the youthful face and the veteran's actions, will be kicking 'em out in goal. The hard-hitting defence of Don Crowe, Jack Gardner, Drake Jopling and Les Burton, should bounce a few bodies around the arena again this fray. Up front there is the first line of Bun Kingdon, fast and tricky, the heady Honey Tompkins, and the bouncing rubber-ball of an Art Heal (a real worker); with the winged-foot Eddie Starr on the second line along with the fast Joe Blewett, and Don Coughlin, a consistently fine puckist, and the ragged Jack Jopling. A good outfit and they'll put up a swell scrap. This team rates lots of support.

Colts In Oshawa

Down in Oshawa tonight, the junior Colts will be tangling with the Bees in the third game of their three-in-five "B" group playoffs. Each club has taken a win, and tonight's result will be mighty important. After spending a good part of the season coasting against "C" squads and mixng it regularly in fist fights to relieve the monotony, the Colts—something of an up-and-down outfit—are really playing for keeps now. Didn't do so well in the first playoff fray on the large Motor City ice surface, but snapped back to form at home to sew up the series. Perhaps, the lads will realize the Bees are not unbeatable, and go out and knock their ears down this e'en. Fourth fixture will be at the Rue Brock on Wednesday p.m.

Our juvenile Grads in the district O.J.H.A. round-robin series put up a good battle in Norwood the other night but the hustling young homesters edged out the nod as 350 fans roared approval. This should be a good series yet, and we trust they arrange a decent playoff at the end ere hiking into playdowns. In Norwood they want any midget squad or manager here to get in touch with 'em for a game before the Norwood Midgets tackle playdown outfits—and they wonder down that way why Peterborough haven't got a midget entry themselves. As Alex Kempt remarked recently, "give us $200 to advance kids' hockey and Norwood would take care of 100 young players from Peterborough, Hastings, Warsaw, Havelock, Norwood, etc., and guarantee to get a title shortly, besides developing stars for higher company." Toronto kids get the dough somewhere for big series. Norwood Midgets meet Trenton at seven before the Bata-Hornets tilt Wednesday in Norwood.

One Swell Outing

The giant junior ski jamboree at Bethany o'er the week-end was something for two hundred kids and their parents to remember—and another successful event in the history of the hustling local Ski Club. A trainload of noisy youngsters, with lunches large enough for lumberjacks—and some wondrous odds and ends of skiing raiment—chug-chugged out to the district "Alps" and disgorged for a grand day's outing. A mild, sunny day with lots of snow and a hap-hap-happy gang! Club championships for junior members were held, too, and everything clicked okay. Results are listed tonight. Our congrats to the club seniors who handled the Saturday affair so well and gave so many school kids fond memories. Senior championships are being held next week at Bethany and Nassau.

Bees, Quakers Cops Wins In Cage Circuit

Bees' powerful last-half scoring punch enabled them to come from behind and defeat Zephyrs 28-17 and run their victory string to four straight in the feature senior basketball game at the Y.M.C.A. Saturday night. It was the first loss in six starts for Zephyrs. In the other game Quakers came to life to trounce Dominions 36-19, packing most of their scoring into the last half. The winning Bees cut Zephyrs' big lead in the standing by a full game, while Quakers drew away from Dominions and C.G.E., who jointly occupy the cellar. The standing:

	W.	L.	F.	A.
Zephyrs	5	1	177	122
Bees	4	2	194	138
Quakers	3	3	181	150
Dominions	1	4	114	197
C.G.E.	1	4	124	183

Quakers carried a small margin through the half to lead 14-10 and then turned on the heat in the final period. The winners, after losing their last three snapped back to their real form and exhibited a smooth passing, good shooting attack to readily subdue Dominions. The losers sank into a last place tie with C.G.E. Quakers made exactly no free throws in their ten tries, while Dominions made one for six. Joe Jakafby climbed into second place in the scoring race and led the winners with 14 points. McPherson and Gillespie were also prominent. Marsh was the losers' only standout. The teams:

Quakers: Centre, Kingdon 6; forwards, Ward 4, McPherson 6; guards Gillespie 4, Jakafby 14; subs: Patterson 2.

Dominions: Centre, Weese 2; forwards, Csumrik 1, Currie 2; guards, Marsh 14, Grose; subs: Hammill, Wolstenholme.

Uphill Fight.

Bees made a great uphill fight after Zephyrs took an early lead to go on to win. Zephyrs were out in front at the half 7-6, after scoring the first three baskets to gain a 6-0 lead. Bees started to go as the last half opened and tied it up with about half the period gone. Zephyrs took the lead once more but the Bees again tied it up and then went ahead again to stay. It was anybody's game through most of the hot battle, till the winners spurted near the end to carry them well out in front. The winners made 2 for 8 free throws and Zephyrs counted 3 for 11. Jim Thorburn, Pete McArthur and Les Ascott were outstanding for the winners and Jack Dougherty and Don Sedgewick were best for Zephyrs. The teams:

Bees: Centre, Craig 7; forwards, Thorburn 17, McArthur 6; guards, Ascott, Rogow; sub., Whaley 1.

Zephyrs: Centre, Dyer 2; forwards Dougherty 10, Stewart 3; guards, West, McIntyre; sub., Sedgewick 2.

CURLING

By HERB MARTIN

And now for the Neil Trophy competition—and what a contest this is going to be! We figure it will take five nights of this week and two next to run it to a successful finish.

With forty-two rinks entered, it puts us in mind of the days of the old open bonspiel, when nothing under forty rinks was considered worth while. And looking over the entries we notice some good strong schedule rinks, but nevertheless it is a wide open event. Who will win? Who knows? Will Tom McArthur's quartette repeat? Will A. Northey, Lakefield, again capture the consolation? Or will it fall to the lot of J. T. Braund to upset the dope and slip through with a photo finish? Not even the wise guys who sit behind the plate glass, in on number 8, would dare hazard a guess. There are no favorite, it's a 43-1 shot right across the board.

It is more than likely the rules will be posted up before the first round starts this evening at 6:45 p.m. Please be on time.

If "Ike" Batten doesn't believe in Santa Claus now, he never will, and if Wallace Harvey is not a twin brother to St. Nick we miss a guess entirely. Not only was Wallace so generous as to hand Fred six shots but he insisted on handing him the game as well—and was Mr. Harvey's face red? The shot ranks about the same as the famous Markle baseball play.

It all happened in the second game Saturday afternoon. Wallace lays five nice shots and comes down with his last stone, a wide in-turn and bumps Fred's stone right in on the button for shot and game. Nice going.

The winning skips were Dr. J. Green, H. Clegg, W. Harvey and C. Giroux.

In the evening the ladies staged a little mixed tournament with eight rinks competing. These Saturday evening events are very popular and it would not surprise us if all the ices were occupied next week-end.

The winning rinks were skipped by C. Wastbrooke, W. Widdess and H. R. Martin.

Orioles Blank Gulls

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Feb. 19.—(CP).—Baltimore Orioles took over first place in the Eastern United States Amateur Hockey League by defeating Atlantic City Sea Gulls here Saturday night. The teams fought hard for three scoreless periods, and then in the overtime period the Orioles scored four times. Norm Calladine tallied twice on solo dashes and Errickson and Tuten scored the other Baltimore points.

124 Rinks Are Entered In First Draw

TORONTO, Feb. 19.—(CP).— The Ontario Curling Association's 13th annual bonspiel got under way here to-day with first round play for the Royal York trophy. The draw included 124 rinks from 52 Ontario and United States curling clubs.

All trophy-winning rinks in the 1939 bonspiel are competing again this year, including D. P. J. Kelly's Toronto Granite Club four, who captured the grand aggregate and the North American Life and Seagram trophies last year, and Alex Hayes' Sarnia rink, 1939 winners of the Royal York trophy.

The 62 winning rinks in the first round of the Royal York draw also play for the Birks-Ellis-Ryrie and Seiberling awards, while the losers compete for the North American Life and Seagram trophies. Losing rinks in the first round of the latter draws enter consolation play for the Canada Dry trophy.

Nine rinks, five from Detroit, two from Schenectady and two from Milwaukee, comprise the largest group of United States curlers ever to compete in the bonspiel. More than 30 Western Ontario rinks, 10 from Northern Ontario, a large Eastern Ontario contingent and Toronto entries round out the draw.

Play will continue until Saturday on the ice of High Park, Granite, Toronto and Royal Canadian Curling Clubs here.

Rangers Widen Soccer Lead

LONDON, Feb. 19 — (CP Cable). —The latitude allowed clubs in the United Kingdom's wartime soccer competitions saved at least one game from being spoiled in the week-end program. When two of Swansea Town's players were taken ill en route to Plymouth, the home team provided substitutes, and instead of a one-sided affair, the crowd saw a hotly contested game.

Plymouth Argyle won 3-1 and the victory sent the squad into a tie with Swindon Town and Torquay United at the top of the South-west group Swindon and Torquay were idle.

Despite slippery grounds that made ball-control difficult, teams generally served up a good brand of soccer. Scotland had practically a full round of games in its two groups, but only an abbreviated schedule was carded in England.

Scottish home teams played brilliantly. Rangers stretched their lead at the top of the West Division to four points by a 3-1 decision over Airdrieonians at Ibrox Park. Hamilton Academicals, the Light Blues' closest rivals, brought their point-total to 23 by trimming Dumbarton 4-2. Venters, McKillop, and Thornton netted the Rangers' goals.

Defeat of Hearts by Dundee United, a second division squad, was the feature of Eastern group matches. The United was on the long end of a 3-2 count, and the loss put Hearts two points behind league-leading Falkirk, winner 4-1 over Stenhousemuir. Aberdeen, possible challenger for the championship of the section, went under 3-1 to St. Bernards.

In England's South C Division, Tottenham Hotspurs displayed good combination to defeat Charlton Athletic 2-0 and Chelsea turned in an easy 5-1 victory over Southampton, although the Pensioners lined up with a reorganized forward line.

Crystal Palace moved out in front in South D by virtue of a 4-1 decision over the strong Reading squad. Southend also did well to dispose of Norwich City 3-0.

'Y' Junior Team Wins 18-14 Over Visitors

In the dual swim meet held at the Y.M.C.A. pool on Saturday night the Y junior swim team held their own with the powerful Orillia Y squad, winning the swimming events by the score of 40 to 37. In the plunging events, however, the Orillia lads uncovered a real threat in Ken Newark, who won both senior and junior events. Starring along with Newark for the visitors were Stan Gilchrist and Peter Noy, who won both events for boys 14 and under and 15 and under respectively. Fred Town won the senior 40 free style, and Frank Yarnold, who was the mainstay of their junior team. Orillia won 53-42.

For Peterborough, Ralph Rogow, star junior swimmer, led the way with a first and a second, closely followed by Don Pinch with two seconds and two thirds. Warren Marshall with two seconds, Ray Routly with a second and a third, and Jim Brown with a second in the junior 40 yards free style were other point-getters for the local lads.

In the junior 160 yards free style relay, the Peterborough junior team of Jim Bron, Leonard Smith, Don Pinch and Ralph Rogow won by a wide margin in the fastest time ever turned in by a local junior team 1 minute 29 1-5 seconds.

Caps Senior Race.

Allan Marshall's employer allowed him time out from work and he came through by winning the senior 40 yards berast stroke event, which is his specialty.

The meet was held under the direction of Gord Minty, Y swim coach, who hopes to take his lads up to Orillia in the near future for a return engagement.

School Squads Draw In First Playoff

King Edward and Prince of Wales battled it out to a 2-all tie Saturday at All Saints' rink in the first of the School Hockey League final. It is a two-game series, goals to count, for the school puck title and the next game will be in the Brock St. rink—date to be announced later.

In a classy, close-checking tussle, with both goalies sparkling, Prince of Wales got a goal in the first period, King Edward scored in the second and both sides tallied once in a lively third heat. Play was even and exciting throughout. Murduff and Maudsley scored for the Wales' crew while Harris notched both counters for the K.E. squad. All the young puckists looked good in this encounter, especially the goalies. The teams:

TORONTO MAPLE LEAFS WIN TWO FROM MONTREAL CANADIENS

Kelly Scored Two Goals In 8 Seconds

By JACK CALDER
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

There's something about a collision of Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Canadiens that keeps the customers turning out and raving no matter where the two Canadian clubs ride in the National Hockey League standings.

The Maple Leafs whipped the Canadiens twice during the week-end, 3-1 at Toronto Saturday and 2-1 at Montreal last night, and though the Habitants are in last place and the Leafs badly crippled the fans attended in delirious droves. They saw two of the winter's justiest battles.

Pep Kelly

Captain Reginald (Red) Horner of the Leafs went back to his old game of knock-'em-down and drag-'em-out, while Regis (Pep) Kelly scored two goals within eight seconds to decide the contest. The belligerence was carried on by nearly every player on both teams last night when 22 penalties, including five majors, were called.

Before 10,320 adherents Nick Metz fired the winning goal eight minutes from the finis last night, while each team was two men short. A minute before, Ray Getliffe had tied the score. Bingo Kampman sent Toronto ahead after 14 minutes of the first period. In the turbulent third, Gus Marker of Toronto and Red Goupille of the home club drew majors for fighting and Horner and Montreals Toe Blake did the same. Kampman used his stick as a barrier to keep a group of white-hot fans from getting into the Horner-Blake tussle.

Rangers Beaten

Detroit Red Wings, running strongly in fifth position, continued their home-ice jinx over the league-leading New York Rangers, defeating them 2-0 with a late spurt. The beating left the Rangers only two points up on the second-place Boston Bruins, who have played three games fewer than their New York rivals.

The teams struggled through two scoreless periods and 12 minutes of the third period before the break came on a penalty to Captain Art Coulter of the Rangers. Then Alex Motter whipped a shot past Goalie Dave Kerr and, after Coulter's return, Modere Bruneteau rang up the second goal on Syd Howe's rebound.

The Americans pulled three points ahead of the Canadiens in their last-place debate by holding Chicago Black Hawks to a 1-1 overtime tie at New York. Murray Armstrong got the Americans' goal in the second period and Bill Thoms scored for Chicago in the third, the Hawks pressing almost continually after that.

Rev. M. S. Lynch Named Prexy Of The O.R.F.U.

TORONTO, Feb. 19.—(CP).—The Ontario Rugby Football Union has decided to do something about improving conditions in its intermediate and lower groups. Eight men have been chosen to deal with the problems facing these groups in various sections of the province and to renew interest that has been lacking in the past several years.

At the 58th annual meeting here Saturday the following were appointed for the assignment: Len Taylor of Woodstock, Joseph Goodman of Toronto, Gordon Mellon of Sarnia, E. McLean of Dundas, D. C. O'Brien of Windsor, William Fry of Belleville, William Walshe of Kingston and F. F. Dufton of Cobourg. Appointment of additional men will be taken when necessary.

Floyd Muirhead, president of the Toronto Balmy Beach club, told delegates he believed two clubs would operate in Montreal next season and if only one should be formed the chances were good it would be an O.R.F.U. entry. It has been rumored Montreal Westmounts would withdraw from the Union's Senior series.

Rev. M. S. Lynch, of St. Michael's College, Toronto, was elected president for two years, succeeding John DeGruchy who died last month after serving as president for 25 years. M. J. Chilton of Sarnia was named first vice-president and will succeed Father Lynch at the end of two years. Mr. Muirhead was elected second vice-president and Frank E. Lenard of Dundas, third vice-president.

North Dummer Loses 4-3 In Warsaw Tilt

WARSAW, Feb. 19 (ENS). — The Warsaw School made a clean sweep of the second half of their schedule when they trounced the powerful North Dummer aggregation 4-3 on Friday night, as the school had previously won from Douro on Wednesday this gave them the possible high of six points in the final half of the schedule and the right to meet the Stoney Lakers in the playdowns for the Casement Cup.

The North Dummer power line of Ramsay, Art and Roy Whetung had an off night, failing to stop the speedy rushes of the youngsters, and only the hard work of Crowe and L. Whetung on the defence kept the scholars from running up a larger score.

G. and E. Payne and Lonsberry were the spearhead of the School's attack, while Cooper gave the large crowd of fans plenty to cheer about with his good defensive work.

The teams:

School — Goal, E. Clements; defence, Cooper, Bernier; centre, Darling; wings, R. Payne, G. Clements; subs., E. Payne, Lonsberry, and G. Payne

North Dummer — Goal, B. Payne; defence, Crowe, L. Whetung; centre, A. Whetung; wings, Ramsay, R. Whetung; subs., Coppaway, Edgar, Ivey, and Puffer.

Referee—M. Lonsberry.

Ladies Lose.

The aged Dandruff Removers, most of them up from a sick bed, rose to the heights on Friday evening when they avenged a previous defeat by trimming the Warsaw Ladies 5-3.

The Barbers played their usual clean, if slow, game while the Ladies resorted to rough tactics, many of them being saved from major penalties by the lenient work of Referee D. Sharpe.

The teams:

Warsaw Ladies — E. Thompson, E. Selkirk, E. Bennett, J. Payne, N. Whetung, D. Darling, D. Payne, A. Watts, L. McIlvena.

Dandruff Removers — G. Moore, F. Sidey, A. Payne, H. Clements, C. Tighe, W. Wright, C. Watts.

Zion Terriers Whip Ross 1-0 In Finals

TWEED, Feb. 19—(ENS)—Emerging victorious from a tough semi-final series with the Foxboro Foxes, which they won by only a one-goal margin, the fighting Irish Terriers from Zion Hill took a hard-earned win from the league-leading Glen Ross Riversides in the finals of the Centre Hastings League on Friday night by the count of 1-0. Their victory was largely due to the efforts of Goalie Gifford, who was the star of the evening.

The first two periods were scoreless, and it was not until three minutes of the last canto had been played that Zion Hill broke into the scoring, getting the only counter of the game, when Brough and Faulkner broke through the Glen Ross defence. They skated right in on Hagerman, and the shot would have beaten any goalie.

The two Pyears, Martin Armstrong and H. Hagerman were the pick of the Riversides, with Sims, Tummon and Ray working well on the second line for the Zionites. Brough, Faulkner and Ketcheson turned in good efforts with Dickey and Bedford sealing up the defence in great style.

Glen Ross: Goal, B. Hagerman; defence, Brown, Fraser; centre, Martin; wings, R. Pyear, G. Pyear; subs, H. Hagerman, J. Armstrong, McDonald and Brooks.

Zion Hill: Goal, Gifford; defence, Dickey, Bedford; centre, Brough; wings, Ketcheson, Faulkner; subs, Tims, Tummon, Ray, Clarke.

Trenton Fliers At Brock In Final Game

The belt will be off the power house to-night (Monday) after 8.30 in the Brock Street Rink when Trenton Fliers tackle the Petes here in the third of their three-in-five O.H.A. Intermediate A group finals. The Petes have won two in a row already and are hoping to wipe out the Air Force threat in three straight. However, the Fliers will be throwing caution to the winds in a do-or-die attempt here this evening and will gang up and fight their heads off continuously in a desperate attempt to keep in the playoff picture. It should be a roaring, rousing puck battle.

The largest crowd of the season is expected out to see this clash between the fast-skating and bitter rivals. Enmity has been threatening all along between the clubs and has popped up from time to time. To-night there'll be some hard bumping and plenty of rough hockey thrown into the speedy and important contest. It promises to be a grand playoff battle with the locals either becoming group champions again or having to go back to Belleville for another tilt, if the Fliers win here to-night.

Remember When—

Canada's Kimberley Dynamiters advanced into the second round of the world amateur hockey championship at London three years ago to-night when they defeated Sweden 9-0. They exploded England's chances of the title by a 3-0 victory a week later and went on to win with a 2-1 overtime victory over Switzerland.

MT. CLEMENS, Mich., Feb. 19—(CP).—Dick Graff, youthful Chicago skipper, won the Gar Wood trophy by piloting his ice boat to three straight victories on Lake St. Clair yesterday in the Detroit Ice Yacht Association's annual regatta. Ted Mead of Chicago, finished second in each heat.

TWEED, Feb. 19 — (ENS). — On Saturday night, at the local arena, Tweed High Schol eliminatel the Stirling High School in a closely contested game, and have now earned the right to meet Norwood High School, who were the winners of the Norwood and Campbellford series of the O.S.S.A. Tweed entered the game with a one goal lead from Thursday night's game, when they tallied a 2-1 count, and then won the round 4-3, as a result of the two-all tie of Saturday night.

Within one minute of play in the first period, Langevin put the Tweed team two up on the round, by drilling a long shot from inside the Stirling blue line. Porritt received the only penalty of the period for boarding.

In the second period Stirling cut the lead to only one goal, when Pyear took a pass from Vandervoort to tally the only goal of the period.

The count was tied by Stirling shortly after the last canto commenced, with Vandervoort getting the counter. Tweed boys tallied a soft goal in the last period, to take the lead on the round 4-3. Stirling strongly protested the goal, but Wells allowed the count to remain. Both teams roughed things up considerably in the last period, when several players being temporarily knocked out on the end boards.

Lineups: Stirling—Goal, Tanner; defence, Walker, Pyear; centre, R. Walker; wings, Vandervoort, McGee; subs, Patterson, McIntosh, Bastedo, Lummiss, Francis.

Baseballers Now Play Golf In Spare Time; Two Are Becoming Closely Allied

Tampa, Fla, Feb. 19 — (AP). — Baseball and golf are becoming so closely allied it is difficult to realize that only a few years ago some managers were threatening to slap a fine on the first player they caught wielding a niblick.

The baseballer who doesn't play golf now in his spare time is becoming almost a museum piece. Their annual tournament, which ended here yesterday, is destined within a very few years to become one of the winter's top sports events in the United States.

When Wes Ferrell, now with Brooklyn, won the title for the second straight time by licking Jack Russell in the 36-hole final, 2 to 1, he had an enthusiastic gallery of nearly 1,000 following his shots.

This year's event drew several dozen top ball players, coaches and umpires, including some of the stars of the game. For instance, Bucky Walters, voted the outstanding player of last season, won the long-driving contest, and slugger Joe Medwick of St. Louis Cardinals was the medalist.

Grove Teams Wins Over Old Boys 4-3

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 19 (ENS). — The Grove Old Boys returned for an exhibition game with the present day boys here on Saturday evening. There was a good crowd for the game, and also the school was out in force. The Grove won out 4-3 and had to work hard all the time; they also had one goal called back on them. The Old Boys sparked by Robertson, Maynard and Fitzgerald tried hard to win.

Many of the Old Boys are playing in industrial leagues in the city, while Maynard is captain of the University of Toronto senior team. Frewer, Roberts, St. Remy, and Herold in the Grove nets looked good, with the rest proving effective also.

Goal-getters for the Old Boys were Maynard 2 and Fitzgerald, while Roberts counted twice also Vaughan and St. Remy for Grove.

The teams:

Old Boys—Goal, Morley; defence, Clarkson, Tippett; centre, Maynard; wings, Robertson, Fitzgerald; subs., Shepard, Skidmore, Edwards, Rose, Stewart, Bailey.

Grove. — Goal, Herald; defence, Foster, Carson; centre, Frewer; wings, Roberts, Harris; subs., St. Remy, Langmuir, Potts, Vaughan, Morris.

Referee—B. Blewett, Lakefield.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—(AP)—The Louis-Godoy fight films were sharply edited for the South American trade—to make Arturo look his best ...Railroads operating ski trains out of New York say last year's biz will be more than doubled...If Boston Red Sox wanted to reveal the figures you'd probably find they paid nearer $50,000 than the reported $75,000 for Dominic DiMaggio.

Sonja Henie got so mad the other day when a Boston paper gave her age as 30 she had her press agent send around photostatic copies of her passport, showing she is nearer 26.

Never heard of Olinder Trotter, did you?...Sure Sou didn't. He's Joe Louis' brother-in-law and he's making the local heavies behave around Minneapolis. Olinder doesn't pack a kayo wallop, but he's got a pretty good left and he knows how to stick it right into your kisser... Michigan State University coaches are seeing double and talking to themselves what with three sets of identical twins out for one sport or another.

Not long ago the Westerly (R.I.) high cage team walloped its arch rival, Stonington (Conn.) 158-12. We hate to throw this up, but back in 1918 Westerly put the skids under Stonington at fooball, 122-0.

CHAPTER FORTY-FIVE

IT WAS on the tip of Fabienne's tongue to say that she'd step outside and hail a taxi when Chris said she must go out and get word to Larry. She bit her lip to keep from speaking sarcastically. It wasn't really the sick girl's fault that Fabienne's nerves were frayed to the breaking point. Chris was not accountable for much that she said and did.

True, her fever had abated, but she coughed often and her cough was hard and dry, and each time that it ripped from her throat, Fabienne's feeling of alarm increased.

"There's still some mustard left," she said. "I'm going to mix some paste and put it on your chest."

"It feels sore," Chris said. "But I don't care. It's only necessary to get through to Larry."

"I will, just as soon as I can," Fabienne told her.

"You could take the car right now. The snow has let up. Perhaps he could get out here tonight."

Fabienne ran to the window. It was dark. Dark as midnight. Only the ground was light. The winter night was upon them. Another night, Fabienne knew, that they'd have to spend in the country because she couldn't get her car over those roads through which she had plowed, slipping into deep ruts.

She was beginning to be very hungry, and visions of steaming food made her feel dizzy. On the pantry shelf there was only one can of soup left, a tin of asparagus and one of corned beef hash. She'd used all the condensed milk for Sonny.

Resigning herself to a supper of stale crackers and cold asparagus of a pale hue, she opened the last tin of soup for Sonny, heated it and broke up half of her crackers into the mixture. She doubted if corned beef hash was invalid's food, but that was all there was for Chris. If they were marooned much longer, they'd have to get along on a diet of oatmeal.

The radio was on the table beside Chris' cot. When Fabienne came in with a tray that contained the mustard plaster for Chris' chest, as well as her dinner, she was sitting up, fiddling with the dial. "It won't work," she said crossly. "I can't get anything at all. Do you suppose I broke it, turning it off so abruptly."

"It doesn't matter," Fabienne answered wearily. "The less we know, the less we'll have to worry about. Chris, you must keep covered! After we take this plaster off, in twenty minutes, you'll be in danger if you get another chill."

"Make the fire nice and bright, Fabienne."

Fabienne slapped the plaster on Chris' chest, and pulled all the blankets over her. "Maybe if we keep the room dim, you can go back to sleep again," she said. It was better to have Chris think she wanted dimness, rather than let her know that the wood pile was down to six logs.

"I don't want to go to sleep," Chris said hoarsely. "I want you to go for Larry."

"Now, look here, Chris. I'm running this show. I'll go for Larry as soon as I can. In the first place, I've got to dig the car out. There's no garage here and I had to leave it out in the snow. It looks like—well, never mind. Anyway, I'm just as anxious to get out as you are. So don't plague me about it."

"I don't want to plague you, Fab. You've been wonderful! But you must realize how I feel.

"I realize how you feel, all right. I don't feel so darn good myself. Come here to me, Sonny. Auntie Fabienne is going to get you ready for bed."

"Why won't you let him come to me?" Christine whined.

"Because," Fabienne informed her, "I'd like them to still find him healthy and not down with your cold. I might get a couple of years off my sentence for taking care of you. Stop talking, Chris. Let me think!"

Chris subsided, awed into silence by the outbreak Fabienne had been unable to control. She watched the other girl for a long time. Fabienne sat with her head in her hands, lost in morose conjecture that produced no practical ideas.

After a little while she got up and took the flashlight off the mantle and went into the room Bill said he used as a lab.

It looked more like a junk room to her, she thought, flashing the light over the shelves of dust-covered bottles and chemical apparatus on a workman's shelf. There was fishing tackle and some old rubber boots thrown down in a heap of rope in one corner. And there, as if wishing had made it true, was a heavy coal shovel.

She pulled the rubber boots out and put the shovel under her arm and went back into the living room.

Chris watched her silently, while she pinned up her skirts and shoved her feet into the big, dusty boots. It was an awkward costume she achieved, but at least she wouldn't be in danger of getting a cold like Chris. Picking up the shovel, she went to the door. "I'm going to see what I can do about digging out the car," she said, letting herself out.

The shovel weighed a ton in her hands, unaccustomed to lifting anything heavier than a few pounds. She pushed as much of the snow off the roof of the car as she could reach with the shovel. Then, with her hands in a pair of Bill's old gloves, she pushed more of it away from the side of the car, freeing the door. Then she tackled the snow packed around the wheels.

Her hands felt raw and the small of her back burned to the point where she felt it would break, half hoping it would, and she could sink into the snow in delicious coma. When she finished, it was after ten and, though the car was free, it was impossible to move it into the road. The snow had miraculously blown fairly clear of the drive. And had she not known the condition of the road, she would have backed into it.

She threw the shovel into a snowbank, threw the gloves after it, and dragged her aching body back into the house.

Christine was once more asleep and the fire was down to embers in the fireplace. She had to use two of her precious logs to build the fire up again. Could it have been only last night that she was planning to join Nicky and Bill and Ellen somewhere for supper at this hour?

If she dozed and kept her mind on the importance of waking to watch the fire, she could keep it going until tomorrow, and hope—with a prayer—that someone would pass the house and give her a ride into the village.

She bent over Chris and listened to her breathing. It was easier now. It would be safe to leave her in the morning if she could leave the house warm.

Dying for sleep, she put on her coat again and dragged three of the wooden chairs through the door and out into the dark, where she would not disturb Chris. There she broke them apart, stamping on them, hammering them apart with strength that must have come from her soul. Her body felt incapable of breaking a match stick.

With the fuel problem temporarily settled, she fell instantly into a death-like sleep.

When she woke, Christine said, "There was a snow plough here around six."

With a groan as she tried to move her stiffened muscles, Fabienne got to her feet. "If only you'd wakened me," she said crossly, getting into her crumpled clothes. "Stay in bed, Chris. And I get back, I'm going to drive into the village."

She was not going to drive in that morning. There was no answering buzz when she turned on the ignition. The battery was a dead as her immediate hopes.

Huddled miserably and furiously over the wheel, she said to herself and some Higher Being, "I've GOT to do SOMETHING!"

And then she was aware that she was staring at an old aerial projected from the roof. It meant something to her. What was it? Something Bill had said about Channing going over to Danbury to see a guy who had a little ham radio outfit. The name of the man? What was it? Willis!

She jumped out of the car, not bothering to close the door after her, and ran toward the house.

For Tuesday, February 20

A MOST fortuitous chain of planetary influences should make this day an eventful and memorable one. Things move at swift-moving pace into channels of progress and prosperity. This may demand a rearrangement of plans with the assistance of strange persons, new contacts and different surroundings. Travel seems imminent. New propositions and adventures are the order of the day, with old associates and systems proving a stumbling block. Social enjoyments are also a happy side issue.

Those whose birthday it is are on the threshold of a pleasant, productive and prosperous year, with many new events and experiences. A breaking away from old plans, objectives and ties is quite probable with strange places and fresh contacts desirable. Fine stimuli for progress of creative work may come from inspired sources rather than outgrown ideals.

A child born on this day may be splendidly endowed with faculties for success, perhaps in new channels, as it should be original and imaginative, possibly being inspired from hidden sources. Its disposition will be lovable, genial, generous.

PROTECT YOUR PARTNER

WHILE THE declarer is running off a string of set-up tricks, you should see that he probably is trying to strip the hands down so that he may try for a squeeze or lead-throwing end-play. Even if your own hand seems almost worthless, you may be able to protect your partner by means of your discards, indicating to him what he should hold and what he should throw away. Otherwise he may prove helpless prey to the declarer's scheme.

West's jump raise having shown that he had a hand practically as good as an opening bid, East was ready for a small slam as soon as his partner's response to the Blackwood 4-No Trumps bid showed possession of two aces.

After South led the club 5 to the dummy's A, East rattled off three high trumps, four hearts, a fourth spade to the 10, then led the club 8 from dummy. North, who had retained two cards in each minor, took with his club K, then had his choice between giving the declarer a ruff-and-discard by means of a club return and building two diamond tricks for East by leading from his honors. So East lost only the one club trick and made his contract.

South might have prevented North's trouble On the hearts, he could have discarded first his club 6, then his club 4, as a high-low to tell his partner to unblock the suit. Had North then tossed away his club K, the end-play would have been prevented. South could have won the club trick later, then led through the diamond A toward North's K.

Carrots Sold For Juice Dollar A Bushel

"Carrots for juice" at one dollar a bushel! Who said there was nothing new on the farm produce market these winter Saturdays? Harold Doig showed the Examiner order slips for five bushels while another "juice" customer was enquiring about the purchase of a sixth bushel.

Vegetables juice is nothing new. It arrived before the spinach and "have you had your iron today" raisin propaganda. A Toronto doctor set up a press in his cellar years ago and used to sell the juice of the carrot and other vegetables as an aid in certain treatments. He even intimated that the profession was skeptical of the innovation, but as a matter of fact it may not have been an innovation, and there doesn't seem to be any law against the sale of carrot or beet juice.

The vegetable juice cult of the naturopathy school may not be numerically strong, but it is possessed of a faith like unto that which moveth mountains. So step up and get your weekly bushel, and if the line extends far the market gardeners will have to invest in bigger fields.

Across the aisle from the young Mr. Doig was juice of another flavor, gallon jars of apple juice at Norman Moncrief's booth—freshly crushed, sweet flavored, and with a wholesome tang to it that deserves to rate at least on a level with the citric and tomato extractions, if not above them. And the Moncrief cider sold at 40 cents a gallon.

Brisker Business

In the ecclesiastical calendar spring arrived this week, and its warmth was in the Saturday sun. The market attendance was higher business was generally better, and the old routine of arrangement had the familiar appearance to which it has been returning during the last few weeks for the first time since the fire of last June.

Eggs were fairly plentiful at the top price of 25 cents a dozen for the largest grade; and the smaller sizes brought 22 and 20 cents. Butter was steady at 29 and 30 cents, and chickens 20 to 23 cents with 17 and 18 cents for year old hens.

Turkeys Up To 27 Cents

Several lots of turkeys were noticed ranging in price from 27 cents down to 23 cents. It was explained that they were hatched later than the Christmas turkeys, were not ready for the holiday market, but have now reached 12 and 13 pounds. There were also a few geese at 20 cents.

The new entrances to the market stairs were used for the first time Saturday, with the official sanction of the Deputy Fire Marshal. Pleasant View Gardens of Bowmanville had a counter in the south entrance with a stock of apples, Northern Spies at 45 cents a peck, and Greenings, Wagners and Talman Sweets at 35 cents.

Harry Falls of Bailieboro quoted 40 cents for Spies, and had carrots, beets, parsnips and onions at 25 cents the six-quart basket. He was also showing several pairs of jack rabbits at 50 to 75 cents each.

Norman Moncrief's prices were: Spies 45c or $1.50 the bushel; Delicious 40 cents a peck; Ontarios, 35 cents; and Starks, Talmans and Greenings, 30 cents the peck or $1.10 the bushel.

The Doig vegetables prices were: Starks, apples, 25 cents a basket, White Star potatoes, $1.25; Dooleys $1.15; onions 30 cents a basket of six quarts. James Healey of Hastings asked $1.10 for Cobblers and $1.25 for White Stars. Erle Tully quoted Katahdins at $1.10 and said the Toronto market was more attractive at present.

George Mullen & Son tagged their beef at 12 and 14 cents and pork at 14 cents. Harry Gill had pork at 13 and 15 cents, mutton 10 and 12 cents, and lamb at 20 and 22 cents.

The row of wood was up to the usual number of loads. Chas. Binnington of Lakefield quoted $7.50 a cord for maple, and George Stephens of Apsley wanted $7.25 a cord for this truck load of three cords.

Kinsmen Club Seeks Charter

MARMORA, Feb. 19 (ENS)—The newly organized Marmora Kinsmen club met for their first regular dinner meeting in the Royal Hotel dining room, with about thirty local young men and a number of visiting Kinsmen in attendance.

"Banty" Bantick of Toronto, national secretary of the Kinsmen organization, and Austin Peters of Kingston, governor of district No. 6, were present to greet the new club members.

The Kinsmen gathered in the dining room at 6.30 and were called to order by the president, R. H. Underwood, and two minutes silence was observed in respect to the death of the Governor-General, Lord Tweedsmuir. The club then sat down to a delicious dinner which was much enjoyed by all.

"Ossin" Peters expressed his pleasure at being at the meeting and congratulated the club on the splendid progress it had made in organizing.

He said the first knowledge he had of the Marmora club was when the Belleville club had suggested that the Marmora Kinsmen be invited to join them in March at the joint meeting of the Belleville and Kingston clubs. He had made inquiries and was delighted with the results that had been achieved here in the way of organization.

"Banty" Bantick gave a fine address on Kinsmen Clubs Across Canada, their history and progress, and stated thet on Tuesday next the Kinsmen clubs of Canada would celebrate their twentieth anniversary with a specially arranged program for each club. He congratulated the president, Roy Underwood, on the work he had done in organizing the club and said that he had come down expecting to have a job geeting the club started but that there was nothing to be done.

Messrs Vincent Lynch and V. Knowles spoke briefly, thanking the National secretary and the District Governor for their interest and assistance.

A vote was taken and it was decided to apply at once for a charter for the club.

Vern Selkirk, president, and five members of the Peterborough club were present and they were called on for a few words as was Kinsman D. Slater of Kingston.

A couple of songs and some good-natured heckling among the visitors followed and brought the evening to a close. The next regular meeting will be held on February 26th.

Laying Britain's Vast Barrier Of Mines

A huge barrier of mines, about 500 miles long and many miles wide, is now being laid off the east coast of England—from the Moray Firth to the Thames Estuary. It contains no hidden dangers for shipping, as proper notice has been given according to international law. But to Germany the field presents a difficult and formidable obstruction—a complete bar against raids by the larger Nazi warships on coastal towns. It presents also a nerve-racking problem to U-boat commanders. A British mine is shown here being sent over the side of a minelayer to take its place in the formidable barrier.

British Baronet Gives Torpedo Boat Retiring Life Prevents Thanks

LONDON, Feb. 19—(AP).—When the Admiralty opened its mail the other day, it almost lost its cherished reputation for never being surprised. For among the letters was a brief note announcing the gift of a $150,000 torpedo boat from Sir John Reeves Ellerman.

The Admiralty hasn't thanked the lean, 30-year-old baronet, who is Britain's richest young man. It couldn't. As usual, no one knew where Sir John was living.

Ever since 1933, when he inherited the bulk of his father's estate—estimated as worth $171,709,771.92 in that year—Sir John has made a fetish of secrecy. All the others—the Fords, the Rockefellers, the Mellons, the Rothschilds, the Nuffields—have blanked or basked in the limelight. Not he.

What little is known of his life has been learned via the grapevine telegraph of British society, an organization nearly as efficient as the Admiralty intelligence. Even so, it is remarkably little.

If it seems impossible that a man whose income exceeds $10,000 a day should remain so obscure, consider these facts.

Married Canadian Jewess.

He was married secretly in 1933, two months after the death of his father, who had opposed the match. His wife is the former Esther de Sola of Montreal, a beautiful Jewess whose brother, Raphael, is one of Sir John's greatest friends.

Lady Ellerman is reputedly a painter in oils of great talent. But no one knows. Pictures signed "E. de S." frequently appear at exhibitions. She never has said they were hers, because no one has ever got within hollering distance to ask her.

Ellerman lived under one of two "noms de plumes" from 1933 until the outbreak of war in 1939. Until he decided that the nation had more to worry about than the personal lives of its richest men, he was known as either "Mr. Fountain" or "Mr. Bond."

Has Several Fortunes.

The Ellerman holdings include six major steamship companies, interest in a half-dozen of Britain's biggest breweries, and the illustrated newspaper group, including "The Tatler" and "The Bystander."

Most of his employees never have seen him. He seldom appears at any of his many offices, or at the board meetings of any of the fifty companies of which he owns a large share of the stock. The widespread organization is run by a grizzled soldier, Lieut.-Col. Sir William Cox, who is as approachable and hospitable as the Dalai Lama in Tibet.

Sir John has the money and time to indulge his hobbies, amateur theatricals, zoology, and secrecy. While less spectacular than those of the ebullient Tommy, they have their moments.

Sends "Gold Leaf" Letters.

At his farm, "Airth," near Sunningdale, Berkshire, he produces plays. The farm incidentally is surrounded by an eight-foot wall, the top of which is covered with broken glass as a deterrent to visitors. His neighbors get a great kick out of being invited to one of Sir John's shows. They should. The invitations are printed on gold leaf.

One night he staged "Faust" for an audience of "County" families, friends and bewildered but enthusiastic soldiers from a nearby garrison. When the lights suddenly went out, "Faust," Sir John, went down on his hands and knees and fixed the fuse.

Lady Ellerman directs the work on the farm, the produce of which is given to the military hospital at Camberly.

Father Was a German.

Other Ellermania:

He has five lines in the British Who's Who, compared with the columns given such dignitaries as the Archbishop of Canterbury, and the Lord Mayor of London.

His pets are rabbits, porcupines, and "rodents."

On his only appearance at the illustrated newspaper group's offices, he asked the book reviewers to save him review copies of books on zoology.

The Ellerman fortunes, there are three of them, were made by his father, the first Sir John.

Sir John's father was born in Hull, son of a German consular official and an English mother. His son was sent to school at Malvern, instead of the more fashionable Eton, because his father feared "designing boys will borrow money from him." But the youngster stayed at Malvern only a year. The remainder of his education was at the hands of tutors.

As a young man, he was considered Britain's prize catch by designing Mayfair mommas.

Vote Machinery For Army Gets Under Way

LONDON, Seb. 19 — (CP Cable). —Machinery for taking the votes of the overseas forces in Canada's coming battle of ballots went into action to-day under direction of Colonel J. T. C. Thompson, special returning officer.

Although he arrived only three days ago, he has accepted tenders for 260 ballot boxes—two or more may be needed for the larger of the Dominion's 243 ridings—and selected offices next door to Canada House.

As soon as possible after nomination day upwards of two tons of ballots and other necessary papers will cross the Atlantic. By that time, the unit returning officers, in each case a commissioned officer, will have been named for each battalion, battery, and other component parts of the First Division of the Canadian Active Service Force.

These officers will supervise registration of the troops and issuance of ballots. After completion of this procedure the men will be responsible individually for seeing they are mailed to Colonel Thompson or delivered when they are in London on leave.

6 Days for Counting.

Actual vote counting will be done by six scrutineers appointed by the political parties. This will get under way at 6 p.m. local time (1 p.m. EST) on March 26 and counting must be completed within six days. When the complete count of the overseas active service electors' vote is made it will be forwarded to Jules Castonguay, chief electoral officer for Canada, at Ottawa, and in turn will forward it to the returning officers for the various constituencies concerned.

While stump speeches are banned in military areas such as Aldershot, there is nothing to hinder electioneering in the various London canteens and hostels frequented by the troops on leave. However, it is likely the troops will keep posted on the election campaign mainly through Canadian newspapers, which are crossing the Atlantic in great bulk.

CHAMBERLAIN APPROVES RAID UPON ALTMARK

33-Mill Rate For 1940 Is Proposed

Decrease 1.5 Mills From 1939 Rate Passed By Committee

Peterborough's tax rate this year will be 33 mills to provide for an estimated expenditure of $773,800, a decrease of 1.5 mills from the rate of 34.5 mills last year

With this decision Monday night the finance committee of the council sealed the 1940 budget, passing it on to a special meeting of the council to be held Wednesday night.

The taxes to be collected this year will be due at approximately the same time as in 1939, payable in three installments, June 7, August 7 and October 7, with no change in the penalties.

The penalty for failure to pay the first instalment on the required date will be 4 per cent, on the second instalment 3 per cent, and on the third instalment 2 per cent.

City Treasurer M. E. Shaver suggested that the penalty of three per cent on each instalment which was applied two years ago was more convenient for clerical purposes, but the committee felt that it was not sufficient, especially on the first instalment, to stimulate prompt payment.

Miscellaneous Fund.

After a long discussion about the proposed salary schedule, with consideration of several of the applications which had been received of late, Mayor Hamilton announced that, allowing for certain last minute increases totalling $1,700, which did not affect the rate, the committee would be in a position to recommend a 33-mill rate to the council. He also said the budget included a miscellaneous account of $13,000 as compared with $8,000 last year, a financial margin for contingencies which might arise before the end of December.

"Thi special account will also provide for an amount to be set aside for unpaid taxes," His Worship said. "We have been putting by $4,000 a year for that purpose, but at present it is left in this miscellaneous account."

French Mistake Costs 20 Lives

PARIS, Feb. 20 — (AP). — Two truckloads of French soldiers who lost their way in the maze of frontier entanglements and crossed the German lines suffered at least 20 deaths from German grenade throwers, military sources reported to-day in detailing the action disclosed by yesterday's French communique.

The losses, heaviest since mid-October, at first were attributed to a German ambush, but later an error was blamed.

The French were en route to relieve men in advanced positions when by some misdirection they approached a German outpost and were showered with grenades. There was no engagement except when the French tried to defend themselves and fall back.

A Reminder

LONDON, Feb. 20—(CP). —The Daily Herald, discussing the action of the Royal Navy in rescuing British seamen from the Nazi prison ship, Altmark, reminded Norway today that "Germany has been continually and flagrantly violating your territorial waters."

In an editorial in the form of a letter, the newspaper asked Norway how she could fail to remember that Germany "has killed your seamen and sunk your ships and the ships of other neutrals."

"German submarines hug your coastline on their way in and out to attack British ships," said the paper. "Though we know this well, British ships have been scrupulously observing international law.

"Do you realize that German merchant ships are loading iron ore at your northern port of Narvig and conveying it down your coast line to Germany? Without this iron, which in winter she can get in no other way, Germany almost certainly could not carry on the war. Yet Great Britain, with her overwhelmingly powerful naval forces, out of respect for international law, is allowing this traffic to go on.

Prison Ship Skipper Admits Craft Naval Auxiliary

OSLO, Feb. 20 — (AP).— Informed Norwegian circles indicated today the government would permit the German prison ship Altmark to leave Norway's territorial waters whenever the Germans desire.

Great Britain has asked that the Altmark be interned.

Since British tars boarded the German ship in territorial waters on Friday night and removed British merchant seamen prisoners, the Altmark has been grounded on rocks in Gjossingfjord.

There was no indication of any move to float the Altmark to-day, or make her ready for departure.

GJOSSINGFJORD, Norway, Feb. 20 — (AP). — While Norway, Germany and Great Britain argued over the status of the German prison ship Altmark, the ship's captain admitted that his vessel served as a German naval auxiliary.

In eulogizing the seven German sailors killed when British sailors boarded the Altmark on Friday night to remove British prisoners, Captain Heinrich Dau declared:

GERMANY'S severest winter in a century has made it necessary to revise clothes rationing to allow citizens to purchase the March and April allowance of 20 points immediately.

Each German holds a rationing card with a complicated system of points whch may be used for purchases at certain intervals. For each article purchased a certain number of points are clipped off.

Twenty points will allow a man to buy a pair of pants or one shirt or a heavy pair of drawers. Women may buy a skirt or underwear. The 20 points, however, are five too few to buy a sweater.

Swedes Insisting Finn Front Must Be Held

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 20 (AP)—Swedish Activists — advocates of more help for Finland—presented a resolution to premier Per Albin Hansson today declaring that "the Finnish front must be held and helped by Swedish assistance."

With the Swedish press giving unanimous support to he declaration of King Gustaf yesterday ruling out direct military aid to Finland, the activists continued their efforts to encourage as much assistance as possible to the embattled neighbor.

King Gustaf pointed out that Sweden could continue to give Finland "the not inconsiderable assistance" which she "now gets from us and greatly needs."

The activists in their resolution today, presented through the so-called "Northern Freedom Conference," did not urge direct intervention.

It declared:—

"Finland's case is ours. The Finnish front must be held and helped by Swedish assistance. Intervention from States outside the north would threaten to make our country a theatre of war.

"We maintain that freedom and peace are best, through giving our own help so vigorously that any other help is unnecessary."

Brands Norway As Negligent In Failing To Attempt Search Of Nazi Prison Ship

Scores Norse Attitude Allowing Traffic Of German Warships

LONDON, Feb. 20 — (CP). — Prime Minister Chamberlain congratulated the Royal Navy in the House of Commons to-day on its rescue of 299 British prisoners from the German ship Altmark and declared "the Norwegian authorities have displayed complete indifference as to the use which might be made of their territorial waters by the German fleet."

He termed the statement of Foreign Minister Halvdan Koht that the Norwegian authorities did not know British prisoners were aboard the Altmark "most surprising," since reports to that effect were published weeks ago.

Not once but three or four times, Mr. Chamberlain said, Norway failed to carry out a proper investigation of the Altmark.

It was not until after Norway failed to investigate, he went on, "that His Majesty's ships took action."

"It is claimed that if they had not done so, the ship would have been allowed to complete her voyage without let or hindrance and without inquiry into the circumstances."

No Search Possible?

The Norwegian view appeared to be that the Altmark was a warship and that no request to search her could be made, Mr. Chamberlain continued.

According to Koht, he said, Norway saw no objection to a German warship using her territorial waters to convey British prisoners to a German prison camp.

This, Mr. Chamberlain added, in the British Government's view would legalize the abuse by German warships of neutral waters and "create a position His Majesty's Government could in no circumstances accept."

The House cheered as Mr. Chamberlain said that even of Norway's "indifference was due to German pressure it is nevertheless in the view of His Majesty's Government inconsistent with the active and impartial exercise of the duty of a

German Acts Of War In Norway Waters To End Says Paris

PARIS, Feb. 20 (AP) — The French and British navies will take "all measures" to make sure that Norwegian waters are not used for belligerent purposes, a French government spokesman stated tonight.

The spokesman said that a stop would have to be put to "acts of war" being carried on by the German navy in Norwegian waters.

He maintained that the German navy was "abusing" Norwegian neutrality and has been using Norwegian waters as a base for operations in the North Sea.

This statement was made shortly after Prime Minister Chamberlain endorsed the British navy's action in freeing British prisoners from the German ship Altmark in Norwegian waters last Friday. Mr. Chamberlain charged that Norway was negligent in not preventing German belligerent activity in her waters.

The French spokesman charged that German merchant ships are using Norwegian waters to make their way to Germany, thus avoiding the French and British blockade. (Notably the $20,000,000 German liner Bremen was believed to have steamed down the Norwegian coast to safety in Germany after MOSCOW, Feb. 20—(AP). —The Soviet press denied indignantly today a German press charge that Russia has territorial designs on Norway.

The Communist party newspaper Pravda took sharp issue with the German paper Nachtausgabe which Pravda said alleged the Soviet Union was planning to establish herself on the North Atlantic at Norway's expense.

Pravda expressed doubt that the Nazi editors believed "these ravings, knowing from experience in Soviet - German relations that the U. S. S. R. is a stranger to the policies of usurpation.

"The editors obviously were not guided by a desire to promote a further strengthening of friendly relations between Germany and the U.S.S.R. which have been developing so successfully," said Pravda, professing inability to explain appearance of the Nachtausgabe article.

LawGroup Favors Act To Force Locking Of Cars

TORONTO, Feb. 20—(CP)—Municipal law committee of the Ontario Legislature today decided to report to the Legislature in favor of adoption of a bill to enable municipalities to make it an offence for a motorist to leave his car unlocked in a public place.

The bill, sponsored by Dr. A. S. Duncan (Liberal, London), was amended to exempt commercial vehicles from its provisions.

Judge J. F. McKinley, chairman of the Ontario Parole Board, spoke in favor of the bill. Of 841 inmates in the Guelph Reformatory, 22.3 per cent. were there for car thefts.

E. J. Anderson (Liberal, Welland) asked if the insurance companies were promoting the bill. He was assured they were not.

The committee killed a clause in a bill to amend the Municipal Act, sponsored by Hon. Eric Cross, Minister of Municipal Affairs, that would have given the Municipal Affairs Department the right to pass on fees and salaries voted municipal councillors and utilities commissioners by councils.

Mr. Cross said the bill was intended to prevent abuse of the system that provides fees for each meeting. Many unnecessary committee meetings were held. In view of the opposition, however, Mr. Cross consented to withdrawal of the clause.

Grand Jury Urges Retaining Of Present System

Acting upon a declaration by Mr. Justice Hope that the fate of Grand Juries in Ontario should be weighed carefully at a time when the liberty of people is being wiped away in many lands, a Grand Jury in Peterborough yesterday afternoon went on record as entirely opposed to their abolition.

"With reference to Your Lordship's remarks re the abolition of the Grand Jury system, we would respectfully point out to Your Lordship that we have carefully looked at such abolition from every angle," the report of Foreman James Ellis read.

"We believe that there is still some place under our system of democratic government and administration of law and justice, for Grand Juries, and in our opinion, we feel it would be a great mistake to depart from this well tried and old-established institution, in which we as jurors are permitted to serve our King and State, especially in these days of changes and upheavals."

The jury further recommended "to proper authorities that when a motor vehicle license is issued to an applicant, that such applicant must present with his application evidence of having insurance covering public liability and property damage."

In the face of possible impending abolition of Grand Juries from Ontario, Mr. Justice Hope had earlier addressed the jury at the spring sessions of the Supreme Court of Ontario here. And he sounded warning that some safeguard to individual liberty must be maintained in this land if Grand Juries are abolished.

Turks' Supreme War Council Meets Allies' Experts To Lay Final Plans

ANKARA, Turkey, Feb. 20—(AP) —Turkey's Supreme War Council convened today for a week's session expected to be devoted largely to plans for co-ordinating Turkey's armed forces with the armies which Great Britain and France are concentrating in the Near East.

The two Western Allies joined with Turkey in a mutual aid accord, are authoritatively reported to have assembled a strong force in Syria, Palestine, Egypt and other Near Eastern areas.

Field Marshal Fevzi Karmak is presiding over the War Council.

For the past month, competent sources disclosed, the Turkish army has been in a state of gradual mobilization. Three hundred thousand men were said to be arrayed along the Russian frontier, three times the normal border garrison.

The Turkish Government has been operating under special national defence pozers voted it by the National Assembly January 17. On January 27 the cabinet issued the first of a series of decrees invoking powers of this National Defence Act, and since then further decrees have put the national virtually on a war footing.

The supreme war council meeting finds Turkey ready for war should it come. The national economy has been gradually mobilized and martial law has been applied in the frontier districts.

Informed quarters disclosed that President Ismet Inonu and the general staff soon will inspect the

Finns Stop Reds In Battle On Frozen Lake

HELSINKI, Feb. 20 (AP)—The smashing of a Russian attempt to advance across the ice of Lake Suvanto on the Karelian Isthmus and the repulse of other attacks in the Verdun-like battle below Viipuri (Viborg) were reported today by the Finnish high command.

HELSINKI, Feb. 20—(AP).—As Soviet artillery sent shells screaming amid ruined buildings of Viipuri (Vibourg) today, the Finns classed that embattled ghost city as a definite section of the fighting front.

The city, which once vied with Tampere (Tammersfors) for title as Finland's second largest, is not necessarily in immediate danger of capture, an informant said, but the Red army penetration of Mannerheim Line defences has subjected it to regular shell fire, and aerial bombings have been redoubled.

Most of the 74,000 population was removed before the Russian invasion began November 30. Last week the remaining handful of civilians departed.

(The Russians, reporting they were within six miles of Viipuri, said in a communique today they had taken islands south of the city on the Gulf of Finland, and held two stations on the maritime railway which links it with the coastal fortres sat Koivisto.

(The Russians said they were continuing to clear the Bjorke (Bkorko) fortified area of Finns, the area occupied by the important Koivisto battery that is the western anchor of the Mannerheim Line.)

Attacks Turned Back

A Finnish spokesman said new Karelian Isthmus defence positions to which the Finns were forced to withdraw were "sound," and that Russian attacks on them had been repulsed. The line was described as running from somewhere west of Summa toward Muolaa.

The Finns gave supporting details on the destruction of the 18th Russian Division, which they reported yesterday 10 miles north of Lake Ladoga and some 55 miles from the Mannerheim Line struggle.

In reporting the wiping out of this infantry force of 18,000 men—the third such victory they have claimed—the Finns said captured war implements included 100 tanks, 75 motor vehicles, 23 tractors, 58 guns of various types, 12 anti-tank guns, more than 60 machine guns and 44 field kitchens.

Stand On Finland May Cost Gustaf Throne

OSLO, Norway, Feb. 20 — (AP). —The chief editor of the Norwegian newspaper Tidens Tegn to-day reported from Stockholm that military leaders in Sweden may force an issue on the demand for direct aid to Finland, causing a political crisis which may even even lead to the abdication of King Gustaf.

Although admitting the matter rests in conjecture, the newspaper's despatch said: "It may happen that Swedish military circles, the majority of which want intervention in Finland, will press for a decision, a sort of coup d'etat, and that this will lead to the present King's abdication."

The newspaper said that in event of King Gustaf's abdication, the Swedish Crown Prince undoubtedly would assume the throne with a new cabinet.

13 of 15 Neutral Ships Sunk In Week Been Torpedoed Without Warning

LONDON, Feb. 20.—(CP)—British authorities said today that last week's British and neutral shipping losses were the heaviest of the war, but said that four German submarines "were definitely sunk" and two others were believed destroyed by the Royal Navy or Air Force.

The successful attacks on the six U-boats were said to have occurred within a space of six days last week, which naval sources said was marked by the return of the torpedo to first place as a weapon of destruction.

The Admiralty listed five British and 15 neutral ships as lost during the week ending Sunday with a total of 86,077 tons, surpassing the previous high mark of 78,193 tons set in the second week of the war.

Mines had taken the greatest toll for some time, it was said.

The list included two neutral losses previously unannounced—the 3,396-ton Finnish ship Wilja, sunk by an explosion on February 16 with the crew rescued; and the 4,297-ton Norwegian steamship Sangstad, torpedoed on February 18, with the crew of 28 and one passenger saved. It was not known whether others were aboard the Sangstad.

The British naval source said that probably 13 of the 15 neutral vessels were sunk by submarines without warning.

The Admiralty also disclosed capture of the German trawler Herrlichkeit, 268 tons, by a British warship which brought her into a British port.

In April, 1917, when Germany's unrestricted submarine campaign of the last war was at its height weekly sinkings averaged 105 ships of all nations with a tonnage of 203,000.

This source added that 100 neutral ships were given British convoy protection during last week and that only 19 ships had been lost out of 3,969 convoyed since the war started.

The Evening News reported that German bombing planes machine-gunned the decks of four British trawlers in the North Sea yesterday but failed in attempts to bomb the ships.

British fighting planes chased the Germans away.

The Admiralty's figures to-day said that the five British ships sunk last week totalled 30,276 tons and the 15 neutrals 46,801 tons.

Raids On Air Bases, Plane Plants Expected To Open Nazi Spring Drive

WITH THE FRENCH AIR ARMY AT THE FRONT, Feb. 20—(AP).—Should war in the Western front break out with new intensity at the end of winter weather, French fliers believe one of the first German moves would be mass attacks on France's air bases and plane factories.

This theory is not official, but apparently has enough official support to have caused strengthening of ground defences for all air bases.

The air army reasons that before Germany can hope to start any large-scale land offensive, she must master the air in combat or by destroying French bases and sources of supply.

If such a campaign succeeded, the French fliers say Germany then could start the long-awaited "total war."

The French opinion is that such a campaign would fail for three reasons:

That the French and British together are at least equal to Germany in the air; that even if the Germans broke through, they would have to face a ring of anti-aircraft defences; and that to master the air it would be necessary to destroy the French planes themselves, a difficult task in the French view.

WITH THE ROYAL AIR FORCE IN FRANCE, Feb, 20—(AP).—With the approach of spring, British fliers are ready to take full wing at a moment's notice—perhaps in a new theatre of action.

For six months, the fighter, bomber and scouting squadrons have been doing regular patrol work over the Western front. They report they have lost only one or two fighters and a few reconnaissance ships in that time while bringing down 24 German craft of all types.

The severe winter, with temperatures below zero, and snows up to two feet in depth, restricted activity on the continent, particularly after January and February snowfalls.

During the lull, Air Marshal A. S. Barratt took over the post of commander of all British flying forces in France. Now the fliers are looking for action, and say it would find them better prepared than at any time since the war began in September.

The non-flying time has been put to use in re-equipping squadrons, consolidating bases and improving airports. New planes have been brought in and old ones assigned to other missions.

Norway Answer To Be Given By Chamberlain.

LONDON, Feb. 20.—(CP)—Britons looked today to Prime Minister Chamberlain in the House of Commons to point the way out of the impasse with Norway over Great Britain's demand that the German prison ship Altmark be interned.

Norway, for her part, has asked Great Britain to return between 300 and 400 British merchant seamen released from the Altmark last Friday night in Norwegian territorial waters by a boarding party from the destroyed Cossack.

Norwegian and British readings of international law are diametrically opposed on one vital point of the diplomatic controversy.

The Norwegian foreign Minister Halvdan Koht, declared last night before a special session of the Storting (parliament) that nothing in international law prohibited a belligerent from conveying prisoners through neutral waters if the passage of the ship itself were legal.

On the other hand Britain contends that Norway failed in her duty as a neutral in not having ascertained that the Altmark was carrying prisoners of war.

Koht argued that the Altmark, al-

Euler Proposes Manion Name His Cabinet Now

MITCHELL, Ont., Feb. 20—(CP).—Conservative Leader Manion today stood challenged by Trade Minister Euler to define more clearly his National Government proposal or to conduct his campaign along straight party lines.

In an address before a nominating convention here last night Mr. Euler asked that Dr. Manion "call a spade a spade" and name the Cabinet he would form if elected, so the people "can be the judge."

The nominating convention chose as Liberal candidate for Perth riding, Fred G. Sanderson, Deputy Speaker in the last parliament, and four times member for the constituency. He was unopposed.

If Dr. Manion was sincere in his desire to have a National Government, "it is fair to assume that at least a proportion of his members should be Liberals," said Mr. Euler. Not one person in more than 100 nominated on the national ticket is other than a Conservative.

On that explanation it was obvious that the miscellaneous fund was only $1,000 more than last year.

The motion to strike the rate at 33 mills was moved by Alderman Dutton, and seconded by Alderman McCannan.

Alderman Bradburn enquired about the equivalent in mills of the money received from the City Trust Commission's surplus, and was informed that it was 1.29 mills. He remarked that the reduction effected in addition to that benefit was only .21 mills.

Alderman Cotton, chairman, pointed out that the subsidy from the Ontario government was half a mill less than last year, and City Treasurer Shaver mentioned the fact that the council was appropriating $17,000 out of the current tax revenue for the purchase of new equipment. This equipment includes a new pumper for the Fire Department, and a road roller, motor grader and truck for the Board of Works.

At an earlier stage of the preparation of the estimated expenditures, Mr. Shaver had advocated the purchase of this equipment by borrowing money on the debenture plan, but eventually the council as a whole continued the pay-as-you-go practice.

"I'm just wondering whether we could get the rate down another half mill," Alderman Bradburn remarked, just before the vote was taken.

"Better a little surplus at the end of the year, than to wind up in the red," Alderman McCannan commented.

Alderman Cotton called for the vote on Dutton-McCannan motion, and the rate was adopted unanimously.

Early Purchase.

"Well, since we have appropriated the money for this equipment we ought to do something about getting prices before they advance," Alderman Bradburn suggested. "I think a small committee should be appointed to go into this matter at once, because we know the price of steel has been advancing. That committee could get prices and report back as soon as they can."

The idea was accepted, and Alderman Wilson, Ovens and McCannan were appointed, with Mayor Hamilton, to obtain the information for the council.

The French and British military missions charged with coordination of the British-French-Turkish forces will take part in the supreme war council meetings, it was reported.

The council's emergency meeting came as the Turkish press declared the whole world must aid Finland, who was said to be "battling for civilization against the Red barbarians."

Ankara military sources reported that hundreds of thousands of troops, including the Czecho-Slovak legion now training in France, would be added to the French and British near east garrisons.

The Allies, they added, were massing a proportionately strong air force in Egypt, Palestine and Syria. The aerial arm, it was indicated, would be coordinated under Air Marshal Sir William Gore Mitchell, commander in chief of the Royal Air Force in the Near East.

neutral toward ourselves as belligerents."

"This admirably-conducted operation resulted in the rescue of 299 officers and men belonging to a number of British merchant vessels sunk by the German armoured ship Graf Spee," the Prime Minister told a cheering House.

Waiting Officers' Reports

"His Majesty's Government are at present awaiting full reports from the Naval officers concerned in this very gallant affair but I am sure the House will join with the Government in the satisfaction they feel at the release and that members will want to congratulate the Royal Navy most heartily on this notable addition to its annals."

Mr. Chamberlain said "It now appears the Norwegian authorities made no examination of the Altmark at all."

"Apart from the original protest handed to the Foreign Secretary on Saturday we have received no official communication from the Norwegian Government," Mr. Chamberlain said, adding he would comment immediately on yesterday's statement by the Norwegian Foreign Minister which he had seen in the press.

"According to Professor Koht's statement the Altmark was stopped a little south of Trondjhem Fjord by a Norwegian torpedo boat whose commander made a request to inspect the ship," Mr. Chamberlain said.

A. V. Alexander, Labor, said the opposition was pleased with Mr. Chamberlain's statement and that wished to be associated in praise of the action of the Navy in freeing the seamen.

Proposal Refused

"Before His Majesty's ships took any action against the Altmark," said Mr. Chamberlain, "the commanding officer, acting on instructions from His Majesty's government, proposed to the Norwegian naval officer on the spot that the Altmark should be taken to Bergen under a joint British and Norwegian guard in order that the matter might be properly investigated there by the Norwegian authorities.

"This offer was refused. The British commanding officer then invited the Norwegian officer to accompany the British boarding party on board the Altmark, but he declined to do so."

Then, said the Prime Minister, the Navy took action.

It appears, however, that the chief naval commander in Bergen was not "satisfied," and on February 15 the Altmark, when about 100 miles from Bergen, was stopped by a Norwegian guard ship demanding to inspect the ship. The Altmark captain refused to submit to inspection and the request was dropped.

Even the fact that Norwegian authorities discovered that the Altmark had used her wireless in Norwegian territorial waters in violation of Norwegian regulations did not lead the Norwegian authorities to take any action beyond making a complaint and accepting an apology based on the statement that the captain of the Altmark was not acquainted with the Norwegian prohibition.

I have taken all the above from professor Koht's statement.

The British commanding officer invited the Norwegian officer to accompany the British boarding party on board the Altmark but he declined to do so. It will be seen, therefore, that on not one occasion, but on three or four, the Norwegian authorities failed to carry out a proper investigation of the case.

Surprising Statement.

I observe also that Professor Koht stated that the Norwegian authorities did not know that British prisoners were on board the Altmark. Considering that this fact was prominently reported weeks ago in the press of the world, I cannot but regard this as a most surprising statement.

I find it difficult in these circumstances to resist the conclusion that the Norwegian authorities displayed complete indifference as to the use which might be made of their territorial waters by the German fleet.

Even if such indifference was due to German pressure it is nevertheless, in view of His Majesty's Government, inconsistent with the active and impartial exercise of the duty of a neutral towards ourselves as a belligerent.

According to the views expressed by Professor Koht the Norwegian government sees no objection to the use of Norwegian territorial waters for hundreds of miles by a German warship for the purpose of escaping capture on the high seas and conveying British prisoners to a German prison camp.

Such a doctrine is at variance with international law as His Majesty's Government understand it. It would, in their view, legalize the abuse by German warships of neutral waters and create a position which His Majesty's Government could in no circumstances allow.

Soldiers Wreck Toronto Hotel In Five Minutes

TORONTO, Feb. 20—(CP).—Military authorities announced that an inquiry would be held today into the wrecking of the ground floor of a hotel here last night by a squad of soldiers. About 120 uniformed men marched into the Rivera Hotel on King Street East, smashed entrance doors, tavern tables, the lobby desk and other ground floor furnishings.

The trouble lasted only five minutes and by the time city police riot squads arrived the men had left the hotel and the matter was turned over to military police.

The M.P.S. said all the men involved had returned to barracks but declined to say if any arrests had been made. There was still no inkling of the cause of the trouble.

One city constable patrolling his beat saw the soldiers congregating near the small hotel on the outskirts of downtown Toronto and, suspicious of their actions, sought to question them. He was warned to "walk the other way."

While the constable rushed to telephone city police, the soldiers, marching in good order, entered the hotel and made a shambles of the ground floor.

Plate glass windows and the glass of the main entrance were smashed. The lobby desk was kicked to matchwood and tavern tables in the men's and women's beverage rooms were smashed. No customers or hotel employees were harmed, however.

George Flett, the hotel proprietor, said he had no idea what prompted the riot. He said that he had had no trouble with soldiers.

Be Through Line By Friday Is Reds Boast

MOSCOW, Feb. 20 — (AP). — Soviet sources expressed confidence to-day that Russian troops would smash through Finland's Mannerheim Line in time for the Red army's 22nd anniversary celebration next Friday.

Indications that the Russians would intensify their efforts to crush the Finns were seen in Soviet press reports and public lecture declarations that the army anniversary would witness an announcement of a break in the Finnish maze of forts and pillboxes on the Karelian Isthmus.

The regular Russian communique from Leningrad said the Red army was mopping up areas six miles south of Vilpuri (Viborg), where the Soviet troops were reported to have isolated the Finnish coast defence fort at Koivisto, western terminus of the front.

While declaring the Red army was invincible in any case, Tass, the Soviet news agency, reported the Finns were doomed when Sweden turned down a Finnish request for direct military aid.

The Russians reported shooting down 14 enemy planes.

(The Finns asserted they had shot down 20 Russian planes on Sunday.)

Meanwhile, a Tass report declared that a despatch from Istanbul by Stefani, Italian news agency, declaring a Russian detachment had crossed the Turkish frontier was a "product of the sick imagination of its authors."

Taxes Can Be Cut 15 Millions Says Macaulay

TORONTO, Feb. 20—(CP)—Major revenue raising measure of the session, the act to increase the provincial taxes on corporations, was scheduled for second reading debate in the Ontario Legislature today.

As the House rose yesterday, Leopold Macaulay (Con. York South), who earlier had led off the Conservative attack on the budget, asked Provincial Secretary Harry Nixon what was the meaning of Attorney-General Conant's second reading amendments to the corporation tax bill. Mr. Nixon said he would let the attorney-general do his own explaining.

Mr. Macaulay and Leslie Frost (Con. Victoria) attacked the budget because it didn't reduce expenditures sufficiently and because there was no effort to reduce taxation. Mr. Macaulay contended it should be possible to cut $15,000,000 off the estimates without crippling any essential service.

"I say that the treasurer could take $15,000,000 off his ordinary taxation and expenditures without crippling this province in any essential service," said Mr. Macaulay. "That would be only a starter. The following year, he could take another slice off, and ultimately get the wartime budget of this province down to manageable proportions."

"You suggest where you'd take the $15,000,000 off," said Premier Mitchell Hepburn.

"You send it back to your budget committee and tell them if they don't do it, you'll get a new committee," sair Mr. Macaulay. "You give me the authority, I think I can do it."

Cannot Maintain Pace.

Net debt of the province, that portion of the debt repayable from taxation, had increased $144,200,000 in 5½ years of the Hepburn government, said Mr. Macaulay. Current expenditure was mounting also. The government's vast spending machine could not maintain the present pace.

ENDLESS WAISTLINE

By ALICE ALDEN

HERE'S the endless waistline most of you have been hearing about, in a beige frock to go with any color coat — blue, brown or black. The coat may be one you already own, or the more expensive half of a dress-and-coat ensemble you're considering purchasing. At any rate, it won't quarrel with anything in this picture, monotone from head to foot. The beige straw hat is trimmed with brown grosgrain and brown feather. Beige kidskin sandals have small toe openings, but closed heels, and are suitable for next summer's linens as well as February wools. Note the big pockets of the frock and the bows, details used more frequently than not on both dresses and jackets.

Madrigal Concert Is Awaited With Enthusiasm

Eagerly anticipated is the annual Madrigal Choir concert on March 5 in the Collegiate Auditorium, which will be given under the direction of Dorothy Allan Park. To Peterborough music lovers, an opportunity of hearing this fine choir, so well known in metropolitan centres, comes all too rarely, and it is with much enthusiasm that they await the annual presentation, at which guest artists in an all-British program will be Norman Wilks, M.C., Hon. R.C.M., pianist, and George Lambert, baritone, with Harry Northrop at the piano.

Mr. Lambert is a well-known Toronto baritone, and Mr. Wilks an English pianist who was born in Kent. He showed signs of musical ability at an early age. After recitals in England and Belgium, Norman Wilks went to Germany, where he spent some time under Breithaupt and Lamond. A brilliant future was predicted for him after his debut in Berlin, and many appearances followed on the continent and in England.

In the winter of 1913 Wilks played six times with the Boston Symphony Orchestra, and twice in New York with orchestra and in recital. There was a break of five years while Wilks joined the forces in France. He has since appeared with the Queen's Hall Orchestra, the Royal Philharmonic Society, and Continental Symphony Concerts, and in numerous recitals.

Both assistings artists are now of the faculty of the Toronto Conservatory of Music, Mr. Lambert having conducted the June Conservatory examinations in Peterborough.

QUESTION: Doubtless you have a recipe you would recommend for waffles. I am not satisfied with mine—the resultant waffles are not as tender as some I have tasted. We liked the rhubarb meringue pie recipe that you printed last year—and are having it again this February now that the rhubarb is coming into the stores again. Thanking you for any trouble.—Susie Q.

ANSWER: Thank you for your letter.

Waffles

Two cups pastry flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 eggs, 1¼ cups milk, 6 tablespoons melted butter or cooking oil. Sift together dry ingredients. Add gradually milk mixed with beaten egg yolks and melted fat. Fold in stiffly beaten whites. Bake on hot waffle iron. These amounts make from 6 to 8 waffles.

DOROTHY DIX

Teach Daughter to Stand by Her Ideals, as They Will Go Further Than Anything Else in Helping Her Get a Good Husband When the Time Comes.

Dear Miss Dix—I have a 16-year-old daughter, very pretty and bright and attractive, and popular with the boys, who hang around our house in the daytime, but who date other girls in the evening because I have taught her, as I was taught by my mother, to make boys keep their distance and never to permit them to be familiar. The boys call my daughter "the untouchable," "the human iceberg," and tell her that she is a hangover from the nineties, but they also tell her that when they get ready to marry they will pick out a girl like her. However, that doesn't ease the loneliness of a 16-year-old girl who is left to spend her evenings with mother and father, while the other youngsters are out having a good time. My heart aches for her. In fact, she takes it better than I, tries to laugh it off, though sometimes she says she is tired of being good, but when she hears the boys tell how far they can go with other girls and sneer at them she will tell me that I am right and that it does pay to be good. What shall I do about this problem? Have I held up too high a standard of conduct for my girl? Or shall she just go on being lonely until she is old enough to marry and finds some man who prefers a girl who hasn't been mauled and pawed by every Tom, Dick and Harry.

OLD-FASHIONED MOTHER

ANSWER:

Certainly every mother who tries to bring up her daughter with the decent standards of conduct that prevailed in her day has a problem to solve that calls for the wisdom of a Solomon. And, alas, there is no seer nowadays to decide the momentous question of whether it is better to let a girl pet and have dates or not pet and spend her evenings reading an improving book.

Of course, every mother wants her daughter to be popular and to be admired by the opposite sex, for that is part of the success of a woman. She wants Mamie to have plenty of boy friends, to be asked to parties and have cut-ins on her dances and to be a figure in her social group. But, at the same time, she cannot bear to think of her little girl's innocence being smirched, of her white rosebud being trampled in the dirt by the feet of boys too young and callow to hold anything sacred. Yet mother cannot shut her eyes to the cold and brutal fact that the modern youth demands payment for all the attentions he pays a girl, and that if he condescends to take her to a movie or treat her to a hot dog and a soft drink he considers it gives him the privilege of kissing and mauling and manhandling her.

And if the girl refuses the lad feels that he has been gypped and he leaves her to her lonesome. No petting, no dates. And what is the girl to do For Mother knows that every petting party is two children playing with TNT and it is only God's mercy if it doesn't end in catastrophe.

The irony of the situation is that these very boys, who won't date a girl who doesn't throw all of her inhibitions to the wind, despise her and deride her for being so easy, as men always do the women they can persuade to do wrong. And they openly assert that when they get ready to marry they want a wife who has kept herself unspotted from the world, which also has been the way of mankind since the beginning of civilization.

So, if I had a girl of 16, I would urge her to stand by her ideals, even if it cut her off from the attentions of lascivious youths who bode her no good, as the old melodramas used to say. It will pay her in her own self-respect and in the respect of all who know her. And it will go farther than anything else in getting her a good husband when the time comes for her to marry.

Handicapping the Husband-Hunter

Dear Miss Dix — A nice young man has asked me to marry him and I am anxious to do so, but my mother forbids it because she is very religious and says it is against the teachings of the Bible for a younger daughter to marry before the older ones. She quotes to me Genesis xxix, 26, where Laban says: "It must not be done in our country to give the younger before the firstborn." My sister Lilian got herself in a scandalous affair after her marriage and my mother says that it was because she married in violation of the teaching of the Bible before our eldest sister, and that if I marry also before Ethel does my marriage will result in divorce. Now, Ethel seems unable to get a man no matter how hard she tries, and, as she is well in the thirties, it looks as though if I wait to marry until

For Wednesday, February 21.

This day may bring the culmination of high ideals of exalted ambitions, judging by the lunar and mutual aspects. While the accent seems on social, artistic or romantic aspirations, there also may be creative efforts in intellectual or inventive lines. Tendencies to recklessness, quarrels or excesses should be suppressed. There are very strong indications for romance and marriage.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of fulfilled hopes and wishes. The higher forms of mental and creative expression are under inspirational stimulus, possibly leading to some novel accomplishment. Impetuous conduct should be avoided. Strong prospects point to courtship, romance, matrimony.

A child born on this day may have many ambitions and aspirations, with native talents and versatility to substantiate them—creative, original, inventive.

START THE DAY RIGHT WITH ALL-BRAN MUFFINS

●All-Bran Muffins are breakfast favorites in thousands of homes. Many diets lack sufficient bulk and just that extra "bulk" is required by many to keep "regular". All-Bran Muffins are a tempting treat and so easy to make.

BASIC BRAN MUFFIN RECIPE

2 tablespoons shortening — ¾ cup milk
¼ cup sugar — 1 cup flour
1 egg — ½ teaspoon salt
1 cup Kellogg's All-Bran — 2½ teaspoons baking powder

Cream shortening and sugar thoroughly; add egg and beat until creamy. Stir in All-Bran and milk; let soak until most of moisture is taken up. Sift flour with salt and baking powder; add to first mixture and stir only until flour disappears. Fill greased muffin pans three-quarters full and bake in moderately hot oven (400°F.) about 30 minutes.

Yield: 8 large muffins (3 inches in diameter) or 12 small muffins (2¼ inches in diameter).

For the delicious taste and "just right" texture these muffins should have, be sure to use Kellogg's All-Bran, and no other kind. All-Bran provides "bulk" and also supplies intestinal tonic vitamin B_1.

Admiralty Said "Get Them"

The German ship Altmark followed the Graf Spee and took on board crews from merchant vessels sunk by the raider. When the Spee was scuttled the Altmark made plans to move toward Germany. It had changed its name and register, but was still the Altmark with from 300 to 400 British prisoners on board. In more recent times it has been referred to as the "hell ship," and that name was given to it by the prisoners, some of whom had been on board since as far back as October 5. As the Graf Spee continued its operations the number of prisoners grew. And so did the conditions on board. They grew worse.

The Altmark was found by the British destroyer Cossack in Norwegian waters, and it is reported that the Norwegians had searched the vessel. How thorough the search we know not, but there was nothing to indicate that the British prisoners had been either declared or found.

According to the strict rules of the sea it appears doubtful if the British could put a finger on chapter and clause giving the right to enter Norwegian waters and search or board the Altmark. It was something like a policeman entering premises without a search warrant when he has reason to believe there is trouble which needs immediate attention.

The Admiralty gave the order to go and search that vessel and the boarding was like a chapter from the days of Drake or Nelson. They pulled alongside and over they went and took possession. Before there was a chance for a good fight a British seaman was at the wheel of the Altmark and was issuing instructions to the crew in the engine room.

That is how they released from 300 to 400 prisoners who had been penned in that hell ship for months, half starved and lousy. Britain has her own folk back home; they are being treated in hospital and then sent to their own firesides and there is rejoicing in the land.

But it hasn't ended. Britain demands that Norway explain how a prison boat could land in Norwegian waters, and be searched and no report issued of prisoners on board. Norway has protested to Britain about entering her territorial waters with a destroyer, and Germany has protested to Norway about allowing Britain to intercept the Altmark in neutral waters.

An exploit like that is something which puts a decidedly good shot of iron in the Empire's spine. Makes one feel like going about humming something about Britons never going to be slaves. Possibly it's not easy to justify the exploit according to the rules of the sea, but there were from 300 to 400 British prisoners who needed the door opened from the hell hole in which they had been living. The one thing which matters most is that the door was opened on the order of the British Admiralty and by the daring of British seamen, and the prisoners are now home.

Just Plain Stupid

It is difficult to separate speculation from suggestion when papers begin to advance names as successor to the late Baron Tweedsmuir. But there are some suggestions and reasons being advanced by papers in London which make poor reading when they are transferred to Canada.

An example is here: Reynolds' News (London), a Sunday paper, suggests that the Duke of Kent, youngest brother of His Majesty, is the proper person for the position. He was slated for a similar post in Australia, but on the outbreak of war went to a post with the navy.

The London paper explains that the position of Governor-General in addition to being the King's viceroy in Canada, "is a kind of unofficial embassador to Washington, and official circles at home believe the appointment of the Duke would be welcomed not only at the White House but amongst those of the American aristocracy whose views still carry weight in United States politics."

Our own belief is that if British writers have much more of this stuff to state they might well do some serious thinking about it. Certainly they know nothing about the feeling in Canada, nor do they exhibit any appreciable degree of awareness concerning feeling and sentiment in United States.

That London paper is more inclined to consider the effect in Washington than in this country, while the plain fact is that the Governor-General's time is taken up almost exclusively with our own country. The plea that an appeal should be made to satisfy and please "American aristocracy" is about as poorly timed as it is poorly stated. This country respected and was devoted to Baron Tweedsmuir because of the man and citizen he was; he would have been just as acceptable here as John Buchan as he was as Baron Tweedsmuir.

Referring to the aristocracy of United States as an element which needs to be singled out for special attention is not only clumsy but it is ignorantly distressing. It is one certain way of prejudicing any appointee who may be named to the post at Ottawa. It would be much better if that London paper had filled its space with something about the weather or the prospects for this year's pasture land in Yorkshire. Its utterance can be classified only as stupid

"The Navy's Here!"

The historian of the future will undoubtedly write of the way in which British marines swarmed over the decks of the Altmark. He may have the advantage of subsequent developments to give him knowledge, but for the moment one sailor John Quigley of London tells in few words the story for the readers of today:

"The first the prisoners knew they were being rescued was when a voice called out:

"'Any Englishmen down there?'

"Yes," they shouted.

Immediately came a roar:

"Well, the Navy's here."

And Quigley added: "We all cheered like mad men."

The Value Of Opposition

One reader of the Examiner has come to the conclusion that all people ought to agree about the same things during a war. In brief he states the case:

"Right now the country needs a government which will be in agreement about the war. We have no time for a great deal of fault-finding and bickering. We want to appear before the world as one people with one purpose in mind. Too much opposition is not wanted during the war period."

We quite agree that it is not necessary or helpful to have much useless fault-finding or bickering, but we do not agree that a strong and well-managed opposition party is not an adjunct to good government. There is a fairly strong Opposition in the British House of Parliament, and seldom does it take much for granted. We are at times inclined to overlook the value of opposition in our governing bodies, and if there is one factor which is able to keep a Government right on the job it is a strong Opposition. A Government with a top-heavy majority is a harder thing to keep in hand than one which has to get along on a much less margin of voting power. The Government with the lesser majority knows well enough it has to so regulate its actions that it will be able to show definitely that it is right in any course it takes. There is a place in our form of government for a strong Opposition party, and it can serve the people just as thoroughly as the party in power.

The Censor Did It

Hore-Belisha has a hard life. Not long since he was relieved of his duties as War Secretary of the British Government. And that at the time appeared to be tough. Actually there was never much of an explanation given for his departure.

But the man had something else to which to turn his hand. He started then writing things to be printed in the newspapers, among them News of the World.

Hore-Belisha would be just the man for that kind of work. He had been sitting close to the picture and would have a good idea of what was going on. It did look as though he would be a couple of jumps up on the writers who had to stand in line outside the door and wait until an official statement had been hatched.

But Hore-Belisha wrote and the censor censored, and the result is that his latest offering when printed had two notices in it, one saying 24 lines had been taken out here and 20 lines had been chucked some place else.

The humblest and the newest reporter in the land will know how Hore-Belisha feels. He knows (that is the budding reporter) that he has turned in a regular masterpiece about something or other to the man at the desk, and from the corner of his eye he has watched the heartless man frown and pencil and possibly say things out loud. When the thing appeared in the paper the grandeur had been taken from it, the flowery passages had been snatched away and the bare facts alone survived the onslaught.

Twenty-four and twenty make 44, and that is the number of good lines stricken from the Hore-Belisha article. And he was just recently Secretary of War!

Learning How To Vote

Arthur Roebuck, M.L.A., had a meeting in the Trinity riding in Toronto, where he was nominated some time ago for the Federal seat. Hugh Plaxton, last occupant of the seat, says he is going to run again, so there will be two Liberals there, but at the moment Mr. Roebuck holds the official nomination.

Provincial and federal politics were strangely mixed in the discussion at the meeting. Mr. Roebuck left the Hepburn cabinet and he declared it was the best thing he ever did, but Mr. Hepburn had been quick on the trigger because he had immediately cut off all Liberal patronage in the riding. When there was extra help required at the liquor stores during the Christmas rush nary a Grit could get a job; all the patronage went to the Tories.

That was "dirty work" according to Mr. Roebuck and the audience seemed to agree. There was trouble in the gathering because a section of the audience was hostile, and the chairman said Mr. Plaxton had paid them $10 to come down and break up the meeting. The chairman we read called several times "Shut up, you," and Mr. Roebuck took occasion to refer to Mr. Hepburn and Col. Drew as a couple of pea shooters who sat back and kept quiet while the Quebec election was hoping for the victory of Duplessis. All manner of strange stuff, of patronage and trickery and skulduggery in general had its place in the gathering. And possibly people go to such places so that later on they will know how to vote intelligently.

For Forty Years

When a newspaper prints a report of a man's death it is often enough noticed there is some characteristic which seems to be a focal point. It was so in the story telling of the passing of William Henry Cunningham, for there it was mentioned that for forty years he had been leader of the Sunday School orchestra of George Street United Church.

That was not by any means the extent of Mr. Cunningham's invasion of the field of music, but it was something unusual. Sunday schools are something like the churches which give them birth; they are apt to have a number of people who come and go; they find something to do and it seems to hold their attention for a season, but the fire dies out.

Mr. Cunningham started an orchestra in the Sunday school forty years ago. It grew and he stuck. That was one place where he could be of service and he seemed to have realized it. Forty years! There is something about that which we like. Finding his place in an organization and staying. It indicates consistency, stability of character and all kindred qualities.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Time was when the ladies used to grow old and gray, but now they make it old and gay.

A man known as an honest plumber died at Washington. Knowing a number of fine fellows in the business, we make no comment and record it merely as an item of news.

Sally Salminen, a writer, was at the Finnish war front looking for material for a story, and there she met and married a Danish newspaper man. Having seen something of real war the girl figured that married life could hardly be any worse.

Policeman at Walkerton fell and dislocated his shoulder, but he knew what to do. He leaned against a tree and pushed the thing into place, and that we presume is another good argument in favor of reforestation.

One authority says that few people know anything of their family tree before the time of their grandparents. And having at one time and another written a fairly large number of obituary notices, we believe that claim is substantially correct.

COUSIN EZRA

(By A.R.K.)

¶ Election times get Ezra's goat, when people get wound up to vote, it seems to bother him; it causes him to fidget too, may place before the thing is through, some lumps upon his skin.

¶ For Ezra's bound that he will speak, can't stand being mild and somewhat meek, he's strong on government; he's like a war horse on the bit, he scents a foe that must be hit, he's filled with argument.

¶ Last time election came around, had Ezra baying like a hound, they couldn't tie him down; he'd take on meetings here and there, he'd claw and wrestle like a bear, the toughest man in town.

¶ So Ezra got his chance one night, and he was itching for the fight, 'twas in some far-off school; the man whom Ezra went to slay, he said his head was made of clay, was somewhat of a fool.

¶ He was a grafter and a shark, his slimy path ran in the dark, he was a thief and crook; he should be sitting in the jail, or leave town ridden on a rail, his crime would fill a book.

¶ Then Ezra got a letter soon, it come to him next day at noon, caused grief and some surprise; a lawyer threatened action then, and Ezra joined the humble men—said he'd apologize.

Tragedy Comes From Letters To Dead Soldier

HELSINGFORS, Finland (By Edmund Stevens, of the Christian Science Monitor).—The human side of war is not great different whether in Russia, Finland, or elsewhere.

Its story has been disclosed in a bundle of letters that will not be answered. They were found, wrapped in an old newspaper, beside a Russian soldier who fell in the snow-covered forests of Agglajaervi.

Perhaps their greatest value is what they show of the tragic and pitiably inefficient methods of the Kremlin, both in the war with Finland in the "peace" at home.

The letters were written to Efim Pavlovitch by his wife Marusya, who calls him Sima, and translated into English by this correspondent.

The letters begin in October, when Moscow held troops ready presumably to invade Estonia if the latter had refused to accept the Soviet terms.

"Please Write"

Oct. 15

Dear Sima:

Best wishes from your devoted wife Marusya and son Lyonya. Please write me whether they have listed you for long-term service. I felt from the start that it was a serious matter, but you insisted you would be back soon. Write me whether they issued your winter clothing. I wonder how matters will end and whether we will ever see each other again, Sima.

We have a hard time of it, Sima, for they refused to pay me any extra allowance for Lytanva and all we have is seven rubles for the two of us to live on, Sima.

Some people say you will all be home soon. Others say not until peace is made. Try to get off just for one day to come home. I have lost track of many letters I wrote you. I don't understand why you don't get my letters. I wanted to try to come to see you the twelfth, but Peter told me I wouldn't find you at the postal address, and your whereabouts is kept secret. So I stayed home.

If only you could write me and tell me when to come and if you could see me, I bought you some slippers for 20 rubles and some shirts. I hope they will fit. Only come home.

Lyonya keeps saying, "If my daddy, Sima, comes home when I am asleep please wake me." Peter was home from Poland for three days. If others can get off you should be able to.

MARUSYA.

"Get Yourself a Job"

Oct. 2

Dear Sima:

Greetings from your loving Marusya and your son Lyonya. First of all let me tell you that I got your letter for which I thank you. Sima, you tell me to get work and earn something. Even before your letter came I had signed up as charwoman in a workers' barrack. I worked one day and never went back. Aunt Vera was most angry with me for quitting. But I could hardly stand the work among those men for one day, and now I shall look for other work the first of the month, but I don't know where.

You tell me in your letter, "Get yourself a job. I will be home soon." But I just know you are deceiving me. If you were really coming home you wouldn't tell me to get a job. Why have you got a new address?—although you don't mention the transfer to another town. Sima, I feel they are taking you farther and farther away from us.

MARUSYA.

"I Don't Know...."

Nov. 3

Dear Sima:

Greetings from your wife and little son Lyonya. Why don't you write? I am terribly worried about you. Mother writes she is leaving on the fifth and that I should meet her the sixth, but I think we shall eat up our last kopeks if she comes and then what on earth will Lyonya and I do?

Write before the holiday (Nov. 7, anniversary of revolution). I don't have a very gay holiday this year without you, Sima. I am back at the factory now. The only trouble is we have no electric current half the time, so working is very irregular and I don't know how much I will earn. Please write.

Lyonya and I feel like two poor little orphans. We cry and cry.

Sima, I inquired about the 20 rubles I sent you. They told me I must wait 42 days and then file a written request for tracing them. But maybe you received the money after all.

MARUSYA.

"They Took Out the Rubles"

Nov. 24

Dear Sima:

I sent my last letter by registered mail. If it isn't returned that means you received it. If it is returned that means I shall have no idea where you are—I cry and cry because I have got no more word from you. Yesterday I went and inquired about you and was curtly told you weren't permitted to write, as you were on secret duty but I just cannot believe they should be so heartless and cruel. The registered letter I sent you to Ostrov, enclosing Lyonya's picture and 10 rubles has just been returned, but they took out the 10 rubles.

I am so lonely and unhappy. A letter would cheer me, for if anything happened I should have your letter as a last keepsake.

I got my first month's wage yesterday; 101 rubles was all I earned on account of lack of electric current. I don't know when I will get your allowance money, but I wouldn't care about the money if only you yourself would come home. I cannot get over the feeling I had when I saw you off at the Moscow Station that I would never see you again.

MARUSYA.

Letters To The Editor

RE PETERBOROUGH CITY TRUST

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—The City Trust's cost from 1914 to 1939 inclusive are as follows:

Commissioners' allowances	$13,150.00
Secretary's salary	24,000.00
Office expenses	1,201.92
Solicitor's fees	4,492.85
Total	$42,844.77

The Municipal Act requires every municipal corporation to appoint and keep a treasurer, and the City Trust is doing part of the treasurer's work, or putting it in another way, is doing work that in every other municipality, is done by the treasurer, and in this way the city would have been able to save the sum of $2,600.00, if the City Trust had been abolished, and the Municipal Government of Peterborough is the same as every other city and town in Ontario, with the possible exception of Fort William.

The city is compelled by the Municipal Act to maintain an efficient and capable accountant as City Treasurer, and there is no reason why he could not do all of the work that we paid $2,600.00 for since 1914 with only a slight increase of salary, and in this way we could save for the city $2,600.00 a year, which is being wasted now in keeping up a body which is duplicating the work of the City Treasurer and the Finance Committee.

G. N. GORDON.

WHAT'S THE ANSWER?

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—I am a married man with sick wife and child depending on me. I have never been on full relief but about five years ago had a few weeks partial help from the city. I am a Mason and Forester, (dues due) have made a living at odd jobs; am honest and reliable.

I have a car ('27 vintage) and last summer used this to go from job to job and made a fair living working round the farms, roofing, repairing chimneys and painting and papering, etc.

Now here is the point—I went to the relief offices the other other day to see if I could get a little help for a week or two and am told I must sell the car before I can get any help. If I sell the car (it would bring about $10.00) I cannot get out and get work this spring. If I do not sell we do not eat. It looks as if once they get you on relief they want to keep you there. A few weeks' help or work (preferably work) would have put us through the winter. Now what is the answer? Go into debt, starve, or steal? Ask your readers.

PUZZLED.

• Empire Breaking Up—Again!

[illegible] poor old British Empire is always breaking up. You know that, if you are at all diligent in reading the treatises of the current generation of bright young historians, international commentators, social philosophers and whatnot.

The breakup—on paper and in printer's ink—of the British Empire was accelerated when Great Britain and France declared war on Germany last September. The breakers-uppers may have been mildly surprised, but they refused to become plumb discouraged when the free commonwealths of South Africa, Canada, Australia and New Zealand swiftly declared war, too. And even when Canadian contingents began to cross the Atlantic in substantial numbers, the breakers-uppers kept their chins up. Despite these disquieting signs of unity, the poor old British Empire just had to fall apart.

Now come dispatches telling of the arrival at Suez of 30,000 volunteer soldiers from Australia and New Zealand, to augment the Anglo-Franco-Turkish forces of almost a million troops mobilized in the Near East. Dispatches emphasize that the hardy Anzacs comprise only the advance [illegible] from "down under." And the British are pointing with pride to the transporting of 30,000 troops a distance of 10,000 miles without mishap as "one of the greatest troopship convoys in history."

Dispatches from the Near East bring out another interesting point. The 200 000 "British" troops from Egyptian bases are described as "mainly Indians and Moslems." We have been hearing quite a bit about the possibility of India's seizing the war as opportunity to break away from the British Empire. If things in India are as bad as people say, how can the British risk shifting to far-away Egypt the main body of the native army which helps 50,000 or 60,000 British soldiers keep India's 300-odd million inhabitants under the heel of the oppressor? Or is the regular native army still in India, and is the huge force in Egypt made up of Indian volunteers? In the latter event, what becomes of the theory that Indians never fight for the British Empire?

It is all rather confusing. But, of course, the British Empire is breaking up. We have been told that by experts. Ho, hum! Poor old British Empire!—Buffalo Courier-Express.

• Was Churchill Warning Right?

A [illegible] first lord of the admiralty, in that direct and compelling way so characteristic of him expressed the opinion that it would be well for the smaller nations to band together to squarely face their possibly mighty aggressors. The advice was not any too welcome in some quarters, either through fear or misunderstanding.

What Mr. Churchill said then was fairly apparent to the English-speaking races in the world. Now it is beginning to sink in in other quarters, particularly the Balkans and in the Scandinavian countries. The eyes of the whole world are turned with pity on Finland, but pity will not save the Finns from the Red menace. Guns and men will, if they do not arrive too late.

Slowly but surely the pressure of an immense nation like Russia appears to be wearing down the Finns and, unless help comes soon, the little nation that the world admires so [illegible] the Red forces.

If Finland is conquered and occupied what about her next door neighbor Sweden, and if the latter falls what lies ahead for Norway? While the Russians may be satisfied with crushing and occupying Finland for the time being, after they again rebuild and gain the military power that the world thought they had, will not either Russia or Germany or both take bites out of Sweden and Norway and possibly swallow Denmark whole when it is propitious for them to do so?

While it would have been a difficult decision for Sweden and Norway to make, to go to war when they were not attacked, perhaps, in the language of the street, they "missed the boat" by not jumping in and helping their gallant friends in Finland.

Mr. Churchill usually looks a long way ahead, and he is right much more often than he is wrong.—Kitchener Record.

CASE OF TENNIS PLAYER

[illegible] the case of 24-year-old Charles Hare, the scintillating southpaw tennis player from England. He is one of the tennis tourists in Florida, but he knows he is being criticized for not going home to fight. He explains that his class has not been mustered out yet, and he is reporting to British Consuls constantly. He is ready to go when called.

You don't have to go to Florida to find men like that. We know chaps who signed their Air Force papers months ago. They sold their cars and gave up everything when the Air Force instructed them to stand to, ready to report. Now, months and months afterwards, they are still standing to and getting nowhere.

It's tough on these boys, who have been crying so hard to enlist. If they had been told they were not wanted, it would have been all right. But, when they were ordered to be all set to report on a few hours' notice, it isn't so hot.—W. L. Clark, in Windsor Star.

A HANSARD BARGAIN

The King's Printer has sent us a letter that has acted like an aspirin to cure a little financial headache. We are going to get Hansard free during the next session of Parliament.

Hansard is the official record of the proceedings of the House of Commons or the Senate. You pay $3 per session for the official reports, which are issued daily.

A couple of weeks ago we sent along our $6 to pay for daily copies of both the Commons and Senate proceedings. But, there was only one day. That looked like an expensive number, at $3 per copy.

However, a note within the booklet tells us that the King's Printer is keeping a record of our subscription. When the next session of the Commons and Senate comes around we are going to get Hansard for those sittings without further charge.

That's nice of the King's Printer.—Windsor Star.

RAISING HOGS

When interviewed by a newspaper man the other day, Premier Hepburn said: "I'm going in for hog raising and help feed the people of the British Isles." That is what many farmers should do in a big way and every farmer to a small or greater degree, especially when hogs are bringing the good price they are selling for today. — Amherstburg Echo.

There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit....For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit. For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace.

But ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you....But if the Spirit of him that raised up Jesus from the dead dwell in you, he that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken your mortal bodies by his Spirit that dwelleth in you. — Rom. viii, 1, 5, 6, 9, 11-14.

LONDON'S TREATIES

AMERICANS should feel too sorry for the English. On one score, at least, our embattled cousins are having a much gayer winter than we are. Compared to 23 legitimate theatres open in New York this week (and one in Boston), London has well over 30 lighted) 35 according to the London Observer of Dec. 31). Although most of the fare consists of revues and farces designated to counteract the blackout's somber effect, there are revivals of such sturdy classics as Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest" and Shaw's "Major Barbara," and plenty of music and ballet.

As for the movies, "Mr. Smith" of Washington fame has just arrived in the British capital. The Observer's critic, C. A. Lejune, reports that the film, "although it is largely concerned with the intricacies of American law, has become a live problem to the English people who recently followed the details of the neutrality debate." Miss Lejeune did not find its two hours and 11 minutes long at all. In fact, she was sorry when her escape to America was over. Evidently, she has yet to sit through "GWTW."—Boston Herald.

PRICE OF SUCCESS

When he was 16 years old, Samuel Matthews Vauclain, who died last week in Philadelphia at the age of 83, went to work as an apprentice in the Pennsylvania Railroad shops at Altoona.

When he died he was chairman of the board of the Baldwin Locomotive Works and had been president of that giant corporation.

While other boys of his age were shooting squirrels on the mountains around Altoona, young Vauclain was putting in 12 hours a day in the machine shops—and then, with the aid of a lantern, working until midnight in his vegetable garden.

At the age of 23 he was earning $8.40 a week—and got married on it.

What his peak salary with Baldwin was is not important.

The point is that he climbed the ladder of his choice to the very top.

And the moral is: You can't learn how to build locomotives by shooting squirrels.—Detroit Free Press.

ON TOELESS SHOES

FASHION DICTATORS who found themselves slipping a number of months ago when women refused to accept their edict against toeless and backless shoes, may have been right, after all. A podiatrist tells a convention of his fellow specialists that such shoes have caused innumerable cases of frostbite and have had generally serious effects on the "extremities possessing the poorest resistance to cold."

35th Birthday Of Rotary Marked By Club

Rotarians came away from a banquet at the Empress Hotel Monday night with a new light in their eyes after hearing one of the finest "pep" talks in many a meeting—a fitting beginning for the first day of a week which celebrates the 35th inception of Rotary. It was the annual Ladies' Night and the guest speaker was Rotarian W. J. Cairns of Toronto, a Past District Governor and at one time Director for Canada and Newfoundland Rotary Internationale.

Introduced by the president, E. L. Sackville, Mr. Cairns spoke of the home and its part in Rotary, and outlined the history of an organization that is now represented around the world. One of the most important jobs, as well as the most difficult, is facing service clubs right now, according to the speaker, who urged members to realize to the full the part they have to play in fitting young men to be worthy citizens of a world that is upset by war. "We don't need to dwell on what the youth of our land are going through after leaving schools and colleges," he said. "They have had doors shut in their faces many times—certainly that is enough to make them feel that they are not needed."

Young Men Needed

Mr. Cairns earnestly suggested to Rotarians that they do everything in their power to make young men realize that they are needed, and will have a vital part to play in the next few years, not only during wartime, but in re-building a country that will be a better place in which to live than the one to which men returned after the last Great War.

"We have as good brains in our clubs as in the whole country," declared the speaker. "I say we could do nothing better than study this problem." Let us teach boys the principles of life—and the best way of teaching is by living—then when they grow to manhood those principles will be imbedded in their make-up and they will know what is wrong because of a conscience void of offence to God and man.

Mr. Cairns deplored the lack of language teaching in the schools as compared to other countries. It is his belief that young people should be compelled to learn at least one other language, which would be to the good of "our country and our people," suggesting that this be one of the things Rotarians head up.

Husbands More Considerate

Speaking directly to the ladies, Rotarian Cairns pointed out that, because of the connection with Rotary, their husbands cannot help but be more considerate and thoughtful in the home, since the club itself stands for those two things, and is constantly striving to create among members a more kindly and friendly attitude towards their associates.

A vote of thanks to the speaker on behalf of club members was moved by Mr. H. L. Garner.

A toast to the ladies, made by T. J. Carley, K.C., was responded to by Mrs. F. L. Roy. Prizes for a draw, made by J. Fred. Reed, were won by Mrs. James Goldie and Miss Ruth Payne, and a compensation prize for the gentleman who had come without a lady was awarded Roy J. Goring. Mrs. E. L. Sackville made the draw. A gift donated by S. Warne was presented to Ross Dobbin for his mother, who, until last evening, has been a regular attendant at the annual ladies' night banquet. Mrs. James Goldie, who sang several delightful song groups, with Harry Northrop at the piano, was also presented with a gift. Rev. G. Easton and Mr. Dobbin were judges of a contest, and ladies at the winning tables each received a prize.

Pets Sacrificed

Leamington, England, Feb. 20

PETS were the first war sacrifices in Britain, Col. R. J. Stordy, chief executive officer of the national air raid precautions animals committee, disclosed in a speech here. In September, he personally saw 80,000 animals placed in one grave in Essex.

Col. Stordy said no practicable gas masks had been devised for animals but experiments are continuing. He urged owners to wear gas masks frequently so pets would become accustomed to them. He told of a dog becoming so frightened when his owner wore a gas mask that the animal bolted and has not been seen since.

Docket Is Free Criminal Cases

Traditional white gloves were presented to Mr. Justice Hope by Sheriff J. A. Harstone yesterday at the opening of the spring assizes of the Supreme Court of Ontario. They indicated that no criminal cases were slated for his attention.

On behalf of the Peterborough Bar Association, Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., welcomed Mr. Justice Hope on his first visit to Peterborough as a Justice of the Supreme Court. Mr. Gordon pointed out that Mr. Justice Hope has visited this city many times in his former capacity as chairman of the Board of Review. He recalled his services in World War I and declared that his was a military record of note, and that it was known, too, that he was carrying out his judicial duties on the same high level. "We trust your visits here will always be pleasant and not overly onerous," concluded Mr. Gordon.

Mr. Justice Hope thanked Mr. Gordon and the Bar Association for the official welcome to the city. He paid tribute to the Bar Association of Peterborough, many of whose members were known to him.

Recalling Mr. Gordon's words about his war services, he said he had had the pleasure of serving with many Peterborough city and county officers and men and he voiced high praise of them.

His Lordship congratulated the Sheriff, Police and the Grand Jury —as representatives of the people of city and county—on the absence of crime since the last sitting of Supreme Court.

Grand Jury At Supreme Court Sessions Has Nothing To Do But Debate Its Abolishment

Jurors in the Supreme Court session in progress now, have had an easy time.

First, there were no criminal cases to come before the Grand Jury to determine "true bill" or "no bill." Nor were they asked to inspect county buildings, since they had been inspected only last fall. The only task before them, and it was a voluntary one, was to debate about abolition of the Grand Jury system.

Even at that their task took longer to complete than did that of the only petit jury called. For its members were on their way home half an hour after being sworn, when an amicable settlement was reached in the only case requiring a jury.

Members of the Grand Jury were J. J. Girvin, Peterborough; C. F. Steinburg, Havelock; William Deyell, Otonabee; William M. Cruthers, Peterborough; James Ellis, Peterborough, foreman; John J. Reid, Peterborough; David Rose, Warsaw; R. J. Leeper, Norwod; Frank Buckland, Peterborough; James Jopling, Bridgenorth; Fred T. Batterson, Peterborough; Clarence Mann, Smith; Frank H. Dawson, Peterborough.

Grants To Bands Are Revised

The city's grants to three bands were revised by the finance committee of the council last night. Earlier consideration had allotted $400 to the Prince of Wales Rangers, $200 to the Peterborough Brass Band and $150 to the Salvation Army.

"The best gets the least," Alderman Stocker commented.

Alderman Cotton said the grant to the Brass Band was more than to the Army because the need was greater at present. The Brass Band was paying for their instruments, and they needed help for a couple of years until they got well established.

Mayor Hamilton said the $400 grant to the Rangers' Band was $100 less than last year. The commanding officer had told him it did not seem fair to cut the grant at a time of extraordinary demands on the regiment, and intimated that local recruiting activities were likely to be accelerated before long.

The committee finally decided last night to restore the Rangers' grant to $500, and put the Army and Brass bands on equal terms—$175 each.

Motorists Are Slow Obtaining Markers

Only 10 per cent of the motorists in the city and district have taken out car licenses for the year 1940, a checkup at the Chamber of Commerce revealed today.

There are approximately 9,000 sets of markers for the area including ocommercial vehicles and trailers and this along with operator's licenses and temporary permits would boost the total number of slips to be filled in close to the 20,000 mark.

The deadline for securing new markers is March 31st, J. J. Dorris, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce said that the same condition prevails every year, with more markers being sold during the last two weeks than at any other period. He appeals to the motorists to purchase their markers now and thus spread the work over a longer period.

CAMPBELLFORD

Rotary Has Had Constant Growth

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 20 (ENS) —Campbellford Rotarians marked the 35th anniversary of the founding of Rotary by listening to an address by O. A. Pinkston, secretary of the Belleville club, in which he evaluated the organization, touching briefly on its past achievements and future possibilities.

Introduced by N. Alex. MacColl, the speaker began by stating that one of the outstanding characteristics had been its constant growth. "Stagnation and rot will never attack it so long as it continues to grow," he said.

Mr. Pinkston expressed the feeling that on this particular occasion it seemed particularly appropriate to think of the founder, Paul Harris, a Chicago lawyer, who, in 1905 took the first steps towards forming what was later to grow into an international club of fellowship. During the formative period it was decided that a member should either be a proprietor of his business or a corporate officer and one of the principal reasons why the idea has grown is that men have caught the Rotary spirit and carried it along. It was in 1910 that sixty delegates met in Chicago for the first convention, and during this and the succeeding convention the motto, "He profits most who serves the best," was adopted. The first Canadian club was formed in Winnipeg in 1910 and in 1912 following the organiation of clubs in Europe the name was changed to the International Association of Rotary Clubs, and again in 1922 it was changed to Rotary International, "a world-wide association of men of good will animated with the desire to serve society and to encourage and promote Rotary throughout the world."

George Lucy offered a vocal solo during the luncheon. Other guests at the meeting were Dr. David Allan, Toronto, and L. B. Glover of town.

Ralph Standish Named Head Young Liberals

More than 250 young Liberals, members of the 20th Century Club assembled Monday night in the Elite Club to reorganize their forces for the forthcoming election.

Ralph Standish, junior member of the law firm, Carley and Standish was named president with W. B. Gordon as treasurer; Elmer Crough, secretary; Miss Nina Glover, first vice president and Miss Viva Shearer, second vice president.

Howard Quinn, president of the West Peterborough Liberal Association explained that the meeting had been called to explain the work that had to be done and to better acquaint the young people with the plans already made.

The riding of Peterborough West, he said, is about 16 miles wide and approximately 45 miles long, extending from Rice Lake on the south to Haliburton county on the north, and it comprises the townships of Galway, Cavendish, Harvey, Ennismore, Smith, Douro, Otonabee, North Monaghan, and South Monaghan. At the time of the last Federal election in the riding the voter's lists showed 15,616 listed in the city and 9,383 in the rural section.

The meeting adopted as its battle slogan "WE need Mackenzie King" and plans were formulated to enlist the services of 1000 workers during the election campaign. Ralph Standish, told the young people that they would work in conjunction with the parent body. He voiced satisfaction at the large turnout and said that all parts of the Dominion would be watching with keen interest the results of the election in this riding because of the recent appointment of J. J. Duffus to the Senate.

Senator Duffus, making his first public appearance since receiving the honor, drew a tremendous ovation. He voiced appreciation at the large turnout, particularly from the rural sections and he stressed the point that today the responsibility for keeping Canada a democracy rested with the youth of the country. He described the electing of a government the most important job before the people today, particularly in view of the fact that Canada was at war.

At the close of the business meeting the young people enjoyed themselves dancing, and plans were dismissed for other similar programs in the near future.

Nazi Slave Ship Is Hard Aground

The German ship Altmark is pictured here hard aground in the ice of a Norwegian Fjord with the stern of the vessel piled on shore after being chased and boarded by members of the crew of the British destroyer Cossack, who boarded the Altmark with cutlasses in hand as in the days of old. Three hundred and twenty-six British seamen were rescued from the hold of the Altmark where they had been kept captives for many weeks. Their vessels had been attacked and sunk by the scuttled German raider Graf Spee. This picture was cabled from England to New York and then transmitted by phonephoto.

Aldermen Fail To Support Mayors' Protest

The Finance Committee of the Council declined last night to support proposals of protest against the announcement that the Ontario Government's municipal subsidy was to be cut this year from 1½ mills to 1 mill.

Alderman Cotton, as chairman, informed the committee that the Ontario Municipal Association "has asked us to wire a protest" to the government, and that the Ontario Mayors' Association had called a special meeting to be held today in Ottawa at which the government's action was to be considered.

"I don't see any use in going to the meeting," Mayor Hamilton said. "I discussed this matter of the one mill subsidy with Alex. Elliott. He pointed out that the government took over the entire cost of provincial highways, and that they also assumed 100 per cent. of the cost of old age pensions, mothers' allowances, and the upkeep of the hospitals for tubercular patients and also the cost of caring for the patients."

Alderman McIntyre commented that the government had relieved the municipalities of a lot of expense.

"I think that as members of the Association we ought to be willing to help the other fellow, because there may be a time when we might be asking for their help," Alderman Bradburn said.

Alderman Dutton remarked that the province was in the same position as municipalities, and was doubtless finding it difficult to get money to meet all the demands that were made on it.

Alderman Wilson said it was a sign of poor management, and an indication that the government's affairs were in a mess.

"I don't feel like going," Mayor Hamilton stated. "I don't see any use in going. I think the Ontario government is doing all it can."

"They are trying to do what is reasonable," Alderman Dutton added.

"You're not trying to dodge an election matter," Alderman Bradburn laughingly suggested to Mayor Hamilton.

"Why not you go, Herb," Mayor Hamilton replied. "It isn't necessary for the Mayor to go."

"I would if I could get away tomorrow," Alderman Bradburn said.

Alderman Dutton's motion that no action be taken was seconded by Alderman Stocker, and was supported by them and Mayor Hamilton, Aldermen McIntyre and McCannan.

Those voting against it were Aldermen Wilson, Bradburn, Roy and Ovens. The motion carried by 5 to 4.

"Where's the chairman?" Alderman Bradburn suggested.

"I don't have to vote," Alderman Cotton answered. "I've been put on the spot enough."

$9,600 For Hospital.

The request of the Nicholls Hospital Board for $9,600 this year to be paid in monthly sums was passed by the committee after a brief discussion of the subject of representation. The increase amounts to $7,200, and the total increase in the Board's estimates for the year was reported to be $19,097.

"Eventually the city will have to take over the hospital and run it," Alderman Bradburn remarked. "Perhaps there should be more representation from this council on the Board."

Alderman Dutton: "I think the City Council is well enough represented, but the basis of representation should be broadened. It was conceived in the narrowest terms possible."

Mayor Hamilton: "We must remember that the only way to get representative men of that type was from the churches at the time the Board was instituted. I don't think there is any criticism we should make. People went to church more then."

Alderman Dutton: "They didn't visualize that the time would come when an appeal would have to be made for assistance out of public money. The question of greater representations ought to be faced right now. I think their cause would be enhanced if that question was settled now."

Mayor Hamilton: "A big portion of the people is not represented."

Alderman Wilson: "I think you have got a good representation on the Board."

Alderman Dutton: "I wouldn't put any more of the council on it before other men who would be an asset to the Board."

"What this province requires is a government courageous enough to economize, to cut out $100,000,000 budgets, to quit keeping up with the Joneses and to cut our coat to suit our cloth," he said.

Mr. Macaulay ran into an argument with Premier Hepburn when he referred to the $12,000,000 marble palace for the feeble-mided at St. Thomas."

Mr. Hepburn said the cost was $6,200,000 and offered to bet a hat that it wasn't $12,000,000. If the hat he got was not better than the one the Premier presented him with on a previous bet, he wouldn't be getting much, observed Mr. Macaulay.

Mr. Macaulay read from the evidence of Hon. Colin Campbell, former Minister of Public Works, in Public Accounts committee, that the estimated cost of the hospital project was $11,000,000.

Mr. Campbell was wrong if he said that, retorted the Premier.

Later Mr. Hepburn read from the evidence of the deputy minister of public works to the same committee, estimating the hospital cost at $6,369,000. The $11,000,000 proposal was abandoned when a policy of decentralization was decided on, said the premier.

A 7 Million Difference

The province was disbursing $10,000,000 more to the municipalities, said Mr. Macaulay, but was collecting $17,000,000 in taxation to do it.

A new tax in disguise was the expire with the calendar year indecision to have motor licenses stead of with the province's fiscal year. Licences issued this year would be good for only nine months and into one year's revenues the premier would get receipts for two years.

Policing of the motor transport industry by the Ontario municipal board, was urged by Mr. Macaulay.

"What the government should do immediately as a minimum is to require transport companies to file their rates, then police the industry and see that there is no discrimination among competing shippers," he said.

"That would not require any new machinery. These rates could be filed with the present municipal board and such board would have appropriate authority to enforce such schedules of rates. A more vigorous enforcement of the present law as to hours of labor, the setting up of a decent minimum wage for transport workers is also urgently needed, and would automatically put rates at their proper economic level."

Higher Gasoline Tax

The Royal Commission on the transport industry had seen only one of its recommendations heeded by the government, said Mr. Macaulay. That was the one for the increase in the gasoline tax. Nothing had been done to end the chaos in the business.

The Commission found a chaotic rate situation, not only uneconomic competition but rank discrimination. Shippers paid different rates to the same carrier for the same service. The government had never used its power to compel carriers to file rates with the municipal board.

Mr. Macaulay regretted that the report of the commission on Dominion-Provincial relations had not been made public for discussion in the present Federal election campaign. Failure to publish the report would mean that "whatever Government is in office after March 26 can claim no mandate to make far-reaching changes in our constitution even though based on such commission's report."

No Secrets Now.

"If there is any log-rolling, making of deals or secret commitments by the present Dominion Government on the strength of the still secret report of the commission, the people of Canada are entitled to know about it," concluded Mr. Macaulay.

Ontario's net debt had been increased by the present Government to more than $500,000,000, said Mr. Frost. Low interest rates on Provincial borrowings wouldn't last long unless something was done to halt the increase in debt.

Despite the highest taxes in provincial history, the Premier had to report a deficit on the present fiscal year. Public indifference to the state of provincial finances was deplorable and would have unhappy results. If it continued, nothing was ahead but disaster.

The increase in taxes on corporation incomes meant that corporations would pay 23 cents of every dollar profit in Dominion and Provincial income taxes. A lot of little companies would be driven out of business.

Increasing debt would be reflected in Ontario's credit position shortly, predicted Mr. Frost. General costs of government were increasing by leaps and bounds and the Hepburn administration had shown complete inability to keep them within bounds.

He condemned the increase in taxes on corporations, saying they would be reflected in higher costs to consumers and ultimately in a reduction in the number of small corporations.

C. M. MacFie (Lib. Middlesex South) asked Mr. Frost what expenditures he would cut. He was told to ask his leader who had promised to reduce administration expenses 50 per cent.

The province was tearing up highways on which not more than 25 per cent had been paid and replacing them with new roads, said Mr. Frost.

The Victoria member condemned a bookkeeping system that could report a surplus and an increase in the net debt at the same time.

John P. MacKay (Lib. Hamilton East), defended the increased tax on corporations. It was the proper place to collect more taxes and "avoid once and for all the unequitable placing of taxes on the consumer and on real estate."

When times were prosperous and industrial employment at a high level, the government should make only unavoidable capital expenditures, said Mr. McKay. Others should be reserved to less prosperous times. Consideration might be given now to the post-war period. He urged the government study a plan of financing construction of cold storage warehouses so that marketing of perishable farm products might be spread over longer periods, thus avoiding glutted markets and depressed prices.

safeguard against high-handed actions by some administrator of justice in the future who might not hold faith with the ideals of British justice.

He told the Grand Jury they might be the last such Jury to sit in Peterborough. And while he said he would not attempt to enter a discussion of the merits or demerits of the Grand Jury system, he felt he should draw that aspect of finality to their attention. Particularly he felt he should do so in view of the information he had that the Peterborough County Council was one of those that had passed a resolution favoring their abolition. Yet, he continued, he found that the last Grand Jury to sit in this city had reported in December their conviction against such abolition, in principle at least, and had warned that the freedom Anglo-Saxons have enjoyed since Magna Carta must be maintained in this land.

The present Grand Jury, he maintained, might well report, as representatives of this city and county, on the advisability of continuing or abolishing the system.

Fighting For Democracy.

"In these days when democratic institutions are threatened in many lands, have disappeared from others, when individual liberty has come to mean so little, and when we of this land are fighting for democratic rights, it is well we should consider what these institutions are, and not from the point of view of dollars and cents," he declared vigorously.

He said that it may be that the Grand Jury system is the best way of preserving the principles of liberty and freedom enjoyed in Canada; or it may be that it is a form of safeguard that can be dispensed with. "I am not going to discuss that," he said.

But he charged that vigilance must be maintained for the rights of individuals as free citizens, if Grand Juries are abolished, and reiterated that some form of safeguard must be kept. It might well be within the province of the Grand Jury sitting yesterday to call to the attention of provincial leaders the necessity of such a safeguard, he said.

He contradicted the claim of opponents of the Grand Jury system that such jries are too expensive, by pointing out that no trial can proceed until passed on by a Grand Jury. A verdict of "no bill" in criminal cases by such juries often saves a great deal of money for the country, he said. "A Grand Jury is not a rubber stamp," he declared. "Many times they have brought in a 'no bill' in my experience, and rightly so, safeguarding the individual and the funds of the treasurer."

While he said he would not consider the merits or demerits of the Grand Jury system, Mr. Justice Hope declared, "Speaking personally, I would regret very much its passing."

though armed with anti-aircraft guns, was entitled to go through Norwegian waters, en route to Germany, and that "there is no international rule at all forbidding a war power to transport prisoners through a neutral area, insofar as navigation itself is not illegal."

Issue May Be Forced

Some neutral diplomatic sources expressed fear that German pressure on Norway might force small countries nearer to choosing sides in the war.

Both Britain and Germany cited precedents to argue the two sides of the question—whether the Altmark should have been permitted passage through Norwegian waters to Germany with the prisoners she had taken aboard as a tender for the now scuttled pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee.

In Berlin, the Germans cited the case of the German freighter Dusseldorf, taken through the Panama canal in December by a British prize crew, with German prisoners aboard.

On the other hand, British authorities cited the case of the British merchant ship Appam, captured by a German raider in 1916 and taken by a German crew into Newport, Va. The United States held that the Germans had no right to bring the Appam into an American port unaccompanied by the capturing vessel and the United States Supreme Court ordered the ship returned to Britain.

Slander Action Is Settled Out Of Court

A slander action brought by Elwin Guthrie of Harvey Township against Fred Pluard of Harvey Township, came to a quick conclusion yesterday afternoon when, after hearing only part of the first witness' evidence, Mr. Justice Hope instructed the two parties to try "to make it up."

After a half-hour's debate, Pluard, through his counsel, G. N. Gordon, K.C., offered a public apology for his alleged slander, and the case was dismissed without costs.

Mr. Justice Hope congratulated Mr. Gordon and W. J. A. Fair, who appeared for the plaintiff, and their clients, on being able to reach an amicable settlement of the matter. "It is much better to go away home and forget it," declared His Lordship.

Guthrie alleged that Pluard had accused him of stealing cattle from his (Pluard's) property last spring. Appearing as the first, and only, witness, Guthrie said Pluard had charged him with the theft in the presence of three other witnesses.

At a point of law Mr. Gordon asked for exclusion of the jury and it was during their absence that Mr. Justice Hope made the suggestion that an amicable settlement be reached. He recalled the jury, told them of the decision reached, and dismissed them.

Only yesterday he looked forward to a successful future in Canada. Then an empire emergency arose. He dropped his education, the training for his life work, and sprang to the defense of the Empire.

These war years must not be lost from his life! His education, his training for success in civil life must be continued while he serves his country. To provide the necessary educational services, and to supply such other facilities as will keep alive among our boys on service the feeling that they are still an intimate part of things back home, the Legion is asking Canadians to contribute $500,000.

Men on Service—to be Trained for Peace

The Legion has undertaken to organize and finance this work. The Canadian Association for Adult Education with its long and distinguished record is collaborating in carrying out the plan. Men on service will be able to continue their education and take university classes. Courses in agriculture, technical subjects, various trades, bookkeeping, stenography, etc., will be available. Universities and departments of education throughout Canada are co-operating. The assistance of British and French educationists is assured overseas.

Personal and Recreational Services

The Legion also undertakes to help the men in the solution of personal, family problems. Leave centres will be provided overseas. Concert parties, sports activities will be organized. Every effort will be made to bring the boys a touch of home when they are far from their families and friends.

CANADIAN LEGION WAR SERVICES
EDUCATIONAL AND PERSONAL SERVICE APPEAL

In scuttling parliament so that the war record of the government could not be brought out and examined in the light of the official records in the only place these records can be obtained, Prime Ministre King is in the same position as a man who asks for trial by jury after he has made sure that the evidence in the case is not available.

However, Mr. King still has to face trial. The story of his failure since 1935 to solve unemployment or effectively handle the peace-time problems faced by his government is known to the electors. They know, too, that although he had nearly twelve months after Munich to prepare for the storm, he let Canada go into the war short of arms, clothing and other war supplies that might have been ready under a more alert government.

It is time to get rid of such an administration. A Nation at War Needs a National Government.

Salary Schedule Sent Back For More Study

"I'd never vote for any salary schedule. I know the history of the Board of Education's salary schedule, for I was a member of the Board. It added a great deal to the cost of education in this city."

Alderman Wilson was telling the Finance Committee of the council in those words Monday night why he could not subscribe to the proposed schedule which has been given "serious consideration" on several occasions of hesitant approach. Alderman Dutton has been fathering it of late on the ground that it would remove the necessity of civic employees making appeals for increases from time to time, and relieve the council of almost annual debates that took up a great deal of time.

"It simply fixes a minimum salary for each position, with a yearly increase to the maximum where it stops," Alderman Dutton has explained. "The council could suspend operations in any year and for any reasons that called for holding it up."

The council has given considerable thought to the subject this year, and finally decided last night not to put the scale into effect but leave it to a committee for further deliberation.

The classification and salary brackets were scanned again and Alderman Wilson's remark — "I'd hate to have to meet the citizens if we put in all that stuff, the way they have been talking to me. If you can put all these increases on the taxpayer I don't want any of it."

"I hear people say they don't want increases this year," Alderman McIntyre added.

Brought Up Every Year.

There was a small note of what sounded like irritation in Alderman Dutton's proposal that the whole thing be tossed out if the committee could not agree on it. "What's the use of bringing up this schedule idea every year, and doing a lot of talking about it, and in the long run doing nothing about it. We've got other business to attend to if the committee doesn't want to adopt the schedule."

"It's easy to be generous with other people's money," said Alderman Wilson, after the manner of Confucius.

"The amount of the increase when spread over all the ratepayers would be so small you couldn't see it on the point of a needle," was Alderman McCannan's remark. It was also stated that the increase involved in the proposed schedule was $1,854.

Alderman Wilson turned up one of the pages from a sheaf in front of him, and saying that it was a list of employees who had worked only part time last year—"Look over this if you want to do something. I can tell you it is not to our credit.

"Some salaries were put up in the last war, and they stayed there," Alderman Stocker said.

"Is this committee in earnest or are you just wasting time?" Alderman Cotton interjected with a reminder that the estimates had to be disposed of.

Alderman Bradburn said the operation of the schedule might be suspended until next year, except in five individual cases.

Alderman Wilson moved, seconded by Alderman McIntyre, that no action be taken.

An amendment by Alderman Dutton, seconded by Alderman McCannan, was adopted on a division of 7-2, that the salary schedule be left in abeyance, and that a committee be appointed to consider it and report to the council.

Jamaica exported nearly 20,000,000 bunches of bananas last year.

Planes For Aussies

Sydney, Australia Feb. 20 (CP Cable)

NEWSPAPER commentators Sunday welcomed announcement of a gift by Great Britain of 900 aircraft to the Australian government, a gift which is triple the strength of the present air force in Australia.

It was learned that the first men to receive their final training in Canada under the empire-wide plan will sail for the sister dominion within four months and will number about 300.

Next month Australia will open its recruiting for 50,000 men to staff its "air armada." But it will be largely a question of selection as more than 60,000 have applied in advance. Pilots, observers, machine-gunners and ground crews will be enlisted.

Farm Meetings Are Arranged

An experiment in rural meetings will be made next week by Frank C. Paterson, who is arranging for three morning sessions beginning at 10 o'clock. Mr. Paterson will be assisted by R. S. McKercher of Seaforth. Their subjects will be soil and crop improvement fertilizers and seed grain; swine diseases and their prevention, including a discussion of the bacon situation.

The first meeting will be held at Lakefield Community Hall Monday, February 26 at 10 a.m. and at 2 p.m. the session will be in the True Blue Hall at Buckhorn.

The Tuesday meeting are at Warsaw at 10 a.m. and at Ennismore Parish Hall at 2 p.m.; and on Wednesday at Keene Community Hall in the morning and Havelock own hall in the afternoon.

Mr. Paterson is hoping these meetings will be well attended. A special effort is being made to stimulate practical interest in crop production and also in the output of bacon, and considerable emphasis will be placed on Britain's need of bacon supplies and the farmers' opportunity and responsibility of supplying it.

W. Cunningham Is Laid To Rest

Hundreds of friends paid their last respects to the late William Henry Cunningham at the funeral service in George Street United Church this afternoon.

The late Mr. Cunningham, who has been actively associated with the George Street Sunday School for the past forty years was widely known as a musician and piano tuner. His splendid service to the church was fittingly observed when the remains were taken to the church at 12 noon and a guard of honor composed of six men stood guard as the body lay in state. Six other men took their turn in the guard of honor from one until two o'clock when the funeral service began. All were members and officers of the Sunday school.

At eleven o'clock this morning the Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe of Murray Street Baptist church conducted a private service at the late Mr. Cunningham's home which was attended by the immediate family.

Mr. Sutcliffe also had charge of the church service, acting for the Rev. M. C. Parr, minister of George Street United Church who is ill at the present time. More than a hundred members of the Sunday school, many of them veterans who had known and loved Mr. Cunningham for more than a quarter of a century, met in the basement of the church shortly before two o'clock and filed into the mai nauditorium just before the service began.

Pallbearers represented the different departments of the church and were as follows: C. S. Thompson, H. G. Walker, Fred Skitch, Herbert Girven, W. Dorrington and Leo W. Copp. Interment was at Little Lake Cemetery with the Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe officiating at the graveside.

On Sunday afternoon, the opening session of the Sunday school took the form of a brief memorial service. S. R. Armstrong, who has been a close friend of the late Mr. Cunningham for more than forty years, spoke briefly and paid tribute to the sterling qualities of his late colleague. The service concluded with a solo by Ed. Rowe.

The Rambling REPORTERS

ASBESTOS HIDES

A six year old pupil in a Norwood school has very definite ideas on where grasshoppers spend the winter. He was doing some work on a simple poem "Grasshoppers Green" seeking to find answers to questions given him by the teacher which could be readily found by reading the poem through. One of the questions was "Where do grasshoppers go in Winter?"—The youngster replied They are all in H---. The startled teacher asked the boy how he had arrived at the answer and the pupil replied "Well, they are dead and they are bad—so that's where they are now."

County Is Sued For $26,300 After Car Crash

Five joint actions for amounts totalling $26,300 brought against the County of Peterborough by occupants of a car in which four of them were injured in an accident on the Keene Road in December, 1938, came before Mr. Justice Hope in Supreme court today.

The plaintiffs were Mrs. Mary E. Wood, 79, of Melbourne, Manitoba, who suffered a fracture of the wrist, severe head and body injuries and a resultant heart condition; Miss Edith Wood, Keene telephone operator who suffered a double fracture of the left thigh; Mrs. Sarah Wood, 78, of Otonabee township, who suffered a fractured left thigh; Mrs. Thomas Hastie, Otonabee township, who suffered back injuries; and Thomas A. Hastie, Otonabee township, driver of the car in which the four were injured.

Mrs. Mary E. Wood asked for $5000 damages; Mrs. Sarah Wood, $5000; Miss Edith Wood, $15,000; Mrs. T. A. Hastie, $1,000; and Thomas A. Hastie, $300.

Collide On Culvert

The plaintiff's statement of claim revealed that Mr. Hastie had been driving east on the Keene road and that the accident occurred about 100 feet east of the Hiawatha corner. His car collided, on a culvert with another driven by Walter Rose. This collision, the claim declared was "due to the non-repair and faulty construction of the roadway at, on, and near the culvert. The car turned over in a deep ditch past the culvert.

The plaintiffs charge gross negligence on the part of the county, asserting that the road approaching the culvert is 17 feet wide and suddenly narrows to between 12 and 13 feet without a warning sign. It was claimed that on both approaches to the culvert a portion of the roadway had been allowed to become washed or fallen away. Nor were there any guard rails in the vicinity.

First witness was heard yesterday afternoon when J. W. Pierce, surveyor identified a plan of the scene of the eccident.

Evidence by two physicians, Dr. H. Wright of Keene and Dr. R. K. Magee of Peterborough, occupied the entire morning session. Dr. Wright told of visiting the scene of the accident and described injuries to his four patients. Doctors', hospital and board bills totalled almost $900.

He also said the Keene road at the point of the accident, was "always considered dangerous." Dr. Magee corroborated Dr. Wright's medical evidence.

T. J. Carley, K.C., appeared for the plaintiffs and Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., for the defendant.

Mr. Justice Hope, just before the lunch recess at 1 o'clock asked Mr. Carley and Mr. Gordon whether a settlement could not be reached out of court and both men expressed the hope that such could be done. They agreed to attempt such a solution during the noon hour and seemed optimistic as to the probable result.

On a similar request Monday in a slander suit, an amicable settlement was reached.

Police Are Ready To Meet Firemen Anytime But Firefighters Are Warned To Beware

The policemen and firemen are still talking a good game of hockey but so far the battle between the two outfits hasn't gone beyond the conversational stage. And the ice seems to be going fast.

Around the police station today the air was full of defiance.

"Tell those firefighters," said Detective-Sergt. Bill Meagher, just back after a week's fight with old man John B. Flu, "that we will skate around them so fast that they will think we are on fire and turn in an alarm."

So we are telling them, as ordered.

The constabularly is at the point where they are ready to talk serious business. They claim that they have the material in their lineup that will lay the firemen like a Peterborough-Brinton rug and that they are anxious to get out there sometime before May 24 and show it.

Now all that is needed is some one to get the two outfits together.

Main Street Topics

Jabs and Jottings as Picked Up By Examiner Reporters.

IS ONE OF THE "BEST"

A glowing tribute to the flying ability of Pilot Officer Arthur "Bunt" Waddell of Peterborough who is with the 110th Squadron was paid by several of the Royal Canadian Air Force officer who were here with the "renton Fliers Monday night. Their opinion was that the Peterborough boy was "one of the best."

Emile Baumer, genial motion picture machine operator at the Capitol Theatre, has seven nephews with the French forces in the Maginot Line. All of the men are natives of Alsace-Lorraine and sons of Mr. Baumer's three brothers. One of the nephews is chief medical officer in an artillery unit and the others are with the infantry fortifications regiments.

INTERESTING FIGURES

According to figures mentioned by Howard Quinn at the Twentieth Century Club Tuesday evening, there were 15,616 names on the voters' lists in the city at the last Federal election and 9,363 in the country, which indicates that three-fifths of the total vote is in the city. The figures would be changed considerably now but the ratio would be about the same.

ON THE JOB.

It is generally accepted that Alderman Bob Cotton spends a great portion of his time looking after city affairs, both during the day and attending night meetings. To top this off he had to spend part of the noon hour wielding a crowbar and an ice lifter to-day, unplugging a catch basin on the road in front of his home. Passersby suggested he send a bill to the Board of Works to cover the overtime.

SIDE ROADS BAD

Side roads in the Bailieboro sector are reported decidedly bad for motor traffic. The thaw has left them so soft that it is almost impossible for automobiles to get through.

STILL IN HOSPITAL.

Carl Oakender, R. C. A. F., well known skier who competed here during the past two years and made many friends, is still a patient in a Toronto Hospital. He was seriously injured at Camp Borden on Nov. 9 in an accident along with another air force man from Hastings. His injuries included a broken leg and at the present time he is able to hobble around on crutches.

BURIED IN TORONTO.

Mrs. Caroline (Piggott) MacMillan, widow of J. D. MacMillan, at one time superintendent of the Belleville division of the Canadian National Railways, was buried in Toronto Monday. She died on Friday in Kingston in her eighty-fourth year. Her husband was well known in this city, especially in business, railway and civic circles.

AN UNUSUAL CALM

Peterborough is experiencing an unusual lull in the matter of crime these days. For days there have been no serious complaints for the police to investigate and as a matter of fact there have been few complaints for the police to investigate and as a matter of fact there have been few complaints of any kind. Outside of the routine reports reports from guards and watchmen of the local factories over the telephone, the phone record for last night contained not a single entry which is some sort of a record in itself. Police are hoping that it is not a case of the calm before the storm.

Populace To Stay

Factory workers must remain in the city, he said ,adding that the capital's defences now can provide adequate protection.

LONDON.— (CP)— The treasury announced today a decision to conceal war budget estimates because it is "not in public interest to disclose through estimates the nature and extent of the war effort."

TIENTSIN.— (CP)— Fears grew today that food riots would break out in Tientsin because of a clash between Japanese military authorities and merchants over the price of flour.

The Japanese demanded that flour be pegged at 12.50 Tientsin dollars a bag; merchants have insisted that they be paid 19.50 dollars. Supplies, even at the higher price, are meager.

(The Tientsin dollar is not quoted in foreign exchange.)

Women Give North Monaghan Councillors Tough Time In Court Of Revision Session

A deputation of the residents on Charlotte Street West, including a grimly earnest group of women, crackled things about the ears of North Monaghan Council sitting as a Court of Revision on the cost of the Charlotte Street sewer Saturday afternoon. At least that is the report of the three-hour session that had the councillors' backs to the wall. John R. Corkery represented the deputation, and it is said that if there was anything Mr. Corkery overlooked by way of argument against the wage rates and other details, the ladies made up the deficiency. One of their objections was to the effect that the council permitted a wage rate of forty cents an hour on this job although the rate generally had been thirty cents on township work.

No decision was arrived at by the Court, and the date of its adjourned session has not been set. However, it is expected that the members of the council will presently recover from the shellacking they got from the township ladies out along Charlotte Street.

Ban Is Placed On Reliefees Buying Liquor

So far as North Monaghan is concerned relief and alcohol are not going to mix.

At a special meeting of the council held in the court house Monday afternoon to complete the business left over from the regular session of February 11, the clerk was instructed to advertise in The Examiner, notifying the hotel beverage rooms, the liquor store, etc., that any relief recipient from the township of North Monaghan found drinking or purchasing beer, liquor or other spirits would be cut off township relief.

Reginald Hunter, son of George Hunter, was appointed assessor after the council had interviewed three applicants selected as the final pool from a field of eight. The other two were Joseph O'Keefe and Fred Stinson.

Continue County Road

Sympathetic hearing was granted a deputation from Cavan council composed of Reeve Garnet Shields, Deputy-reeve Brown and Councillor Harold Cathcart which asked the co-operation of North Monaghan in having the Peterborough county road system continue from the terminal point at the boundary of Cavan and North Monaghan through the Cavan swamp to the Middle Road of Cavan at Mount Pleasant.

Because the council felt that as he was now a resident ratepayer of North Monaghan he was more entitled to the business than George McKim, city resident, who has hitherto held it, the insurance for public liability and property damage on township roads was granted to H. I. Bradburn of Bradburn's Limited.

Constable Bruce Menzies' request for an increase in salary, left over from the regular meeting, was disposed of without adding to the burden of the taxpayers. The constable who is paid a regular salary and furnished with a uniform and is paid 10 per cent of the collection of dog licenses will henceforth officiate as building inspector and will be paid the fees for that work. This step was taken merely as an economy move, the council made clear. Bert May has been acting as building inspector.

A committee composed of Councillors Grady and Cassan was authorized to appoint Joseph O'Keefe and another man to measure the streets and lay out plans for street numbers in certain sections of Claraday.

The next regular meeting of council wil be held on March 11.

Kingan Letters Get Results

The council may laugh in the best of humor at the barrage of letters laid down by Charlie Kingan, president of the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association, but Mr. Kingan laughs in the same vein and has the last chuckle.

"It's all right as long as we got the grant," Mr. Kingan said this morning when the incidence of his correspondence was mentioned to him.

Three different letters were on Alderman Cotton's file last night, and Mr. Kingan sent twelve copies of one of them, to make sure that each member received one.

As a matter of cold fact the heap of them is still in the finance portfolio, but Mr. Kingan had done his work orally as well as scripturally.

The grant of $100 was increased to $200 to enable the Association to expand its work. Incidentally Mr. Kingan knocked off work this morning to make another round of collecting another small fund to pay for the trucking of a second detachment of elks, to increase the present herds number from six to fourteen.

"They'll all get along better if we can get the fourteen," Mr. Kingan remarked to the Examiner.

Although the council gave the Association $100 last year the amount drawn from the city was only $50. The new appropriation is made on the same terms, permitting the Association to draw on the city treasury in $25 amounts up to a total of $200.

Other grants passed were as follows: Peterborough Industrial Exhibition, $2,000; Peterborough Health Association, $1,000; Salvation Army welfare service, $300; Chamber of Commerce, $300; Children's Aid Society, $500; Poultry Association, $75; Peterborough Branch of the Canadian, $800; Humane Society, $150; Canadian Institute for the Blind, $50; Sick Children's Hospital, $100, and others including $250 to the Rugby Club.

All the departmental requisitions were adopted by the committee without any changes, police and fire departments, Board of Education, Nicholls Hospital, Library Board, and so on.

Injured In Bush

SUDBURY, Ont., Feb. 20—(CP)—Zotique Labonte, 43-year-old bush foreman, injured while working in a lumber camp at Gogama, rested in hospital today following a mercy flight by Pilot Thurston Blakey of Austin Airlines.

Blakey set his plane down on Lake Ramsay here Saturday night and was met by an ambulance, which took Labonte to hospital. Examination showed multiple fractures of the ribs. He is in a semi-conscious condition.

Nearly all textile mills in Lille, France, are busy on military orders.

Case Is Adourned

Only one case was on the docket at police court this morning and it did not get very far owing to the fact that the complainant's solicitor was unable to be present and the matter had to be adjourned until Thursday.

This was a case under the Master and Servant Act in which Edlard Pinch of Peterborough claimed $21 in wages from Ralph Greenbank of Norwood.

Greenbank was not present and John A. Bradshaw who appeared for him said that his client proposed to show cause and suggested to an adjournment until Thursday. "I understand the complainant's counsel is unable to attend today," h. said.

Pinch confirmed that statement and consented to the case going over.

Hamilton Area Digs Self Out

TORONTO, Feb. 20. — (CP).— Aided by continued mild weather, weary snow-fighting crews continued to-day to battle a mixture of heavy slush and snow drifts throughout Western Ontario, Hamilton district and the Niagara Peninsula.

Failure of an expected cold wave to set in relieved pressure somewhat but there was no let-up for the roads crews since the storm of wet, heavy snow settled down on the area late Sunday and early yesterday.

At Hamilton, where the city was in half-darkness through the 20-hour fall, three dead were counted among the storm havoc. John C. Ford, 56-year-old Canadian National Railways employee, was hit and killed by a switching engine at the height of the blizzard. Two other men, Edward Weaver, 43, and P. Gorry 65, dropped dead from overexertion believed attributable to the storm.

Batteries of snowploughs worked ceaselessly around Hamilton and the Niagara Peninsula all day yesterday and late at night highway officials reported that all main arteries in the areas had been opened. Some county roads, however, were too heavy for travel, but it was believed that continued mild weather would put these in fair shape.

In the London area all provincial roads were reported open but snow crews were kept on a 24-hour basis.

Brantford police reported that all main arteries from the area were open but said that another snowfall might cause a serious tie-up.

Caledonia area was gradually digging itself out last night and no traffic trouble was reported on main highways but county roads were also in poor shape in this region.

The storm was limited to Southwestern Ontario. Toronto and Guelph areas experienced high temperatures but only a minimum of snow and some rain, while Northern Ontario basked in clear, fine weather.

Tom Foley ,Doug Airhart, and Jack Aitcheson spent the week-end at their homes in Belleville.

Miss Nonie Sampson of Toronto visited Miss Mary Elliott over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Aitcheson of Belleville were guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Loveless on Sunday.

Robert Elliott of Queen's University spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Elliott.

Joseph Darrah left on Monday for Quebec City, where he will be stationed on military service with the Canadian Forces.

Fewer Labor Troubles

TORONTO, Feb. 20—(CP). — Decreasing incidence of labor troubles in Ontario was shown today in figures relating to strikes obtained from the Ontario Labor department.

In the calendar year 1939 there were 33 strikes and lockouts as compared to 64 in 1938. The number of workers fell from 8,308 to 5,101 and the number of working days lost from 72,984 to 43,920.

Group Insurance At City Hall Is Being Studied

A definite and practical step toward the provision of group insurance for employees of the city was taken by the finance committee of the council Monday night on Alderman Dutton's motion, seconded by Alderman Stocker, directing that $750 be included in the estimates as a fund from which the city's contribution could be drawn if the insurance plan is established.

The motion was amplified by the appointment of a committee to bring in a recommendation that would supply complete information as to the schedule of insurance, the amount to be paid by employees, the sum to be paid by the city, and other details. That means, the proposal contemplates a contributory form of group insurance with both the city and its employees bearing the most.

The members of this special committee are Aldermen Cotton, Stocker, Dutton and Ovens with Mayor Hamilton.

Some Salary Increases

Although the finance committee has received fairly numerous requests for increases in salaries, it singled out only a few for immediate attention.

The first one was the salary of Deputy-Chief George Smith of the Fire Department, whose application was included in the general petition presented some time ago to the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

"I don't think I'd know the man if I saw him, but the general opinion of him is very high," Alderman Stocker said, and moved that Deputy-Chief Smith be given an increase of $125 a year, raising his salary to $1,800. The motion was seconded by Alderman McIntyre.

"He ought to be thankful to get it," was the comment of Alderman Wilson.

Alderman McIntyre referred to the application of Sanitary Inspector Ronald MacPherson, proposing that his salary should be increased. Alderman McCannan also spoke of the "good work" that was being done by Mr. MacPherson, and said that he was one of the lowest paid Sanitary Inspectors in the province, and that he had taken a course of study to improve his qualifications.

Alderman McIntyre moved, seconded by Alderman Ovens, that Mr. MacPherson's salary be increased $150 a year from $1,350 to $1,500.

An amendment by Alderman Stocker, seconded by Alderman Bradburn, that the increase be $100 to $1,450 carried on a vote of 5-4.

Those who voted for the amendment were Aldermen Stocker, Roy, Dutton, Bradburn and Wilson, and the motion was supported by Mayor Hamilton, Aldermen McIntyre, McCanan and Ovens.

S. H. Mitchell of the tax collection department was given an increase of $100 a year. His salary has been $1,300 a year with an allowance of $300 for the use of his automobile. Alderman McCannan and Alderman Stocker proposed the $100 increase, and Mayor Hamilton and Alderman Wilson moved in amendment that it be $50 a year. Only mover and seconder supported the amendment.

OSHAWA BEES DEFEAT LOCAL COLTS TO GAIN EDGE ON SERIES

Juniors Beaten By 6-1 In Torrid Fray

Oshawa Bees went one up on the O.H.A. junior "B" group playoff series in the Motor City last night with a 6-1 win over the Peterborough Colts. Both teams had previously won one game in the three-in-five series, the next one being here on Friday. About 400 fans saw a lively game.

The exciting battle, marked by a fist fight in the third period and plenty of rough play, was climaxed by a free-for-all in the alleyway leading to the dressing rooms at the end of the third period. A fan tangled with a visiting player and a general fight broke out, which lasted for several minutes before broken up. Parnell of the Colts was scratched about the face and Fraser of Oshawa had a finger bitten.

It was a hard fought battle, much closer than the score indicates, with neither side able to score in the first frame. The Bees cashed in on a second-period lapse by the locals in the middle heat for a 4-0 edge, but were only able to eke out a 2-1 margin in the torrid third. While play was rough at times—and always fast and exciting—only eight penalties were handed out, four apiece, with Craig and Wilson drawing majors late in the third stanza for fighting.

No Local Stars.

There were no particular stars for the Weir squad. While Cournyea kicked out some hot ones, a couple fooled him, and the defence was a bit spotty. The forwards worked hard but did not click up to their best form and missed numerous chances. Hewson, Reid and Peters sparked the homesters to the win, with McMullen and McBrien also going good. Phillips in the winners' net was almost impossible to beat.

Play was fast and quite even all through the lively and hard-fought first frame. They moved up and down on neat plays, testing the goalies with neither side showing any margin. McMullen made a fine try and later Parnell almost scored in a pile-up in front of Phillips. Craig came close a bit later and then a Hewson-Reid thrust nearly netted one. They kept going at a hot pace all the way, playing fast and clean, with the goalies busy and neither side looking any better right to the finish. There was no score and no penalties in the first inning.

Five Men Up.

Oshawa sent five men up to start the second and pressed all the way. Reid nearly notched one early and Cournyear looked good on several hot stabs. Foster went off for cross-checking and Reid followed him for slashing. Foster just got back when Vitarelli got the air for slashing as play speeded up and got rougher. Reid came back and they ganged up to score, with Fraser tallying in close from Reid and Peters. Later Hewson got another, with Peters and Reid aiding inside the defence. A Pammett-Foster drive was close and, when Foster went off for tripping, the Colts tried hard. Foster's penalty shot shot missed and Pammett hit the post. Peters went off hurt and, with all back, Hewson made it 3-0 in a scramble. They kept pressing and got another, McMullen scoring from McBrien. Beggs pulled a neat rush near the end.

Colt Pressing.

All the Colts went on the attack in the third and, at times, four and five local forwards were used. They pressed most of the route in a rough, fast and exciting period. McMullen's snap shot from the side, on Raike's pass, fooled Cournyea early and later McBrien came close. The Colts kept hammering away and got one when Craig banged home Rochetta's pass in close. McBrien got it back in the crease on a pass from Reid and a Wade-Pammett rush made Phillips jump. Fraser was gated for boarding as it got rougher and a Wade-Rochetta thrust nearly netted one. Pammett went off for tripping and then Craig and Wilson tangled, with the Oshawa goalie rushing out to aid his buddy, the two principals drawing majors just before the bell. A tangle in the alley-way followed the game.

Colts—Goal, Cournyea; defence, Beggs and Vitarelli; centre, Rochetta; wings, Craig and Parnell; alternates, Wade, Foster, Pammett, Mason, Strickland and Nichols.

How Awful!

Guthrie, Okla., Feb. 20 (AP)

FIREMAN Otis Jackson fought his way into a burning church just as the phone rang. Jackson answered it.

"I understand there is a fire at the church," a woman's voice said. "Is there anything to it?"

Jackson said yes indeed there was something to it.

"How awful!" the woman replied. She hung up and Jackson went back to work. The church was damaged $10,000 worth.

Holzbaugh Want To Test Blue Devils

DETROIT, Feb. 20.—(CP)—Detroit officials said today that negotiations were continuing with Kirkland Lake Blue Devils regarding an exhibition game here March 17 with Detroit Holzbaugh, leaders in the Michigan-Ontario Amateur Hockey League.

Holzbaugh recently returned from Northern Ontario where they played three exhibition games, splitting a pair with the Kirkland Lake team and defeating McIntyre Mines 4-2.

Officials said that should the Blue Devils decide to play, games could probably be arranged for them with London Mohawks of the M-O league and Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

If Kirkland Lake declines the trip, either Montreal Royals or Port Arthur Bearcats will be sought as opponents for Holzbaugh.

Hurst Wallops Buffalo Negro In Four

TORONTO, Feb. 20 — (CP). — Harry Hurst, young Montreal boxer, to-day ranked among Canada's most promising lightweights, following his third straight knockout victory before Toronto fans.

Voted Canada's outstanding fighter at the Dominion amateur championships last year, Hurst continued his climb in professional ranks here last night when he defeated Floyd Stovall, Buffalo negro.

At 135, 1½ pounds lighter than his opponent, Hurst was on top all the way. Stovall was a badly beaten fighter when Referee Bobby Lawrence stopped the bout in the fourth round.

Hurst floored the negro for a six-count in the first and an eight-count in the third. The Buffalo boy heard eight counted over him again in the fourth, and as he staggered to continue Hurst felled him to end the bout.

In the main bout Steve Mamakos, 151½, Washington, D.C., won a split decision in 10 rounds over Sammy Luftspring, 151, Toronto, Canadian welterweight champion.

The Washington boy who decisioned Luftspring in a previous meeting in New York, led in the early rounds and damaged the Canadian's right eye. Both fighters slugged all the way, and Luftspring rallied in the closing rounds to have Mamakos staggering in the 10th.

CURLING

By HERB MARTIN

The annual competition for the "Neill" trophy got under way last evening and while the ice was anything but good, a start was made by ulaying on the four outside ices.

On such ice one could hardly get a line on the rinks and unless the weather turns colder by to-night we are afraid to-night's games will have to be postponed until Wednesday evening. If such should be the case the rinks scheduled for to-night will carry on to-morrow night at the same hour.

Peterborough's lone entry in the Toronto bonspiel yesterday broke fifty-fifty. Ray Best, supported by B. Scott, W. Widdess and D. Grant, won their first game in the Royal York but lost out in the Ryrie-Birks.

One rink from our ladies' section left at noon for the Seigneory club, Quebec. They will play in the "Sewell" bonspiel. It might be well to remember that this particular competition is played with irons. The rink consists of Mrs. R. Turner, Miss H. Munro, Mrs. G. Wood and Miss H. Panning.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEL PERDUE

A few headaches and a lot of noggin-scratching ought to come out of that Industrial Puck Loop meeting tomorrow eve at eight in Duffus'. On account of two protests will be considered by the executive. Packers protested a game which, they claim, was cut short early in the season. And Quakers have objected to Mike O'Leary playing for Westclox, maintaining that he is an O.H.A. player. And we're just as glad we're not on this league's protest committee! Next trio of tilts will be Thursday e'en in the Brock, starting at 7.30. Brintons play Packers, Marines meet Quakers, and Rays tangle with Watercrafts, as Westclox cops the bye. At present, Quakers and Westclox are tied atop the pile, with Marines next, then Packers, followed by Watercraft, with Rays and Brintons in a bottom tie. Packers have the skating party tonight.

Thump Valley Loop games the rest of the week — and don't think folks through the district don't follow these tussles up either via the gazette accounts or in person—have Madoc at Tweed on Wednesday with the Bata brogan-builders in Norwood. Friday sees Marmora in Campbellford, Tweed at Madoc and Bata at Stirling. Last night's numbers were billed as Campbellford at Frankford, Norwood in Tweed and Marmora at Stirling. The lengthy and scrappy schedule winds up March 4th, with playoffs following.

Failed To Cover Up

Well, sir, we went down to Oshawa last night to see what we could do for the Colts. But we couldn't don the steel blades and go out there and cover up in front of their own net. That's what beat 'em by a 6-1 score. They held their own nicely in a 0-0 first period, and did well in a 2-1 for Oshawa third frame, but that 4-0 edge for the homesters in the middle chukker did the damage. It was not a 6-1 game at all on the play but nevertheless the Bees won the tilt and are now one up on the three-in-five group finals. Fourth game will be here Friday eve.

* * * * * * *

Nearly 500 fans (a huge crowd for Oshawa for anything except an "A" game—as that town is junior "A" crazy) enjoyed the joust thoroughly. It was fast, close and exciting throughout. The Colts pulled a few fox passes—or is that the French for it?—in the second and gave the Bees the jump, but otherwise it was closer than a Hollywood embrace. While all the Colts hustled hard, there were no outstanding stars in this engagement and we didn't think the young Petes played their best hockey of the season. They can beat the Bees here Friday and sew up the series again but they'll have to be in top form all the time—and have no one poor period. No time for fooling now that the playoffs are on.

* * * * * * *

Quite A Brawl, Huh?

The game was rugged enough and developed a few feuds, the Oshawa boys being tough on their own ice—though the Colts do more fighting away from home than here. Only serious outbreak came late in the third when Craig and Wilson, who had been feuding, tangled in a fist fight. Craig floored him—or iced him—promptly, but the goalie had to rush out (while play was at the other end of the rink) and take a hand, hardly a brave gesture at all. They drew majors. After the game, enroute to their dressing-room in the alley-way, a spectator barged into Parnell and started a scrap. He was getting a licking — but scratched Bob's face—when both sides mixed it vgorously for a minute. Fraser somehow wound up with a finger badly bitten and it was right lively for a short space, punctuated by Craig's unavailing yells for the goalie to come out of hiding in his dressing-room. Yeah, it'll be fun back here Friday.

* * * * * * *

And the Petes are in again. Congrats to Coach Frank Buckland, Manager Bill Jackson and the classy local puckists. They 11-1'd the luckless R.C.A.F.-ers here last twilight to make it three in a row in group finals and take the title as easily as any of us take an Xmas bonus. No stalling around for an extra gate or prolonging the series for the extra practice, nossuh; just like last year, the Petes went out and won as quickly as possible. They may have to wait a spell now for further opposition, but might line up an exhibition game while awaitng some provincial playdown word from the O.H.A. The Fliers were outclassed all season by the Petes, who had more speed, balance and polish—only dropping one scheduled tilt. We've got a smart intermediate "A" club this semester and the outfit is clicking on all six now.

Poor Goalie Gibson

Aside from fanning on one, Ray Harding had another shutout in a good showing. Defence was okay, too, but the fast-stepping forwards hogged the lime-light. Swept in and around and through a porous Airmen's defence (they should have used balloon barrages) to make Goalie Gibson resemble a machine-gun target! Scoring was well spread around with F. Jopling turning in a swell performance on the attack but practically every homester teeing off and slicing into the visitors' hemp. Crowd was but so-so, yet what could ya expect? Folks were getting a bit fed up on seeing the same faces game after game, especially as the locals were trimming 'em regularly. But from now on, it'll be plenty all right.

* * * * * * *

Quite an attraction for basketball followers here is offered at the Y.W. this Friday p.m. when Cobourg Grads—ladies' intermediate "A" champions of Ontario—tackle the classy local Orfuns. As part of a triple-header. Cobourg colleens have built up quite a cage rep, but the all-star Orfuns' aggregation is potent, too—yeah, puh-lenty potent. This game will be at nine, preceded at seven by St. John's vs. "Y" Gym and at eight by Westclox vs. Quaker Aces in scheduled tussles. Ought to pack in the customers.

Crack Sarnian Rink Beaten In York Trophy

TORONTO, Feb. 20.— (CP). — First round play for the Selberling and Seagram trophies began to-day at the Ontario Curling Association's 13th annual bonspiel minus both defending champions.

Harvey Sproule's Toronto High Park quartet, holder of the Selberling award, were defeated by W. A. Watson's Sarnia rink 11-7 in the first round of Royal York play yesterday. D. P. J. Kelly's Toronto Granite four, Seagram winners last year, defeated Ward Peck's Detroit rink 20-10.

Winners in the Royal York first round compete for the Selberling and Birks-Ellis-Ryrie awards, while losers play in the Seagram and North American Life events.

The play produced three upsets. Alex Hayes' Sarnia aggregation, Royal York title-holding rink last year, was eliminated 13-5 in the first round of the Royal York by a Toronto High Park rink skipped by Earl Wheler. R. R. Evans' Hamilton Thistles ousted Dave Walker's crack Fort William entry 12-8 in the first round of the Birks-Ellis-Ryrie and Watson defeated Sproule.

Thirty-one undefeated rinks survived to advance into the second round of the Birks-Ellis-Ryrie event. Only three extra ends were required to reach decisions in 124 matches played yesterday.

Toronto rinks made a strong showing, winning 38 and losing 24 of their matches and placing 13 among the 31 undefeated quartets.

C. L. Hequembourg's Schenectady four had the best record of the United States entries, capturing first round matches in both the Royal York and Birks-Ellis-Ryrie competitions. A second Schenectady four, piloted by J. C. Parker, and a Milwaukee rink led by Harry Scott, won Royal York matches but were eliminated in the Birks-Ellis-Ryrie.

Five Detroit rinks and another Milwaukee foursome lost in the Royal York. Detroit rinks skipped by D. C. Fisk and Ward Peck and Dr. J. A. Mackenzie's Milwaukee entry won first round matches in North American Life play.

Western Ontario rinks which survived the first round of the Royal York included four skipped by A. C. Gardiner of Sarnia, Frank C. Wilson of London, J. W. Currie of Ayr, Charles Barber of Seaforth, Peter Gilbert of Chatham, Dr. A. W. Irwin of Wingham and W. A. Watson of Sarnia.

Only two Northern Ontario fours won first round Royal York matches. They were R. L. McIntosh's North Bay rink and a McIntyre rink, skipped by I. A. Solomon, who also won in the Birks-Ellis-Ryrie.

Earl Wheeler's Hamilton Thistles required an extra end to win their first round match in the Birks-Ellis-Ryrie. They defeated J. W. Currie's Ayr four 12-11.

Alex Hayes of Sarnia, Gar Redden of London and A. E. Dunker of Kitchener were among the Western Ontario winners in the first round of the North American Life event.

BUZZ BOLL
N.Y. Americans

(By Central Press Canadian)

But for a couple of aggravating injuries that spoiled two seasons and possibly his career as a great hockey player, Buzz Boll might now be winning acclaim as one of the National league's best left wings. He broke in with Toronto Maple Leafs six years ago, after a year at Syracuse, and soon won a place as one of the fastest skating and most effective wings in the league. He got 12 goals that season, 14 the next and 15 the next. Came 1936-37 and he was forced to spend most of the season on the sidelines with a broken arm. The following season he bounced back with another 14 goals, and then last winter he suffered a leg injury that kept him out altogether, although he got in a few games at Syracuse in an effort to get back into his best form. Before the present season got under way he was shipped to the Amerks, along with Harvey Jackson and Doc Romnes, in exchange for Sweeney Schriner. Full name is Frank Thorman Boll. Born at Pilmore, Sask., and played his first amateur hockey on the prairies, junior with Regina Pats and senior with Weyburn. Came east for a season with Toronto Marlboros, his last amateur club. March 6th will be his 29th birthday. Mathematical totals until start of present season: 61 goals, 39 assists and 69 minutes in penalties.

Macphail Claims Dodgers Pennant Goods

CLEARWATER, Fla., Feb. 20 — (AP). — Larry Macphail, pleased with his Brooklyn Ball Club strengthening deals, predicted to-day that "the Dodgers will be better this year than last."

The prediction was almost the same as saying the National League pennant fight this season will be between his Dodgers and some other club.

Brooklyn finished in third place last year, 12½ games behind the champion Cincinnati Reds.

To bolster a weak hitting outfield, Macphail bought veteran Joe Vosmik from the Boston Red Sox; signed Roy Cullenbine, made a free agent by Commissioner K. M. Landis recently; and brought up Calvin Chapman from Nashville of the Southern Association.

"Everybody is yelling about Benny McCoy," said Macphail, "but when he and Cullenbine played on the same club in the American Association and looked at the same pitching, Cullenbine had the biggest batting average. The boy's big, fast, and can throw. I'm satisfied he'll make good for us."

PETES SWAMP TRENTON FLIERS TO WIN GROUP CHAMPIONSHIP

Local Squad Rubs Out Airmen By A Soft 11-1 Victory To Cop Title In Three Straight

Peterborough's fast-moving intermediate "A" squad waged blitzkreig on the Trenton Fliers at Brock Street rink Monday night, overwhelming the Air Force squad 11 goals to 1 to take the group play-off series in three straight games.

There never was any doubt as to the result even though the visitors managed to hold the Petes to a 1-1 tie in the first period. The Buckaroos looked the better squad in spite of the tied score at the end of the opening session and when they turned on the heat in the second chapter and zoomed in on Gibson in repeated raids that netted them seven goals without a reply the argument was all over. The last period was just a case of playing out the string and, although the Petes added three more markers, nobody cared.

The ice was somewhat soft but much better than had been expected The conditions did not prevent the Petes from giving a clever exhibition of playmaking and teamwork that carried them through and around the Trenton defence so often that Goalie Gibson must have tired of looking the winners in the eye long before the battle was over. Only one of the Petes' goals was scored unassisted and the summary shows how effectively they were tossing the rubber around.

Drake Jopling Stars

The whole squad was working smoothly with Drake Jopling standing out by setting up the plays for four goals, the best offensive performance he has shown this season, and Eddie Starr in the spotlight for his hat trick of scoring three markers. The steady work of the Petes' defence, aided by consistent back checking, had the Fliers' attack hogtied and their only goal was a soft one on a backhand from the corner by Legris which trickled into the cage off Harding's knee. Outside that one break the Petes' goalie was invincible.

Legris, Lemiex and Gathercol were the most effective Trenton performers giving their best in a hopeless cause while Gibson, in spite of being beaten by eleven shots, stopped a flock of dangerous drives.

Start Scoring Early

The Petes broke into the scoring summary two minutes after the game got under way, Honey Tompkins rapping one past Gibson at close range after a smart passing play with Heal and Kingdon. The Petes continued to press, even after Don Crowe was penalized for charging, but they missed by inches or close-in plays or were robbed by Gibson and could not add to their lead. It was finally wiped out half way through the period on the gift goal scored by Legris and from then on to the end of the session the hockey was a bit ragged.

It was a different story in the second episode. Right off the reel the Petes started to storm in and Heal hit the post on a close-in attempt. Fliers could not get the rubber out of their territory and finally Heal slipped the disc past Gibson on a pass from behind the net, Tompkins and Kingdon drawing assists on the play.

Start A Parade

That started the parade. Shortly after Drake Jopling broke away and carrying the puck down the side centred perfectly to Eddie Starr who slid a low shot just out of Gibson's reach into the corner of the net. Irwin drew a penalty for slashing Starr and Tompkins got one soon for high-sticking but nothing happened while they were off. Drake Jopling made the play for the Petes' next goal, going down the side and firing a beauty which beat Gibson all the way but hit the post. Starr flashed in and netted the rebound.

Back came the defence man again and this time it was an all-Jopling triumph, Drake's neat pass to Jack allowing the latter to beat Gibson smartly.

Don Coughlin put Blewett into the clear with a timely pass for another clever goal and Coughlin himself got the next when he checked Cameron as the latter tried to clear and went in to outguess Gibson. The final counter of the period came on a play started by Drake Jopling. The pass went to Jack Jopling who transferred to Starr close-in and the blond centre got his third goal of the period.

Playing Out String

There was nothing to it but the Petes in the final twenty minutes. Forty-five seconds after the initial faceoff Tompkins started a rush, passed to Heal and the left-winger whirled across the mouth of the net and fired past Gibson One the next appearance of the starting forward line three minutes later Tompkins made it 10 to 1, with Heal and Kingdon assisting in the play. The game bogged down then. The Fliers kept trying but they got few openings and Harding beat the attackers on the rare occasions they were dangerous. The game was almost over when Joe Blewett scored the final counter after Don Crowe had rushed down the side and passed out in front from the right boards. Shortly before that when Jack Gardner drew a tripping penalty Referee Houston awarded a penalty shot. Cameron, the big defence man made the attempt but Harding stopped his hard accurate shot. Teams and summary:

Smashes Snooker Record

Playing with friends, Charles Kittlety, of Doncaster, Eng., smashed the world's amateur snooker record with a break of 122. Previous best was 100. Kittlety is now hoping to turn professional and details of his feat of 122 have been submitted to officials for official recognition. The break ended when the blue wobbled on the lip of the pocket. Had it dropped he would undoubtedly have broken Joe Davis' professional world record.

Havelock Albions Blanked By Trent; Westwood Triumphs Over Elgin

HAVELOCK, Feb. 20 (ENS). — The first game of a double-header in the East Peterborough Rural League schedule, played last night in Norwood Arena, saw the Westwood crew cop a close 3-2 decision over Elgin. In the latter game, the league-leading Havelock Albions absorbed a 5-0 drubbing at the hands of Trent River.

The initial encounter was a rather slow, unexciting affair, until a 2-all tie in the final stanza forced both sides to step up the pace in an effort to bust the deadlock.

Westwood opened the scoring in the initial stanza of the game, Shearer taking a pass from Sargent to notch a goal at the seven-minute mark.

Less than a minute after the start of the middle frame, E. Preston tied it up for Elgin, only to have Chaplin retaliate for Westwood four minutes later on a solo effort. Mortlock of the winners and Boyle of the losers both drew penalties this period.

With Shearer on the sidelines for tripping, J. Richardson once more deadlocked the count for Elgin, halfway through the final canto. From then on both sides pressed frantically in an effort to bulge the twine. An overtime session was looming close as Chaplin came through with the winning counter, his second of the night.

Lobb for Elgin was particularly good on several thrusts. Chaplin was outstanding for the winners, with Ross, Morris, Sargent and Shearer showing well. Boyle, Scott, Murphy and J. Richardson went best for the losers.

Albions Blanked.

The second tilt started with a bang, successive pile-ups at either cage following directly after the faceoff. Play was evenly divided in the initial session, and quite clean until a flare-up following a disputed goal in the final minutes. A counter by Jim Brown of Trent River as he pushed puck, goalie, and everything into the net was called back. Immediately Pollock and Brown started to swing at each other and soon a general melee was in progress. Referee trouble followed as both teams disagreed with Rothwell's handling of the brawl, and a later penalty to Pollock, so that he was banished by mutual consent and Referee A. Beavis took charge at the beginning of the middle frame.

After fifteen minutes in the second, Hamilton pushed in a pass from Jim Brown for the opening counter.

The third was decidedly Trent River's stanza. They outplayed the Albions continually, slamming home four more goals before the session ended. Chaplin counted first from Hamilton and Jamieson, then Jim Brown combined with Parcells, E. Stevenson scored from VanVolkenburg, and Chaplin notched the last, again from Hamilton and Jamieson. Hoffman drew one penalty when his tactics became slightly over-enthusiastic.

The passing plays of Hamilton and Jamieson, the winners' youthful front line stars, featured this match. They along with Chaplin, McLaughlin, Jim Brown and Hill were most effective for Trent River. For the losers Brunton, Whitney, E. Ellis, F. Ellis, and Peters went best.

The teamas:

Westwood — Goal, Richardson; defence, W. Mortlock, W. Graham; centre, Chaplin; wings, Shearer, Sargent; alternates, Morris, Ross, B. Graham, Warr, Buck.

Elgin — Goal, Lobb; defence, Boyle, J. Richardson; centre, Rusaw; wings, Murphy, Scott; alternates, E. Preston, J. Preston, G. Richardson, J. Metcalfe, Wilson, Cushman.

Referee—B. Puffer, Norwood.

Trent River — Goal, Hill; defence, McLaughlin, A. Brown; centre, J. Brown; wings, G. Brown, Parcells; alternates, Hamilton, Jamieson, Chaplin, Ruttan, E. Stevenson, C. Stevenson, VanVolkenburg.

Havelock — Goal, Peters; defence, Whitney, Lade; centre, F. Ellis; wings, E. Ellis, McMullen; alternates, Brunton, Pollock, Hagerman, Hoffman, Gordon, Green.

Referee—A. Beavis, Norwood.

Norwood Squad Edge Tweed In 4-3 Battle

TWEED, Feb. 20—(ENS).—In a hard fought and closely contested game at the local arena on Monday evening the Norwood Hornets edged out the Terriers 4-3.

The first period ended in a one-all tie with Tweed getting the first counter, Marsh banging in a pass from Tummon and Wagar, and G. Puffer staging one of his solo rushes to tie count. Rothwell received the only penalty of the period.

The Terriers went into a one-goal lead in the second period when Wagar took a pass from Orr to drive a backhand past McMaster. McMaster was particularly brilliant on his stops and the Terriers had a decided edge on the play. Both teams played rough in this frame, with Tummon going to the bench for tripping, while O'Leary made two trips for dumping the Terrier players.

In the last frame, the Hornets tied the count, when N. Rogers tallied from a scramble in front of Reeves. However, Wagar took another pass from Orr to temporarily give the Terriers the lead. Brady took a passout from behind the nets to knot the count, and Rothwell tallied the winning goal when he took G. Puffer's pass to split the defence and coast in on Reeves.

Sticky ice slowed down the passing and it was left to the individual player to make the play.

The Terriers have slipped into a slump which has resulted in them relinquishing their hold on second place in the standing and only a snap in their play will keep them in the playoffs as the teams in the lower bracket are bunched closely together. Lineups:

Norwood.—Goal, McMaster; defence, Rothwell, R. Webb; centre, G. Puffer; wings, N. Rogers, Hill; subs, Brady, Aboud O'Leary Davis, W. Rogers, Richardson.

Tweed.—Goal, Reeves; defence, Tummon, Orr; centre, Arber; wings, Leal, Long; subs., Wagar, Marsh, Elsbury Woodcock.

Referees.—Ennis, Norwood; G. Quinn, Tweed.

Sheckard Hopes To Come Back

LANCASTER, Pa., Feb. 20.—(AP)—Jimmy Sheckard—once the toast of 1,000,000 baseball fans — now heaves 10-gallon milk cans around for a living, but he hopes to return to the game that made him a prominent figure three decades ago. He collects milk from farmers and hauls it to the city.

Sheckard, now gray-haired and 61, was a member of the Chicago Cubs famous "S' 'outfield back in 1906-07-08-09 and 1910 when the Cubs dominated the National League. Jimmy Slagle and Frank Schulte were the other outfielders.

The stock market crash of 1929 wiped out what money Sheckard had saved from a baseball era when salaries were well below five figures, but, he says:

"I don't figure baseball owes me a living. I may be down but I'm far from striking out. I hope to return to the game one of these days."

Two years ago, he declared, Connie Mack of Philadelphia Athletics, offered him the managership of the Federalsburg, Md., team in the Eastern Shore League, but he was unable to accept.

Remember When—

Once the bad boy of baseball, Percy L. (Pat) Malone decided to quit hurling curves and start pitching highballs across a bar one year ago today. Refusing to accept relegation to the minors, the 38-year-old Yankees pitcher rounded out a 10-year career in big leagues in 1937, then spent a season in the minors before buying a bar and cafe in his hometown, Altoona, Pa.

Leafs To Battle Bruin Squad On Point Drive

BOSTON, Feb. 20 — (CP). — As if it wasn't bad enough that they have just come through two tough games with Montreal Canadiens, it is now the lot of Toronto Maple Leafs to meet Boston Bruins at a time when the Stanley Cup champions are fighting for every possible point.

The Bruins, winners of their last five starts, are engaged in a hectic race with New York Rangers for the top spot in the National Hockey League standing. At present, the Rangers hold the upper hand with a two-point lead, but the Blueshirts have played three games more.

Boston's power in recent days is best demonstrated by the fact that the Bruins have amassed 32 goals in their five-game winning streak, while only eight shots have eluded Goalie Frankie Brimsek.

The game will give Milt Schmidt of the Bruins a chance to improve his position as top man among N. H.L. scorers. Schmidt, with 17 goals and 22 assists, is four points ahead of Bryan Hextall of the Rangers.

Trent River Team Holds Skating Party

TRENT RIVER, Feb. 20 (ENS)—A successful skating party was put on by the hockey boys Saturday night at the rink. Included in the attendance were a number from Campbellford and Havelock and surrounding vicinity, and a very enjoyable few hours was spent.

Douglas Dart was the official announcer and starter for the events and the prize winners were as follows: Boys race under 12 years, Craig Brownsell; Boys under 16 years Douglas Carnrite; Boys over 16 years, Jim Brown; Girls under 12 years, Lois Waters; Girls under 16 years, Jeryne Brown; Girls over 16 years, Vaughan Brown; The consolation prize went to Mrs. Earl VanVolkenburg. The boys are sponsoring another skating party Saturday night, February 24. The gate receipts for Saturday night's event totalled nearly $8.00 for the treasury of the hockey team.

Coffee at Red Cross Rooms

Members of the war service workers met Saturday evening for quilting. At the close of the skating party at the rink the ladies served hot dogs and coffee at the Red Cross rooms. This enthusiastic group of war workers had a busy time of it when the skaters arrived, and after clearing expenses the money goes towards buying necessary supplies for our boys overseas—a truly worthy object.

she is married that I will never get married at all. Do you think our mother is right about this

LOUISE

ANSWER:

No, indeed, and you will make a great mistake if you let your mother keep you from marrying the man you love for no better reason than that your eldest sister hasn't found a husband.

You canot live modern life according to the conditions that existed hundreds and hundreds of years ago. In Laban's time girls were just so many chattels and fathers disposed of them as they pleased. There was no trouble then in marrying girls off in rotation, because the wedding depended on what sort of a trader a father was and how crafty he was as a salesman. Doubtless it was good business to marry off the oldest in case the younger daughters might be more attractive. But all of that belongs to a bygone age with which we have nothing to do.

Nowadays girls have to do their own husband-hunting, and they should not be handicapped by an older sister's lack of attractions and kept from marrying whenever they find the one they desire.

"TELL BILL GOODBYE"

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

By Marie Blizard

CHAPTER FORTY-SIX

CHRIS WAS startled by Fabienne's stormy entrance and alarm spread over her face.

Fabienne was wiping her face with a towel, tucking her uncurled hair under her hat, fastening the collar of her coat under her chin. "Have you got a pencil and paper in your handbag, Chris " she asked excitedly.

Chris said she thought she had, and tumbled its contents on the blanket. A roll of banknotes, a crumpled handkerchief, a ring of keys, a jeweled compact and a lipstick fell out. She shook her head.

"Can you imagine not having even a piece of paper and a pencil?" Fabienne said. She tore a piece off an old charcoal bag. "Give me your lipstick, Chris."

Silently, Chris handed it over. "Wh—what are you doing, Fab?"

"I think I've found a way to get out of this jam without bringing the police down on our necks. Do you feel equal to keeping things going until I get back?"

"Yes. What are you going to do?"

"I'll tell you when it works. IF it does!" Fabienne flung over her shoulder.

It was easier walking on the firm snow, pressed down by the plow. She was glad now that Chris hadn't wakened her when the plow went through. If she'd known it was there, she would have asked for a ride on it, gone into the village and telephoned Bill.

Only now did she realize the folly of that. The police would be watching Ellen and Bill and Nicky, having surely discovered that they were her friends, and the first with whom she would communicate.

Oh, yes, this was far the better way, if only it would work. It was an inspiration! It had to work!

The other way she would have got Bill into the jam and she would have regretted that more than any other thing in this whole nightmare. What would Bill and Ellen think of her now, she wondered, trudging on over the snow in the eerie half-light of morning. It was only seven o'clock and the world was asleep. Every muscle, every nerve in her cried out for the comfort that she believed Ellen was enjoying at that moment.

Seven o'clock struck on the chimes of the grandfather clock in Ellen's apartment. She rose from the divan on which she had been keeping watch since midnight beside the radio.

She slipped her feet into felt slippers and went into the kitchen to fix breakfast for Bill.

He appeared at the door of Fabienne's room, rubbing sleep from his eyes as she came back. "Anything yet?" he asked.

She shook her head. "Nothing but the milkman's serenade."

"You'd better catch some sleep. I can stay until nine."

"Nicky's coming at nine. He'll stay until I have had a sleep. Then he'll come back tonight."

"I'll take the watch tonight. Sorry I popped off that way, youngster. I'd been up all night the night before with a couple of accident cases after I left here."

"That's all right, Bill. I couldn't sleep anyway. Surely something will break today!"

"Sure!"

They didn't look at each other. Bill turned the dials up.

A man's voice, unbearably cheerful, said, "We'll start the day with a rousing song."

"Shut it off, Bill," Ellen told him. "There isn't any news until eight. I think I'll go crazy if I have to listen to any more cheerful voices. Do you suppose it's too early to call Maryland again.

"Not much point to it. Willoughby said he'd ring up if there was any news."

"I can't believe it, Bill! It's Fabienne who been kidnapped! she'd never do a thing like that!"

"I know," he said soothingly. "Finish that breakfast and get in there to bed."

Ellen didnt want to go to sleep. She wanted to talk to Bill. But they'd been talking for two nights and there was nothing more to say. They'd talked to the police, to the federal men and to Larry Parsons, who was nearly out of his mind—as they all were. Three ghosts of people, with eyes dark from lack of sleep and hearts heavy with anxiety.

"How in the name of heaven could the earth open up and swallow three people, Ellen wailed.

"They aren't swallowed. They're hiding some place."

"Hiding! There isn't any place for them to hide."

"Now, now, Ellen, you know that you could hide right here in New York, if you wanted to."

"Maybe I could. But Fabienne and Mrs. Parsons and a sick child can't! Oh, Bill, I don't believe that those three went off alone. Maybe the elevator boy who told that fantastic story about Fabienne's saying that you had discharged the child is one of the gang that kidnapped them."

"Why should anyone kidnap Fabienne "

"Because they probably think she's got a lot of her grandfather's money."

"If it were a kidnapping of that kind, Ellen, there'd have been some word from the kidnappers demanding ransom."

"Bill, I I'm ill from this."

"I don't feel any too good about it myself," he said, lighting a cigaret from the end of the old one which had burned down to his fingers without his even smoking it.

Ellen gave him a glance of understanding and pity. I know, Bill. It's pretty tough for you. You care a lot about her, don't you?"

"First time it ever hit me that way," he said, not looking up.

"I've got a hunch that if Fab could get in touch with anyone, it would be you, Bill."

"I hope so," he said quietly. "She knows she can depend on me."

"That was a pretty fine thing you did at the hospital. It might have got you in trouble."

"What if it did? Can you think of any trouble worse than this?"

"No," she said, sadly, and went off, leaving him beside the telephone and radio.

At twenty minutes past seven he went to the door of her room.

"Asleep, Ellen?" he called softly.

"No," she answered immediately, and came to the door. "Any news?"

"No, but I just had a crazy idea."

"No idea could be crazier than this silence. What is it, Bill "

"If the elevator boy was telling the truth, and if Fab did sneak the kid out with his mother, you can depend that Fab was in charge of the situation. I met the mother and she's a hay-wire b if ever I saw one—"

Ellen shook her y. "But Fabienne didn't e child out, Bill! I've been ing to tell you that all day."

"But suppose she did?" Bill persisted. "And suppose she wanted to find some place to hide? What about my place in Stepney?"

Ellen considered it and then she shook her head again, sadly. "Fabienne's got too much sense. She wouldn't let a convalescent child be taken up to a place where there was neither heat nor water, Bill. Use your head."

Bill allowed that there was sense in that, but, for the moment, it had seemed like a possible idea.

Make Gay Slip Covers to Spruce Up Chairs

Simple To Get A Trim Fit

What a tonic slip covers are for shabby, winter-weary chairs! And it's easy, inexpensive to make in smart style the pin-on way.

The striking cover in our picture is a sturdy beige crash with a widely spaced flower pattern in brown, tomato red and emerald green. The seams are outlined with moss fringe in the same shade of green. Or you may get similar pretty materials in colors matching your room.

To fit your cover the pin-on way, smooth your fabric right over the upholstery, starting with the inside-back of your chair as our diagram shows. If using moss fringe, work with material wrong side out.

Now pin where the seams will be and cut outside the pins, leaving a 1½-inch seam allowance.

Sides, arms, back and apron you fit the same way, then you baste and try on. Insert the moss trimming in the seams from the right side and stitch—and your stunning cover is finished.

See our 32-page booklet for complete details on making slip covers for all kinds of chairs and sofas. Gives step-by-step directions and diagrams for measuring material, cutting, fitting, finishing. Has suggestions for fabrics, colors, trimmings.

Send 15c in coins or stamps for your copy of HOW TO MAKE SLIP COVERS to Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

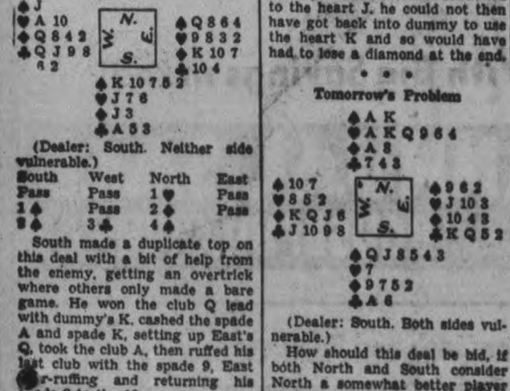
"The Authority on Authorities"

SPOIL THEIR TIMING

ANYBODY knows that an established card is of no value to the side possessing it unless the chance to play it is found. If the last remaining entry to the hand possessing it is gone before it is set up, the later establishing of it comes under the heading of "love's labor lost." An alert player, therefore, will always consider knocking entries out of a hand which seems likely to build up such a card.



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 ♥	Pass
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♦	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	3 ♣	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	Pass

South made a duplicate top on this deal with a bit of help from the enemy, getting an overtrick where others only made a bare game. He won the club Q lead with dummy's K, cashed the spade A and spade K, setting up East's Q, took the club A, then ruffed his last club with the spade 9, East over-ruffing and returning his spade 8 to the 10.

Here South made a guess at the heart division. He led the 6 to the 10 and Q, and read the 10 as indicating only the A remaining with West. So he fired back the heart 4, played the 7, and West had to take it. He returned the club J for South to ruff. South then took the heart J, led to dummy's diamond A and discarded his losing diamond on the heart K, finishing with a trumped diamond.

When West was in with the heart A, a diamond return would have spoiled declarer's timing by getting the diamond A out of dummy too soon. After South led to the heart J, he could not then have got back into dummy to use the heart K and so would have had to lose a diamond at the end.

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

How should this deal be bid, if both North and South consider North a somewhat better player of the cards?

Republicans List Eleven Guiding Planks

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20—(AP)—Recommendations for aiding industry and achieving a balanced budget in 1942 were contained today in 11 "guiding principles" offered the Republican party for possible inclusion in its national platform for the forthcoming United States presidential elections.

Reporting on a two-year survey, a special program committee pictured the new deal as "misunderstanding economic America" and falling into "fatalism of outlook."

It outlined the Republican position as favoring an expanded "free enterprise" in the belief that "our private economy has not come to a dead end."

The 28,000-word document will be available to the platform committee at the June 24 convention. There is no indication whether the proposals actually will be incorporated in the platform, since they are merely advisory.

The report, labelled "a program for a dynamic America," outlined these general principles:

1. The United States should keep out of war through a "tight rein on our emotions" and "scrupulous neutrality."

2. Defence forces should be sufficient to protect the western hemisphere from aggression.

3. Reciprocal trade agreements should be approved by both Houses of Congress. (Republican congressmen are seeking to require only Senate ratification.)

New Labor Act.

4. The National Labor Relations Act should be amended and the administrative and judicial functions of the Labor Board separated.

5. The farm program should try to increase interchange of farm and city goods by better correlation of prices.

6 Private enterprise should be encouraged by "protective" rather than "restrictive" government regulation of business.

7. A 20 per cent reduction in Federal spending "should not be difficult," and coupled with a higher national income, should bring a balanced budget in 1942.

8. Higher surtax rates on individual incomes should be cut;; certain business levies should be abolished; future Federal and State bonds should be taxed.

9. The President's emergency monetary powers should be repealed; the gold standard should be restored.

10. All in need should receive adequate relief, administered by the local governments through federal grants-in-aid.

11. Social security legislation should be studied with a view to expansion and better administration.

Arne Borg, Swedish aquatic star and one of the world's foremost swimmers, is shown, LEFT, UPPER RIGHT, with two companions as they arrived in the cantonment where they joined up as volunteers in the Finnish army. Some of the men of Sweden now with the Finnish forces are shown, LOWER LEFT, drinking hot coffee while resting during a patrol. Social Crediters To Run Under Herridge Flag

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., Feb. 20.—(CP). — John H. Blackmore, Social Credit Leader in the last Parliament, stated at a nominating convention here on Saturday night that in the Federal field all candidates chosen by Social Credit supporters will be known as New Democracy candidates.

"Social Credit means a New Democracy growing out of Major Douglas' ideas of an economic democracy," he said.

(Major Douglas, British economist, is the "Father" of Social Credit. Hon. W. D. Herridge, former Canadian Minister to Washington, is Leader of the New Democracy movement.)

Mr. Blackmore and three other persons were selected as New Democracy nominees for Lethbridge constituency in the March 26 Dominion general election.

The Social Credit Advisory Committee will meet here on February 28 to decide whether Mr. Blackmore, Kirkham L. Lee of Cardston, P. C. Phipps, of Cardston, or Joseph Horne of Barnwell will be candidate.

20 Patrolling Poilus Die In Nazi Ambush Set Along East Side Of Nied River

PARIS, Feb. 20—(CP-Havas). — Twenty members of a French patrol were reported killed early today when they fell into a German ambush in the wooded sector to the east of the Nied River.

It was the first fairly heavy loss suffered since the war by the patrols which, daily in the hours before dawn, establish contact between the French outposts along the length of the Western front.

The German ambush, staged at 3 a.m., continued the strategy of minor incursions apparently put into action by the Nazi command three days ago. Detailed information of the latest skirmish was still awaited here, but reports estimated French losses at around twenty men.

A German attempt to storm a French outpost in the Moselle sector was made almost at the same hour Sunday morning. Although launched after artillery preparation, the attack was turned back, as was another foray in the same zone the night before.

The German air command yesterday sent out four reconnaissance flights over eastern and northern France. No air fighting was reported.

Cavan Institute Discusses Play

CAVAN, Feb. 20—(ENS)—Cavan Women's Institute met for their February meeting at Mrs. Charles Smiths home on Thursday afternoon, the president, Mrs. Donald Tinney, in the chair.

The roll call was answered by naming a new vegetable and how to cook it, or a new way of cooking the common varieties. At a previous meeting a committee was named to plan for a play, or some other means of raising money for the treasury of the Institute and to provide an evening's entertainment. Nothing had been arranged but the same committee were asked to meet and discuss the matter and if thought advisable to carry on. A quilt was exhibited, made from blocks left over from one previously quilted.

Mrs. N. Braithwaite and Mrs. O. Carley made and quilted it. It was decided to keep it until some needed place was found for it.

Letters of appreciation were read from several who had received fruit during illness It was voted to send a contribution to the Federated Women's Institute War Fund.

Mrs. C. Smith was convener of the program. Mrs. Mervin Smith gave an interesting collection of current events. Mrs. K. Braithwaite read a good paper on "Perennial Borders." Mrs. R. S. Staples gave an informative talk on "Co-operation,' after which a delightful lunch was served and a social time enjoyed.

New York Press Sees Admiralty Justified On Seizing Altmark In Norway Waters

NEW YORK, Feb. 20—(CP).—New York's morning newspapers agreed Monday there was considerable justification for the British violation of Norwegian neutrality in rescuing imprisoned seamen aboard the German vessel Altmark. They also were in accord in saying Norway's part in the incident was not free of criticism.

The Herald Tribune saw a "good deal of grim humor" in the "wild cries of anger, pain and outraged moral virtue being sent up from Berlin," terming Germany a nation "whose governors have made brute force their deity." That the action was "brusque and high-handed there seems to be no doubt," the paper added but said it "was hardly on a par, for example, with spreading contact mines in the paths of neutral shipping."

Remarking that it "seems incredible" for the Norwegian authorities, in examining the Altmark at Bergen, to have failed to hear the British prisoners below decks pounding on the hatch covers, The Times agreed with Herald Tribune that the Norwegian case "certainly seems weak."

Two Have Close Call As Garage Collapses

BONARLAW, Feb. 20—(ENS). — The large frame garage owned by David Wellman, 12th Line of Rawdon, crashed to the ground on Wednesday about four o'clock.

As Mrs. Wellman went out to the garage, which is located colse to the road, to get the mail, she remarked to the mail courier, Ronald Brown, that the garage was very near falling over. With the win blowing a gale from the east, Mr. Brown suggested the two cars be run outside. Owing to the cold weather the first car would not start, so both machines were pushed by hand.

When the second car was just outside of the door, Mr. Brown's horse seemed frightened, and he grabbed for the horse which was standing close by, and Mrs. Wellman had just stepped beside the car when the building collapsed.

The building is a total wreck. Mr. Brown and Mrs. Wellman barely escaped with their lives.

Boys' Land Army Being Mooted

LONDON, Feb. 20—(CP). — The movement to put all Britain to work for victory gains momentum. On the heels of Winston Churchill's call for 1,000,000 women workers, the Times gave editorial blessing to a proposal for formation of a boys' "land army" to aid in the war-dictated drive to increase production.

The editorial was prompted by a prominently-displayed letter from men prominent in agriculture work who pointed out there is a definite shortage of skilled land labor and urged agriculture istruction for boys between the ages of 16 and 20 years.

The letter explained that over a period of years 2,000 youths has been trained under Y.M.C.A. auspices, with the aid of a government grant, but the grant was only for training youths from "depressed areas." Proponents of the scheme argued that the war changed such regions an devacuation had given children new knowledge of rural life. Therefore they urged extension of the area of recruitment.

Work of the women's "land army," several thousand strong, was noted by the Times and it hoped that "no further time will be lost" in adopting the letter's suggestion.

Don't "Dose" A Nasty CHEST COLD

Relieve Misery This Quick-Acting EXTERNAL Way

Don't burden a child's delicate stomach with strong internal medicines. Do what thousands of modern mothers do . . . relieve the misery of a cold quick—without internal dosing—the Vicks VapoRub way. It brings comforting relief right where the cold causes misery. And it's such a simple and easy treatment:

At bedtime, massage Vicks VapoRub over throat, chest and back. Right away, VapoRub goes to work to relieve the misery of the cold two ways at once—two DIRECT WAYS.

First, VapoRub acts on the skin, stimulating like a warming poultice. Second, it gives off the soothing, medicinal vapours of seven different relief-giving medications—vapours that are carried with every breath direct to the irritated air passages. And here's what this poultice-and-vapour action does.

It clears the air passages, loosens phlegm, checks the tendency to cough, relieves irritation, and eases soreness of the chest muscles. This comforting action continues hour after hour and invites healing, restful sleep. Often by morning, most of the misery of the cold is gone.

PROVED IN CLINICS—VapoRub has been proved in one of the largest series of clinical tests ever made on colds—and proved in daily use in millions of homes. So PROFIT BY THIS PROOF—KNOW WHAT YOU'RE USING TO RELIEVE COLDS MISERY. You'll be glad you discovered the relief VapoRub brings. VICKS VAPORUB

RUSSIAN BOMBERS SET SWEDISH TOWN ABLAZE

Fishers Rake German Air Raiders

Trawlers Damage One Scare Others Off In Day Of Bombing

LONDON, Feb. 21—(CP).—The Air Ministry announced today that the Royal Air Force carried out a successful reconnaissance flight over Heligoland Bight, off Germany's northwest coast, last night.

"Last night a reconnaissance of Heligoland Bight was carried out successfully by several R.A.F. aircraft," said the air ministry's announcement.

Only meagre details of yesterday's German air raids on Britain's eastern coastal waters were available here today.

In one attack three men aboard a trawler were reported wounded by a machine-gun attack by two German planes.

Radio listeners in Northumberland, Norfolk and Lincolnshire heard SOS signals, but lifeboats searched the sea for more than 10 hours without finding any victims.

An air raid warning in the London area proved to be a false alarm.

Trawler Drives Nazis Off

Meanwhile the Grimsby trawler Tartan reached port to report that she had driven off one Nazi plane with gunfire yesterday when German warplanes were raiding shipping along the English and Scottish coasts.

Apparently referring to another incident of the raids, one fisherman reported that a German plane which attempted to attack four British trawlers "was hit by the cross fire of the trawlers."

Reports of the raids still were meagre.

Today brought further reports of shipping losses. The casualties included:

The 4,760 - ton Netherlands freighter Tara, reported sinking off Cape Finisterre, France, after being shelled without warning.

The 2,476-ton Norwegian steamship Steinstad, sunk in the Atlantic Thursday by a submarine, with 13 of her crew missing.

Peasant Boy To Take Throne

CHUNGKING, China, Feb. 21—(AP).—A plump peasant boy from China will be enthroned at Lhasa tomorrow as the 14th Dalai Laman spiritual and temporal leader of Tibet, jubilant Chinese officials reported today.

Choice of the Chinese candidate without the traditional ceremony of drawing ivory or bamboo lots from a golden vase was described by the Chinese as strengthening the vague sovereignty which China long has held, but scarcely exercised, over Tibet.

The Chinese lad, Lingerh Lamutanchu—Lingerh the divine child, under the Tibetan theory of reincarnation—is said to have been born at the moment the 13th Dalai Lama died, Dec. 17, 1933.

Britain Helps

LONDON, Feb. 21—(CP Cable).—The British Government has released vast quantities of military supplies to Finland, including 144 planes, both fighters and bombers it became known tonight.

In addition to the supplies being sent by France to Finland, Britain is sending 150 anti-tank rifles and ammunition, 10,000 anti-tank mines, 50,000 hand grenades, 25 howitzers and ammunition, 100 machine-guns and ammunition, 24 anti-aircraft guns and ammunition, 30 field guns and ammunition, four six-ton tanks, 12 six-inch guns, and 10 three-inch mortars.

Britain is also sending the Finns a vast quantity of small arm ammunition and military equipment such as field telephones and anti-gas supplies.

Not all these supplies have actually arrived in Finland but a large proportion is there and the rest is going forward quickly because of Russia's prolonged attack on the Karelian Isthmus. Among the planes already in Finland are some Gladiators, one of Britain's best types of fighters.

In addition to this material assistance to Finland, thousands of men and

2 Red Attacks Fail To Turn Finns' Flanks

Critical Battle Seesaws On Whole Isthmus, Fort Kiovisto Holds

HELSINKI, Feb. 21.— (AP). — Simultaneous Russian attacks on both ends of the Mannerheim Line, throwing two red army divisions against one sector alone, were repulsed in fighting that lasted far into the night, Finland reported today.

The red army smashed at the western end of the Isthmus defence line and at Taipale, the eastern sector where the two divisions launched their attack.

The twin offensives meant the Russians were trying to break through across nearly the entirely width of the Isthmus and that the battle still was most critical for Finland.

Official Russian claims that the coastal fortress of Koivisto, western anchor of the Mannerheim Line, had been captured, were denied by the Finnish News Agency.

The Finnish command's communique reported 17 Russian planes shot down in yesterday's aerial fighting.

Altmark Case To Bring Definite Ruling On Belligerent Use Of Norse Waters

LONDON, Feb. 21 — (CP). — The Altmark case, it was said in authoritative quarters to-day, is expected to lead to a definite ruling on one of the principal leaks in the Allied blockade of Germany —the use of Norwegian territorial waters by belligerents.

The present discussions between Great Britain and Norway over the incident are expected to form the basis for such a ruling, it was said.

Britain has requested internment of the Altmark, it was understood, although Norwegian despatches indicated the German ship would be left free to depart as she wished.

The British contention that Norway is obligated to do more than pursue a policy of passive neutrality— made by Prime Minister Chamberlain yesterday—was echoed in discussions in authoritative circles to-day of the provisions of The Hague convention of 1907 covering the rights and duties of neutrals.

One article said to be applicable provides that the neutrality of a non-belligerent is not affected by "mere passage" of a belligerent ship through its territorial waters. The British position, however, is that emphasized by Mr. Chamberlain yesterday—that the use of hundreds of miles of these waters by German ships to escape the Allied blockade constitutes more than "mere passage."

In rejecting a German argument that Britain herself had created a precedent for transporting prisoners of war through neutral waters, British quarters cited a United States-British treaty.

500 Plane Order At 7 Million Let By Ottawa

OTTAWA, Feb. 21—(CP).—Purchase of some 500 aircraft and supplies at a cost of $7,273,672 for use in connection with the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan comprised the major portion of contracts valued at $10,586,516 which Transport Minister Howe today announced had been approved by the War Supply Board during the week ended February 17.

The planes, all of which will be constructed in Canada are for the most part Harvard advance flying trainers and De Havilland Tiger Moths.

Sharing in the airplane orders were: Noorduyn Aviation Ltd., of Montreal, $3,001,971; the De Havilland Aircraft of Canada Ltd., of Toronto, $2,057,845; the Irvin Air Chute Limited of Ottawa, $1,108,005; the Fleet Aircraft Ltd. of Fort Erie, Ont., $1,088,675; Ottawa Car and Aircraft Ltd., of Ottawa, $9,574.

Supplies for aircraft, ordered from the British Air Ministry, amounted in value to $34,209.

Orders for clothing and accessories had a value of $1,337,610 and include the manufacture of almost 3,000,000 yards of cloth.

Hunting To Open 1st Monday Each November

TORONTO, Feb. 21 — (CP). — Opening of the hunting season on the first Monday in November rather than Nov. 5 each year will be done by order-in-council, provincial secretary Harry Nixon told the Legislature Fish and Game Committee today. For the first time no amendments will be presented to the Game and Fisheries Act, Mr. Nixon said.

No decision had been made on opening the moose season in two sections now closed, he said.

Policy of the department to have department of Public Works build hatcheries would be abandoned and in future the Department of Game and Fisheries would undertake such construction itself, he said. It was hoped a hatchery for lake trout would be undertaken in the Parry Sound district this year and efforts would be made to raise all lake trout to fingerling stage rather than to plant the fry. However, the wartime policy of the government would decide this question, he said.

More than 800,000,000 fish were planted last year by the department, he said, with 3,000 adult or fingerling speckled trout included.

The question of commercial spearing on Lake Simcoe was discussed at length by D. J. Taylor, deputy minister, who said efforts to close the lake—last place in Ontario

Raid Expected To Boom Aid To Finns

'Phone Operator Hero Sticks To Post Sending out Warnings

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 21.—(AP). — Seven Russian bombing planes today showered between 30 and 40 bombs on the Swedish frontier town of Pajala, setting many buildings afire but causing no casualties, dispatches from the border region reported.

Four buildings in Pajala, a town of 3,000 inhabitants five miles from the Finnish frontier, were destroyed and others set afire by the raiders, who descended to 3,000 feet before unloading their bomb cargo.

The Stockholm newspaper Aftonbladet said half the town was burning.

Although the bombing was generally regarded in Stockholm as accidental it added new complications to Sweden's difficulties over the matter of aid to Finland.

It was expected to bring a sharp protest to Moscow and further stimulate the Swedish "activistivist" campaign for direct military help to the embattled Finns.

Little Warning

The terrified inhabitants had brief warning of the approaching planes from the village of Kengis, which is closer to the frontier. Thus

For Colonies

BERLIN, Feb. 21—(AP).—Every German woman should bear a child, Schwarze Korps, weekly organ of the Blackshirt Elite Guard, declared today, because the Reich needs more sons to populate annexed Polish territories and the "colonies which we are wresting from the British moneybag."

The Schwarze Korps did not exempt women who already have three, four or more children.

"Greater Germany has become larger," the paper observed. "In the east, wide spaces are waiting to be filled with German life.

"Colonies which we are wresting from the British moneybag call for youthful pioneer spirit," it continued. "We need more of our best, and only mothers will be able to supply these best."

"Migh it not therefore be the duty of mothers who already have children to present an additional one to our nation?" Schwarze Korps asked.

The paper then quoted a letter from a mother of eight now expecting the ninth, who said:

"We all must want a war child."

Rumania Bars Plane Oil To Germany

Desperate Act Frees Vital Supplies Needed From Allies

BUCHAREST, Feb. 21—(AP).—Pressure by Great Britain and France was reported authoritatively today to have led to a Rumanian government decree banning the shipment of aviation oil to Germany.

The reported decree would be in contradiction to an arrangement made with Germany's trade envoy, Dr. Karl Clodius, a few weeks ago by which Rumania agreed to increase her shipments of aviation oil provided increased export taxes were paid.

(The decree presumably applies only to refined lubricating oils for aircraft.)

Result of Pressure

The decree was said to be the latest of Rumania's desperate attempts to keep the balance between Germany's demands for fuel and lubricants for her war machine and the Allies' counter demands. It was believed to be the result of Britain's recent note asking an explanation of Rumania's petroleum policy toward Germany.

Both Britain and France consistently have pointed out in Bucharest that they might be compelled to reconsider their guarantees of Rumania's independence of King Carol's government favored the Nazis in oil policy.

It also was reported today that Rumania promises not to favor Germany have resulted in resumption of British shipments of arms and ore to this country. Nearly all exports from the Allies to Rumania dwindled to a trickle when Bucharest promised last month to ship 30 per cent of her annual oil production to the Reich.

Orders Flooding Fuel Dealers As Strike Holds

TORONTO, Feb. 21 (CP)—Mayor Ralph Day announced today that police will protect coal firms and individuals who wish to deliver coal in face of the strike of coal handlers that has paralyzed deliveries in Toronto since Monday morning.

Hundreds of citizens reported their stocks of fuel exhausted and offices of coal companies and strike headquarters were flooded with urgent requests for delivery to homes where invalids and children face a cold snap.

W. A. Gunn, counsel for the Toronto Retail Fuel Dealers Association which includes the majority of Toronto coal distributors, announced that his association and union officials had reached tentative agreement on a new contract at a meeting that ended early today and expressed the belief that the "modified agreement" would be ratified by the strikers later today.

The men went on strike in demand for a closed shop agreement. Dock companies however have declared they will not be a party to any closed shop agreement. The dock companies are not members of the Fuel Dealers' Association.

Mayor Day declared that the police would guard everybody engag-

Labor Shortage Due, Hepburn Tells Mayors

TORONTO, Feb. 21—(CP).—With little prospect in view of getting back the ½ mill lopped off municipal subsidies in the Ontario budget, Ontario mayors today looked forward to a forecast decrease in relief expenditures to balance the loss of revenue

In a conference here yesterday, Mayors from all points of the province protested to Premier Hepburn's reduction of the subsidy from 1½ mills in 1939 to one mill in the coming year.

The Premier, however, countered with a prediction that municipal relief expenditures would drop 33 per cent. in 1940, more than making up for the loss in the subsidy.

"Before the year is out I believe there will be an actual shortage of labor in Canada," Mr. Hepburn said.

The Premier expressed the belief that the mayors of Ontario too often were inclined to accept provincial assistance without much show of gratitude. He said that an anticipated increase of $6,000,000 in war expenditures and an expected loss of $8,000,000 in revenue made it impossible for the province to continue the 1½ mill subsidy.

Controller Nora Henderson of Hamilton and the Premier clashed when Mr. Hepburn suggested Mayor William Morrison of Hamilton did not attend the conference because

Chamber of Commerce Pledges Aid Mobilizing Canadian Business

TORONTO, Feb. 21 — (CP). — The Canadian Chamber of Commerce pledged its assistance today to the Government in the complete mobilization of the Dominion's economic power and offered to accept as a duty the adjustment, regulation and control which may be necessary to concentrate the nation's economic energy in the war effort.

The chamber—regarded generally as the spokesman for Canadian business—in a statement of policy adopted at the closing session of its three-day convention, suggested business and government should begin now to co-operate in the elaboration of plans for a peacetime solution to pressing national problems.

These problems were listed as the demobilization of men and controls, transportation, immigration, public finance and taxation, unemployment and relief, domestic and international trade, employer-employee relationships, public works, and the removal of sectionalism and development of national unity.

The statement of policy said that business believing the problem of public finance to be of vital importance in the winning of the war, does not protest any necessary expenditure for war purposes, "provided it is carefully supervised.

"It is essential, however, that the municipalities and provinces should control carefully their expenditures, which are continuing to make large demands upon the financial resources of their people," the statement said. "In fact, more than one-half of the heavy Canadian tax load consists of levies by local governments.

"Free spending is highly contagious and municipalities and provinces are certain to be influenced by the large federal outlays for war purposes now beginning to be made within their boundaries. Public opinion is alive to the danger of increased local expenditures."

The statement said business believes citizens should be willing to accept some curtailment of ordinary services, and that municipal and provincial governments should recognize the duty and necessity of making such savings.

50,000 Canadians On Special Service Lists

OTTAWA, Feb. 21 (CP) — Governmental and private agencies have listed some 50,000 Canadians who may be called upon to help the war effort by their technical and professional skill.

The voluntary service registration bureau was established by the government shortly after war broke out and thousands of applications have been received. About 15,000 now are on file and it is expected the total soon will reach 25,000.

The various occupations are tabulated and when certain skilled persons are required as the war progresses, the bureau will make selections of possible candidates for the work from its files.

Dr. H. M. Tory, former president of the national research council is head of a specialized technical section of the bureau and about 8,000 names of highly-trained engineers, chemists, geologists and technicians have been sent in.

The employment service of Canada makes special registrations of skilled and semi-skilled workers who might be utilized in war industries and from 17,000 to 18,000 names are on this list. The service is operated by the Dominion and provincial governments.

Another service which the federal administration operates, the youth training service, has shaped its program to assist in war work and about 1,300 young men are receiving instruction as air mechanics in six provinces. When they complete their courses they will be qualified to enlist in the Royal Canadian Air Force for posts as skilled groundmen.

The medical profession has registered about 50 per cent of its doctors in case they are needed in the war and the registration list is available to the government.

Dutch Freighter Shelled Off France

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 21—(AP).—The 4,760-ton Netherlands freighter Tara was reported today to be sinking 60 miles southwest of Cape Finistere, France, as the result of being shelled without warning.

A message to the Amsterdam owners from a French wireless station did not identify the nationality or type of the attacking vessel.

The Tara was bound for a Netherlands port with a cargo of South American wheat.

Tanker Crew Saved.

Owners of the Netherlands motor tanker Den Haag, 8,971 tons, tonight received a message that the captain and 12 seamen from the vessel had been rescued at sea, apparently after the tanker sank.

The tanker was last reported on February 14 about 400 miles west of Lizard Head. Officials of the owning company, the Netherlands Oil Products Company, said they feared she had been torpedoed or had struck a mine.

Proxy Wedding Is Ruled Out

LONDON, Feb. 21 — (CP Cable). —The proposed proxy wedding of Sergeant Charles Chevalier of the Canadian Active Service Force and Miss Vicky Quesnel of Montreal was treatened to-day when authorities in England consulted dusty legal reference books and offered the opinion that such an exciting union would not only be irregular but impossible.

One London lawyer said that while Sergeant Chevalier is living in England he is subject to the English civil code which does not permit marriages by proxy.

A London registrar said: "The Roman Catholic Church allows proxy marriages but the contracting parties would be subject to English law. A Roman Catholic priest cannot perform a marriage ceremony unless a registrar—as a representative of civil law—is present. He would have no power to give consent to a marriage by proxy. In my view the marriage is impossible."

Chevalier yesterday wrote the representative of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation with the C.A.S.F. asking if a marriage could be arranged by transatlantic radiocast.

US Moral Embargo on Plane Exports Shuts Out Blacklisted Nations

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—(AP).—Government officials reported today that "moral embargoes" against exports of United States bombing planes to blacklisted countries and re-exports of strategic war materials needed in America are functioning "nearly 100 per cent."

"Moral embargoes" now in force seek to prohibit sales of bombing planes an dequipment, or plans for making, aviation fuel, to belligerent nations engaged "in the unprovoked bombing and machine gunning of civilian populations." They also are designed to stop re-exportation of a dozen strategic raw materials to European or Asiatic countries which have not normally purchased such supplies here.

They were imposed in June, 1938, when state secretary Cordell Hull condemned the bombing of civilians and asked plane manufacturers to stop sales of aircraft and aerial bombs to nations following such practices. At that time the "embargo" was applicable only to Japan.

In December, 1938, President Roosevelt extended it by including a request to stop shipments of molybdenum, an essential ingredient for hard steel and aluminum—as well as planes and aeronautical equipment —to all countries engaged in "the unprovoked bombing and machine gunning of civilian populations."

Soviet Russia was included in that definition because of its bombing of Finnish towns and cities.

The "moral embargoes" were next extended by state department requests that no more high quality aviation gasoline or plans for its production be exported to Soviet Russia or Japan.

Export of planes and gasoline to Soviet Russia and Japan has virtually ceased. The United States has a virtual monopoly on Molybdenum and Russia and Japan were heavy purchasers of it.

LONDON (CP) — Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, declared today that the Royal Navy was maintaining a high rate in the destruction of German submarines. "Successes of recent weeks," he told the House of Commons, show that the weekly sinkings are continuing at such a rate that his assertion of Dec. 6 that the navy was sinking two to four U-boats a week "was in no way exaggerated."

Total War to Reveal If Men Can Learn to Fly As Fast As Armed Conflict Can Kill Them

By DEVON FRANCIS
(Associated Press Aviation Editor.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—(AP).—If German threats crystallize in "total war" in the air this spring, military students will have a chance to see whether nations can train men to fly as rapidly as armed conflict can kill them.

France lost 61 per cent. of its effectiveness during the war of 1914-18 in bearing the brunt of the air fighting on the western front.

Up to Feb. 15 in the Second Great War, the Royal Air Force had listed 663 men dead or missing in 5½ months of extremely restricted fighting.

Neither Germany nor France announces its air force deaths, but it is a fair assumption that in the bitter, if sporadic, fighting against Britain, Germany's losses have approximated its en-

Troops Finding Aldershot Night Life A Lively Work-Play Combination

By EDWIN JOHNSON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

ALDERSHOT, Feb. 21 — (CP Cable).—From buck private to commander, the Canadian troops are finding night life in their training camp here crowded with activity of absorbing diversity. There is little time for boredom or brooding.

Last night I motored along roads and into camps housing Canadian soldiers from every section of the Dominion. Everywhere the scene was similar—men on the march in full battle kit, some wearing gasmasks; squads engaged in night patrol, convoys and dispatch riders on practice manoeuvres and a happy mixture of carefree wholesome fun.

On this barnstorming tour through the inky blackout my travelling companions were Captain Victor McLean, Vancouver, director of auxiliary war service work, and Captain Grieg MacDiarmid, Montreal, of the Canadian Y.M.C.A. We lost our way frequently but finally reached our first objective — the camp of the West Nova Scotia regiment.

The steel-helmeted Maritimers reached camp splattered with the mud they had collected on realistic exercises in a nearby wood. In small groups they milled about a mobile Y.M.C.A. canteen warming up on hot tea.

In the centre of the khaki group walked Ottawa's Lieut.-Colonel M. F. Gregg, V.C., officer commanding the battalion, who had personally conducted the company on patrol.

"That was a nice show you put on tonight boys," he called to the troops as he drank a cup of tea himself. "Now go and get yourselves a good night's rest."

But the men, rarin' to go, had other ideas. Into their recreation hut they streamed just in time to take in a movie show arranged by Max Ford of Westmount, Que. It was a program of comics and a sports reel. As an added feature Ford and Second-Lieut. J. Smeltzer, of Lunenberg, N.S., gave a number of piano selections they are planning to broadcast to Canada in a few weeks. Among the numbers was the marching song "Canada," which they composed.

The concert concluded, the audience dispersed to canteens, reading, writing and recreation rooms. Ping pong games were in full swing, dart boards took heavy punishment and other pastimes were going on amid a chorus of laughter and good-

Finns Blasted By Armada Of 800 Planes

100 Counted At Once Over Helsinki; Karelia Battle Rages

HELSINKI, Feb. 21 — (AP). — Approximately 800 Soviet Russian warplanes dropped an almost continuous hail of explosives on beleaguered Finland early to-day in the largest mass bombing attack in aviation history.

(Simultaneously, a Red army communique reported the fall of the Finnish coastal fortress of Koivisto, western anchor of the Mannerheim Line on the Karelian Isthmus and objective of 12 weeks of Soviet attack.)

Apparently attempting a knock-out blow from the skies, the Soviet aerial armada ranged Southern and Central Finland through the night and into the early morning hours, sending bombs crashing on to cities, railways and roads.

Nothing in past wars aproaches the power of the Russian aerial offensive.

Seven air raids sounded in Helsinki alone. No bombs were dropped on the capital.

First reports toll of 11 alarms at Lahti, where several homes were destroyed. Numerous fires were started at Hyvinkaeae, 30 miles from Helsinki. Two trains were bombed and machine-gunned, Finnish sources reported.

Germany, protesting against the British raid into Norwegian waters to free British prisoners from the German vessel Altmark, had charged Britain set a precedent for the Altmark's action by running the captured German merchant ship Dusseldorf, with the German crew prisoners, through the Panama Canal last Christmas day.

The British answer to this to-day was that the Hay-Pauncefote Treaty of 1901 between Britain and the United States provided for passage of warships and prizes through the Canal.

Whole Village Fights Vainly To Save Store

SPRUCEDALE, Feb. 21.—Fire loss of $25,0000 to $35,000 ensued here yesterday when flames swept the large modern store of W. J. Elliott and threatened many other buildings in this village of 300 persons north of Huntsville. Two weeks ago the continuation school here was burned down with loss of $17,000.

Reeve Ernest C. Brownhill summoned every able-bodied man in the community to fight the blaze, but they were handicapped by high winds, lack of water and equipment. They succeeded, in bucket-brigade formation, in preventing the spread of the flames to any other buildings, although a stock of 2,000 cords of wood 500 feet away caught fire.

The three-story stone building occupied by the store, largest in the village, is believed to have caught fire through a faulty chimney, according to Reeve Brownhill. It started on the second floor and demolished the entire building. Only a small portion of the stock in the store was salvaged.

"Piece of burning debris scattered in the wind for as far as two miles," said Reeve Brownhill. "There was danger that the whole town would be ablaze. I called all the men out, but they didn't have much chance without equipment. The only water

Manion Proposes To Appoint Overseas Envoy

Tempo of the general election campaign quickens as additional Conservative stalwarts back up their leader, Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion, with speeches and Liberal cabinet ministers accelerate the government's drive for votes.

Dr. Manion continued to carry the major burden of the Conservative campaign yesterday with speeches in Victoria and Vancouver in which he provided more details of his proposed National government policy. Hon. C. H. Cahan of Montreal and M. A. MacPherson of Regina, considered two of the party's most capable speakers, also entered the fray.

The government concentrated on Western Ontario with labor minister McLarty and agriculture minister Gardiner speaking in that province. Prime Minister Mackenzie King plans to reply tonight to Dr. Manion's charges that the war effort has been inadequate. Entitled "Canada and the War," the address is expected to outline the measures taken by the government to prosecute the war.

More Manion Plans

The Conservative leader, who is suffering from a cold, gave more details of the national government policy than in any previous address.

Dope Agent Joins Sing Tong Jails 22 "Pals"

NEW YORK, Feb. 21—(AP). — A Federal narcotics agent yesterday described the weird ceremony that made him the first white member of the Hip Sing Tong and told how he used his Chinese fraternity connections to send twenty-two of his Oriental "pals" to prison.

George White and a fellow agent, John J. Esch, who also became a tong man, were brought here to testify at the narcotics conspiracy trial of Loo Foo of New York, and Low Cheong, wealthy San Francisco importer.

Assigned in 1937 to break up a nation-wide Chinese narcotics ring, they convinced one Leon Long, subsequently convicted, that they were wholesale narcotics dealers and were told that they should "connect up" with the Hip Sing Tong if they wanted any "favors."

Swears Chinese Oath.

White said Long gave him a letter of introduction to the head of the tong in Pittsburg and that after a formal application for membership he was initiated at a special meeting.

He said he was escorted to a room with barred doors, paper dragons on its walls and containing a huge altar, dim amid burning incense, and there obliged to repeat in Chinese an oath vowing "may I be consumed by fire if I most residents were able to find refuge. Many fled to the fields, others crouched in their homes.

Several bombs fell within 100 feet of the Pajala church where some townsmen were huddled.

When the attack ended the Soviet planes fellowed the frontier about 20 miles before disappearng over Finland.

First reports said no one had been killed. Seven Russian planes were reported to have formed the squadron that dropped 20 incendiary bombs setting fire to half of the town of 3,000 persons.

Pajala's resident had no formal air raid precautions. When they found themselves the target of the surprise attack, Aftonbladet said, some fled terror stricken to fields, while others remained in the scant security of their homes.

The town was reported still burning in the afternoon. The Swedish government was said to have ordered an investigation.

29 Bombs Near Church.

Accounts attributed to eye-witnesses said 29 explosive bombs fell near Pajala Church, which was not damaged, while an undetermined number of incendiary bombs fell in the centre of the village.

Among the buildings hit was an old hospital from which patients had been moved recently. One bomb struck the gymnasium of a school building and penetrated to the basement without exploding.

Pajala's telephone operator, Miss Astrid Perttu, related that at 12.15 p.m. she received a call from a border station stating that foreign planes were observed. Half an hour later a call came from Kengis village, near the border, stating that seven Russian planes were proceeding into Swedish territory at high speed.

"I immediately informed the nearest military commander and then went to work to inform people and answer calls," said Miss Perttu.

Although a building 100 yards away was struck by a bomb and burned to the ground, Miss Perttu stuck to her post throughout the raid.

Cannot Accept Arguments.

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 21 — (CP-Havas). — "Both belligerent groups are using methods and defend them with arguments which neither Sweden nor other neutral countries can accept." Foreign Minister Christian Guenther declared to-day in Parliament in a review of the war at sea.

He said that since the beginning of the war Sweden has lost 32 freighters of a total tonnage of 64,000 tons. He said 228 Swedish seamen had lost their lives and 15 were missing in the cases of seven vessels, 26.6 per cent. of the total, the sinkings were due to submarines.

"If the principal aim of the naval warfare is to prevent deliveries to belligerents, we can say that this object was only attained in the cases of one-sixth of the vessels sunk," the Foreign Minister continued. "The rest were en route to Sweden or moving between Sweden and neutral points."

The Germans, he said, state that neutral freighters exposing themselves to the dangers of the North Sea war zones and around Great Britain run unavoidable risk.

"If Sweden," he went on, "avoided dangerous waters, the result would be that it would be forced to cease all navigation to Britain and France and in large measure cut off its maritime commercial relations with the neutral countries. This would have unfortunate consequences for a country which, like Sweden, depends on its maritime trade.

Louisiana Ballot Wipes Out Long Dynasty

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 21 — (AP) —The Huey P. Long political dynasty, born of 12 years of dictatorial violence, died peacefully by ballot yesterday after one of the bitterest election campaigns in Louisiana's history.

Voters in the Democratic runoff primary election for the Governorship nomination swept to defeat Governor Earl K. Long, brother of the "Kingfish" and titular leader of the political machine, and nominated Sam Jones, lawyer and reform candidate, to the office. In Louisiana the Democratic nomination is tantamount to election.

Jones pledged himself to restore democracy to Louisiana, regain much of the millions of dollars he said administration office holders stole from the state, and jail those found guilty of graft and corruption.

Rout of the machine's candidates appeared complete with Jones' slate of secondary state officers, engaged in the runoff, going in without a break, together with a new anti-machine legislature, and possibly an anti-machine State Central Committee.

Unofficial returns from 1,405 of the state's 1,703 precincts gave Jones 234,377 votes and Long 216,762, a lead of 17,615 votes for Jones. Jones will take office on May 14.

It was the first time since 1928, when Huey himself was elected Governor, that the Long administration had been whipped.

The martial air, characteristic of Long rule, prevailed yesterday as the Governor kept the state's 3,500 militiamen poised for duty, but, aside from several fist fights, there were few disturbances.

Two Red Attacks

day cause two air raid alarms in Helsinki. No bombings were reported.

An attack by two Russian divisions, "strongly supported by artillery and aircraft," was said to have been repelled at Taipale. "Very many enemy tanks were destroyed," the Finns said, in the western sector near the Gulf of Finland, scene of some of the war's heaviest fighting which has brought the Russians within a few miles of Viipuri (Viborg).

Enemy losses were described as heavy at Taipale where Finns said "the fighting raged fiercely until late at night."

Northeast of Lake Ladoga, 50 miles from the isthmus front, there was relative quiet on the sector where Finland two days ago reported wiping out a Russian division, but "a few enemy strong points were captured."

A Russian attempt to send reinforcements to surrounded detachments near Kuhmo, about midday on the Russian-Finnish frontier, was repulsed.

Finns Bomb Red Camps

Finnish planes scouted behind the Soviet lines and bombed Russian encampments during a day which saw extensive aerial activity extending into the night.

"Several fierce air battles" were reported both in the war zone and far behind the lines but "in many cases attacks by enemy formations were foiled and formations dispersed."

The Finns charged a passenger train was machine-gunned and in one locality an infants' nursery damaged by bombs. However, only "a couple of civilians" were reported killed in the raids.

Two air raid alarms sounded in Helsinki as Russian warplanes returned to follow up their far-ranging raids of yesterday in which 10 persons were killed and 20 hurt in attacks on at least 30 communities.

Eight hundred Russian planes were authoritatively estimated to have participated in yesterday's raids, which continued into the early morning.

Blizzard Hampers Bombers

February's first blizzard handicapped the Russian bombing operations in southern Finland today and inspired new confidence among Finns for a successful defence of their fighting lines.

No foreign correspondent has been permitted to visit the isthmus front for the past 10 days. Available information from military and private sources in Helsinki indicated the war picture was something like this:

Heavy Russian artillery is close enough to drop shells continually into Viipuri—(here the dispatch was censored).

Planes by the hundreds continually are bombing that city, using flares there and on the front for night attacks. From a base somewhere nearby bombers come even on cloudy days.

The Finns are holding positions to which they withdrew under Russian pressure.

Although Russian losses are said to be extremely heavy and Finnish casualties light, there still are hundreds of thousands of Russians along this front to keep up attacks under almost constant shellfire.

Turkey Threatens War Day Invader Walks Into Balkans

LONDON, Feb. 21 (CP)—The diplomatic tug-of-war between the Allies and Germany over Rumanian oil for the machines of war has been resolved to the satisfaction of Great Britain and France, an informed source indicated to-day.

Allied satisfaction was said to spring from assurance that Rumania would not discriminate in favor of Germany in supplying this vital war commodity.

It was reported that Rumania told Great Britain she would allot Germany 1,560,000 tons of oil this year, but that transportation difficulties probably would hamper delivery, just as they prevented delivery of some of the 1,300,000 tons assigned to Germany in 1939.

Viorel Virgil Tilea, Rumania Minister to London, handed to Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax yesterday the Rumanian reply to Britain's expression of concern over the new Rumanian Oil Control Board, which controls production, including that of British and French-owned properties.

No Favors For Berlin

The note was not made public, but authoritative sources said a mutually satisfactory discussion was held and gave the impression the reply removed fears that Germany might be favored.

Establishment of the control board had raised such doubts in London that officials reconsidered the whole question of British and Rumanian trade.

House Speeds Up To Prorogue Session Friday

TORONTO, Feb. 21.—(CP).—Ontario legislators faced two more night sittings and continuance of the budget debate to-day in an effort to clear the way for prorogation Friday. A night meeting is scheduled for to-night and another Thursday.

In the first night sitting of the present session, George Challies (Cons., Grenville-Dundas) last night asked if the Ontario government and the Hydro Electric Power Commission were committed to a single-stage scheme for development of the St. Lawrence waterway and to further water diversion at Chicago.

Speaking in the budget debate he considered it strange Canadians appear to obtain all their information about the St. Lawrence scheme from United States sources. Eastern Ontario was shocked to learn a single-stage scheme was in mind, whereas until recently a two-stage development was contemplated.

What was now a scenic asset would be converted to an unsightly liability as the greater inundation required by the single-stage scheme would create much destruction in the astern part of the province. Returns from capital invested in power sales would come much faster by the two-stage than by the single-stage plan.

Hydro Deals Justified.

Information Sought

THE EXAMINER would like to secure some definite information as to the life and exploits of Peterborough's once famous strong man Dan McDonald who is buried in Little Lake Cemetery and over whose grave appears the curious epitaph:

Ye weak beware, here lies the strong
A victim to his strength.
He lifted 1,600 pounds
And here he lies at length.

This paper would be glad to hear from citizens who know something of the life story of McDonald who died in October, 1871, at the age of 33 years.

Criticism of the Quebec department of game and fisheries came from Aurelian Belanger, Lib. Ala, sunk after striking a wreck near Glenans Island, off the coast of Brittany.

BERLIN, Feb. 21—(AP)—An early morning foray of "several enemy planes from the west and northwest" over Heligoland Bight was reported today by the Nazi high command communique, which, however, did not give results of the flight.

The communique said:—

"In the west, no specia' events. Reconnaissance and frontier protection flights failed to result in fighting contact with the enemy.

"In the course of reconnoitring flights along the British and Scottish coast as far as the Shetlands, two British minelayers were sunk by bombs thrown and one armored commercial vessel hit so severely it must be considered lost.

"All planes returned unharmed into home ports.

"After midnight several enemy planes from the west and northwest flew into the inner German (Heligoland) Bight.

"One U-boat returning from a distant voyage reported sinking 27,795 gross register tons."

emy's.

Those are casualties in only touch-and-go-fighting. What they would amount to in a "total war" is, of course, problematical. But they unquestionably would be high, and pilots are not replaced so easily as they were when 140 miles an hour was super-fast.

In the last war, men were sent aloft often after only two or three hours of instruction. To-day, months of training is necessary to instruct a novice properly in the art of flying 300-mile-an-hour bombers and pursuits capable of 400 miles an hour.

There is little question that Germany had the jump on France and Britain in flying personnel before the war started. As far back as 1937, news correspondents in Berlin reported the Reich had an air force of more than 100,000 men, about a tehth of whom were pilots. Last year, more than 100,000 member of the "Hitler Youth" organization were earmarked for aviation careers.

Last summer, France had laid plans for an air army of 86,000 men. The program was slow in coming to fruition. Britain's goal was 100,000. In each instance, about a tenth of the number was designated as pilots. Programs of both countries were accelerated at the start of the war.

Between them, Britain and Germany lost 32,500 men from their air forces in the war of 1914-18, al lof whom were fliers—commissioned pilots and enlisted men.

Mines of North China produced 12,000,000 tons of coal in the last year.

HOW TO OVERCOME ITCHING PILES

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool, is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from McDermid & Jury and Bond's Drug Stores or any druggist a package of Hemroid and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore, tender spots. Hemroid is highly recommended, is easy to use and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy, which is so pleasant to use may be had at such a reasonable cost. —(Advt.)

Omemee Y.P.U. Not Entering Contest

OMEMEE, Feb. 21—(ENS). — The weekly meeting of the Young People's Union was held on Monday evening and presided over by Miss Christina Connell. The business of the evening was conducted by the president, Richard Vaughan. It was decided that the society would not enter the Presbytery debates but would take part in the dramatics festival when it was held. A committee was appointed to prepare a religious drama for Easter Sunday evening. The treasurer's report showed a balance of $18.00 in the treasury.

Miss Eleanor Sherin read an interesting paper on music appreciation. Miss Christina Connell deviated from the theme of the meeting to give a synopsis of the life of Lord Tweedsmuir, closing with a poem written by him in 1897. A memorial hymn, "Unto the hills around do I lift up my longing eyes" was sung.

Miss Mary Faulkner dealt ably with the topic, "Life of Beethoven." Miss Lily Race played one of Beethoven's compositions, Sonata Pathetique, in three movements.

SPRINGVILLE

Pot Luck Dinner Is Held By W.M.S.

SPRINGVILLE, Feb. 21—(ENS). —A very successful pot luck dinner was held by the W.M.S. at the home of Mrs. O. Dunford. Twenty-five ladies were present.

Two quilts were completed for the W.M.S. sale. The fact that each lady was to be called by her Christian name made it a very jolly party. The ladies each wore a badge with her name written on it, and a fine was imposed on anyone breaking the rule.

Station Accident

PORT HOPE, Ont., Feb. 21 — (CP). — B. Miller had placed an express truck on the loading platform and it is believed a train hit the truck, which in turn struck Miller.

Responsible For Altmark Incident

This photo of Winston Churchill, First Lord of the British Admiralty, is the most recent one of the man on whose shoulders rests the responsibility for the policies of the British navy. The spectacular invasion of Norwegian waters by British warcraft to rescue 300 British seamen from aboard the German prison ship, Altmark, is the latest and greatest of these responsibilities. The Admiralty announced frankly that it gave the orders for the British destroyers to rescue the Altmark's captives even if it meant going into Norwegian territory to do so.

Gardiner Advises Farmers Use War As Period For Retrenchment

TORONTO, Feb. 21—(CP).—Agriculture Minister J. G. Gardiner told the Canadian Chamber of Commerce on Monday that because of long pre-war preparations by Great Britain, France and Germany he did not expect any great increase in demand for Canadian farm products during the first year of the war.

Mr. Gardiner, one of five speakers who outlined the job of business in wartime before the Chamber convention, said the Canadian farmer had entered the war under unfavorable circumstances, largely because the three European countries now at war had prepared for the conflict at the expense of the farmer of the Dominion.

The Minister, whose Department has sought to aid the farmer in the country's war effort, said records showed agriculture will experience better prices during the war than immediately before or immediately afterward.

Mr. Gardiner suggested that since most farm products went to the pre-war level within five years after the first Great War, a proper conclusion to reach was that the war period should be used on each farm as a period of retrenchment during which every dollar taken in should be used to put equipment and title in good shape.

Something For Rainy Day.

"If that is accomplished everything over and above ordinary earnings should be put into safe keeping, possibly in government bonds so that it will be available to carry through the difficult period which follows every war," he said.

The Minister told the delegates during a round-table conference that it is only when armies marching across France or the removal of men from farms to the armies in France or England interferes with the production of farm products in those countries that the demand will become great for Canadian surpluses.

He said a continuation of the war for three years or more is bound to increase prices of Canadian farm products and added it is the desire of everyone in Canada that they should not rise as high as in the last war. Farmers felt governments should do something to assure reasonable returns during the war.

Labor's task in the war was related by President Tom Moore of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada who said labor could assist in the war effort by maintaining industrial harmony and further by aiding in furnishing an adequate supply of efficient labor.

The problems of the consumer, the investor and management were discussed respectively by D. E. Longmore of Toronto, a director of A. McKim, Limited, W. P. Scott of Toronto, president of the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada, and C. W. Sherman of Hamilton, Ont., president of the Dominion Foundries and Steel, Limited.

Favor Pulp Export

TORONTO, Feb. 21.—(CP)—A select committee of the Ontario Legislature today decided to recommend to the Legislature this afternoon that the House act to permit the export of pulpwood from lands leased by the Crown to the railways and other corporations. Such export is now forbidden.

Motion to permit the export was made by Provincial Secretary Harry Nixon. Conservative Leader George Drew refused to vote on the ground the committee had no evidence on which to formulate a decision.

Sitzkrieg

London, Feb. 21 (CP Cable)

THE threatened German blitzkrieg having failed to take fuse, this far from lightning war is now known as a sitzkrieg.

The pearl of sarcasm was turned up today in a Royal Air Force Memorandum pointing out that the sit-down war was providing an opportunty to push the Allies' air program to the last degree of efficiency.

This is the opposite of the last war when it was not uncommon for aviators to be rushed into combat service after a minimum of flying experience.

BABY'S UPSET STOMACH QUICKLY CORRECTED

BABY'S little "Tummy" is often easily upset. It is easily righted again, too, if you know just how to do it. Let Mrs. M. S. Alway, of London, Ont., tell you: "Baby's Own Tablets are a great help at the first sign of upset stomach, during teething time or when a cold is coming on. They work quickly yet gently to carry away poisons and promote quiet sleep. Walking floors at night is unknown in our home."

And Mrs. W. R. Sharp says: "I nursed my baby shortly after being alarmed over a motor accident and that upset her almost to the point of convulsions. I gave her Baby's Own Tablets and she soon stopped crying—went to sleep and when she awakened was her own good self again."

No Profiteering Says McLarty

ESSEX, Ont., Feb. 21 — (CP).—There will be no undue profiteering or scandal during the war such as was charged during the last war, Hon. Norman McLarty, Federal Labor Minister, told the Essex South Liberal nominating convention here last night. Murray Clark, Harrow farmer, Liberal member of the last parliament, was chosen to seek re-election in the March 26 election.

Citing the brief sugar panic, he said hoarding also was being guarded to prevent unnecessary price increases. The cabinet minister said sugar had risen only ½ cent a pound since the war and added the rise was directly accountable to the increase in freight and insurance rates.

Challenging Dr. R. J. Manion, Conservative leader, to further improve Canada's war effort, Mr. McLarty said Prime Minister Mackenzie King has guided the Dominion wisely since war started. He charged that Dr. Manion had failed to advance one point to make the country's actions more efficient.

Colonel George Drew, Ontario Conservative chieftain, also came under Mr. McLarty's fire. Charging Col. Drew had attacked the government as cowardly in calling the election instead of facing parliament. Mr. McLarty added that if Col. Drew had any ammunition to fire now was the time to present it to the people.

An announcement concerning wool shortages in the Dominion will be issued shortly, Mr. McLarty said. It will show that not one complaint has been received by the wartime prices and trade board regarding wool from manufacturing companies, he added.

Mr. McLarty later addressed a Liberal nominating convention at Petrolia.

For Bad Winter Coughs, Mix This Remedy at Home

Quick Relief. Big Saving. So Easy. No Cooking.

This well known recipe is used by many thousands of housewives, because they have found that it gives them a much more dependable remedy for distressing winter coughs. It's so easy to mix—a child could do it.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, a compound containing Norway Pine, in concentrated form, well known for its effect on throat membranes.

Then make a syrup by stirring two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. It's no trouble at all, and takes but a moment. No cooking needed.

Put the Pinex into a 16 oz. bottle and add your syrup. This gives you 16 ounces of cough remedy, unusually quick-acting and dependable, and you get four times as much cough medicine for your money. It never spoils, and is very pleasant—children love it.

You'll be surprised by the way it takes hold of severe coughs, giving quick, satisfying relief. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Money refunded if it doesn't please in every way.

TAMBLYN

IS PAID A COMPLIMENT

Last week an officer in the Canadian Army visited a Tamblyn Store and on being approached to see what he wished asked if he would be permitted to "LOOK AROUND". Permission was gladly given after which he made a very thorough examination at the conclusion of which he "COMPLIMENTED" the manager and was most profuse in his praise of that store in particular, and the Tamblyn Drug Stores in general. The gentleman in question had travelled extensively during which time he had had occasion to visit stores all over the universe and his "EXPRESSED OPINION" was that in all his travels he had never seen "FINER DRUG STORES". You can well imagine our pleasure at such a compliment and we thought you would appreciate the fact that right here in your Native Ontario are stores worthy of such comment, more particularly so when those stores continually serve your pocket book in such a manner as demonstrated in our

Let's Get This Right

At the Finance Committee meeting of the City Council it was stated the Ontario Municipal Association had asked that a wire be sent protesting against the half-mill reduction in the Provincial Government's subsidy to municipalities. Then the Mayors' Association had called a special meeting in Ottawa where the matter was going to be handled as well. By a 5-4 vote it was decided to do nothing about the protesting business.

During the discussion it was explained that the Provincial Government now paid the cost of provincial highways in what were formerly suburban areas, Old Age Pensions, Mothers' Allowances, upkeep of hospitals for tubercular cases, and so on. It was also stated the Provincial Government, like the municipalities, was finding it hard to raise money.

And that is a natural enough way in which to divide our taxing bodies into groups or divisions, drawing a line between the provincial tax gatherers and those who are serving the municipalities. And the same line of division would probably be drawn to separate the Federal collectors.

We have dropped into the easy habit of looking at these various collectors, and we seem to feel that if the Provincial Government has taken over certain payments which used to be met directly by the municipalities, then the municipalities are getting off somewhat easier. We almost convince ourselves that we have escaped paying such a tax because the Provincial Government has "taken it over" as we say.

And the chances are we will continue thinking and talking this way no matter what is said about it. The outlook is as wrong as it can be, and there is hardly room enough for a good argument about it. Our three major taxing bodies, Federal, Provincial and Municipal governments, all operate on exactly the same set of people.

It may sound nice to say the Provincial Government has "taken over" certain charges which municipalities used to pay, but where does the Provincial Government get its money? Right straight, direct and fully from the people. From the same people who pay to the municipal and federal treasuries. It is merely the difference between paying it here and paying it there.

So don't make any mistake about it. This business of a government "taking over" certain obligations which were formerly paid direct by a municipality may relieve the municipality as a corporate body, but it does not relieve the taxpayers within the municipality from their liability to the government which has "taken over" the obligation. The people continue to pay regardless of which agency does the collecting.

Cutting Off $15,000,000

Leopold Macaulay, Conservative member of the Ontario Legislature from South York, says it would be possible to cut $15,000,000 from the estimates without crippling any essential service. Then next year the cutting process should be continued until the expenditure was brought down to the basis where the people could handle it without a deficit being reported.

The debate was interesting because it revealed such a difference of opinion. The matter of the new mental hospital at St. Thomas was given another airing, and Opposition members said the money spent there was $12,000,000. They claimed that in the Public Accounts Committee Hon. Colin Campbell, Minister of Public Works, had mentioned $11,000,000 as the cost, and probably another million was added for good measure. The figure given by Premier Hepburn was $6,200,000, and he offered to bet a hat that it was not $12,000,000. We are satisfied that the common sense of readers will tell them there should be no such gap between figures used by two parties in the same house discussing the same building. That figure should be definitely established and known and it should not be necessary to argue about it.

Going farther, we find Liberal members ready to support the estimates as they exist, and ready to ask the Conservative members just how they would go about it cutting $15,000,000 out of the estimates. It has always been the claim of Opposition members that they could and would cut expenditures. Mr. Hepburn did that very thing himself when he promised that he would reduce operating costs by fifty per cent., but he has never done it.

It is one of the weak points in our form of party government. The party in Opposition is nearly always ready to undertake a severe curtailment of the expense of government, but political history shows that when the Opposition becomes the Government the tendency toward cutting costs passes once more and becomes the property of the party in Opposition.

One contention is that it is poor business from a party standpoint for the Government in power to cut too heavily into spending. It is a poor way to gain strength. One sure way to build up the party organization is to provide as many jobs as possible and that means spending money. It is not possible to make political friends by having no appointments to make. That is why we are not particularly impressed by the promise of Mr. Macaulay that it would be possible to take $15,000,000 out of the current estimates. We would be more impressed were he to do the thing when in power.

Will Mr. Hepburn Act?

No matter how one looks at the situation it becomes plain that Premier Hepburn may yet be driven to the point where he will have to take action regarding the famous resolution of censure which he pushed through the Legislature condemning Premier King and his war policy and effort.

Four members of his cabinet have already stated they are going to support Premier King—Hon. T. B. McQuesten (who seconded Mr. Hepburn's motion); Hon. H. C. Nixon, Provincial Secretary; Hon. P. M. Dewan, Minister of Agriculture, and Hon. Gordon Conant, Attorney-General.

The same trend is found outside the cabinet. One of the most recent instances was in Mitchell, Perth Co., where Liberals placed Fred G. Sanderson in the field. At the meeting they passed a resolution thanking Angus Dickson, M.L.A., who had voted against the Hepburn resolution, and Angus Dickson is a Liberal.

It has remained for Thomas Blakelock, M.L.A. for Halton, to give an explanation which stands rather separate and apart from the rest. It runs this way;

"I'm one of those fellows who voted for the Hepburn motion censuring Prime Minister King's Government. There is only one answer for that. An emergency arose in the House and we had only two or three minutes to decide how to vote. At least I didn't get down on my knees and sneak out. I have voted for the Hepburn Government when I thought it was right, and I've voted for the Hepburn Government when I thought it was wrong. This time I voted for the Hepburn Government when I knew d—— well it was wrong."

Mr. Hepburn has not been saying much, but if he considers it necessary to do some housecleaning he would not hesitate to act, and for that reason some of the politically wise men are anticipating action. Mr. Hepburn differed with David Croll and he went out of the cabinet; he differed with Arthur Roebuck and he passed through the door marked exit. If Mr. Hepburn is inclined to measure his strength by the amount of loyalty shown by cabinet ministers to himself, then the measure is shrinking, and Mr. Hepburn is not likely to allow that process to continue indefinitely. Truth is he could hardly afford to do so. There are a good many political conventions being held now and a good many resolutions are being passed by Liberals in support of Mr. King, and each one points back to the Hepburn resolution of censure. It would cause no surprise if there were some shaking down done in the cabinet ranks at Toronto.

A Nice Kind Of War

There is a war going on in London, Ont., and it is not likely that the general public or the League of Nations will raise a finger to stop it. Two or three of the major gas companies have started cutting prices. Perhaps the attitude is entirely wrong, but a war of that sort fails entirely to cause a lump to rise in the throat.

The thing came on by degrees, first with only a copper or so knocked off the fee for a gallon of gas, but it spread. At the moment top grade gas is 25 cents, standard 23 cents and gas of lesser virtue is being sold for 21 cents, and all prices include the government tax of 8 cents.

The general public need not be alarmed. In fact we were rather hoping that the war might spread with the coming of finer days and cleaner roads. When we watch those new-fangled machines spinning around to register the amount of money one is spending at the filling station, we can well believe there would be a bit of joy attached to the knowledge that one was actually getting more gas for his dollar.

Can't Believe Them

The press in Russia is supposed to be controlled, but we wonder if that makes it any more responsible for what it prints. Some German paper made the statement that Russia had designs on the north Atlantic at the expense of Norway.

The Communist party paper, Pravda, was grieved. It referred to the relations between Russia and Germany which had been developing so nicely, and then stated that—

"The Soviet Union is a stranger to usurpation."

That is, Stalin and his crowd of headhunters would not take anything which belonged to some other nation.

And that is actually printed in a Russian newspaper which speaks with authority.

The rest of the world will recognize the statement as a lie, but what about the poor dupes at home who know so little—or nothing at all—about what is going on in the outside world? Will they look upon their party paper as one which tells the truth? Will they be able to put that one over without the people raising an eyebrow?

In our country we know and admit we are prejudiced in this war; we are prejudiced in favor of our own land and in favor of the Empire and the entire Allied cause. But even so we know we could not print a statement so desperately erroneous and get away with it. Our own people would not believe it and they could identify it as error at once. That is why we find it so difficult to believe anything which comes out of Moscow.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Bagpipes which were used in the last war are now being played in the present conflict. And they played victory in the final chapter of that conflict.

Man from Montreal says he was robbed of $65 when near Milton, Ont. But what we can't understand is how it was necessary for the man to get so far from home before being robbed.

Stratford Beacon-Herald admits it is somewhat puzzled by reading that United States has granted $20,000,000 credit to China and at the same time continues to sell scrap iron to Japan.

British Atlantic mail service is to be resumed about the first of June, but no passengers will be carried. Possibly like the signs the highway trucks carry now: "No riders."

A United States professor who recently wrote a poem about the Athenia, has been awarded an estate worth $311,000, but the award was in no way connected with having written a poem.

Strong man is dead at Springfield, Mo., and of him it is related that in his prime he carried a sick cow a quarter of a mile to its stable. Somehow it is easier to believe that the man is dead than that he carried the cow.

Gus Marker, right winger of the Toronto Maple Leafs, is mentioned as a possible candidate for Camrose in the coming election. But if he is going into politics he will have to be able to shoot from either side.

Possibly it is useless, but one cannot help wondering how much war there would have been had United States said at the end of August, 1939: "You can count us in on the side of the democracies."

Report from Kitchener tells of a man being arrested who at one time or another had made use of 16 different names, but it generally happens that when a convenient cell is reserved for his use only one name is placed on the register.

There may be a serious reduction in the amount of grain allowed British distilleries, but there are 100,000,000 gallons of whiskey in the cellars of the United Kingdom, so actual drought in the land will not be apparent for some time yet.

DIGNIFIED

(By A.R.K.)

¶ My Cousin Jake is bald indeed, 'twould do no good to plant more seed, because it would not grow; years back he shedded out his crop, each day a few more hairs would drop, yes that was years ago.

¶ Jake's hair was once brushed pompadour, it rose like cliffs along the shore, for more he had no room; it used to boast of quite a kink, and now and then it made me think, of clover tops in bloom.

¶ Jake put up quite a fight I guess, when hair crop showed up less and less, he'd rub to beat the band; he tried out everything he'd know, looked puzzled when it wouldn't grow, he could not understand.

¶ He wore the carpet near the glass, where he stood looking for the grass, he rubbed three times a day; and then he found to his disgust, that when he'd rubbed there fit to bust, some more had gone away.

¶ And then Jake read a piece one day, of men whose locks had gone away, positions that they had; they were top notchers in their way, they'd made a fortune in their day, Jake didn't feel so bad.

¶ Now Jake's contented as can be, his head looks like a naked tree, but he's not mortified; since he read of baldheaded men, of victories great which came to them—why he feels dignified.

Finland Feels Its Existence Worth A Fight

From the Finnish Trade Review, published in Helsinki by the Finnish Foreign Trade Association.

NO FINN can wish anything more fervently than that the fighting now proceeding on our frontier will set the final seal on our right to live in freedom. We do not only hope, but we believe that this will be so.

Our belief is based in the first instance on our own selves. It is based on the character of our people, on their firmness and tenacity; it is based on the creative power which in two decades of perfect liberty has raised the nation from poverty and privation to a relative prosperity; and finally, it is based on Finnish democracy and on what this democracy has achieved in the way of consolidating the social structure and strengthening the national sense of solidarity.

When, barely more than twenty years ago, we rose in arms to fight for our liberty, Finland was in many respects, a backward country. Our fields were exhausted and our productive machinery was in great part worn out and out-of-date. For its supply of bread the country depended largely on imports.

Finnish industry, which to a considerable extent had been based on the Russian market, had had its last avenue of export trade closed to it. Further, our finances had become entangled with the collapsed war economy of Russia. The material basis of our national existence was in its entirety weak and tottering; there was a crying need of the barest necessities of life, distress bordering on calamity, and for a great part of the nation the chances of earning a livelihood were uncertain indeed.

Now matters are different. The fields of Finland have expanded and grown fatter; the arable area has increased by a third, and the harvest by two-thirds. In regard to the essentials of life the country is on the whole self-supporting. Industry has expanded at a rate unparalleled—barring a few exceptions—anywhere in the world. The value of industrial output has multiplied three and a half times over. New opportunities for work and new wealth have been created on a corresponding scale.

Finally, the country has become self-supporting also in regard to finance. We now stand firmly on our feet. Every one of us knows that Finland can offer an honorable and constantly improving livelihood both to her present population and to coming generations, the better the farther the exploitation of the natural resources of the country and the other possibilities lying open to it proceed. And the nation is also aware that our economic foundation is strong enough to stand the strain even though a large proportion of our people are compelled to man for the time being the frontiers repelling and destroying the hordes of an invading enemy.

KNOWLEDGE of these circumstances is a great source of strength in the struggle we are now waging. But we have another and still greater source of strength and self-confidence. It lies in the fact that this country is no longer divided, as during the first phase of our war of independence twenty-two years ago into opposing camps of citizens, sundered by class warfare, but a nation united by a living and strong bond of solidarity.

In two decades the Finnish community has been reborn. The classes which, still in our first war of liberation and before that had reason to cry for social justice, have obtained it. Hundreds of thousands of families formerly subsisting on leased land or casual work on the land have been helped to become the farmers of their own soil, or have found a steady income and every opportunity for a healthy life in the service of the expanding industries or of the new enterprises in our cities and industrial centres.

Poverty and distress as widespread social phenomena have vanished. The standard of living of the people, modest as it still is, is wholly unlike what it was twenty years ago; even by West European standards, there is no reason to be ashamed of it.

A further source of moral power is our clean conscience. The Finnish people, both those at the front and those behind the front know, as the whole civilized world knows, that we have not given the slightest cause for the present invasion. We have not constituted a threat to anyone's security, and our sole desire has been to live in peace and in peace develop our own country, prepared to do what is right in our foreign relations as we have endeavored to do at home.

• Speculating About The Election

Toronto Saturday Night wonders why Mr. Hepburn doesn't work for the defeat of Mackenzie King.

THE parliamentary system does not give the people much power beyond that of choosing between the two chief rival parties; it is almost impossible to compel those parties to coalesce except by the prospect of their being both defeated by a still more powerful party if they do not. Any move for such a coalition would obviously have to come from Mr. King, who is not only quite free from any prospect of defeat by a third party but is not even in much danger of defeat by Dr. Manion himself; the only risk that he runs is that of finding himself with less seats than the total held by Dr. Manion himself with less seats than the total held by Dr. Manion and all the third parties together, and it is practically inconceivable that all these highly discordant elements could combine to form a coherent Government. In the event of a deadlock it is more likely that a few Liberals of slightly Hepburnian inclinations might break away from Mr. King and aid Dr. Manion to form what they would describe as a Push-the-War-Government of mixed political origins.

Presumably if such an event happened Mr. Hepburn would still be eligible for high rank in the cabinet, in spite of his apparent intention to do nothing to help Dr. Manion in the electoral campaign and his permitting his own provincial ministers—including the seconder of the anti-King resolution—to campaign for the King candidates. But how Mr. Hepburn can remain in politics in the event of any other issue to the federal campaign is hard to see. His ministers will expect the help of the federal members in their next election in exchange for the help they are now extending in the federal field; but how can they get it if they continue under the leadership of a man who not only gives no aid to the federal Liberals but is openly waiting for a chance to throw them out of power? And the provincial Liberals in their next election will need all the help they can get. The provincial Conservative party is by no means the helpless and unpopular thing that it was in the last two elections, and Mr. Hepburn himself is not quite the commanding figure that he was.

And while Mr. Hepburn might be useful to Dr. Manion after the elections in the event of a deadlock he has done him a very ill service for the election contest itself. For he is practically announcing that he does not expect Dr. Manion to win; and whatever Mr. Hepburn's weaknesses may be, nobody has ever accused him of being a shrewd forecaster of election results. The public can hardly resist the conclusion that when Mr. Hepburn, who so ardently and obviously desires the defeat of Mr. King, fails to come forward and work for it, the reason must be that he sees no hope of success.

• The Radio and Sunday Advertising

WHAT would householders say if vendors of commodities rang their doorbells on a Sabbath afternoon and put his foot in the doorway?

The general situation in regard to Sunday radio advertising as permitted by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation leaves much to be desired. A few days ago an item appeared in the press stating that the Lord's Day Alliance of Canada, at its annual meeting in Toronto, had expressed disappointment that the announced policy of the Board of Governors of the CBC to curtail the amount of commercial advertising on Sunday programs has not yet become effective. This recalls the fact that in the fall of 1937 the Alliance placed before the board representations that commercial advertising over the radio was, in its opinion, quite as illegal as if indulged in by any newspaper. No objection was made to a simple statement giving the name of the sponsor—some quite good musical programs come in that way—but the Alliance asked that sales talks and spot advertising be eliminated.

The answer was to the effect that the board would proceed toward the objective mentioned in the representations. It was stated that spot advertising would immediately be eliminated, but that the CBC was under certain contracts with U.S. radio hook-ups to carry commercial programs, also that the CBC required the revenue to be obtained from that source until such time as it had provided satisfactory coverage over the whole Dominion. It was suggested that the Alliance be patient for a time and later it would find that the board was moving in the direction desired.

The result of two years' patient waiting has been disappointing. Further representations have been made recently and a conference is said to be in prospect. This is a matter upon which there should be little division of opinion, and the Alliance should feel that it is representing the public in general. If Sunday advertising of the kind mentioned is illegal, it is illegal even though the CBC thinks it needs the money. Virtually all offences against the Lord's Day Act are similarly attributable to greed, and that is the word to use in the case of the CBC.—Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

DAY OF THE MACHINE

A CONVENTION of road builders was held in New York the other day, and as part of the instruction, there was a display of road machinery valued at a million dollars.

There was a shovel that could scoop up 36,000 pounds of dirt at one mouthful. There was a 100-ton concrete mixer, a neon-lighted crane, a Diesel tractor snowplow, devices that could claw up the ground, and, as auctioneers say "other articles too numerous to mention."

There were powerful machines that responded to the pressing of a button, doing terrifying and fascinating things to the roughest and rockiest ground.

All this adds to the modern way of making highways. Not so many years ago, men made roads laboriously and painfully by hewing and laying the foundations with pick and shovel methods, carrying away and carrying back materials in wheelbarrows.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

GENERAL'S VERDICT

GEN. WEYGAND, the great French general who was the predecessor of Gen. Gamelin as supreme Head of the French Armies, was never impressed by the Soviet Army in recent years.

"Ninety per cent of their officers are Communist propagandists and not soldiers, and will be found wanting in the day of battle."

This was the great general's verdict. And remember the great Marshal Foch described Weygand as "my encyclopedia"—"Weygand c'est moi."—News of the World.

GOES DROP BY DROP

The water shortage is getting shorter. New York City has 119,109,000,000 gallons of water in its reservoirs. Three weeks ago the figure stood at 126 billions. Then one week-end of rain—merely a drop in the reservoirs—lulled us all into a feeling of false security.

The City uses about 920 million gallons a day and nearly 180 million gallons a day and nearly 180 million gallons of that is lost through leaks in interior plumbing. It is urgently necessary to be sparing in using water, but most important Stop That Leak!—New York Post.

STRANGE VOTERS

THE Conservatives of Cape Breton South are to meet in Sydney tonight for the choice of a candidate to contest this constituency in the impending Federal election. Although Finlay MacDonald, K.C., ex-M.P., has announced that he is not an aspirant, there will be at least four or five earnest contenders for the honor. Nominations rarely go abegging in this sport-loving corner of the vineyard. Whoever does get the nomination tonight will have to fight it out later with a Liberal and a C.C.F. nominee. A triangular event like that will be anyone's fight in Cape Breton South, whose election results can rarely be predicted, and whose reasons for voting as it does on any given occasion are often equally baffling.—Sydney Post-Record.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

Then was brought unto him one possessed with a devil, blind and dumb; and he healed him, insomuch that the blind and dumb both spake and saw. And all the people were amazed, and said, Is not this the son of David? But when the Pharisees heard it, they said, This fellow doth not cast out devils, but by Beelzebub the prince of devils.

And Jesus knew their thoughts, and said unto them, Every kingdom divided against itself is brought to desolation; and every city or house divided against itself shall not stand: and if Satan cast out Satan, he is divided against himself; how shall then his kingdom stand? And if I by Beelzebub cast out devils, by whom do your children cast them out? Therefore they shall be your judges.

But if I cast out devils by the Spirit of God, then the kingdom of God is come unto you.—Matt. xii: 22-28.

HIGH MOVING COSTS

Kinsmen Club Marks Founder's Night

The Association of Kinsmen Clubs which was born as a result of the last war, joined hands from Newfoundland to Vancouver last night, observing the twentieth anniversary of the founding of this service club. At nine o'clock a Founder's Night dinner was held in the Empress Hotel, when messages were read from Hal Rogers, the Founder; K. P. Duggan, the National President, and W. Austin Peters, district Governor.

Four members from the newly formed Kinsmen Club at Marmora were guests at the dinner and were tendered a warm welcome by Vern Selkirk, president of the local club.

The message from the Founder was read by E. F. Borbridge, and one of the highlights of the inspiring message was an appeal for Kinsmen Clubs across the Dominion to marshal all their forces and strength so that when the opportunity arrives Kinsmen may make a united effort in winning World War 2. The National President's message which was read by Lorne Bateman, concluded with the message that "the Association of Kinsmen Clubs of Canada was born as the result of the last war. That, in itself, should be sufficient incentive to carry on with increased vigor and enthusiasm during this one. Remember our slogan—Sacrifice and Service for Canada and Kin." Ray Underwood of Deloro read the letter of greetings from the District Governor, W. Austin Peters.

Vern Selkirk explained to the gathering that the welfare work assumed by the local Kinsmen Club, namely, supplying of glasses to needy persons who have defective vision, has resulted in the club facing increased responsibilities each year. He voiced pleasure at the splendid work done in 1939 and appealed to every member to make an extra effort to dispose of the books of tickets on the shopping certificates.

Jim Wharry reported on the sale of tickets and urged that the members bear down during the campaign and earn enough money to do the service work that is planned for 1940.

V. J. McElderry, K.C., County Crown Attorney, was guest speaker and was introduced by Jim Wharry. His subject was listed as the Highway Traffic Act, but he adopted a humorous theme throughout the talk, which was both interesting and entertaining. A vote of thanks was tendered by W. B. Gordon.

Th Prince of Wales Rangers Boys' Band supplied music at the dinner and drew praise from the audience. The band is composed of twenty-seven boys, ranging in age from seven years to fifteen, and is capably directed by H. J. Parnell.

Swedish King May Abdicate Over Aid To Finns

King Gustaf had publicly announced that Finland can not expect direct aid from Sweden in her fight against Russia and the Swedish government has refused to allow troops to pass through Sweden to Finland.

The accused were James Radd, 32, Edward Freel, 24, and John Fennell, 26. They were arrested yesterday in connection with the hold-up of a local branch of the Royal Bank on Feb. 10.

A total of $4,000 was taken in the holdup but police said the money has not yet been recovered.

Bail was set at two sureties of $6,000 each for the men.

Crown Attorney G. W. Ballard, K.C., told the court that when the next conviction for bank robbery is made he intends to press for a 25-year penitentary sentence. Such a sentence was passed in Hamilton on one occasion.

New Economic Order Is Destined To Better Lot Of Common Man

A new economic order has come to the world, J. S. Eason, editor of The Periscope, told an audience at the Paragon Hall last night. He claimed that its arrival, forecast in the revelations from the Pyramids, had been responsible for the outbreak of World War II, and that the champions of the old order—the dictators—were doomed to disaster. Nothing, he said, can alter the forward stride of this new order.

The order is destined to better the lot of the common man, for it is an order that places monetary control in the hands of government agencies rather than individuals, he declared. He revealed that the world, according to Pyramid revelations, has already passed into the King's Chamber, and is already launched upon the new economic order that is inherent in that Chamber. It is the beginning of a world of great happiness for the common man, he said.

But he warned that the chaos that will follow world peace will be greater than any that occurs during the war, until people become adjusted to the new order of things. The world will require constant policing by the Allies.

He brought to the attention of his audience many newspaper articles of recent origin to prove his point that a new world order in economics is already here.

Cadi Shocked To Find Mennonites Place Religion Before Country

SASKATOON, Feb. 21 — (CP).—Surprise that Mennonites should place religion above their country's welfare was expressed yesterday by Magistarte F. M. Brown during the trial of Arthur Fisher, 23, who pleaded guilty to uttering a forged cheque for $600.

Walter Tucker, K.C., who had been asked by the Magistrate if Fisher had tried to enlist, said Mennonites were forbidden by their religion to enlist in Canada's armed forces. He pleaded for suspended sentence and Fisher was remanded until Wednesday.

Magistrate Brown felt that in wartime in passing sentence, a Judge or Magistrate must consider if an accused deserved his freedom, and this consideration should be based on what contribution such a person could make toward the country's war effort.

"Has this young man tried to enlist?" Magistrate Brown asked Mr. Tucker, who replied that the prisoner was prohibited from doing so by his religion.

"You mean to tell me these people place heir religion ahead of the good and welfare of their country," the Magistrate said. "God help them if the Allies lose the war. Where will their religion be then?"

"I think you better not answer this question. However, we have enemies who pay no attention to religion and many people in this country think it does not look good that some of the finest young men of our country should sacrifice their lives over there for others who stay at home."

Mr. Tucker then observed that the Quakers also refused to bear arms.

"It is the freedom of religion we are fighting for," said the Magistrate. "How many countries aside of our own grant people freedom of religion because they do not believe in fighting? Is this young man doing for the country what is expected from him?"

"It is the policy of the Government and leaders of the other political parties," Mr. Tucker then remarked, "to leave the matter of enlistment to the conscience of each individual citizen. The Mennonites, although they do not actually fight, contribute with all their efforts to Canada's war effort."

Jamieson Bone Pictures Canada Second Ireland

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 21 — (ENS).—Speaking before an enthusiastic meeting of Campbellford National Conservative party executive and supporters here Tuesday night, Jamieson Bone, Conservative candidate for Northumberland, issued a challenge to Prime Minister Mackenzie King to let the people decide on the crew of their "ship of state." The energetic, hard driving National Conservative candidate, reiterated previous charges against the "do-nothing" attitude of the Liberal administration during the past five years and repeated his support of the Conservative leader, Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion, in his stand for a National Government.

"Mr. King should most certainly accept Dr. Manion's challenge to form a National Government at Ottawa," Mr. Bone declared. "He should let the public decide who will steer, rather than scuttle the ship of state. In no other way can we have a truly national government. In England, national government changed conditions over night from near chaos in 1931 to the greatest prosperity ever known in 1937. And this prosperity was not due to the boom in armament manufacture as some detractors of national government would have you believe. National government can and will do the same for Canada."

"Right here," the fiery Northumberland candidate continued, "I make my first positive statement and prophecy to the electors of this riding. If Mackenzie King and his 'dodo' cabinet should again be entrusted with the government of this huge, semi-continent known as Canada, then we are headed for the garbage pile as surely as night follows day. Financially we will be sunk without a trace and as an Empire force we will be a second Ireland.

"Our country stretches from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Let us be a little more Atlantic and a lot less pacific," Mr. Bone urged. "We want action in place of inertia. Four more years of nothing added to the past four years of nothing can still make only nothing."

Paying tribute to the important place of women in Canadian life, Mr. Bone pointed out that more than fifty per cent. of all qualified Canadian voters are feminine. With this knowledge, he said it can be seen that united womanhood could overcome much of the present corruption and undesirable elements in Canadian public life.

"I urge the women of this country, and the women of Northumberland riding in particular, to take a firm stand for the upholding of our moral and spiritual standards, so seriously threatened from within and without by all cunning, well concealed forces of evil."

Trooper Proposes Sea Radiocast Wedding As Sweetheart's Papa Finally Says Yes

LONDON, Feb. 21 (CP Cable).—Wanted: An ocean-spanning cupid to arrange the marriage of a Canadian soldier in training here and his betrothed in Canada.

The prospective bridegroom is Sergeant C. Chevalier of Montreal, a member of the Royal Canadian Engineers. Formal consent to his engagement has just been cabled by the prospective father-in-law and Sergeant Chevalier airmailed a diamond ring.

But Chevalier is a man of action—he volunteered for the advance party and became the first French-Canadian soldier to reach England in this war — and he wants the wedding solemnized as soon as possible.

He wrote Bob Bowman, head of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation unit with the Canadian Active Service Force, asking if the marriage could be arranged by transatlantic radiocast and Bob, rather large for a cupid but willing to pinch-hit, is investigating all possibilities.

Sergeant Chevalier appealed as a man who had left "a very lonely little girl back home." He said they would be "the happiest couple in all the world if we could get married, just so long as we could be Mr. and Mrs."

One possibility is that Chevalier and his bonnie over the ocean could be wed by proxy. Arrangements might be made for the soldier to listen in by radio while the bride and the groom by proxy

Mr. Hoover, for many years a summer resident at Macklin's Landing, Rice Lake, had for several years past made his home here the year round. Just previous to Christmas Day, Mr. and Mrs. Hoover left to spend the holiday at Buffalo, where Mr. Hoover expected to undergo a major operation early in the New Year. It is reported Mr. Hoover died while on the operating table.

Mr. Hoover was a retired fireman of Tonawanda, New York.

During his residence here he made a large circle of friends, who mourn his passing.

New Bill Forces Spinsters To Reveal Ages

LONDON, Feb. 21 — (CP).—The news was bitter-sweet for British spinsters to-day when they learned that the Government's new bill granting them to disclose their ages to their employers.

"Psychologically a bad thing," was the way Florence White, organizer of the National Spinsters' Pensions Association, described the stipulation in the bill now progressing through the House of Commons.

Dismayed at this threat to woman's best-kept secret, women members of Parliament went into conference. These included Lady Astor, Megan Lloyd George, and Irene Ward, all champions of the bill. They will attempt to draft an amendment.

If the legislation passes, spinsters will be asked to fill out forms disclosing their ages to their employers.

Let us go forward together in all parts of the Empire, in all parts of this island. There is not a week, nor a day, nor an hour to be lost."

—Winston Churchill.

That is patriotism, that is statesmanship, that is dynamic leadership. That is the kind of language a nation at war has a right to expect from its leaders. It is the kind of language that the people of Canada have been waiting for months to hear from its government at Ottawa. And waiting in vain.

Even the most ardent admirer of Mackenzie King will have to admit that no such rinaing call to arms has been heard from him. Nor will be heard.

Instead of summoning the people of Canada to do their utmost to help win the war, Mr. King prates of Canadian unity.

If this first broadcast speech to the nation meant anything it meant that the Liberal leader is refusing to take any chances of offending a minority by prosecuting the wishes of the majority of Canadians. He would rather weaken Canada's war effort than run the risk of the opposition of one section of the population. In other words the part this country is to play in the struggle against Hitlerism is to be based on the wishes of the minority who want to do less rather than on the desire of the majority who want to do more. It is a unity of inaction, not a unity of action that Mr. King preaches.

There is only one leader before the electors in this election who has the Churchill touch.

That is Fighting Bob Manion, who fought for Canada in the last Great War and was first elected to parliament while still serving at the front with our own 21st Battalion. Only from him can be expected the vigorous action and whole-hearted, red-blooded leadership essential to a real Canadian war effort.

Derringer Misses Boss With Inkwell

SARASOTA, Fla., Feb. 21—(AP).—This is the story of how a man collected $500 for throwing an inkwell at his boss.

Paul Derringer, the Cincinnati pitcher, was the man who pegged the heavy glassware, and the object of one of the best throwing arms in baseball was Larry Macphail, whose fertile imagination and ready cash are revolutionizing baseball in Brooklyn.

If the inkstand, instead of the ink, had splattered Macphail's countenance, there probably still would have been no night ball in the big leagues.

It happened in 1935, Paul recalls, when Charlie Dressen was managing the Reds and Macphail was master-minding from the business office. Derringer constituted about 90 per cent. of the club's pitching staff.

The strange and nearly fatal thread of events began when Paul, toward the close of a tight game, failed to slide into home plate. The Duke swears he was thrown out by a good 20 feet and that he saw no reason for hitting the dirt. Macphail evidently had a different idea, for he socked a $250 fine on his star and suspended him for three days.

He Goes Golfing.

Derringer made himself a couple of golf dates and started in generally to enjoy his forced vacation. He was doing fine with it, too, when Macphail reached him by 'phone the next day and demanded to know why he wasn't at the ball yard.

Well, there was a pretty hot argument, Paul recalls, as the two faced each other across Macphail's desk.

Finally Larry said something that Derringer, a product of old Kentucky, resented. He grabbed the inkwell, which chanced to be the handiest object, and let fly point-blank. It creased one of Macphail's ears, knocked plaster off the wall back of his head, and erupted ink all over the premises.

Derringer recalls that Macphail looked somewhat shaken.

"Why, Slim, you might have killed me with that thing," he said.

"That's what I was a-trying to do," Derringer said, cooling off slightly.

"Macphail steadeid and punched a button on his desk. He asked his secretary to bring him a cheque. He filled it in carefully and passed it over to the big pitcher. Paul looked at it incredulously.

"But, Larry," he said. "You didn't fine me but $250, and this cheque says $750."

"That's all right," said Macphail, who was breathing almost normally again. "That extra $500 is for missing me."

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 21—(AP).—The International-American Hockey League's see-saw scoring race between Ronny Hudson of Indianapolis Capitals and Tony Hemmerling of New Haven Eagles turned in favor of the Birds' ace wingman during the last week.

Hemmerling, one point out of first place last week, gained three points during that period to take the lead with an aggregate 45.

Displaced as head man, Hudson found himself deadlocked at 44 points with Norm Locking of Syracuse Stars, whose five-point surge made him the week's best performer.

Fred Thurrier of Springfield Indians followed with 42, while trailing him at 41 points were Norm Schultz of Springfield and Jack Toupin of Syracuse. Max Bennett of Syracuse was next in line witht 40 points.

Pete Bessone of Pittsburg Hornets continued to lead the penalty list with a total of 84 minutes spent off the ice.

CITY BOWLING NEWS

DUFFUS RECREATION ACADEMY

Jack Wade and Ollie Taylor set a hot pace for the bowlers of the C.G.E. Shop League at Duffus' Alleys last night. Wade set up a huge 856 count for his three games with a 342 single included while Taylor nailed a fine 358 game in an 820 score.

Mrs. "Bud" Weese of the Kawartha ladies' group turned in 691 to lead the girls of her own league and the Mercantile women. The other good scores noticed were:

Remember When—

Stopping Lee Ramage in the second round of a 10-round bout, Joe Louis advanced a long step towards his heavyweight boxing title at Los Angeles five years ago tonight. The brown-skinned fighter had only been in professional ranks seven months and his share of the gate was $2,500.

Star Miler

Many of the experts believe that this young man, Louis Zamperini, Pacific coast runner, is on his way to the top as the world's greatest miler. Zamperini, who holds the intercollegiate mile championship, is now training at South Field, Columbia University, for the indoor season. He got away to a good start by running second to Chuck Fenske in Boston, and this was only his third appearance on a board track. They say that when he hits his stride on the boards he will make trouble for the rest of the milers.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC PERDUE

It is too early to surmise yet but mayhap the O.R.F.U. has anticipated action by the Big Four in the expected impending grid war of re-organization, and the Ontario Union possibly has built a strong line of fortifications. We refer to the annual O.R.F.U. election of officers in Toronto last week-end. A Toronto man—Father Lynch of St. Mike's—is president, with Secretary Bailey back again. But the interesting angle to us is the appointing of three vice-presidents. First is Maurice Chilton, prominent Sarnia sportsman. Then comes Floyd Muirhead, Balmy Beach sponsor. And finally Frank Leonard of Dundas.

* * * * * *

Now, it is no secret that several of the big Four clubs want to organize a Big Six, taking in Sarnia and the Beaches—with but one club in Montreal, instead of the two there now. Which would leave Peterborough out. And it's no secret that Beaches and Imperials have been anxious to hop aboard a Big Six setup. But with a prominent Sarnia guy first vice-prexy and Muirhead next in line, can the Beaches and Imps turn their backs on the senior O.R.F.U.? And would it be that appointment of a Dundas gent is groundwork for bringing Dundas into the senior O.R.F.U.—along with Beaches, Sarnia and Peterborough — in case but one club lines up in Montreal and goes into the Big Four? It might be clever foundation work by Sec. Bailey & Co., and at anyrate we'll await developments with interest.

Popular Cage Sport

Basketball is a popular game here—and draws more fans in the States than baseball, hockey or football annually. A cage loop operating in the Brock has been considered for this spring. Hence, it will be right interesting to see that girls' hoop game at nine Friday eve in the big Y.W. gym here. 'Tis between Cobourg Grads (Ontario intermediate "A" champs) and the local Orfuns, an exhibition tilt, preceded by two local league games. St. John's play "Y" Gym at seven, and Quaker Aces meet the Westclox at eight. The triple-header should draw a big flock of fans.

* * * * * *

Last autumn the classy Orfuns were without a group, so they were accepted into the local loop, though they do not plan to contest city honors. Orfuns and Cobourg both have powerful squads entered in provincial playdowns, and should dish up a stirring struggle of smart basketball. Zimmell Levine has a fast-breaking bunch of clever ball handlers here, and they've piled up a high scoring record. Nearly blasted the Port Hope Rascals right into the lake in a recent fray, but Cobourg will be a whole lot tougher. Local team Friday will line up like like this: A. Craig, centre; B. Blade, R. Thompson, M. Clarke and M. Hawthorne, forwards; D. Ackford, A. Livingstone and M. Ferguson, defence. Cobourg has J. Young, A. Riley, A. Stewart, K. Shorey, N. Shorey, L. Thompson, A. Page, D. Throop and H. Hoskin.

Click In Clutches

Showing they are good money players, the Petes' puckists wiped out Trenton Fliers in three straight for the group title and averaged seven goals a game. Got 21 while Harding fished out just five pucks from behind him in the one-sided series. Art Heal and Bun Kingdon proved the best clutch marksmen with nine points apiece, while Honey Tompkins and Eddie Starr figured in on six each. Drake Jopling led the defencemen with four points, all on assists and all occurring in the final tussle. The Petes have notified Secretary Hewitt of the O.H.A. that their group is over and they crave provincial playdown action—and word should be along shortly on which team or teams they'll meet next. Probably a round-robin serial.

Oshawa Bees and Colts tangle here Friday in the fourth game of their three-in-five junior "B" group finals. The Bees are one up, having copped two wins at home while the Colts clicked here last week. The Weir-coached crew faces elimination and must win this start—and it should be quite a brawl indeed ere the finish. The Motor City pounder-outer of sports copy remarks that Goalie Phillips was brilliant for the Bees in the last joust, while Rochetta probably shaded the Colts on the attack though all the young Petes worked hard. He addeth:

A Bird's-Eye View

"Craig, Peterborough bad-man, after crashing Oshawa players (especially Wilson) every chance, finally got down to fisticuffs with the lanky defenceman. It was short and sweet, and Craig gave the impression that he can handle himself. The best fight was staged after the game. A Colt player resented a fan's razzing in the alley-way and piled into him, and another player blocked the passage with his stick. Oshawa players came back to separate and, in a flash, it was a grand free-for-all. In the melee, Fritz Fraser pushed his fist into an opponent's face, one of his fingers went into the mouth and the player promptly gave it a good bite. He drew blood, too, so he wasn't just nibbling. Peterborough 'Colts' indeed!" We believe Phillips will be a marked lad down here Friday.

Quinte columnist shoots in this obituary: "Once again the Fliers fell before the flying Petes, but not before the Liftlock City gang had a case of jitters regarding military imports. There was not much doubt as to the outcome, though that 11-1 reverse must have been humiliating to the Fliers. Neither the Airmen nor the Redmen could cope with the speedy Petes' forwards. Kingdon, Tompkins and Heal skated much too fast for the rest of the loop and therein lies the answer. We differ with the Peterborough scribe who gives much credit to the defencemen. Take those flying forwards away and the Redmen would have made it interesting. But Belleville fans will follow the Petes with interest in the future, and we wish 'em the very best in 1940 hockey playoffs." Thanx, pal, and your argument is interesting—but actually, the Petes are well-balanced.

CURLING

By HERB MARTIN

The "January" thaw coming as late as this in February has knocked the middle out of our curling, and incidentally has temporarily halted the Neill Trophy competition. However, looking over the probs this morning, it seems we are to have colder weather. If the weather should hold we will play the games scheduled for last night, to-night.

Ray Best still remains in two contests in the Toronto bonspiel. His rink won yesterday in the Royal York and also in the Sieberling.

One rink skipped by E. Metcalfe, and supported by Dr. Clark, James Harkness and R. F. Downey, left for Bobcaygeon this morning to play in a bonspiel sponsored by the Bobcaygeon club.

Trenton Defeats Campbellford 5-3

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 21 — (ENS).—Though they managed to hold Trenton to a three-all tie to the end of the 2nd period, Campbellford Bantams were eliminated in the second of their home and home series with Trenton by a 5-3 score. Their first contest with Trenton ended up in a 4-all tie, and it was expected they would be able to take the visitors when they came here for the final, but the visitors' front line, led by Lesperance and Scott, exhibited a superior display of stick handling which put them out in front in the final stanza. Both teams played a clean brand of hockey and there was plenty of action as goal tenders were given a severe testing. McComb gave a standout performance in the Campbellford net, and was twice scored on while unprotected.

Peloquin and Lesperance each notched two in the opening canto and as the visitors opened up in the second Fitzgerald tallied while Runions got the equalizer for the home crew. Half way through the last frame Scott put the visitors out in front and as the losers put on a strong offensive he slipped down the ice to make the final score 5 to 3.

Trenton.—Goal, Lamore; defence, Workman, Robertson; centre, Lesperance; wings, Scott, Fitzgerald; alternates, Couture, Barr, Smith; Carswell, Northway, Macdonald.

Campbellford. — Goal, McComb; defence, Beggs, Runions; centre, Farrell; wings, Dunk, Free; alternates, Nesbitt, Peloquin, Jones, Maxwell, Ayrhart.

Tweed Bearcats Blanked 4-0 By Fairmount

TWEED, Feb. 21.— (ENS).— In the first game of the double header of the East Hastings Rural League on Tuesday night at the local arena the Fransworth Bees trounced the Tweed Bearcats 4-0.

Play during the first period was even, with neither side scoring. Doran and R Palmateer received the only penalties of this period.

The only goal of the second period was tallied by Meraw on a pass from McCaw.

In the last frame, the Bees tallied three more counters, McCaw banging in a pass from D. Palmateer, Lajoie counting on a hard drive from the blue line, while D. Palmateer went in on a solo. McCaw received a match penalty in this period.

Line-ups:

Tweed—Goal, McIlroy; defence, Emerson, Thompson; centre, Sinclair; wings, Hayes, Cronkwright; subs, Hall, Doran, Hynck, Tufts, Sherry, Woods, Courneyear.

Fransworth— Goal, Mouck; defence, G. Gunning, G. Jones; centre, McCaw; wings, Meraw, Bakes; subs, J. Lajeie, R. Palmateer, D. Palmateer.

In the second game of the double-header, the Plainfield and Roslin Imperials battled with the southern team tying Roslin 1-1. The first period went scoreless, Mattis, D. Denyes and Vance going to the bench for tripping.

D. Denyes put the Plainfield one up early in the second period, but a penalty to Harrison resulted in a ganging play by the Imperials tying the count, with D. Chisholm driving in a hard shot. Chumbly, hefty Imperial defenceman, went to the box for tripping in this canto. Heavy ice slowed the game up somewhat.

Roslin — Goal, Bailey; defence, Tracy, Colden; centre, J. Mattis; wings, H. Harte, Chisholm; subs, C. Harte, W. Chumbly, J. Chumbly, H. Vance, D. Barker, E. Burley, G. Bellis.

Plainfield—Goal, Pennington; defence, Parks, Dunning; centre, Platt; wings, D. Denyes, G. Denyes; subs., Harrison G. Carleton, N. Carleton, Gray, Moore.

Seabiscuit and Kayak Also Ran

Where's the 'Biscuit—that's what thousands of Santa Anita race fans wanted to know as the front horses crossed the finish line in the San Carlos handicap. Seabiscuit and the other half of the C. S. Seabiscuit, running in four bandages, finished gamely after being in close quarters.

13,000 Bruin Fans See Leafs Blanked 5-0

BOSTON, Feb. 21 — (CP). — Although the point has been reached where hockey fans take it pretty much for granted, the famed Boston Kraut Kids—Milt Schmidt, Woody Dumart and Bobby Bauer—keep offering proof of their greatness with their National Hockey League activities.

The Bruins walloped Toronto Maple Leafs 5-0 last night before more than 13,000 fans to go into a first place tie with the idle New York Rangers. Four of the goals went to the Krauts, with Dumart getting two and Schmidt and Bauer one apiece, while Herbie Cain netted the other. In addition to the four tallies, the Krauts also picked up five assists, three of which went to Schmidt.

Thus, the Boston youngsters raised their goal total as a line to 48—far ahead of any other combination in the N.H.L.—and their assist total to 61. Schmidt leads the league in scoring with 18 goals and 25 assists, Dumart comes third with 18 goals and 16 assists while Bauer is in a fourth place tie with Neil Colville of the Rangers with 12 goals and 20 assists.

The Leafs lacked the punch to cope with the Boston drive and goalie Frank Brimsek had little trouble in marking up his fourth shutout of the season.

With 11 games to play — they have two games in hand over Rangers—the Bruins seem like a cinch to place at least three men in the list of 20-goal scorers this season.
